E EXTRA SUBORDINATE ENRICHMENT — ONLY AFTER THE COMPLETE CORE

OPTIONAL ADVANCED ENRICHMENT · NEPAL AND BHUTAN ARE HIMALAYAN NEIGHBOURS, BUT THEIR BORDER · NEPAL HAS · AN OPEN-BORDER PLAINS FOOTHILL INTERFACE, WHILE BHUTAN IS A · BANGLADESH IS INDIA'S MOST INTRICATE ALLUVIAL · ENCLAVE HISTORY CASE. · MYANMAR IS THE ONLY LAND NEIGHBOUR THAT PHYSICALLY OPENS · SRI LANKA IS SEPARATED BY A SHALLOW MARITIME GAP

OPTIONAL SOURCE DEPTH
- Nepal and Bhutan are Himalayan neighbours, but their border character differs. Nepal has
- an open-border plains foothill interface, while Bhutan is a steeper mountain-buffer interface.
- Bangladesh is India's most intricate alluvial / enclave history case.
- Myanmar is the only land neighbour that physically opens India into mainland South-East Asia.

ADVANCED DEBATE
- Sri Lanka is separated by a shallow maritime gap, not by a land border.
- LAC = India-China control line; LoC = India-Pakistan military control line in J&K.
- NOT: Durand Line is India's boundary with Afghanistan - it is the
- Afghanistan-Pakistan line, relevant to India's claimed north-west context, not an India-Pakistan line.

LEGACY / NUANCE
- NOT: McMahon Line and LAC are the same everywhere - the McMahon line relates to the eastern sector's boundary claim
- the LAC is the broader present control reality.
- NOT: Border guarding forces and legal boundaries are the same subject - the former manage terrain; the latter define sovereignty.
- CAUTION: Recurring Prelims theme: identify which Indian states touch which neighbour.

OPTIONAL STATUS — This optional depth is unnecessary for a competent core answer; use it only for added nuance after the complete core has been written.
