OPTIONAL ADVANCED ENRICHMENT · A1. FORMAL VESTING, REAL AUTHORITY AND CONSTITUTIONAL TRUSTEESHIP · A2. THE POLITICAL-INFORMATION PROBLEM · A3. ASSENT AS A SEPARATION-OF-POWERS PROBLEM · A4. ANTI-DEFECTION AND FORMATION CRISES · A5. FEDERAL REFORM · LEGAL RULES VERSUS CONVENTIONS · A6. SOURCE AND FACTUAL-CONTROL NOTE

OPTIONAL DOCTRINE / CASE
- A1. Formal vesting, real authority and constitutional trusteeship
- A2. The political-information problem
- A3. Assent as a separation-of-powers problem
- A4. Anti-defection and formation crises

ADVANCED LIMIT
- A5. Federal reform: legal rules versus conventions
- A6. Source and factual-control note
- [ANALYSIS] The Governor is best described as a constitutional trustee of process , not a rival policy-maker.
- [ANALYSIS] Trusteeship requires fidelity to institutions: Assembly for confidence, political party for internal leadership, Speaker for Tenth Schedule

COMPARATIVE NUANCE
- adjudication, courts for legality and elected ministry for policy.
- [ANALYSIS] A Governor often receives asymmetric claims from parties that benefit from a particular timing.
- [ANALYSIS] The safest institutional response is to minimise private factual adjudication and move the decisive question to the public Assembly floor.
- [LIMIT] A floor test cannot cure every illegality. It does not decide the validity of a whip, disqualification petition or party constitution.

OPTIONAL STATUS — This optional depth is unnecessary for a competent core answer; use it only for added nuance after the complete core has been written.
