- [CURRENT] Article 370 remains printed in Part XXI but was rendered inoperative through the 2019 constitutional orders and declaration; the Supreme Court upheld the abrogation in In re Article 370 on 11 December 2023.
- [CURRENT] Jammu and Kashmir remains a Union Territory with a legislature. Assembly elections were held in September-October 2024; Statehood has not been restored.
- [LIMIT] The 2023 Court recorded the Union's assurance that Statehood would be restored at the earliest. It did not impose a judicial deadline and did not decide the constitutional validity of converting the former State into Union Territories because the Union conceded restoration of J&K Statehood.
- [CURRENT] Ladakh remains a Union Territory without a legislature. Demands for Statehood, Sixth Schedule protection and Article 371-type safeguards have not produced an enacted constitutional change.
- [CURRENT] Articles 371 to 371J continue to operate for 12 States. They were not affected by Article 370's inoperability.
- [LIMIT] Article 371 protections, Fifth Schedule protection and Sixth Schedule autonomy are distinct constitutional techniques; they must not be merged.

Answer: B.

Remedy: Different treatment needs a legitimate protective/developmental purpose.

R12. Source trap

Article 35A came from:

A. Reorganisation Act. B. 36th Amendment. C. 1954 Presidential Order. D. Article 371J.

Answer: C.

Remedy: It was not enacted through Article 368.

PYQS AND ANSWER PRACTICE

Verified/cross-owned Mains PYQ

PYQ 1 - UPSC GS-II 2025, Q4 - direct application

Verified neutral demand: Discuss the nature of the Jammu and Kashmir Legislative Assembly after the Jammu and Kashmir Reorganisation Act, 2019, and briefly describe its powers and functions. 10 marks | 150 words | Primary owner: Union Territories; direct application here

Model answer

Claim: [FACT] The post-2019 Jammu and Kashmir Assembly is an elected legislature of a Union Territory, not the legislature of a full State.

Named evidence: The Jammu and Kashmir Reorganisation Act, 2019 created J&K as a UT with a legislature and Ladakh as a UT without one. The J&K Assembly makes laws within the Act's permitted State-List and Concurrent-List fields, while public order and police remain outside its ordinary competence. It votes the budget, authorises expenditure, debates public policy and holds the Chief Minister-led Council of Ministers politically accountable.

Analysis: The Assembly restores representative government and regional voice after the 2019 reorganisation, but Parliament's overriding competence and the Lieutenant Governor/Union architecture make it weaker than a State legislature.

Current qualification: [CURRENT] Elections were held in 2024, but Statehood remains pending. [LIMIT] The 2023 Article 370 judgment recorded restoration at the earliest without fixing a deadline.

Verdict: J&K now has democratic self-government within a Union Territory framework; full federal parity awaits Statehood restoration.

Evidence chain: Reorganisation Act -> UT with legislature -> fields/exclusions -> financial/accountability functions -> 2024 election -> pending Statehood.

Routed Prelims demands - provenance without invented answer letters

Prelims route 1 - 2024 GS-I Q70

Verified neutral demand: Composition of the North Eastern Council.

Doctrinal solution

- [FACT] NEC is statutory under the North Eastern Council Act, 1971.
- [FACT] It includes Governors and Chief Ministers of the region's States and three presidential nominees.
- [FACT] The Union Home Minister and DoNER Minister hold the current ex-officio leadership roles under the amended framework.
- [LIMIT] NEC is not an Article 371 constitutional body.

Elimination rule: Reject options treating NEC as a Sixth Schedule council or Article 371 committee.

Prelims route 2 - 2022 GS-I Q73 - cross-owned

Verified neutral demand: Consequences of Fifth Schedule status for tribal areas.

Doctrinal solution

- [FACT] President declares Scheduled Areas.
- [FACT] Governor reports annually and may make land/money-lending protective regulations subject to presidential assent.
- [FACT] Union may issue directions to the State.
- [FACT] Tribes Advisory Council is advisory.

Elimination rule: Do not confuse Fifth Schedule supervised protection with Sixth Schedule autonomous councils.

Prelims route 3 - 2025 GS-I Q56 - cross-owned

Verified neutral demand: Executive power and Union role in a Fifth Schedule Scheduled Area.

Doctrinal solution

- [FACT] State executive power continues in Scheduled Areas.
- [FACT] Union executive power extends to giving directions concerning administration.
- [LIMIT] This is not automatic Union takeover or direct day-to-day administration.

Elimination rule: Reject both "no Union role" and "automatic Union administration."

Prelims route 4 - 2026 GS-I Q57 - provisional cross-owner

Verified neutral demand: Constitutional safeguards, schedules, taxation and local representation for SCs/STs.

Doctrinal solution

- [FACT] Fifth/Sixth Schedules operate under Article 244; Sixth Schedule councils possess specified taxation powers.
- [FACT] Legislative and local-body reservations arise from separate constitutional provisions.
- [LIMIT] The local 2026 key is provisional; no official answer letter is inferred.

Elimination rule: Do not attribute Sixth Schedule fiscal powers to a Fifth Schedule Tribes Advisory Council.

Original solved Mains practice

M1. "Asymmetric federalism strengthens Indian unity through constitutional difference." Discuss. (10 marks, 150 words)

Model answer

Claim: [ANALYSIS] Indian unity is not based on institutional uniformity; Part XXI uses tailored guarantees to integrate historically and culturally distinct regions.

Named evidence: Articles 371A and 371G protect customary law and land through Assembly consent. Articles 371 and 371J address regional imbalance. Articles 371B and 371C create tribal/hill representation, while Article 371F managed Sikkim's integration.

Analysis: These provisions reduce fears of cultural absorption, protect vulnerable resources and make Union membership compatible with local autonomy.

Qualification: [LIMIT] Asymmetry may create insider-outsider barriers or patronage if safeguards lack accountability.

Verdict: It strengthens unity when protection is purposeful, locally participatory and reviewable. Constitutional difference is then an instrument of integration, not separate sovereignty.

M2. Critically examine the 2019 changes to Article 370 in light of the 2023 Supreme Court judgment. (15 marks, 250 words)

Model answer

Claim: [FACT] The 2019 process ended Article 370's operative autonomy; the 2023 Constitution Bench upheld the result by treating the Article as temporary and presidential power as continuing.

Mechanism: C.O. 272 applied the Constitution and altered the interpretive route; parliamentary action during President's Rule supported C.O. 273's Article 370(3) declaration. The Reorganisation Act created J&K and Ladakh Union Territories.

Judgment: In re Article 370 held that J&K retained no separate internal sovereignty, Article 370 was temporary and the President's power survived dissolution of the Constituent Assembly. It found it unnecessary to make the contested Article 367 route essential to validity.

Critique: Integration and uniform rights are advanced; however, using President's Rule when the affected State had no elected voice raises federal-consent concerns.

Qualification: [LIMIT] The Court did not finally decide the validity of converting J&K into a UT; Statehood remains pending.

Verdict: Abrogation is judicially settled, but federal legitimacy requires timely Statehood restoration and representative consultation.

M3. Compare Articles 371A and 371G. (10 marks, 150 words)

Model answer

Claim: [FACT] Articles 371A and 371G are the strongest Part XXI identity safeguards because specified parliamentary laws do not automatically apply without State Assembly decision.

Common fields: religious/social practices, customary law and procedure, customary administration of civil/criminal justice, and land ownership/transfer are protected in Nagaland and Mizoram respectively.

Differences: Article 371A contains Nagaland-specific Tuensang and law-and-order arrangements; Article 371G is tied to Mizoram's settlement framework and fixes a minimum Assembly strength of 40.

Analysis: Both convert cultural protection into a legal consent mechanism rather than a merely advisory promise.

Qualification: [LIMIT] The shield is subject-specific, not a general veto over Parliament.

Verdict: They demonstrate integration through protected custom and land, with State legislatures acting as constitutional consent institutions.

M4. Does differentiated regional protection conflict with single citizenship and equality? Examine. (15 marks, 250 words)

Model answer

Claim: [ANALYSIS] Special regional rights create differentiated entitlements but do not create separate Indian citizenships.

Conflict: Land, employment and customary-law protections may restrict equal mobility and produce insider-outsider distinctions. Historical Article 35A and current Articles 371A/G are prominent examples.

Justification: Formal sameness can expose small indigenous communities and backward regions to dispossession or permanent disadvantage. Articles 371, 371J and tribal schedules pursue substantive equality, identity and balanced development.

Constitutional balance: Article 14 permits reasonable classification, federalism permits tailored design and judicial review controls arbitrariness. Local minorities and accountability must also be protected.

Qualification: [LIMIT] A protective purpose does not justify every restriction indefinitely.

Verdict: Differentiation is compatible with single citizenship where it is constitutionally authorised, proportionate and connected to vulnerability; it becomes problematic when it hardens into unreviewable exclusion.

M5. Compare Article 371 protections with the Fifth and Sixth Schedules. (15 marks, 250 words)

Model answer

Claim: [FACT] All three protect diversity, but they operate through different units and institutions.

Article 371 family: State-specific arrangements in Part XXI. They range from development boards and local reservations to Assembly consent over custom and land.

Fifth Schedule: Article 244 creates supervised protection in Scheduled Areas. The President declares areas; the Governor reports, modifies laws and makes land/money-lending regulations subject to presidential assent; the TAC advises.

Sixth Schedule: Autonomous district/regional councils in Assam, Meghalaya, Tripura and Mizoram exercise specified legislative, judicial and fiscal powers.

Analysis: Article 371 protects through the State Constitution relationship; the Fifth protects through guardianship; the Sixth decentralises self-government.

Qualification: [LIMIT] Overlap of geography or purpose does not merge legal powers.

Verdict: The choice between the mechanisms reflects the depth of autonomy sought: tailored State protection, supervised Scheduled-Area administration or autonomous tribal government.

M6. Assess the constitutional and political case for Sixth Schedule protection in Ladakh. (15 marks, 250 words)

Model answer

Claim: [CURRENT] Ladakh's Sixth Schedule demand seeks enforceable protection for tribal identity, land, jobs, ecology and local decision-making after its conversion into a UT without legislature.

Case for: A predominantly tribal and ecologically fragile region faces rapid development and limited representative law-making. Autonomous councils with specified legislative and fiscal powers could deepen local consent and protect resources.

Concerns: Ladakh's strategic border location, existing Hill Councils, inter-regional Leh-Kargil differences and the Sixth Schedule's original north-eastern design require careful institutional adaptation.

Alternatives: Statehood, a UT legislature, stronger Hill Councils or Article 371-type safeguards may address some demands, but differ in legal strength and scope.

Current status: [CURRENT] No Sixth Schedule or Statehood change has been enacted by 18 August 2026.

Verdict: The demand deserves negotiated constitutional protection, but the model should preserve national security while granting real land, employment and democratic safeguards rather than symbolic consultation.

M7. "The unresolved Statehood question is now more important than the settled Article 370 question." Comment. (20 marks, 250 words)

Model answer

Claim: [ANALYSIS] The legality of Article 370's inoperability is settled by the 2023 judgment, while J&K's federal status remains institutionally unfinished.

Settled dimension: The Court held Article 370 temporary, rejected separate internal sovereignty and upheld the presidential declaration. Elections were directed and held in 2024.

Unresolved dimension: J&K remains a UT. The Court recorded the Union's assurance of Statehood at the earliest but fixed no deadline and avoided deciding the validity of the State-to-UT conversion.

Why it matters: Statehood affects federal representation, legislative competence, executive authority, policing and the symbolic equality of J&K with other States. An elected UT Assembly restores democracy but not full federal autonomy.

Counterpoint: Security, administrative transition and parliamentary control may justify sequencing.

Qualification: [LIMIT] Pending restoration does not reopen Article 370 automatically.

Verdict: The constitutional task has shifted from adjudicating special status to completing representative federal normalisation through a clear, credible Statehood process.

M8. Evaluate whether regional-development clauses under Articles 371 and 371J deliver substantive federal equality. (20 marks, 250 words)

Model answer

Claim: [FACT] Articles 371 and 371J address inequality within States rather than autonomy between Union and State.

Design: Article 371 supports development boards, reporting, equitable development expenditure and opportunity for identified regions of Maharashtra and Gujarat. Article 371J creates a development board and local education/employment measures for Kalyana Karnataka.

Strength: Constitutional recognition prevents backward regions from disappearing inside State-wide averages and can direct funds, seats and posts toward persistent disadvantage.

Weakness: Boards may become advisory, data may be opaque, local reservation can face implementation disputes and constitutional labels cannot substitute for budgets or administrative capacity.

Reform: publish region-wise outcome indicators, link allocations to deprivation, conduct independent audits, preserve merit through capacity-building and involve local elected bodies.

Qualification: [LIMIT] Region-based preference must remain proportionate and periodically evaluated.

Verdict: These clauses can realise substantive federal equality only when constitutional recognition is converted into measurable development rather than permanent political symbolism.

Part XXI master idea

Part XXI

Article 370: former J&K special operation, inoperative since 2019

Articles 371-371J: tailored provisions for 12 States

- Asymmetric federalism = different constitutional arrangements within one sovereign Union.
- It protects identity, land, custom, representation or backward regions.
- It does not create separate sovereignty or citizenship.

Article 370 timeline

Date	Event
1954	Presidential Order inserted Article 35A
5 Aug 2019	C.O. 272 and parliamentary process
Aug 2019	C.O. 273 rendered Article 370 inoperative
31 Oct 2019	Reorganisation into J&K UT and Ladakh UT effective
11 Dec 2023	Supreme Court upheld abrogation
Sep-Oct 2024	J&K Assembly elections
18 Aug 2026	Statehood still pending

2023 judgment controls

- Article 370 was temporary.
- J&K retained no separate internal sovereignty.
- President's Article 370(3) power survived Constituent Assembly dissolution.
- Court found C.O. 272 Article 367-route validation unnecessary.
- Elections directed by 30 September 2024.
- Statehood assurance recorded; no fixed deadline.
- UT-conversion validity not finally decided.

Strongest protections

- Articles 371A and 371G: specified parliamentary laws require State Assembly decision.
- The shield covers custom, specified justice, and land fields.
- It is not a general veto over Parliament.

Fifth/Sixth Schedule distinction

Fifth	Sixth
ten States	Assam, Meghalaya, Tripura, Mizoram
President declares Scheduled Areas	Governor organises autonomous districts/regions
Governor + TAC + Union directions	elected autonomous councils protective regulations	legislative, judicial and fiscal powers
guardianship model	self-government model

Current controls

- J&K = UT with legislature; Statehood pending.
- Ladakh = UT without legislature.
- Ladakh Sixth Schedule/Statehood demand is not enacted.
- Article 370 is inoperative, not deleted.
- Article 371 provisions remain fully distinct and operative.
- NEC is statutory, not an Article 371 body.

Answer-writing evidence bank

Claim	Named evidence	Qualification
Article 370 result is settled	C.O. 272/273 + In re Article 370	UT conversion left open

2. Article 370 inoperative, not deleted.
3. Article 35A came through the 1954 Presidential Order.
4. J&K is a UT with legislature; Ladakh is a UT without legislature.
5. Elections were held in 2024; Statehood remains pending.
6. Court set no Statehood deadline.
7. Court did not finally decide the UT-conversion validity.
8. Article 371 family covers 12 States.
9. 371A = Nagaland; 371G = Mizoram.
10. 371B = Assam Tribal Areas Committee; 371C = Manipur Hill Areas Committee.
11. 371D applies to Andhra Pradesh and Telangana.
12. 371J = Kalyana Karnataka.
13. Article 371 and Sixth Schedule are distinct.
14. NEC is statutory.

COMPLETE TOPIC ASCII MASTER FLOW DIAGRAM

ASCII MASTER FLOW - PANEL 1/9: Canonical Part XXI scope and the boundary with other topics

PART XXI: TEMPORARY, TRANSITIONAL AND SPECIAL PROVISIONS
Articles 369-392 include time-bound transitional rules, continuance/adaptation devices and State-specific constitutional asymmetry.

THIS TOPIC OWNS
Article 370 evolution/current status + Articles 371-371J + asymmetry mechanisms.

DISTINCT OWNERS
Part XVIII emergencies | reservation/class provisions | Part X and Fifth/Sixth Schedules
| ordinary Union-State flexibility | Union Territory administration.

CORE IDEA
constitutional equality permits reasoned differentiation; special treatment remains inside one Constitution and does not create separate sovereignty.

ASCII MASTER FLOW - PANEL 2/9: Article 370 before 2019: accession, Orders and constitutional application

PRE-2019 OPERATING CHAIN
Instrument of Accession fields -> Article 370(1) consultation/concurrence
-> Presidential Orders -> wider Constitution and Union-law application to J&K.

ARTICLE 35A
1954 Constitution Application Order -> permanent-resident definition and specified protections.

CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY ISSUE
Article 370(3) proviso referred to J&K Constituent Assembly; it dissolved in 1957.

Sampat Prakash (1968) -> Article 370 and Presidential-Order practice continued after 1957.

LIMIT
autonomy was constitutionally mediated; it did not amount to external sovereignty.

ASCII MASTER FLOW - PANEL 3/9: The 2019 constitutional-order and reorganisation sequence

5 AUGUST 2019
C.O. 272 under Article 370(1) -> Constitution applied comprehensively
-> interpretive change used the State-legislature route while President's Rule operated.

PARLIAMENTARY RESOLUTION
recommended Article 370(3) declaration.

6 AUGUST 2019
C.O. 273 -> Article 370 provisions ceased to operate except the modified declaration.

J&K REORGANISATION ACT, 2019
former State -> UT of Jammu and Kashmir with legislature
+ UT of Ladakh without legislature, effective 31 October 2019.

TRAP
Presidential Orders, parliamentary resolution and reorganisation statute are distinct legal acts.

ASCII MASTER FLOW - PANEL 4/9: In Re Article 370 (2023): holdings and issues left open

In Re: Article 370 of the Constitution (2023)

- +-- Article 370 was temporary; J&K had no internal sovereignty after accession
- +-- Article 370(3) power survived dissolution of the J&K Constituent Assembly
- +-- C.O. 273 declaration was upheld
- +-- C.O. 272's Article 367 route was invalid, but the final outcome survived independently
- +-- J&K Constitution became inoperative after full application of India's Constitution.

OPEN / QUALIFIED

Court recorded restoration-of-Statehood assurance and set no judicial deadline.
It did not finally decide the State-to-UT conversion issue after the Union concession.

VERDICT

the Article 370 abrogation question is judicially settled; Statehood timing remains political/legal.

ASCII MASTER FLOW - PANEL 5/9: Current Jammu and Kashmir and Ladakh position

JAMMU AND KASHMIR

Union Territory with legislature | Assembly elections held Sep-Oct 2024
| Statehood not restored as of 24 August 2026.

LADAKH

Union Territory without legislature.
Demands include Statehood, Sixth Schedule protection and Article 371-type safeguards.

LEGAL STATUS CONTROL

demands, committee talks and political assurances are not enacted constitutional change.

DISTINCTION

J&K Statehood restoration -> reorganisation/federal-status question
Ladakh Sixth Schedule -> Article 244 + Sixth Schedule autonomy question
Article 371-type protection -> Part XXI amendment question.

ASCII MASTER FLOW - PANEL 6/9: Articles 371 to 371D: development and regional-equity mechanisms

ARTICLE 371

Maharashtra/Gujarat -> Governor's special responsibility for regional development boards, equitable funds and opportunities.

ARTICLE 371A: NAGALAND

specified religious/social practices, customary law, customary justice and land/resources shielded from parliamentary law unless State Assembly resolves otherwise.

ARTICLE 371B: ASSAM

Assembly committee for tribal areas.

ARTICLE 371C: MANIPUR

Hill Areas Committee + Governor reporting/special responsibility framework.

ARTICLE 371D: ANDHRA PRADESH/TELANGANA

equitable local opportunities in public employment/education; presidential-order mechanism.
ARTICLE 371E merely enables a Central University in Andhra Pradesh.

ASCII MASTER FLOW - PANEL 7/9: Articles 371F to 371J: identity, law-and-order and local opportunity

ARTICLE 371F: SIKKIM

integration-specific Assembly, representation and continuity protections.

ARTICLE 371G: MIZORAM

specified religious/social practices, customary law/justice and land protection unless State Assembly resolves otherwise; distinct from Nagaland's resource wording.

ARTICLE 371H: ARUNACHAL PRADESH

Governor's special responsibility for law and order, exercised after ministerial consultation.

ARTICLE 371I: GOA

minimum Assembly size safeguard.

ARTICLE 371J: KALYANA KARNATAKA

development board, equitable funds and local reservation/opportunity mechanisms.

EXAM RULE

match State -> Article -> protected subject -> decision-maker -> consent/resolution requirement.

ASCII MASTER FLOW - PANEL 8/9: Mechanism comparison: Orders, amendments and tribal Schedules

ARTICLE 370 HISTORIC ROUTE

Presidential Orders under its own text -> now inoperative after 2019/2023 control.

ARTICLES 371-371J

constitutional text created or changed through constitutional-amendment history;
some clauses authorise Presidential Orders or Governor responsibilities for implementation.

FIFTH SCHEDULE

Scheduled Areas + Governor/Tribes Advisory Council + presidential declaration architecture.

SIXTH SCHEDULE

autonomous district/regional councils in Assam, Meghalaya, Tripura and Mizoram.

DO NOT MERGE

Article 371A/371G consent shields != Sixth Schedule councils

!= Fifth Schedule administration != Article 370's former application mechanism.

ASCII MASTER FLOW - PANEL 9/9: Federalism, equality, current traps and qualified synthesis

WHY ASYMMETRY

historical compact + cultural identity + tribal land/custom + regional imbalance
-> tailored guarantee -> integration with protection.

RISKS

insider-outsider exclusion | weak implementation | Governor controversy
| unequal opportunity | permanent grievance politics.

PRELIMS FIREWALL

Article 370 printed but inoperative | Articles 371-371J still operative
| 371E enables a university | 371I concerns Goa | 371H law and order
| Fifth/Sixth Schedules are not Part XXI | Ladakh demands are not law.

MAINS SPINE

define asymmetric federalism -> classify mechanism -> exact Article/State
-> benefit -> equality/federal counterpoint -> implementation reform
-> unity through constitutionally bounded and reviewable difference.
