CIC and SIC - Complete Uncompressed Learning Session

Control date: 2026-08-24 Evidence tags: [FACT] directly supported by a named statute, rule, official notification, judgment, audited local source or official paper; [ANALYSIS] reasoned exam use; [CURRENT] date-sensitive legal position; [LIMIT] qualification, jurisdictional boundary or unresolved issue. Answer discipline: claim -> named evidence -> analysis -> qualification. Scope: constitutional basis of the right to know; RTI definitions and proactive disclosure; request, transfer, first appeal, second appeal and complaint routes; CIC/SIC composition, appointment, eligibility, service conditions, removal and suspension; powers, compensation, penalty and reporting; exemptions, severability, third-party procedure and security bodies; privacy and the commenced DPDP amendment; case law; independence, comparison and reform.

- [CURRENT] Status is controlled to 24 August 2026, Asia/Kolkata.
- [CURRENT] Live official refresh, 24 August 2026: The DoPT consolidated RTI Act as on 18 November 2025, the 2019 service-condition Rules, CIC materials, the 13 November 2025 DPDP commencement control and Supreme Court judgments were rechecked on 24 August 2026. Officeholders and backlog totals are not frozen.

Package method, source priority and current-law control

- [FACT] The local-first sequence was: Polity/basic/CIC-and-SIC.md -> Polity/advanced/36_CIC-and-SIC.md -> Governance owners for transparency/accountability and data governance -> the consolidated Polity owner for statutory/regulatory/quasi-judicial bodies -> Fundamental Rights, Parliament and judiciary owners only where needed -> all relevant PYQ routing/audit ledgers.
- [FACT] OCR-searchable local official and book PDFs were checked after the Markdown owners. The exact UPSC 2020 GS-II question was verified from the locally held official paper books/more_previous_papers/Gen_St_P2.pdf.
- [FACT] Polity packages 34 and 35 were used only as structural, style and validation references.
- [CURRENT] The controlling statutory text is the Department of Personnel and Training's Right to Information Act, 2005, as on 18 November 2025, which lists the Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023 among the amending Acts.
- [CURRENT] That official consolidated text records RTI section 8(1)(j) as “information which relates to personal information” and footnotes the substitution by DPDP Act section 44 with effect from 13 November 2025.
- [CURRENT] MeitY notification G.S.R. 843(E), dated 13 November 2025, expressly commenced DPDP Act section 44(3) on the date of publication of the notification. The same notification stages most substantive DPDP duties and Data Principal rights for a later tranche.
- [LIMIT] The package therefore treats the substituted RTI clause as operative current statutory text. It does not repeat the old clause as current law.
- [CURRENT] The RTI Act's general public-interest override in section 8(2) remains in the official consolidated text. The amendment removed the old clause-specific wording and Parliament/State-Legislature proviso; it did not delete section 8(2).
- [LIMIT] No official Supreme Court order was located by the control date that reliably established a stay, Constitution-Bench reference or final disposition of a challenge to section 44(3). The package states no unverified procedural status or constitutional outcome.
- [CURRENT] The 2019 service-condition rules remain the latest official rules located for the tenure and pay taught here: three-year terms; fixed pay of Rs 2,50,000 for the Central Chief Information Commissioner, Rs 2,25,000 for a Central Information Commissioner, and Rs 2,25,000 for both the State Chief Information Commissioner and a State Information Commissioner.
- [LIMIT] Current officeholders, vacancies, pendency, disposal totals, penalty rates and State-wise functionality are deliberately not frozen.

SESSION 1 - IDENTITY: CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHT, STATUTORY MACHINERY

DEFINITION / WHAT THIS IS CALLED

Plain-language definition: Identity: constitutional right, statutory machinery denotes the constitutional rules and institutional links organised around freedom of speech and expression.

Technical definition: The Central Information Commission (CIC) and State Information Commissions (SICs) are statutory bodies created by the Right to Information Act, 2005.

ANSWER-GRABBING OPENING - WRITE/ADAPT IN THE EXAM

CIC/SIC jurisdiction, procedure and remedies remain bounded by the Act and are subject to constitutional judicial review.

MUST-WRITE KEYWORDS

- Identity
- constitutional right
- statutory machinery
- Central Information Commission (CIC)
- right to know
- CIC/SIC

How to use them: Frame the answer through Identity; define constitutional right, connect statutory machinery with Central Information Commission (CIC) to explain the mechanism, and use right to know for the decisive comparison or qualification.

Identity: constitutional right, statutory machinery denotes the constitutional rules and institutional links organised around freedom of speech and expression. Identity: constitutional right, statutory machinery operates through judicial right-to-know doctrine, connected with PUBLIC AUTHORITY - PIO - FIRST APPEAL - CIC/SIC. The operative mechanism matters because DISCLOSURE / COMPLIANCE / COMPENSATION / PERSONAL PENALTY. Its principal consequence is that institution Source Correct character Core output. The decisive contrast is between Supreme Court/High Court Constitution constitutional court binding judgment/writ and tribunal Constitution/statute specialised adjudicatory body adjudicatory order under parent law. IDENTITY: CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHT, STATUTORY MACHINERY

Topic-specific visual map: Identity: constitutional right, statutory machinery.

[FACT] The Central Information Commission (CIC) and State Information Commissions (SICs) are statutory bodies created by the Right to Information Act, 2005. They are not constitutional courts, tribunals or general grievance authorities.

[FACT] The constitutional foundation is the judicially recognised right to know implicit in Article 19(1)(a). The statutory right in section 3, its procedures, exemptions and remedies are nevertheless governed by the RTI Act.

[ANALYSIS] The Constitution supplies the normative foundation; the Act converts that foundation into a practical records-access system with time limits, appeals and penalties.

[LIMIT] A constitutional foundation does not let a Commission ignore the statute. CIC/SIC jurisdiction, procedure and remedies remain bounded by the Act and are subject to constitutional judicial review.

Plain-language definition: The RTI vocabulary that controls every answer denotes the constitutional rules and institutional links organised around MATERIAL IN ANY FORM.

Technical definition: The exam-safe limitation is that parliamentary law statutory authority parent Act supplies identity.

ANSWER-GRABBING OPENING - WRITE/ADAPT IN THE EXAM

The RTI Act secures access to existing information held or controlled by public authorities, but does not require creation of new explanations or answers.

MUST-WRITE KEYWORDS

- record
- right to information
- public authority

How to use them: Frame the answer through The RTI vocabulary that controls every answer; define information, connect record with right to information to explain the mechanism, and use public authority for the decisive comparison or qualification.

The RTI vocabulary that controls every answer denotes the constitutional rules and institutional links organised around MATERIAL IN ANY FORM. The RTI vocabulary that controls every answer operates through HELD BY / UNDER CONTROL OF PUBLIC AUTHORITY, connected with EXISTING RECORD OR LEGALLY ACCESSIBLE PRIVATE-BODY INFORMATION. [FACT] Section 2(f) defines information broadly as material in any form, including records, documents, memos, e-mails, opinions, advices, orders, logbooks, contracts, reports, samples, models and electronic data. It also includes information about a private body that a public authority can access under another law.

[FACT] Section 2(i) defines record inclusively: documents, manuscripts, files, microfilm/microfiche/facsimile, reproduced images and computer-produced material.

[FACT] Section 2(j) defines the right to information as access to information held by or under the control of a public authority, including inspection, notes/extracts/certified copies, certified samples and electronic copies/printouts.

[FACT] Section 2(h) covers a public authority established by the Constitution, parliamentary or State law, or government notification/order, and includes bodies owned, controlled or substantially financed and NGOs substantially financed directly or indirectly by government funds.

[ANALYSIS] The critical exam move is to ask whether the requested material already exists or is legally accessible to the public authority. RTI is a records-access right, not a duty to answer a viva voce “why” question by creating a new explanation.

[LIMIT] “Substantially financed” and “controlled” are context-sensitive legal tests. Do not assume every entity receiving any government benefit becomes a public authority.

[FACT] Before substitution, section 8(1)(j) protected personal information where disclosure had no relationship to public activity/interest or caused unwarranted invasion of privacy, unless larger public interest justified disclosure; it also contained the Parliament/State-Legislature proviso.

[CURRENT] DPDP Act section 44(3) substituted that clause. The current DoPT consolidated RTI Act states: “information which relates to personal information;”

[CURRENT] MeitY G.S.R. 843(E), dated 13 November 2025, commenced section 44(3) on the notification's publication date. The DoPT text expressly footnotes the change as effective 13 November 2025.

[FACT] Section 8(2) remains: a public authority may allow access where public interest in disclosure outweighs harm to protected interests, notwithstanding section 8(1).

[ANALYSIS] The amendment broadens the clause-level exemption by removing the old textual tests and proviso. Yet the Act still contains a general balancing route in section 8(2). The central interpretive dispute is therefore the scope and intensity of that surviving override.

[LIMIT] Do not write either extreme: “privacy now always defeats RTI” or “nothing changed because section 8(2) exists.” The clause text materially changed, while the general override materially survives.

DEFINITION / WHAT THIS IS CALLED

Plain-language definition: Constitutional privacy after the textual change denotes the constitutional rules and institutional links organised around LEVEL 1: CURRENT STATUTE.

Technical definition: The decisive contrast is between through proportionality and legitimate interest what privacy or transparency interest is protected?.

ANSWER-GRABBING OPENING - WRITE/ADAPT IN THE EXAM

Subhash Chandra Agarwal (2019) held the office of the Chief Justice of India to be a public authority and applied a structured balance among transparency, privacy and judicial independence under the then-current statutory text.

MUST-WRITE KEYWORDS

- Constitutional privacy after the textual change
- legitimate interest
- rational connection

How to use them: Frame the answer through Constitutional privacy after the textual change; define legitimate interest, connect rational connection with necessity to explain the mechanism, and use balancing for the decisive comparison or qualification.

Constitutional privacy after the textual change denotes the constitutional rules and institutional links organised around LEVEL 1: CURRENT STATUTE. Constitutional privacy after the textual change operates through s.8(1)(j) + s.8(2) + s.10 + reasons/appeal, connected with LEVEL 2: CONSTITUTION. The operative mechanism matters because article 19(1)(a) information interest. Its principal consequence is that article 21 privacy interest. [FACT] Subhash Chandra Agarwal (2019) held the office of the Chief Justice of India to be a public authority and applied a structured balance among transparency, privacy and judicial independence under the then-current statutory text.

[FACT] The constitutional rights to information under Article 19(1)(a) and privacy under Article 21 remain relevant even after statutory amendment.

[ANALYSIS] The 2019 judgment's proportionality reasoning remains an important constitutional method, but the precise statutory pathway changed in 2025. An answer should separate enduring constitutional doctrine from superseded clause wording.

[LIMIT] Do not claim that Subhash Chandra Agarwal (2019) has already invalidated or neutralised the new clause; the judgment preceded the substitution.

CASE LAW: EXACT PROPOSITION AND CAUTION

Topic-specific visual map: Case law: exact proposition and caution.

21.1 State of U.P. v. Raj Narain (1975) (1975)

[FACT] The Supreme Court linked democratic government with the people’s right to know the acts of public officials, subject to legitimate secrecy claims.

[ANALYSIS] Use it as the foundational “right to know” authority under Article 19(1)(a).

[LIMIT] It predates the RTI Act and does not supply the Act’s detailed request/appeal rules.

21.2 S.P. Gupta v. Union of India (1981) (1981)

[FACT] The Court described open government as flowing from the right to know implicit in Article 19(1)(a) and treated disclosure as a democratic norm, subject to justified confidentiality.

[ANALYSIS] It strengthens the presumption-of-openness thesis.

[LIMIT] Do not turn the presumption into an absolute disclosure rule.

21.3 CBSE v. Aditya Bandopadhyay (2011) (2011)

[FACT] Evaluated answer books are “information” accessible under the Act, subject to lawful exemptions and procedure.

[FACT] A public authority need not create information, generate advice/opinion, draw inferences or collect/collate material not held in its records merely to answer an RTI query.

[ANALYSIS] This case controls the line between records access and interrogatory explanation.

21.4 Chief Information Commissioner v. State of Manipur (2011) (2011)

[FACT] Section 18 complaint power and section 19 appellate power have distinct fields. The disclosure remedy is pursued through the appeal route; complaint is not an automatic substitute.

[ANALYSIS] Use it whenever a question asks complaint versus second appeal.

21.5 RBI v. Jayantilal N. Mistry (2015) (2015)

[FACT] The RBI could not treat its regulatory relationship with banks as a generic fiduciary basis to withhold inspection-related information; the regulator acts in public interest and must justify any statutory exemption.

[ANALYSIS] It is the leading regulator-transparency authority and shows that “fiduciary” depends on the legal relationship, not a label.

[LIMIT] It does not mean every banking record is automatically public; section 8 interests remain case-specific.

21.6 Subhash Chandra Agarwal (2019) (2019)

[FACT] The CJI's office is a public authority under RTI. Disclosure remains subject to privacy, confidentiality, judicial independence and proportionality.

[LIMIT] Its section 8(1)(j) discussion addressed the pre-2025 clause. Use the constitutional method, not the superseded wording, for current answers.

21.7 Anjali Bhardwaj v. Union of India (2019) (2019)

[FACT] The Supreme Court addressed prolonged vacancies and directed timely, transparent appointment processes, including public-domain disclosure of relevant selection particulars and initiation sufficiently in advance of vacancies.

[ANALYSIS] The case proves that formal statutory powers are ineffective when the adjudicatory seats remain unfilled.

[LIMIT] Current vacancy numbers must be reverified; cite the structural direction, not stale totals.

[FACT] Section 25 requires annual implementation reports covering requests, denials, appeals, disciplinary action, charges, implementation efforts and reform recommendations. The appropriate government lays the report before the relevant legislature through the statutory route.

[ANALYSIS] Information Commissions need dual accountability: independence from the government whose secrecy they review, and transparency about their own listing, reasoning, pendency, penalty and compliance practices.

Verified routed previous-year question

PYQ 1 - UPSC Civil Services (Main) Examination 2020, GS-II, Question 2

Official-paper wording (verbatim-verified from the locally held UPSC paper):

“Recent amendments to the Right to Information Act will have profound impact on the autonomy and independence of the Information Commission”. Discuss. (Answer in 150 words) - 10 marks

Evidence status: [FACT] Exact English wording, year, paper, marks and word limit were checked against books/more_previous_papers/Gen_St_P2.pdf. The local routing ledger cross-routes it to CIC/SIC, transparency/accountability and consolidated statutory-body owners. UPSC supplies no official model answer or marking key; none is inferred.

Demand decode

- “Recent amendments” in a 2020 paper: principally the RTI (Amendment) Act, 2019 and the 2019 service-condition Rules.
- “Profound impact”: evaluate the mechanism, not merely list altered provisions.
- “Autonomy and independence”: test appointment, tenure, pay, removal, staffing, decisional power and relation to the government being reviewed.
- “Discuss”: give the autonomy critique, the surviving safeguards/counter-position and a graded verdict.

Model solution

The Information Commissions are statutory appellate watchdogs whose credibility depends on independence from the governments whose disclosure decisions they review.

[FACT] The RTI (Amendment) Act, 2019 removed the Act's fixed five-year tenure and Election-Commission-linked salary provisions and authorised the Central Government to prescribe tenure, pay and service conditions for both Central and State Commissioners. The 2019 Rules fixed a three-year term and specified salaries.

[ANALYSIS] This change can affect autonomy in three ways. First, an executive-controlled rule now determines core conditions of an adjudicator hearing cases against that executive. Second, removal of statutory parity and shortening of ordinary tenure can weaken institutional status and continuity. Third, central prescription for State Commissioners raises a federal-independence concern.

[LIMIT] The amendment did not abolish all safeguards: committee-based appointment with opposition participation, age ceiling, non-reappointment, protected removal after Supreme Court inquiry for proved misbehaviour/incapacity, and binding appellate/penal powers remain.

Therefore, the amendment does not make the Commissions legally subordinate in decision-making, but it shifts a structural guarantee from Parliament's Act to executive rules. Fixed statutory safeguards, timely transparent appointments and independent staffing would better reconcile administrative flexibility with autonomy.

Why this earns marks: It answers the 2020 time context, identifies the exact legal mechanism, links each change to autonomy, supplies a counter-position and reaches a qualified verdict within a 10-marker structure.

Current-law addendum to the 2020 PYQ

[CURRENT] A 2026 answer may add one final sentence-without rewriting the historical demand-that DPDP Act section 44(3), effective 13 November 2025, has separately changed the substantive personal-information exemption. Institutional autonomy and the breadth of disclosable information are distinct analytical questions.

Original solved Mains practice - 8 questions

M1. 10 marks, 150 words

Question: Distinguish a complaint under section 18 of the RTI Act from a second appeal under section 19. Why does the distinction matter?

Directive decode: “Distinguish” requires common criteria, not two isolated descriptions; the second limb requires practical significance.

Model solution

A section 18 complaint and a section 19 second appeal both reach an Information Commission, but they serve distinct remedial purposes.

[FACT] Section 18 permits a complaint where a person cannot submit a request, is refused access, receives no timely reply, faces unreasonable fee, or receives incomplete, misleading or false information. On reasonable grounds, the Commission may inquire with civil-court powers and inspect any covered record.

[FACT] A second appeal under section 19(3) follows the first-appeal route and allows the Commission to review denial/non-decision. The PIO bears the burden of justifying denial; section 19(8) permits disclosure and systemic compliance directions.

[FACT] In Chief Information Commissioner v. State of Manipur (2011), the Supreme Court held that the complaint route is not an automatic substitute for the statutory appellate disclosure remedy.

[ANALYSIS] The distinction matters because remedy must match jurisdiction. A citizen seeking the document should use appeal, while obstruction of the access system may justify complaint and penalty scrutiny.

[LIMIT] Section 20 consequences may arise in either complaint or appeal when statutory conditions are met.

Why this earns marks: It compares trigger, power, remedy and authority, uses the controlling case and preserves the section 20 qualification.

Visual 78 - Complaint-appeal 10-marker grid

Criterion	Complaint	Second appeal
section	18	19(3)
focus	access-system failure	review of denial/non-decision
disclosure	not substitute route	direct appellate remedy
authority	civil-court inquiry	binding appeal + section 19(8)

M2. 10 marks, 150 words

Question: Explain how compensation, monetary penalty and disciplinary recommendation operate as distinct accountability tools under the RTI Act.

Directive decode: State target, trigger, purpose and procedure for each.

Model solution

The RTI Act separates restorative, deterrent and service-disciplinary consequences.

[FACT] Under section 19(8)(b), the Commission may require the public authority to compensate a complainant for loss or detriment. This is restorative: it addresses the applicant's injury from wrongful RTI administration.

[FACT] Section 20(1) imposes a personal penalty on the CPIO/SPIO for listed defaults-refusing an application, delay, malafide denial, knowingly false/incomplete/misleading information, record destruction or obstruction-without reasonable cause. The rate is Rs 250 per day, capped at Rs 25,000. The PIO receives a hearing and bears the reasonable-diligence burden.

[FACT] Section 20(2) requires a disciplinary recommendation for persistent default under applicable service rules. The competent service authority, not the Commission acting as employer, carries the process forward.

[ANALYSIS] Together, the tools repair individual harm, deter access obstruction and address repeated service misconduct.

[LIMIT] They cannot be merged into a casual fine on the department or punitive damages without statutory findings.

Why this earns marks: It names sections, target, trigger and purpose, and ends with the due-process boundary.

Visual 79 - Accountability triad

LOSS TO APPLICANT -> compensation by public authority

LISTED PIO DEFAULT -> personal monetary penalty

PERSISTENT DEFAULT -> disciplinary recommendation under service rules

M3. 10 marks, 150 words

Question: Compare the composition, appointment and removal of the CIC and SIC.

Directive decode: Use identical heads and include the LoP deeming rule and suspension/removal trap.

Model solution

Both bodies are statutory Information Commissions under the RTI Act, but their design mirrors Union and State executive structures.

[FACT] Composition: CIC comprises the Chief plus not more than ten Central ICs; SIC comprises the State Chief plus not more than ten State ICs.

[FACT] Appointment: The President appoints CIC members on a committee of the Prime Minister, Lok Sabha Leader of Opposition and a Union Cabinet Minister nominated by the PM. The Governor appoints SIC members on a committee of the Chief Minister, Assembly Leader of Opposition and a State Cabinet Minister nominated by the CM. Where no LoP is recognised, the leader of the single largest opposition group is deemed LoP.

[FACT] Removal: The President removes Central commissioners; the Governor removes State commissioners. Proved misbehaviour/incapacity requires a Supreme Court inquiry on the relevant authority's reference. That authority may suspend during the inquiry. Listed direct grounds permit removal by order.

[LIMIT] Do not import the NHRC/SHRC rule: an SHRC member is removed by the President, whereas an SIC member is removed by the Governor.

Why this earns marks: The answer uses common heads, exact authorities and the highest-yield inter-commission trap.

Visual 80 - CIC/SIC comparison spine

M4. 15 marks, 250 words

Question: "Information Commissions possess substantial legal teeth, yet the RTI regime can remain institutionally weak." Analyse.

Directive decode: Establish powers, then explain why formal capacity may not translate into outcomes.

Model solution

Information Commissions are stronger than merely recommendatory accountability bodies, but legal power is only one link in the transparency chain.

Legal teeth: [FACT] Under section 18, they can inquire with civil-court powers and inspect any RTI-covered public record. In appeal, section 19(7) makes decisions binding, while section 19(8) permits disclosure, appointment of PIOs, proactive publication, record-management reform, training, compensation and penalties. Section 20 imposes a personal Rs 250-per-day penalty up to Rs 25,000 and supports disciplinary recommendation. [ANALYSIS] These powers combine adjudication, systemic correction and deterrence.

Why weakness persists: [FACT] Anjali Bhardwaj v. Union of India (2019) addressed prolonged vacancies and demanded timely transparent appointments. [ANALYSIS] An unfilled Commission cannot convert a statutory 30-day request into timely appellate relief. Government-provided staff, offices and budgets may limit administrative autonomy. Weak record management produces genuine/non-genuine “non-availability,” while rubber-stamp first appeals shift avoidable cases upward. Sparing or inconsistent penalty use reduces deterrence. Non-compliance can turn a binding order into a paper victory.

Substantive narrowing: [CURRENT] The commenced substitution of section 8(1)(j) broadens the clause-level personal-information exemption, though section 8(2) remains. [ANALYSIS] The Commission's power matters only within the information Parliament leaves disclosable.

Qualification: [LIMIT] Backlog or non-compliance should not be described through stale unverified totals; outcomes vary across Commissions and time.

Conclusion: RTI is not toothless in law; it is capacity-constrained in practice. Advance appointments, independent secretariats, section 4 audits, compliance dashboards and reasoned penalty practice would connect formal power to timely transparency.

Why this earns marks: It balances exact sections with causal institutional analysis, current-law control and targeted reforms.

M5. 15 marks, 250 words

Question: Examine the transparency-privacy balance under the RTI Act after the commencement of DPDP Act section 44(3).

Directive decode: State current law, compare the historical text, identify surviving controls and avoid predicting litigation.

Model solution

The DPDP amendment changes the statutory starting point for personal information but does not eliminate every transparency safeguard.

Current law: [CURRENT] MeitY G.S.R. 843(E) commenced DPDP section 44(3) on 13 November 2025. DoPT's consolidated RTI Act now states in section 8(1)(j): “information which relates to personal information.” The old tests-no relation to public activity/interest, unwarranted invasion of privacy, clause-specific larger-public-interest exception and Parliament/State-Legislature proviso-are historical, not current text.

Effect: [ANALYSIS] The new clause is broader and easier to invoke at the threshold because it no longer requires the PIO to establish the old clause-level conditions. This may protect privacy consistently but can shield information about public decision-making where personal and public roles overlap.

Surviving controls: [FACT] Section 8(2) still allows disclosure where public interest outweighs harm to protected interests. Section 10 requires severability, permitting redaction rather than blanket withholding. Reasons, first appeal and Commission review remain. [FACT] Subhash Chandra Agarwal (2019) supplies a constitutional proportionality method for balancing transparency, privacy and institutional independence, though it interpreted the prior clause.

Current qualification: [LIMIT] Most substantive DPDP duties/rights are in a later tranche, so partial commencement must not be described as full operationality. No official Supreme Court order proving a stay, reference or final result was located for this package; no procedural status is asserted.

Conclusion: The clause-level balance has shifted toward privacy, but section 8(2), severability, reasons and constitutional proportionality remain central transparency controls.

Why this earns marks: It gets the commencement and text right, distinguishes clause-level and general overrides, and avoids unverified litigation claims.

Visual 82 - Privacy answer balance

Privacy-side evidence	Transparency-side control
new broad clause (j)	section 8(2) override
legitimate personal-data harm	section 10 redaction
DPDP statutory policy	reasons and appeals
Article 21	Article 19(1)(a) + proportionality

M6. 15 marks, 250 words

Question: Proactive disclosure under section 4 is more important to RTI's success than the volume of individual applications. Discuss.

Directive decode: Explain mechanism, benefits, limitations and a balanced verdict.

Model solution

Section 4 makes transparency an administrative default rather than a citizen-by-citizen struggle.

Statutory design: [FACT] Public authorities must catalogue/index records, computerise appropriate material, publish organisational powers, procedures, norms, rules, record categories, consultation arrangements, budgets, subsidies, concessions, remuneration and PIO particulars. Sections 4(1)(c)-(d) require relevant policy facts and reasons for administrative/quasi-judicial decisions. Section 4(2) seeks maximum suo motu disclosure so citizens need minimum resort to applications.

Why it matters: [ANALYSIS] First, publication lowers information asymmetry for every citizen simultaneously. Second, disclosure of budgets, beneficiaries and decision rules enables social audit, media scrutiny and legislative oversight. Third, it reduces repetitive applications and Commission backlog. Fourth, reason-giving improves administrative discipline before litigation arises.

Named evidence: [FACT] The Act's preamble links informed citizenry and transparency with containing corruption and accountability. DoPT's proactive-disclosure guidance translates section 4 into implementation expectations.

Limits: [LIMIT] A stale, scanned or unsearchable upload may satisfy form but fail use. Privacy, security and legitimate confidentiality still require calibrated redaction. Poor record creation cannot be cured by a website alone, and publication does not itself provide service relief or sanction wrongdoing.

Reform: Annual third-party section 4 audits, machine-readable datasets, local-language access, disclosure logs and linkage to record-retention rules should be institutionalised.

Conclusion: Applications remain the enforceable safety valve, but section 4 determines whether RTI operates as routine open government or as perpetual adversarial litigation.

Why this earns marks: It uses exact section 4 duties, explains causal benefits, names implementation limits and avoids equating transparency with complete accountability.

Question: Critically evaluate the independence of the Central and State Information Commissions after the RTI (Amendment) Act, 2019. Suggest institutional safeguards.

Directive decode: Apply explicit independence criteria, present counter-evidence and propose legally appropriate reforms.

Model solution

Information Commissions require independence because they adjudicate disclosure disputes against the same governments that appoint, fund and staff them.

Surviving statutory safeguards: [FACT] CIC appointments are made by the President on a PM-LoP-Union Minister committee; SIC appointments by the Governor on a CM-Assembly LoP-State Minister committee. The Act prescribes multidisciplinary eligibility, conflict disqualifications, age 65, non-reappointment and protected removal. Proved misbehaviour/incapacity requires Supreme Court inquiry. Section 19 decisions are binding; sections 19(8) and 20 provide compliance, compensation and penalty powers.

Post-2019 concern: [FACT] The amendment removed Act-fixed five-year tenure and Election-Commission-linked pay and delegated tenure, salary and service conditions to Central rules. The 2019 Rules prescribe three-year terms and fixed pay, with Central control over residuary conditions and relaxation. [ANALYSIS] This creates a structural conflict: the executive whose secrecy is reviewed determines core conditions of both Central and State adjudicators. Shorter rule-made tenure may reduce continuity, while central prescription for SICs adds a federal concern.

Counter-position: [LIMIT] Rule-made conditions do not automatically prove biased decisions. High fixed salaries, the non-disadvantage proviso, committee appointment, SC-inquiry removal and binding powers remain. Statutory bodies need not replicate a constitutional body's status in every respect.

Operational independence: [FACT] Anjali Bhardwaj v. Union of India (2019) required timely transparent appointments. [ANALYSIS] Vacancy delay, executive-provided staff/budget and weak compliance can impair independence more directly than formal text.

Safeguards: Parliament should restore core tenure/service guarantees to the Act; selection should begin before vacancies with published criteria/shortlists; independent secretariats and predictable budgets should be created; age-wise pendency, recusal, penalty and compliance data should be published; first appeals and section 4 audits should reduce appellate load.

Conclusion: The 2019 change did not extinguish legal autonomy, but moved key structural guarantees into executive hands. Independence now depends too heavily on rules and practice; statutory insulation and operational capacity should be strengthened together.

Why this earns marks: It evaluates appointment, tenure, pay, removal, powers, staffing and appointments with named law/case evidence and a balanced verdict.

Visual 84 - Independence criteria matrix

Criterion	Present support	Present vulnerability appointment	opposition participation	executive majority tenure/pay	fixed 2019 Rules	Central rule control
removal	Supreme Court inquiry	no cure for non-appointment
decisional power	binding + penal	compliance gap
administration	statutory staff duty	executive dependence
accountability	reports/reasons/review	variable publication quality

Question: The RTI Act is an ecosystem of records, disclosure, adjudication and accountability rather than merely a request-and-reply law. Analyse the statement with reference to CIC and SIC.

Directive decode: Cover the full architecture, show causal links and identify system boundaries.

Model solution

The RTI Act converts the constitutional right to know into a chain extending from record creation to appellate enforcement.

Records and disclosure: [FACT] Section 2 defines information, record, public authority and modes of access. Section 4 requires cataloguing, computerisation, institutional/budget/beneficiary disclosure and reasons, while section 4(2) seeks minimum resort to applications. [ANALYSIS] Without reliable records, the legal right has no object.

Request administration: [FACT] Sections 5-7 establish PIO/APIO assistance, reason-free applications, five-day transfer, 30-day decisions, 48-hour life/liberty access, deemed refusal and free information after delay. [ANALYSIS] Time limits turn openness from discretion into duty.

Adjudication: [FACT] First appeal stays within the authority; second appeal reaches CIC/SIC, where the PIO bears the denial burden. Section 18 separately addresses access-system complaints. Chief Information Commissioner v. State of Manipur (2011) prevents remedial confusion. Commission decisions bind; section 19(8) supports disclosure, publication, record reform, training and compensation.

Accountability: [FACT] Section 20 creates personal penalty and disciplinary recommendation. Section 25 monitors denials, appeals, discipline and reform. Anjali Bhardwaj v. Union of India (2019) shows that vacancies can disable this architecture.

Calibrated secrecy: [FACT] Sections 8-11 and 24 protect legitimate interests, while section 8(2), severability and corruption/human-rights provisos preserve accountability. [CURRENT] The 2025 personal-information substitution shifts the balance but leaves section 8(2) intact.

Boundaries: [LIMIT] CIC/SIC do not grant the underlying pension, investigate corruption generally, convict offenders or become constitutional courts. Judicial review remains.

Conclusion: RTI works when section 4 prevention, trained PIOs, independent first appeals, staffed Commissions, reasoned exemptions, penalty and compliance operate as one system. Reform must therefore target records and institutions, not merely shorten the application form.

Why this earns marks: It traces the full statutory chain, integrates cases/current law and preserves jurisdictional limits.

Subject: Polity · Tier: Advanced (exam depth) · GS Paper: GS-II Grounded in: Indian Polity by M. PART A - CENTRAL INFORMATION COMMISSION (CIC) □

FACT: Established 2005 under the Right to Information (RTI) Act, 2005 - a high-powered independent statutory body that decides complaints & appeals on offices/PSUs/financial institutions under the Centre & UTs.

Composition

Point	Detail
FACT: Members	Chief Information Commissioner (CIC) + up to 10 Information Commissioners
FACT: Appointed by	President , on a 3-member committee: PM (chair) + LoP (Lok Sabha) + a Union Cabinet Minister
FACT: Eligibility	Eminence in public life (law, science, social service, media, admin...); not an MP/MLA, no office of profit/party/business
FACT: Re-appointment	NOT eligible

Tenure & removal □□

- CURRENT: Term = 3 years under the RTI Rules, 2019, subject to the statutory maximum age of 65.

ANALYSIS: The RTI (Amendment) Act, 2019 removed the earlier fixed 5-year term and the salary parity with the Election Commission, making tenure, salary & service conditions decided by the Central Government - widely criticised as undermining the CIC's independence and turning it into a subordinate body.

- FACT: Removed by the President; for proved misbehaviour/incapacity, a Supreme Court inquiry is required.

Powers & functions FACT:

Receive & inquire into complaints (no PIO, refusal, delay, unreasonable fees, false/incomplete info); suo-motu inquiry; civil-court powers; can examine any public record (none can be withheld); secure compliance - order disclosure, appoint a PIO, impose penalties, award compensation; submits an annual report -> Parliament.

PART B - STATE INFORMATION COMMISSION (SIC) □

FACT: Also under the RTI Act, at the state level - decides appeals/complaints on state government offices.

Point	Detail
FACT: Members	State CIC + up to 10 State Information Commissioners
FACT: Appointed by	Governor , on a committee: CM (chair) + LoP (Assembly) + a State Cabinet Minister
FACT: Removed by	GOVERNOR (for proved misbehaviour -> SC inquiry)
FACT: Term	3 years under the 2019 Rules / maximum age 65

□ Crucial distinction: SIC members are appointed AND removed by the Governor - UNLIKE the SHRC, whose members the Governor appoints but only the President can remove.

UPSC Traps

- WRONG: CIC/SIC are constitutional bodies -> statutory (RTI Act 2005).
- WRONG: CIC's term remains 5 years -> after the 2019 Amendment, Central rules prescribe it; the RTI Rules, 2019 currently prescribe 3 years, subject to age 65.
- WRONG: CIC salary equals the Election Commissioners' -> that parity was removed by the 2019 Amendment.

- WRONG: CIC can have unlimited Information Commissioners -> max 10 (+ the Chief).
- WRONG: SIC members are removed by the President -> removed by the Governor (contrast SHRC = President).
- WRONG: CIC/IC are eligible for re-appointment -> not eligible.
- WRONG: The Leader of Opposition is not on the CIC panel -> the LoP (LS) is on the 3-member selection committee.

CURRENT: CA hooks

- CURRENT: RTI (Amendment) Act, 2019 - Centre controls tenure/salary -> the independence debate.
- CURRENT: FACT: DPDP Act, 2023 section 44(3) substituted RTI section 8(1)(j) with effect from 13 Nov 2025 under MeitY's commencement notification. The new text exempts information relating to personal information; its interaction with the public-interest override and constitutional right-to-information doctrine remains contested.

- CURRENT: ANALYSIS: Vacancies & pendency in the CIC/SICs - several commissions functioning below strength or defunct, delaying appeals (SC has flagged this).

Mains angles

- "The RTI Act empowered citizens; recent amendments risk disempowering the commissions." Examine (2019 & DPDP 2023).
- Information Commissions vs the right to privacy (DPDP Act) - balancing transparency and data protection.
- Vacancies in Information Commissions: a slow death of the RTI regime?

CONSOLIDATED REGISTER NOTES

A. Identity and constitutional anchor

- [FACT] CIC/SIC are statutory quasi-judicial RTI bodies, not constitutional courts or tribunals.
- [FACT] Article 19(1)(a) supplies the right-to-know foundation through State of U.P. v. Raj Narain (1975) and S.P. Gupta v. Union of India (1981); the RTI Act supplies enforceable procedure.
- [LIMIT] Constitutional foundation does not enlarge Commission jurisdiction beyond the Act.

B. Four definitions to recall

Term	Compressed rule
public authority	Constitution/law/notification body + owned/controlled/substantially financed body + substantially financed NGO
information	material in any form, including legally accessible private-body information
record	files/documents/microforms/computer material
right to information	inspect, copy, extract, sample and obtain electronic/print access to held/controlled information

Trap: Existing recorded opinion is information; a new opinion or explanation need not be created.

C. Section 4 prevention layer

CATALOGUE + INDEX + COMPUTERISE

PUBLISH organisation / procedure / norms / rules / budgets / subsidies / concessions / staff / PIOs / policy facts / reasons

MINIMUM RESORT TO REQUESTS

- [ANALYSIS] Best Mains line: section 4 converts transparency from individual litigation into an administrative default.

D. Request and clock card

Step	Rule
request	written/electronic; local official language allowed; no reasons
oral assistance	PIO reduces request to writing
transfer	<=5 days
ordinary decision	30 days
life/liberty	48 hours
APIO	+5 days
delay	deemed refusal + information free
first appeal	ordinarily 30 days
FAA disposal	30 days; up to 45 with reasons
second appeal	ordinarily 90 days
third party	notice 5 days; representation 10; decision 40

E. Remedy routing

DOCUMENT WANTED -> request -> first appeal -> second appeal

SYSTEM OBSTRUCTION -> section 18 complaint

UNDERLYING SERVICE -> department / grievance / court

CORRUPTION INVESTIGATION -> vigilance / Lokpal / agency

- [FACT] Chief Information Commissioner v. State of Manipur (2011): complaint is not automatic substitute for disclosure appeal.
- [FACT] In appeal, PIO bears the denial burden; Commission decision is binding subject to constitutional review.

F. CIC/SIC institutional card

Head	CIC	SIC
composition	Chief + <=10 ICs	State Chief + <=10 SICs
appoint	President	Governor
panel	PM + LS LoP + Union Cabinet Minister	CM + Assembly LoP + State Cabinet Minister
LoP absence	largest opposition-group leader deemed	same
remove	President	Governor
SC inquiry	proved misconduct/incapacity	same
suspend during inquiry	President	Governor

G. Eligibility and conflict card

- [FACT] Eminence + knowledge/experience in law, science-tech, social service, management, journalism, mass media, administration/governance.
- [FACT] No legislature membership, office of profit, party connection, business or profession.

H. 2019 service-condition card

Head	Current rule
term	3 years under 2019 Rules
maximum age	65 under Act
Central Chief pay	Rs 2,50,000 fixed
Central IC pay	Rs 2,25,000 fixed
State Chief/SIC pay	Rs 2,25,000 fixed each
Chief reappointment	no
IC reappointment	no as IC; may become Chief aggregate IC + Chief	<=5 years

Autonomy thesis: 2019 moved core tenure/pay protection from Parliament's Act to Central executive rules; appointment/removal/powers safeguards survived.

I. Removal precision

PROVED MISBEHAVIOUR / INCAPACITY

- > President/Governor reference
- > Supreme Court inquiry
- > removal order

DIRECT GROUNDS

- > insolvency / moral-turpitude conviction / paid outside work / infirmity / prejudicial interest
- > direct order by President/Governor

J. Power and consequence card

Tool	Exact use
civil-court powers	evidence gathering in section 18 inquiry
inspect any covered record	record cannot be withheld from Commission
section 19(8)	disclosure, PIO appointment, publication, records, training, annual-report compliance compensation	public authority -> applicant loss/detriment penalty	PIO personally; Rs 250/day; max Rs 25,000
discipline	recommendation for persistent default

Trap: Civil-court powers do not make CIC/SIC civil courts.

K. Exemption and disclosure card

IDENTIFY s.8(1) CLAUSE

- > show protected harm
- > apply s.10 severability
- > apply s.8(2) public-interest override
- > give reasons + appeal route

- [FACT] Section 9 = non-State copyright ground.
- [FACT] Section 11 = third-party procedure, not exemption.
- [FACT] Section 24 = listed security bodies, but corruption and human-rights provisos survive; HR route uses Commission approval + 45 days.
- [FACT] Section 22 = RTI overrides inconsistent OSA/other law, while RTI's own exemptions remain.

L. Current privacy/DPDP control

Point	Safe current statement
commencement	G.S.R. 843(E), 13 Nov 2025 commenced s.44(3)
current RTI s.8(1)(j)	"information which relates to personal information"
old tests/proviso	historical, not current clause public-interest route	general s.8(2) remains redaction	s.10 remains
DPDP phasing	most ss.3-17 commence 13 May 2027
litigation	no unverified stay/bench/outcome claim

Balanced line: The clause-level exemption broadened; section 8(2), severability, reasons, appeal and constitutional proportionality remain controls.

M. Seven cases in one glance

Case	Recall phrase
State of U.P. v. Raj Narain (1975)	right to know public acts
S.P. Gupta v. Union of India (1981)	open government
CBSE	existing information; no creation duty
Chief Information Commissioner v. State of Manipur (2011)	complaint ≠ disclosure appeal
Jayantilal Mistry	no generic regulator fiduciary shield
Subhash Chandra Agarwal (2019)	CJI office public authority; proportionality
Anjali Bhardwaj v. Union of India (2019)	timely transparent appointments

N. Independence and reform recall

FORMAL STRENGTH:

committee + eligibility + protected removal + binding/penal power

PRACTICAL WEAKNESS:

executive-rule tenure/pay + vacancies + staff/budget dependence + records failure + non-compliance + weak penalty use

REFORM:

statutory core safeguards + advance transparent selection + independent secretariat + section 4 audit + age-wise dashboard + reasoned penalty/compliance tracking + privacy redaction guidance

O. PYQ and answer spines

- Verified direct PYQ: 2020 GS-II Q2, 10 marks/150 words-recent RTI amendments and Commission autonomy.
- 10 marks: identify 2019 legal change -> autonomy mechanism -> surviving safeguard -> graded verdict.
- 15 marks: architecture -> powers -> implementation limits -> current privacy change -> reforms.
- 20 marks: constitutional root -> records/disclosure -> request/appeals -> Commission design/powers -> exemptions/privacy -> independence -> balanced reform.

P. Last-minute traps

1. Statutory, not constitutional.
2. Chief + not more than ten, not exactly ten.
3. LoP deeming rule uses largest opposition group.
4. CIC removed by President; SIC by Governor.
5. Three-year rule-made term; age 65 in Act.
6. IC may become Chief; aggregate maximum five years.
7. State Chief and State IC both Rs 2,25,000 under current Rules.
8. Complaint is not the disclosure appeal.
9. Section 11 is procedure, not exemption.
10. Compensation targets public authority; penalty targets PIO.
11. New section 8(1)(j) is operative from 13 November 2025.
12. Section 8(2) remains.
13. Binding decisions remain judicially reviewable.
14. RTI reveals the service file; it does not itself grant the service.

COMPLETE TOPIC ASCII MASTER FLOW DIAGRAM

ASCII MASTER FLOW - PANEL 1/9: Right to know, RTI Act identity and the information-public-authority vocabulary

CONSTITUTIONAL ROOT

Article 19(1)(a) right to receive information for democratic participation, subject to lawful restrictions and competing rights.

RTI ACT, 2005

statutory request, proactive-disclosure, appeal, complaint and enforcement machinery.

INFORMATION

material in any form held by or under control of public authority, including accessible private-body information under another law.

PUBLIC AUTHORITY

Constitution | parliamentary or State law | government notification/order
| substantially financed bodies and NGOs under section 2(h).

RIGHT TO INFORMATION

inspection | notes/extracts | certified copies | certified samples | electronic copies.

LIMIT

RTI gives access to existing covered records; it does not compel a new answer, opinion or record.

ASCII MASTER FLOW - PANEL 2/9: PIO-FAA-Commission chain, transfers and statutory timelines

PROACTIVE DISCLOSURE: SECTION 4

records and key information disclosed by default -> fewer individual requests.

REQUEST

PIO or SPIO receives | APIO forwarding adds five days where applicable.
No reasons required; only contact details needed for communication.

TRANSFER: SECTION 6(3)

to the concerned public authority as soon as practicable, within five days.

RESPONSE

ordinary: 30 days | life or liberty: 48 hours
| third-party process: decision within 40 days | delay: information free.

REMEDY CHAIN

PIO decision/deemed refusal -> First Appellate Authority, ordinarily 30 days
-> CIC or SIC second appeal, ordinarily 90 days.

TRAP

section 18 complaint and section 19 disclosure appeal are not interchangeable.

ASCII MASTER FLOW - PANEL 3/9: CIC and SIC composition, appointment committees, eligibility and jurisdiction

CIC

Chief Information Commissioner + up to ten Information Commissioners.
President appoints on committee advice:
Prime Minister + Lok Sabha Opposition Leader/substitute + Union Cabinet Minister.

SIC

State Chief Information Commissioner + up to ten State Information Commissioners.
Governor appoints on committee advice:
Chief Minister + Assembly Opposition Leader/substitute + State Cabinet Minister.

ELIGIBILITY

eminence in public life with knowledge/experience in listed fields.

DISQUALIFICATIONS

MP/MLA | office of profit | political party link | business or profession.

JURISDICTION

CIC for Central public authorities | SIC for State public authorities.

appointment committees do not make the commissions constitutional bodies.

ASCII MASTER FLOW - PANEL 4/9: 2019 amendment, current Rules, tenure and protected removal

2019 AMENDMENT

removed Act-fixed five-year term and Election-Commission-linked conditions
-> Central Government prescribes term, pay and service conditions by rules.

2019 RULES

ordinary term: three years | age ceiling: 65.
fixed current pay varies by office under the Rules.

REAPPOINTMENT

same office: barred; an Information Commissioner may become Chief, subject to aggregate statutory maximum.

REMOVAL FOR PROVED MISBEHAVIOUR OR INCAPACITY

President for CIC officers | Governor for SIC officers after Supreme Court inquiry.

DIRECT GROUNDS

insolvency | conviction involving moral turpitude | outside paid employment
| infirmity | prejudicial financial or other interest.

AUTONOMY CONCERN

executive rule-making now controls core conditions of adjudicators reviewing that executive.

ASCII MASTER FLOW - PANEL 5/9: Sections 18-20: complaint, appeal, inquiry, orders, compensation and penalty

SECTION 18 COMPLAINT

inability to file | refusal | no reply | unreasonable fee
| incomplete, misleading or false information -> inquiry on reasonable grounds.

INQUIRY POWERS

civil-court powers + direct inspection of covered records;
no record may be withheld from Commission on a statutory exemption claim.

SECTION 19 SECOND APPEAL

PIO bears burden to justify denial.
Commission may order disclosure and systemic compliance under section 19(8).
Orders bind within the statutory field, subject to constitutional review.

REMEDIES

compensation to complainant/appellant
| section 20 personal PIO penalty: Rs 250 per day, maximum Rs 25,000
| disciplinary recommendation.

DUE PROCESS

reasonable opportunity and statutory conditions precede penalty.

ASCII MASTER FLOW - PANEL 6/9: Exemptions, public interest, severability, third parties and security bodies specified protected interests; current section 8(1)(j) covers personal information.

Section 8(2) general public-interest override remains.

SECTION 9

copyright-based refusal where access would infringe copyright of a person other than State.

SECTION 10

sever exempt portion -> disclose reasonably separable remainder with reasons.

SECTION 11

third-party consultation procedure, not an independent exemption.

SECTION 24

listed intelligence/security organisations excluded, except corruption allegations and human-rights information.
Human-rights disclosure requires Commission approval and uses a 45-day period.

PRIVACY CONTROL

current statute -> harm and public-interest analysis -> redaction -> reasoned order -> appeal.

ASCII MASTER FLOW - PANEL 7/9: Seven controlling decisions and the no-record-creation boundary

State of U.P. v. Raj Narain (1975) democratic right to know public acts.

S.P. Gupta v. Union of India (1981)
open government and disclosure as democratic norm.

CBSE v. Aditya Bandopadhyay (2011)
evaluated answer books are information; authority need not create new information.

Chief Information Commissioner v. State of Manipur (2011) complaint is not an automatic substitute for disclosure appeal.

RBI v. Jayantilal N. Mistry (2015)
no generic fiduciary shield for the regulator's inspection information.

Subhash Chandra Agarwal (2019)
CJI office is a public authority; privacy and transparency require balancing.

Anjali Bhardwaj v. Union of India (2019)
appointments must be timely and transparent; stale vacancy counts must be reverified.

ASCII MASTER FLOW - PANEL 8/9: Institutional comparison, backlog, digital RTI and reform architecture statutory RTI complaints and second appeals; disclosure, compliance and personal-penalty powers.

COURT

constitutional/statutory judicial review; not a routine RTI first-instance forum.

PIO / FAA

departmental access decision and internal appeal; neither replaces Commission.

IMPLEMENTATION DEFICITS

vacancies + backlog + weak section 4 disclosure + record disorder | uneven digital access + low penalty consistency + privacy uncertainty.

advance vacancy calendar -> independent staff and budget
-> interoperable e-filing with offline access -> record digitisation
-> section 4 audit -> reasoned penalty practice -> privacy-redaction guidance.

technology accelerates routing only when records, accessibility and adjudicatory capacity exist.

ASCII MASTER FLOW - PANEL 9/9: Current-law caveats, PYQ route, traps and transparency synthesis

DATED CONTROL: 24 AUGUST 2026

DPDP section 44(3) substituted section 8(1)(j) from 13 November 2025.

Section 8(2) remains; no unverified stay or final constitutional outcome is asserted.

PYQ ROUTE

2020 GS-II -> 2019 amendment and autonomy of Information Commissions.

PRELIMS FIREWALL

statutory != constitutional court | complaint != second appeal
| binding order != no judicial review | PIO penalty != ministry fine
| third-party procedure != exemption | section 24 != absolute exclusion
| RTI record != new explanation.

MAINS SPINE

right-to-know root -> access chain -> independent commission design
-> inquiry and appeal powers -> exemptions and privacy
-> implementation deficit -> transparent appointments, records and reasoned balancing.
