| PANEL 1/14 - 1. SOURCE AND CHRONOLOGY CONTROL |
+-----+
| -> Anguttara Nikaya, Mahavastu, Bhagavati Sutra and Puranas preserve divergent evidence. |
| -> Archaeology supplies dated settlements, walls, ceramics and contexts; coins supply |
|      circulation. |
| -> List, ruler story, excavated layer and coin issuer are independent proof classes. |
| -> Verdict: correlate evidence at matching place, phase and scale; retain disagreement. |

| PANEL 2/14 - 2. JANA TO MAHAJANAPADA |
+-----+
| -> Jana = people/kin collective; janapada = territorial domain plus inhabitants. |
| -> Mahajanapada = large/powerful polity in transmitted classifications, not a legal rank. |
| -> Territory, extraction, defence and armed capacity grew while kinship persisted. |
| -> Monarchies, ganas, smaller states and forest communities followed no single ladder. |

| PANEL 3/14 - 3. SIXTEEN AND MAP FIREWALL |
+-----+
| -> Anga, Magadha, Kashi, Kosala, Vajji, Malla, Chedi, Vatsa, Kuru, Panchala, Matsya, |
| -> Shurasena, Ashmaka, Avanti, Gandhara and Kamboja form the Anguttara list. |
| -> Mahavastu substitutions and Bhagavati variation prevent a rigid fixed-border atlas. |
| -> Secure pairs: Ashmaka-Godavari and Kosala-Sarayu; Avanti is Malwa-Narmada linked. |

| PANEL 4/14 - 4. MONARCHY AND GANA-SANGHA |
+-----+
| -> Monarchy: dynastic king/court, layered officials and potentially concentrated command. |
| -> Gana-sangha: restricted male clan body, assembly and chief; Vajji and Malla are key. |
| -> Shakyas show a smaller clan polity within Kosala's wider power field. |
| -> Corporate rule is oligarchic, not universal citizenship or modern democracy. |

PANEL 5/14 - 5. VAJJI INSTITUTIONAL LOGIC
+-----+
-> Vaishali-centred Vajji tradition includes Licchavi, Videha and Jnatrika connections.
-> Frequent assemblies, agreed norms and cohesion are remembered as sources of strength.
-> Santhagara = assembly hall; later salaka/quorum detail is only comparative evidence.
-> Ajatashatru-Vassakara story links prolonged war to fortification and dissension.

	PANEL 6/14 - 6. SECOND URBANISATION
+-----+
	-> Urban growth joined settlement density, walls, crafts, exchange, functions and hinterland.
	-> NBPW is a ceramic horizon, not proof of a city, ethnicity, ruler or political boundary.
	-> Punch-marked coins show uneven monetised valuation; in-kind exchange continued.
	-> Gahapati links property/production; setthi marks urban business or credit prominence.
+-----+

+-----+
	PANEL 7/14 - 7. AGRICULTURE, IRON AND MEDIATION
+-----+
	-> Alluvium, rice, rainfall, labour, draught power and knowledge supported production.
	-> Iron could aid tools, crafts and weapons, but access and chronology varied by region.
	-> Surplus became state capacity through assessment, collection, storage and transport.
	-> Causal rule: resource -> access/skill/labour -> institution -> capacity; no iron monocause.

	PANEL 8/14 - 8. FOUR MAJOR RIVALS
+-----+
	-> Kosala: Shravasti, Sarayu and Kashi; Vatsa: Kaushambi on the Yamuna.
	-> Avanti: Ujjayini-Mahishmati and Malwa-Narmada routes; Magadha: Rajagriha core.
	-> Every major rival possessed strategic assets, towns and routes.
	-> Magadhan victory requires a comparative, sequential explanation, not winner-centred myth.

+-----+
PANEL 9/14 - 9. MAGADHA'S MEDIATED ADVANTAGES
+-----+
-> Rajagriha: hill defence and southern upland access; Pataliputra: riverine command.
-> Fertile zones, routes, forests, elephants and ore access created opportunities.
-> Boats, forts, labour, taxation, diplomacy and armies converted assets into power.
-> Kosala, Vatsa and Avanti supply the counterfactual: resources alone did not decide.
+-----+

+-----+
PANEL 10/14 - 10. HARYANKA EXPANSION
+-----+
-> Bimbisara: Anga annexation plus Kosalan, Licchavi/Videha and Madra marriage traditions.
-> Ajatashatru: Kosala and Vajji wars, Pataligrama fort and coalition-breaking narrative.
-> Rathamusala and mahasilakantaka are textual weapon traditions, not excavated machines.
-> Udayin is linked to Pataliputra's capital role; exact founder sequence remains disputed.
+-----+
v

+-----+
| PANEL 11/14 - 11. SHISHUNAGA AND NANDA SCALE |
+-----+
| -> Shishunaga is credited with absorbing Avanti; accession and capital stories diverge. |
| -> Kalashoka/Kakavarna identity and Second Buddhist Council chronology are source-sensitive. |
| -> Nandas are remembered through wealth and army traditions indicating fiscal-military |
| concentration. |
| -> Founder origins, ruler count and exact troop figures are contested or rhetorical. |

PANEL 12/14 - 12. ADMINISTRATION WITHOUT ANACHRONISM
+-----+
-> Officials, local headmen, dues, tolls, stores, forts and armed force made gains durable.
-> One-sixth is a normative fraction in texts, not an audited uniform Magadhan tax rate.
-> Fragmentary pre-Mauryan offices cannot be expanded into a full departmental chart.
-> Later Arthashastra and Mauryan categories are comparisons, not Haryanka descriptions.
+-----+
v

+-----+
PANEL 13/14 - 13. GANA DECLINE, PERSISTENCE AND RELIGIOUS LINKS
+-----+
-> Large monarchies could exploit greater fiscal scale, concentrated command and faction.
-> Vajji and Shakya cases show incorporation; later ganas disprove instant extinction.
-> Cities, routes and courts widened audiences and patronage for Buddhism and Jainism.
-> Political economy explains opportunity, not doctrines such as anatta or jiva.

| PANEL 14/14 - 14. ANSWER SPINE AND MAURYN BRIDGE |
+-----+
| -> Answer: define -> map -> political forms -> urban economy -> rivals -> ruler sequence. |
| -> Then rank geography, resources, capitals, institutions, strategy and cumulative victories. |
| -> Qualify lists, chronology, NBPW, coin issuers, gana democracy and Nanda army numbers. |
| -> Verdict: Magadha's contingent gains created the Nanda base inherited and contested by |
|     Mauryas. |
