PYQS AND ANSWER PRACTICE

Historical PYQ Integration (2018-2023)

Status: Question-level PYQ demand is integrated into this owner. Provenance: Audited local official-paper routing ledgers: _PYQ-ROUTING-PRELIMS-2018-2023.md. Answer-key rule: The official 2018-2023 Prelims/CSAT keys are not held locally; no option or answer has been inferred.

- Years represented: 2022
- Paper(s): Prelims GS-I
- Routed question demands: 1

Year	Paper	Q	PYQ demand (neutral rendering)	Directive / format	Source status	Owner requirement
2022	Prelims GS-I	53	Freedom fighters association with the Ghadar Party	Objective question; official key unavailable locally	Routed; key unavailable locally	Cover the named fact/concept and its likely statement-level distinctions.

What this owner must now support

- Freedom fighters association with the Ghadar Party

The table integrates the examinable demand and paper metadata. It does not turn an unkeyed objective question into a solved answer, and it does not claim that lexical presence alone proves full conceptual sufficiency.

PYQ DEMAND CARD 1 - 2022 Prelims GS-I Q53

Demand: Assess the association of Barindra Kumar Ghosh, Jogesh Chandra Chatterjee and Rash Behari Bose with the Ghadar Party.

Status: open-evidence-gap

Model solution / safe handling: The routed local question is verified, but its official answer key is unavailable locally. Preserve it as an association-check card: Barindra belongs to Bengal's revolutionary milieu, Rash Behari later worked with the wartime rising, and no option is declared from memory.

Demand decoding: Treat "PYQ DEMAND CARD 1 - 2022 Prelims GS-I Q53" as a statement-level chronology and attribution problem: verify every date, Act/provision, person, organisation, region and causal claim independently, without inventing an official key.

Detailed examiner-grade model status: The solved analysis above is the executable content base. Preserve its exact chronology, named evidence, causal logic, counter-position and qualification.

Executable exam-length answer / compression plan: Fix the tested time window; separate event/enactment/commencement; match each actor and provision; eliminate the closest distractor with one named record, treaty, session or regional fact.

Why this earns marks: It preserves exact chronology and answer-text mapping, uses named evidence and keeps inferred elimination distinct from an official key.

How to improve this answer: For "PYQ DEMAND CARD 1 - 2022 Prelims GS-I Q53", add one explicit line showing why the nearest distractor fails on date, legal status, geography, attribution or degree.

ORIGINAL MAINS 1 - 10 MARKS

Question: Why did some nationalists turn from Swadeshi mobilisation to clandestine armed action after 1907? Answer in about 150 words.

Model thesis: Repression and the decline of open Swadeshi politics encouraged a vanguard strategy of exemplary action, but did not mechanically produce every revolutionary network.

Evidence spine:

- Anushilan Samiti and Dacca Anushilan were related but distinct Bengal networks; Barindra Ghosh's circle and Jugantar formed another centre.
- Jugantar was both a revolutionary network and a newspaper launched in 1906; Sandhya and Bande Mataram belonged to the wider militant press.
- In April 1908 Khudiram Bose and Prafulla Chaki intended to kill Kingsford at Muzaffarpur, but the bomb killed two European women.
- The Alipore Bomb Case of 1908-09 prosecuted the Maniktala circle associated with Barindra Ghosh; it followed but was not identical to the Muzaffarpur action.
- The Defence of India Act 1915, Lahore prosecutions and surveillance crippled networks; Bagha Jatin died near Balasore in 1915, while Home Rule, Lucknow and Gandhi's 1917 satyagraha signalled a shift.

Balance: Distinguish intention from outcome, identify regional or social variation, and avoid treating a formal measure as complete implementation.

Conclusion: Repression and the decline of open Swadeshi politics encouraged a vanguard strategy of exemplary action, but did not mechanically produce every revolutionary network.

Demand decoding: The directive answer requires a direct position on “Why did some nationalists turn from Swadeshi mobilisation to clandestine armed action after...”, coverage of every clause, chronological-causal analysis, named evidence, a counter-position and a qualified verdict.

Detailed examiner-grade model status: The solved analysis above is the executable content base. Preserve its exact chronology, named evidence, causal logic, counter-position and qualification.

Executable exam-length answer / compression plan: For a 10-mark answer, open with a two-sentence thesis; organise three named Acts, events, organisations, regions, primary records or scholarly positions as claim -> evidence -> analysis -> qualification; reserve the final lines for a graded conclusion.

Why this earns marks: The answer obeys the directive, distinguishes dates and policy stages, connects evidence to mechanism, recognises regional/social variation and avoids teleology or hero worship.

How to improve this answer: For “Why did some nationalists turn from Swadeshi mobilisation to clandestine armed action after...”, replace the weakest generalisation with one additional named primary/official record or attributed scholarly interpretation and state exactly what it cannot prove.

ORIGINAL MAINS 2 - 10 MARKS

Question: Distinguish the organisation, newspaper and social base of Ghadar. Answer in about 150 words.

Model thesis: Ghadar joined a Pacific-coast migrant organisation, a multilingual paper and a worker-ex-soldier constituency in a secular republican programme of return and revolt.

Evidence spine:

- Before Ghadar, Tarak Nath Das published Free Hindustan and G.D. Kumar published Swadesh Sevak among Indian migrants on the Pacific coast.
- The Hindi Association of the Pacific Coast was organised in May 1913 with Sohan Singh Bhakna as president and Lala Har Dayal as a key leader.
- The Ghadar paper appeared first in Urdu in late 1913, followed by a Gurmukhi edition, from the Yugantar Ashram printing centre.
- Ghadar drew heavily on Punjabi migrant workers and ex-soldiers and used a secular, republican and egalitarian anti-imperial idiom.

Balance: Distinguish intention from outcome, identify regional or social variation, and avoid treating a formal measure as complete implementation.

Conclusion: Ghadar joined a Pacific-coast migrant organisation, a multilingual paper and a worker-ex-soldier constituency in a secular republican programme of return and revolt.

Demand decoding: The directive answer requires a direct position on “Distinguish the organisation, newspaper and social base of Ghadar. Answer in about 150...”, coverage of every clause, chronological-causal analysis, named evidence, a counter-position and a qualified verdict.

Detailed examiner-grade model status: The solved analysis above is the executable content base. Preserve its exact chronology, named evidence, causal logic, counter-position and qualification.

Executable exam-length answer / compression plan: For a 10-mark answer, open with a two-sentence thesis; organise three named Acts, events, organisations, regions, primary records or scholarly positions as claim -> evidence -> analysis -> qualification; reserve the final lines for a graded conclusion.

Why this earns marks: The answer obeys the directive, distinguishes dates and policy stages, connects evidence to mechanism, recognises regional/social variation and avoids teleology or hero worship.

How to improve this answer: For “Distinguish the organisation, newspaper and social base of Ghadar. Answer in about 150...”, replace the weakest generalisation with one additional named primary/official record or attributed scholarly interpretation and state exactly what it cannot prove.

Question: Examine the regional diversity of early revolutionary nationalism. Answer in about 250 words.

Model thesis: Bengal cells, Maharashtra's Abhinav Bharat, north Indian networks and overseas centres shared armed anti-imperialism but differed in organisation, constituency and tactical opportunity.

Evidence spine:

- In 1897 the Chapekar brothers killed plague commissioner W.C. Rand and Lieutenant Ayerst in Poona, an armed precursor to the later phase.
- V.D. Savarkar's Mitra Mela developed into Abhinav Bharat in 1904, linking oath-bound organisation, political education and armed action.
- Anushilan Samiti and Dacca Anushilan were related but distinct Bengal networks; Barindra Ghosh's circle and Jugantar formed another centre.
- Jugantar was both a revolutionary network and a newspaper launched in 1906; Sandhya and Bande Mataram belonged to the wider militant press.
- In December 1909 Anant Kanhere killed Collector A.M.T. Jackson at Nasik; the prosecution exposed links associated with Abhinav Bharat.
- On 23 December 1912 a bomb was thrown at Viceroy Hardinge in Delhi; Rash Behari Bose and Sachin Sanyal were linked to the wider network.
- Before Ghadar, Tarak Nath Das published Free Hindustan and G.D. Kumar published Swadesh Sevak among Indian migrants on the Pacific coast.
- The Hindi Association of the Pacific Coast was organised in May 1913 with Sohan Singh Bhakna as president and Lala Har Dayal as a key leader.

Question: How did overseas networks transform Indian revolutionary politics before and during the First World War? Answer in about 250 words.

Model thesis: London, Paris, the Pacific coast, Berlin and Kabul linked propaganda, migration, arms and wartime diplomacy, making Indian anti-colonialism a transnational security problem for the empire.

Evidence spine:

- Shyamji Krishna Varma founded India House in London; Savarkar later became a central organiser there but was not its founder.
- On 1 July 1909 Madan Lal Dhingra killed Sir William Curzon-Wyllie in London, bringing India House under intensified surveillance.
- Madame Bhikaji Cama and S.R. Rana worked through Paris and European platforms; Cama's Stuttgart flag episode occurred in 1907.
- Before Ghadar, Tarak Nath Das published Free Hindustan and G.D. Kumar published Swadesh Sevak among Indian migrants on the Pacific coast.
- The Hindi Association of the Pacific Coast was organised in May 1913 with Sohan Singh Bhakna as president and Lala Har Dayal as a key leader.
- The Ghadar paper appeared first in Urdu in late 1913, followed by a Gurmukhi edition, from the Yugantar Ashram printing centre.
- The Komagata Maru episode of 1914 exposed racial exclusion and sharpened diasporic anger without requiring unsupported casualty totals.
- The Berlin or Indian Independence Committee sought German assistance during the First World War and supported a provisional-government attempt at Kabul; Hindu-German conspiracy is an umbrella judicial label.

Balance: Distinguish intention from outcome, identify regional or social variation, and avoid treating a formal measure as complete implementation.

Conclusion: London, Paris, the Pacific coast, Berlin and Kabul linked propaganda, migration, arms and wartime diplomacy, making Indian anti-colonialism a transnational security problem for the empire.

Conclusion: The movement broke the psychology of submission, created martyrs and international networks, yet secrecy, informers, fragmented command and a weak mass base prevented a sustained challenge to state power.

Demand decoding: The directive assess requires a direct position on "Assess the achievements and organisational limits of revolutionary nationalism during...", coverage of every clause, chronological-causal analysis, named evidence, a counter-position and a qualified verdict.

Detailed examiner-grade model status: The solved analysis above is the executable content base. Preserve its exact chronology, named evidence, causal logic, counter-position and qualification.

Executable exam-length answer / compression plan: For a 20-mark answer, open with a two-sentence thesis; organise six to eight named Acts, events, organisations, regions, primary records or scholarly positions as claim -> evidence -> analysis -> qualification; reserve the final lines for a graded conclusion.

Why this earns marks: The answer obeys the directive, distinguishes dates and policy stages, connects evidence to mechanism, recognises regional/social variation and avoids teleology or hero worship.

How to improve this answer: For "Assess the achievements and organisational limits of revolutionary nationalism during...", replace the weakest generalisation with one additional named primary/official record or attributed scholarly interpretation and state exactly what it cannot prove.

ORIGINAL MAINS 6 - 20 MARKS

Question: Compare the revolutionary vanguard strategy with the Gandhian mass politics that emerged after 1917. Answer in about 300 words.

Model thesis: Both sought courage, sacrifice and anti-colonial mobilisation, but Gandhian politics replaced secret selective violence with open, disciplined and wider non-violent participation.

Evidence spine:

- Ghadar drew heavily on Punjabi migrant workers and ex-soldiers and used a secular, republican and egalitarian anti-imperial idiom.
- A Punjab military rising planned for 19 February 1915 was pre-empted after intelligence penetration; it was an attempted revolt, not a successful general insurrection.
- The Defence of India Act 1915, Lahore prosecutions and surveillance crippled networks; Bagha Jatin died near Balasore in 1915, while Home Rule, Lucknow and Gandhi's 1917 satyagraha signalled a shift.

Balance: Distinguish intention from outcome, identify regional or social variation, and avoid treating a formal measure as complete implementation.

Conclusion: Both sought courage, sacrifice and anti-colonial mobilisation, but Gandhian politics replaced secret selective violence with open, disciplined and wider non-violent participation.
