E EXTRA SUBORDINATE ENRICHMENT — ONLY AFTER THE COMPLETE CORE

OPTIONAL ADVANCED ENRICHMENT · INDIA'S STRUGGLE FOR INDEPENDENCE PRESENTS THE NO-CHANGER VERSUS PRO-CHANGER · A DISAGREEMENT OVER METHOD AFTER THE SUSPENSION OF MASS · NO-CHANGERS DEFENDED GANDHIAN CONSTRUCTIVE WORK AS PREPARATION FOR FUTURE · SWARAJISTS ARGUED THAT ENTERING LEGISLATURES WOULD PREVENT POLITICAL PASSIVITY · THEIR 1923 SUCCESSES GAVE THEM A PLATFORM, BUT OBSTRUCTION · DAS'S DEATH IN 1925 WEAKENED LEADERSHIP · THE HRA AIMED AT AN ARMED OVERTHROW OF COLONIAL

OPTIONAL SOURCE DEPTH
- India's Struggle for Independence presents the No-changer versus Pro-changer debate as
- a disagreement over method after the suspension of mass struggle.
- No-changers defended Gandhian constructive work as preparation for future struggle and as a way to keep Congress rooted among the people.
- Swarajists argued that entering legislatures would prevent political passivity, expose colonial reforms and wreck dyarchy from within.

ADVANCED DEBATE
- Their 1923 successes gave them a platform, but obstruction had limits because executive power remained colonial and C.R.
- Das's death in 1925 weakened leadership.
- The HRA aimed at an armed overthrow of colonial rule and a republican India; Kakori was intended to obtain funds and publicise revolutionary courage.
- Bhagat Singh's generation reorganised the movement as the HSRA, adding a clearer socialist and anti-imperialist vocabulary.

LEGACY / NUANCE
- The Assembly Bomb was deliberately non-lethal and symbolic, meant "to make the deaf hear" and use the courtroom as a platform.
- CAUTION: Bhagat Singh's writings, including "Why I am an Atheist," show a
- shift from heroic individual action toward ideological, rationalist and socialist politics.
- Swaraj Party was founded on 1 January 1923 ; C.R. Das was president and Motilal Nehru secretary.

OPTIONAL STATUS — This optional depth is unnecessary for a competent core answer; use it only for added nuance after the complete core has been written.
