

SOLVED PRACTICE WORKBOOK

The Rajiv Years & the Run-up to the Millennium - Learner-v2 Refreshed

UPSC complete learning session | Foundation to advanced | Concepts, evidence, practice and answer writing

Original deterministic study visual; labels are explanatory, not textual quotations.

Source order: repository knowledge -> official current linkage -> clearly marked analysis. No fabricated PYQs or statistics.

CONTENTS / WORKBOOK INDEX

Major learning parts and meaningful subtopics are listed in document order. Page numbers are generated from the final PDF layout; PDF bookmarks mirror the same hierarchy.

The Rajiv Years & the Run-up to the Millennium - Solved Practice Workbook 5

BASIC MCQS / REMEDIATION 5

Q1. Which statement correctly identifies Rajiv Gandhi's 1984 mandate?	5
Q2. Which chronology card should be filed under Rajiv Gandhi's 1984 mandate?	5
Q3. Which option should a candidate retain when revising Rajiv Gandhi's 1984 mandate?	5
Q4. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about Rajiv Gandhi's 1984 mandate?	5
Q5. Which statement correctly identifies The modernising agenda?	6
Q6. Which chronology card should be filed under The modernising agenda?	6
Q7. Which option should a candidate retain when revising The modernising agenda?	6
Q8. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about The modernising agenda?	7
Q9. Which statement correctly identifies The Anti-Defection Act, 1985?	7
Q10. Which chronology card should be filed under The Anti-Defection Act, 1985?	7
Q11. Which option should a candidate retain when revising The Anti-Defection Act, 1985?	7
Q12. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about The Anti-Defection Act, 1985?	8
Q13. Which statement correctly identifies The 1985 accords?	8
Q14. Which chronology card should be filed under The 1985 accords?	8
Q15. Which option should a candidate retain when revising The 1985 accords?	8
Q16. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about The 1985 accords?	9
Q17. Which statement correctly identifies The Shah Bano reversal, 1985-86?	9
Q18. Which chronology card should be filed under The Shah Bano reversal, 1985-86?	9
Q19. Which option should a candidate retain when revising The Shah Bano reversal, 1985-86?	10
Q20. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about The Shah Bano reversal, 1985-86?	10
Q21. Which statement correctly identifies The Ayodhya shrine opening?	10
Q22. Which chronology card should be filed under The Ayodhya shrine opening?	10
Q23. Which option should a candidate retain when revising The Ayodhya shrine opening?	11
Q24. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about The Ayodhya shrine opening?	11
Q25. Which statement correctly identifies The Bofors scandal, 1987?	11
Q26. Which chronology card should be filed under The Bofors scandal, 1987?	12
Q27. Which option should a candidate retain when revising The Bofors scandal, 1987?	12

Q28. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about The Bofors scandal, 1987?	12
Q29. Which statement correctly identifies V.P. Singh's exit and the National Front?	12
Q30. Which chronology card should be filed under V.P. Singh's exit and the National Front?	13
Q31. Which option should a candidate retain when revising V.P. Singh's exit and the National Front?	13
Q32. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about V.P. Singh's exit and the National Front?	13
Q33. Which statement correctly identifies The 1989 election: fragmentation?	13
Q34. Which chronology card should be filed under The 1989 election: fragmentation?	14
Q35. Which option should a candidate retain when revising The 1989 election: fragmentation?	14
Q36. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about The 1989 election: fragmentation?	14
Q37. Which statement correctly identifies The Mandal Commission, 1990?	14
Q38. Which chronology card should be filed under The Mandal Commission, 1990?	15
Q39. Which option should a candidate retain when revising The Mandal Commission, 1990?	15
Q40. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about The Mandal Commission, 1990?	15
Q41. Which statement correctly identifies Advani's rath yatra, 1990?	16
Q42. Which chronology card should be filed under Advani's rath yatra, 1990?	16
Q43. Which option should a candidate retain when revising Advani's rath yatra, 1990?	16
Q44. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about Advani's rath yatra, 1990?	16
Q45. Which statement correctly identifies 1991: the economic break?	17
Q46. Which chronology card should be filed under 1991: the economic break?	17
Q47. Which option should a candidate retain when revising 1991: the economic break?	17
Q48. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about 1991: the economic break?	17
Q49. Which statement correctly identifies Rajiv Gandhi's assassination, 1991?	18
Q50. Which chronology card should be filed under Rajiv Gandhi's assassination, 1991?	18
Q51. Which option should a candidate retain when revising Rajiv Gandhi's assassination, 1991?	18
Q52. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about Rajiv Gandhi's assassination, 1991?	19
Q53. Which statement correctly identifies The Babri Masjid demolition, 6 December 1992?	19
Q54. Which chronology card should be filed under The Babri Masjid demolition, 6 December 1992?	19
Q55. Which option should a candidate retain when revising The Babri Masjid demolition, 6 December 1992?	19
Q56. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about The Babri Masjid demolition, 6 December 1992?	20
Q57. Which statement correctly identifies Mandal and Mandir as crossing cleavages?	20
Q58. Which chronology card should be filed under Mandal and Mandir as crossing cleavages?	20
Q59. Which option should a candidate retain when revising Mandal and Mandir as crossing cleavages?	21

Q60. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about Mandal and Mandir as crossing cleavages?	21
Q61. Which statement correctly identifies The coalition decade, 1996-99?	21
Q62. Which chronology card should be filed under The coalition decade, 1996-99?	22
Q63. Which option should a candidate retain when revising The coalition decade, 1996-99?	22
Q64. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about The coalition decade, 1996-99?	22
Q65. Which statement correctly identifies Chandra's 'Mandal, Mandir and Market' synthesis?	23
Q66. Which chronology card should be filed under Chandra's 'Mandal, Mandir and Market' synthesis?	23
Q67. Which option should a candidate retain when revising Chandra's 'Mandal, Mandir and Market' synthesis?	23
Q68. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about Chandra's 'Mandal, Mandir and Market' synthesis?	24
Q69. Which statement correctly identifies The democratic-deepening counter-reading?	24
Q70. Which chronology card should be filed under The democratic-deepening counter-reading?	24
Q71. Which option should a candidate retain when revising The democratic-deepening counter-reading?	25
Q72. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about The democratic-deepening counter-reading?	25
Q73. Which statement correctly identifies The three-transitions thesis?	25
Q74. Which chronology card should be filed under The three-transitions thesis?	26
Q75. Which option should a candidate retain when revising The three-transitions thesis?	26
Q76. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about The three-transitions thesis?	26
Q77. Which statement correctly identifies The panchayati raj caution?	27
Q78. Which chronology card should be filed under The panchayati raj caution?	27
Q79. Which option should a candidate retain when revising The panchayati raj caution?	27
Q80. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about The panchayati raj caution?	27
PYQS AND ANSWER PRACTICE	28
TRANSPARENT ZERO-DIRECT-PYQ AUDIT	28
ORIGINAL MAINS 1 - 10 MARKS	28
ORIGINAL MAINS 2 - 10 MARKS	28
ORIGINAL MAINS 3 - 15 MARKS	29
ORIGINAL MAINS 4 - 15 MARKS	29
ORIGINAL MAINS 5 - 20 MARKS	30
ORIGINAL MAINS 6 - 20 MARKS	31

The Rajiv Years & the Run-up to the Millennium - Solved Practice Workbook

BASIC MCQS / REMEDIATION

Q1. Which statement correctly identifies Rajiv Gandhi's 1984 mandate?

A. Rajiv Gandhi won a record majority of about 415 of 543 seats in the December 1984 general election, the largest mandate in Indian electoral history to that point. B. Rajiv Gandhi signed the Punjab accord with Harchand Singh Longowal, and separate Assam and Mizoram accords, all in 1985, settling regional crises inherited from the previous decade through negotiation rather than force. C. The Anti-Defection Act, the 52nd Constitutional Amendment, was passed in 1985 under Rajiv Gandhi, addressing the mass floor-crossing that had become routine after the 1967 election. D. Rajiv Gandhi's government pushed a modernising agenda of telecommunications, computerisation, science and technology missions, panchayati raj and education reform, prefiguring the economic opening of 1991.

Answer: A. Explanation: Rajiv Gandhi won a record majority of about 415 of 543 seats in the December 1984 general election, the largest mandate in Indian electoral history to that point. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q2. Which chronology card should be filed under Rajiv Gandhi's 1984 mandate?

A. Rajiv Gandhi signed the Punjab accord with Harchand Singh Longowal, and separate Assam and Mizoram accords, all in 1985, settling regional crises inherited from the previous decade through negotiation rather than force. B. Rajiv Gandhi won a record majority of about 415 of 543 seats in the December 1984 general election, the largest mandate in Indian electoral history to that point. C. The Anti-Defection Act, the 52nd Constitutional Amendment, was passed in 1985 under Rajiv Gandhi, addressing the mass floor-crossing that had become routine after the 1967 election. D. The Shah Bano case of 1985 and its legislative reversal in 1986, which overturned a Supreme Court maintenance ruling under conservative religious pressure, alienated liberal opinion and minority-rights advocates.

Answer: B. Explanation: Rajiv Gandhi won a record majority of about 415 of 543 seats in the December 1984 general election, the largest mandate in Indian electoral history to that point. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q3. Which option should a candidate retain when revising Rajiv Gandhi's 1984 mandate?

A. Rajiv Gandhi signed the Punjab accord with Harchand Singh Longowal, and separate Assam and Mizoram accords, all in 1985, settling regional crises inherited from the previous decade through negotiation rather than force. B. The opening of the locks of the disputed Ayodhya shrine, intended by the government to balance the Shah Bano reversal, instead alienated the other community and energised Hindu mobilisation. C. Rajiv Gandhi won a record majority of about 415 of 543 seats in the December 1984 general election, the largest mandate in Indian electoral history to that point. D. The Shah Bano case of 1985 and its legislative reversal in 1986, which overturned a Supreme Court maintenance ruling under conservative religious pressure, alienated liberal opinion and minority-rights advocates.

Answer: C. Explanation: Rajiv Gandhi won a record majority of about 415 of 543 seats in the December 1984 general election, the largest mandate in Indian electoral history to that point. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q4. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about Rajiv Gandhi's 1984 mandate?

A. The opening of the locks of the disputed Ayodhya shrine, intended by the government to balance the Shah Bano reversal, instead alienated the other community and energised Hindu mobilisation. B. The Shah Bano case of 1985 and its legislative reversal in 1986, which overturned a Supreme Court maintenance ruling under conservative religious pressure, alienated liberal opinion and minority-rights advocates. C. The Bofors arms-deal scandal broke in 1987, destroying Rajiv Gandhi's 'Mr Clean' image and converting his own anti-corruption plank against his government. D. Rajiv Gandhi won a record majority of about 415 of 543 seats in the December 1984 general election, the largest mandate in Indian electoral history to that point.

Answer: D. Explanation: Rajiv Gandhi won a record majority of about 415 of 543 seats in the December 1984 general election, the largest mandate in Indian electoral history to that point. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q5. Which statement correctly identifies The modernising agenda?

A. Rajiv Gandhi's government pushed a modernising agenda of telecommunications, computerisation, science and technology missions, panchayati raj and education reform, prefiguring the economic opening of 1991. B. The Anti-Defection Act, the 52nd Constitutional Amendment, was passed in 1985 under Rajiv Gandhi, addressing the mass floor-crossing that had become routine after the 1967 election. C. Rajiv Gandhi signed the Punjab accord with Harchand Singh Longowal, and separate Assam and Mizoram accords, all in 1985, settling regional crises inherited from the previous decade through negotiation rather than force. D. The Shah Bano case of 1985 and its legislative reversal in 1986, which overturned a Supreme Court maintenance ruling under conservative religious pressure, alienated liberal opinion and minority-rights advocates.

Answer: A. Explanation: Rajiv Gandhi's government pushed a modernising agenda of telecommunications, computerisation, science and technology missions, panchayati raj and education reform, prefiguring the economic opening of 1991. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q6. Which chronology card should be filed under The modernising agenda?

A. The opening of the locks of the disputed Ayodhya shrine, intended by the government to balance the Shah Bano reversal, instead alienated the other community and energised Hindu mobilisation. B. Rajiv Gandhi's government pushed a modernising agenda of telecommunications, computerisation, science and technology missions, panchayati raj and education reform, prefiguring the economic opening of 1991. C. The Shah Bano case of 1985 and its legislative reversal in 1986, which overturned a Supreme Court maintenance ruling under conservative religious pressure, alienated liberal opinion and minority-rights advocates. D. Rajiv Gandhi signed the Punjab accord with Harchand Singh Longowal, and separate Assam and Mizoram accords, all in 1985, settling regional crises inherited from the previous decade through negotiation rather than force.

Answer: B. Explanation: Rajiv Gandhi's government pushed a modernising agenda of telecommunications, computerisation, science and technology missions, panchayati raj and education reform, prefiguring the economic opening of 1991. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q7. Which option should a candidate retain when revising The modernising agenda?

A. The Shah Bano case of 1985 and its legislative reversal in 1986, which overturned a Supreme Court maintenance ruling under conservative religious pressure, alienated liberal opinion and minority-rights advocates. B. The Bofors arms-deal scandal broke in 1987, destroying Rajiv Gandhi's 'Mr Clean' image and converting his own anti-corruption plank against his government. C. Rajiv Gandhi's government pushed a modernising agenda of telecommunications, computerisation, science and technology missions, panchayati raj and education reform, prefiguring the economic opening of 1991. D. The opening of the locks of the disputed Ayodhya shrine, intended by the government to balance the Shah Bano reversal, instead alienated the other community and energised Hindu mobilisation.

Answer: C. Explanation: Rajiv Gandhi's government pushed a modernising agenda of telecommunications, computerisation, science and technology missions, panchayati raj and education reform, prefiguring the economic opening of 1991. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q8. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about The modernising agenda?

A. The Bofors arms-deal scandal broke in 1987, destroying Rajiv Gandhi's 'Mr Clean' image and converting his own anti-corruption plank against his government. B. The opening of the locks of the disputed Ayodhya shrine, intended by the government to balance the Shah Bano reversal, instead alienated the other community and energised Hindu mobilisation. C. V.P. Singh broke away from the Congress, formed the Jan Morcha in 1987 and then the Janata Dal and National Front in 1988, uniting the opposition around an anti-corruption platform. D. Rajiv Gandhi's government pushed a modernising agenda of telecommunications, computerisation, science and technology missions, panchayati raj and education reform, prefiguring the economic opening of 1991.

Answer: D. Explanation: Rajiv Gandhi's government pushed a modernising agenda of telecommunications, computerisation, science and technology missions, panchayati raj and education reform, prefiguring the economic opening of 1991. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q9. Which statement correctly identifies The Anti-Defection Act, 1985?

A. The Anti-Defection Act, the 52nd Constitutional Amendment, was passed in 1985 under Rajiv Gandhi, addressing the mass floor-crossing that had become routine after the 1967 election. B. Rajiv Gandhi signed the Punjab accord with Harchand Singh Longowal, and separate Assam and Mizoram accords, all in 1985, settling regional crises inherited from the previous decade through negotiation rather than force. C. The opening of the locks of the disputed Ayodhya shrine, intended by the government to balance the Shah Bano reversal, instead alienated the other community and energised Hindu mobilisation. D. The Shah Bano case of 1985 and its legislative reversal in 1986, which overturned a Supreme Court maintenance ruling under conservative religious pressure, alienated liberal opinion and minority-rights advocates.

Answer: A. Explanation: The Anti-Defection Act, the 52nd Constitutional Amendment, was passed in 1985 under Rajiv Gandhi, addressing the mass floor-crossing that had become routine after the 1967 election. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q10. Which chronology card should be filed under The Anti-Defection Act, 1985?

A. The Shah Bano case of 1985 and its legislative reversal in 1986, which overturned a Supreme Court maintenance ruling under conservative religious pressure, alienated liberal opinion and minority-rights advocates. B. The Anti-Defection Act, the 52nd Constitutional Amendment, was passed in 1985 under Rajiv Gandhi, addressing the mass floor-crossing that had become routine after the 1967 election. C. The Bofors arms-deal scandal broke in 1987, destroying Rajiv Gandhi's 'Mr Clean' image and converting his own anti-corruption plank against his government. D. The opening of the locks of the disputed Ayodhya shrine, intended by the government to balance the Shah Bano reversal, instead alienated the other community and energised Hindu mobilisation.

Answer: B. Explanation: The Anti-Defection Act, the 52nd Constitutional Amendment, was passed in 1985 under Rajiv Gandhi, addressing the mass floor-crossing that had become routine after the 1967 election. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q11. Which option should a candidate retain when revising The Anti-Defection Act, 1985?

A. V.P. Singh broke away from the Congress, formed the Jan Morcha in 1987 and then the Janata Dal and National Front in 1988, uniting the opposition around an anti-corruption platform. B. The Bofors arms-deal scandal broke in 1987, destroying Rajiv Gandhi's 'Mr Clean' image and converting his own anti-corruption plank against his government. C. The Anti-Defection Act, the 52nd Constitutional Amendment, was passed in 1985 under Rajiv Gandhi, addressing the mass floor-crossing that had become routine after the 1967 election. D. The opening of the locks of the disputed Ayodhya shrine, intended by the government to balance the Shah Bano reversal, instead alienated the other community and energised Hindu mobilisation.

Answer: C. Explanation: The Anti-Defection Act, the 52nd Constitutional Amendment, was passed in 1985 under Rajiv Gandhi, addressing the mass floor-crossing that had become routine after the 1967 election. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q12. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about The Anti-Defection Act, 1985?

A. In the 1989 general election Congress fell from its 1984 record to about 197 seats, the BJP rose from 2 to 86 seats, and V.P. Singh formed a National Front minority government supported from outside by both the BJP and the Left. B. V.P. Singh broke away from the Congress, formed the Jan Morcha in 1987 and then the Janata Dal and National Front in 1988, uniting the opposition around an anti-corruption platform. C. The Bofors arms-deal scandal broke in 1987, destroying Rajiv Gandhi's 'Mr Clean' image and converting his own anti-corruption plank against his government. D. The Anti-Defection Act, the 52nd Constitutional Amendment, was passed in 1985 under Rajiv Gandhi, addressing the mass floor-crossing that had become routine after the 1967 election.

Answer: D. Explanation: The Anti-Defection Act, the 52nd Constitutional Amendment, was passed in 1985 under Rajiv Gandhi, addressing the mass floor-crossing that had become routine after the 1967 election. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q13. Which statement correctly identifies The 1985 accords?

A. Rajiv Gandhi signed the Punjab accord with Harchand Singh Longowal, and separate Assam and Mizoram accords, all in 1985, settling regional crises inherited from the previous decade through negotiation rather than force. B. The Shah Bano case of 1985 and its legislative reversal in 1986, which overturned a Supreme Court maintenance ruling under conservative religious pressure, alienated liberal opinion and minority-rights advocates. C. The Bofors arms-deal scandal broke in 1987, destroying Rajiv Gandhi's 'Mr Clean' image and converting his own anti-corruption plank against his government. D. The opening of the locks of the disputed Ayodhya shrine, intended by the government to balance the Shah Bano reversal, instead alienated the other community and energised Hindu mobilisation.

Answer: A. Explanation: Rajiv Gandhi signed the Punjab accord with Harchand Singh Longowal, and separate Assam and Mizoram accords, all in 1985, settling regional crises inherited from the previous decade through negotiation rather than force. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q14. Which chronology card should be filed under The 1985 accords?

A. The opening of the locks of the disputed Ayodhya shrine, intended by the government to balance the Shah Bano reversal, instead alienated the other community and energised Hindu mobilisation. B. Rajiv Gandhi signed the Punjab accord with Harchand Singh Longowal, and separate Assam and Mizoram accords, all in 1985, settling regional crises inherited from the previous decade through negotiation rather than force. C. The Bofors arms-deal scandal broke in 1987, destroying Rajiv Gandhi's 'Mr Clean' image and converting his own anti-corruption plank against his government. D. V.P. Singh broke away from the Congress, formed the Jan Morcha in 1987 and then the Janata Dal and National Front in 1988, uniting the opposition around an anti-corruption platform.

Answer: B. Explanation: Rajiv Gandhi signed the Punjab accord with Harchand Singh Longowal, and separate Assam and Mizoram accords, all in 1985, settling regional crises inherited from the previous decade through negotiation rather than force. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q15. Which option should a candidate retain when revising The 1985 accords?

A. The Bofors arms-deal scandal broke in 1987, destroying Rajiv Gandhi's 'Mr Clean' image and converting his own anti-corruption plank against his government. B. In the 1989 general election Congress fell from its 1984 record to about 197 seats, the BJP rose from 2 to 86 seats, and V.P. Singh formed a National Front minority government supported from outside by both the BJP and the Left. C. Rajiv Gandhi signed the Punjab accord with Harchand Singh Longowal, and separate Assam and Mizoram accords, all in 1985, settling regional crises inherited from the previous decade through negotiation rather than force. D. V.P. Singh broke away from the Congress, formed the Jan Morcha in 1987 and then the Janata Dal and National Front in 1988, uniting the opposition around an anti-corruption platform.

Answer: C. Explanation: Rajiv Gandhi signed the Punjab accord with Harchand Singh Longowal, and separate Assam and Mizoram accords, all in 1985, settling regional crises inherited from the previous decade through negotiation rather than force. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q16. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about The 1985 accords?

A. In the 1989 general election Congress fell from its 1984 record to about 197 seats, the BJP rose from 2 to 86 seats, and V.P. Singh formed a National Front minority government supported from outside by both the BJP and the Left. B. V.P. Singh's government implemented the Mandal Commission's recommendation of 27 per cent reservation for Other Backward Classes in central government employment in 1990, taking total reservation toward roughly 49.5 per cent together with the existing Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe quotas, and triggering nationwide agitation. C. V.P. Singh broke away from the Congress, formed the Jan Morcha in 1987 and then the Janata Dal and National Front in 1988, uniting the opposition around an anti-corruption platform. D. Rajiv Gandhi signed the Punjab accord with Harchand Singh Longowal, and separate Assam and Mizoram accords, all in 1985, settling regional crises inherited from the previous decade through negotiation rather than force.

Answer: D. Explanation: Rajiv Gandhi signed the Punjab accord with Harchand Singh Longowal, and separate Assam and Mizoram accords, all in 1985, settling regional crises inherited from the previous decade through negotiation rather than force. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q17. Which statement correctly identifies The Shah Bano reversal, 1985-86?

A. The Shah Bano case of 1985 and its legislative reversal in 1986, which overturned a Supreme Court maintenance ruling under conservative religious pressure, alienated liberal opinion and minority-rights advocates. B. The Bofors arms-deal scandal broke in 1987, destroying Rajiv Gandhi's 'Mr Clean' image and converting his own anti-corruption plank against his government. C. V.P. Singh broke away from the Congress, formed the Jan Morcha in 1987 and then the Janata Dal and National Front in 1988, uniting the opposition around an anti-corruption platform. D. The opening of the locks of the disputed Ayodhya shrine, intended by the government to balance the Shah Bano reversal, instead alienated the other community and energised Hindu mobilisation.

Answer: A. Explanation: The Shah Bano case of 1985 and its legislative reversal in 1986, which overturned a Supreme Court maintenance ruling under conservative religious pressure, alienated liberal opinion and minority-rights advocates. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q18. Which chronology card should be filed under The Shah Bano reversal, 1985-86?

A. In the 1989 general election Congress fell from its 1984 record to about 197 seats, the BJP rose from 2 to 86 seats, and V.P. Singh formed a National Front minority government supported from outside by both the BJP and the Left. B. The Shah Bano case of 1985 and its legislative reversal in 1986, which overturned a Supreme Court maintenance ruling under conservative religious pressure, alienated liberal opinion and minority-rights advocates. C. V.P. Singh broke away from the Congress, formed the Jan Morcha in 1987 and then the Janata Dal and National Front in 1988, uniting the opposition around an anti-corruption platform. D. The Bofors arms-deal scandal broke in 1987, destroying Rajiv Gandhi's 'Mr Clean' image and converting his own anti-corruption plank against his government.

Answer: B. Explanation: The Shah Bano case of 1985 and its legislative reversal in 1986, which overturned a Supreme Court maintenance ruling under conservative religious pressure, alienated liberal opinion and minority-rights advocates. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q19. Which option should a candidate retain when revising The Shah Bano reversal, 1985-86?

A. V.P. Singh broke away from the Congress, formed the Jan Morcha in 1987 and then the Janata Dal and National Front in 1988, uniting the opposition around an anti-corruption platform. B. In the 1989 general election Congress fell from its 1984 record to about 197 seats, the BJP rose from 2 to 86 seats, and V.P. Singh formed a National Front minority government supported from outside by both the BJP and the Left. C. The Shah Bano case of 1985 and its legislative reversal in 1986, which overturned a Supreme Court maintenance ruling under conservative religious pressure, alienated liberal opinion and minority-rights advocates. D. V.P. Singh's government implemented the Mandal Commission's recommendation of 27 per cent reservation for Other Backward Classes in central government employment in 1990, taking total reservation toward roughly 49.5 per cent together with the existing Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe quotas, and triggering nationwide agitation.

Answer: C. Explanation: The Shah Bano case of 1985 and its legislative reversal in 1986, which overturned a Supreme Court maintenance ruling under conservative religious pressure, alienated liberal opinion and minority-rights advocates. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q20. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about The Shah Bano reversal, 1985-86?

A. V.P. Singh's government implemented the Mandal Commission's recommendation of 27 per cent reservation for Other Backward Classes in central government employment in 1990, taking total reservation toward roughly 49.5 per cent together with the existing Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe quotas, and triggering nationwide agitation. B. L.K. Advani's rath yatra in 1990 intensified the Ayodhya mobilisation as a parallel, competing axis of political appeal to the Mandal reservation announcement. C. In the 1989 general election Congress fell from its 1984 record to about 197 seats, the BJP rose from 2 to 86 seats, and V.P. Singh formed a National Front minority government supported from outside by both the BJP and the Left. D. The Shah Bano case of 1985 and its legislative reversal in 1986, which overturned a Supreme Court maintenance ruling under conservative religious pressure, alienated liberal opinion and minority-rights advocates.

Answer: D. Explanation: The Shah Bano case of 1985 and its legislative reversal in 1986, which overturned a Supreme Court maintenance ruling under conservative religious pressure, alienated liberal opinion and minority-rights advocates. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q21. Which statement correctly identifies The Ayodhya shrine opening?

A. The opening of the locks of the disputed Ayodhya shrine, intended by the government to balance the Shah Bano reversal, instead alienated the other community and energised Hindu mobilisation. B. The Bofors arms-deal scandal broke in 1987, destroying Rajiv Gandhi's 'Mr Clean' image and converting his own anti-corruption plank against his government. C. In the 1989 general election Congress fell from its 1984 record to about 197 seats, the BJP rose from 2 to 86 seats, and V.P. Singh formed a National Front minority government supported from outside by both the BJP and the Left. D. V.P. Singh broke away from the Congress, formed the Jan Morcha in 1987 and then the Janata Dal and National Front in 1988, uniting the opposition around an anti-corruption platform.

Answer: A. Explanation: The opening of the locks of the disputed Ayodhya shrine, intended by the government to balance the Shah Bano reversal, instead alienated the other community and energised Hindu mobilisation. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q22. Which chronology card should be filed under The Ayodhya shrine opening?

A. V.P. Singh's government implemented the Mandal Commission's recommendation of 27 per cent reservation for Other Backward Classes in central government employment in 1990, taking total reservation toward roughly 49.5 per cent together with the existing Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe quotas, and triggering nationwide agitation. B. The opening of the locks of the disputed Ayodhya shrine, intended by the government to balance the Shah Bano reversal, instead alienated the other community and energised Hindu mobilisation. C. In the 1989 general election Congress fell from its 1984 record to about 197 seats, the BJP rose from 2 to 86 seats, and V.P. Singh formed a National Front minority government supported from outside by both the BJP and the Left. D. V.P. Singh broke away from the Congress, formed the Jan Morcha in 1987 and then the Janata Dal and National Front in 1988, uniting the opposition around an anti-corruption platform.

Answer: B. Explanation: The opening of the locks of the disputed Ayodhya shrine, intended by the government to balance the Shah Bano reversal, instead alienated the other community and energised Hindu mobilisation. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q23. Which option should a candidate retain when revising The Ayodhya shrine opening?

A. In the 1989 general election Congress fell from its 1984 record to about 197 seats, the BJP rose from 2 to 86 seats, and V.P. Singh formed a National Front minority government supported from outside by both the BJP and the Left. B. V.P. Singh's government implemented the Mandal Commission's recommendation of 27 per cent reservation for Other Backward Classes in central government employment in 1990, taking total reservation toward roughly 49.5 per cent together with the existing Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe quotas, and triggering nationwide agitation. C. The opening of the locks of the disputed Ayodhya shrine, intended by the government to balance the Shah Bano reversal, instead alienated the other community and energised Hindu mobilisation. D. L.K. Advani's rath yatra in 1990 intensified the Ayodhya mobilisation as a parallel, competing axis of political appeal to the Mandal reservation announcement.

Answer: C. Explanation: The opening of the locks of the disputed Ayodhya shrine, intended by the government to balance the Shah Bano reversal, instead alienated the other community and energised Hindu mobilisation. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q24. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about The Ayodhya shrine opening?

A. L.K. Advani's rath yatra in 1990 intensified the Ayodhya mobilisation as a parallel, competing axis of political appeal to the Mandal reservation announcement. B. V.P. Singh's government implemented the Mandal Commission's recommendation of 27 per cent reservation for Other Backward Classes in central government employment in 1990, taking total reservation toward roughly 49.5 per cent together with the existing Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe quotas, and triggering nationwide agitation. C. The Narasimha Rao government took office in 1991 and launched economic liberalisation, with Manmohan Singh as Finance Minister, in response to a balance-of-payments crisis. D. The opening of the locks of the disputed Ayodhya shrine, intended by the government to balance the Shah Bano reversal, instead alienated the other community and energised Hindu mobilisation.

Answer: D. Explanation: The opening of the locks of the disputed Ayodhya shrine, intended by the government to balance the Shah Bano reversal, instead alienated the other community and energised Hindu mobilisation. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q25. Which statement correctly identifies The Bofors scandal, 1987?

A. The Bofors arms-deal scandal broke in 1987, destroying Rajiv Gandhi's 'Mr Clean' image and converting his own anti-corruption plank against his government. B. V.P. Singh's government implemented the Mandal Commission's recommendation of 27 per cent reservation for Other Backward Classes in central government employment in 1990, taking total reservation toward roughly 49.5 per cent together with the existing Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe quotas, and triggering nationwide agitation. C. In the 1989 general election Congress fell from its 1984 record to about 197 seats, the BJP rose from 2 to 86 seats, and V.P. Singh formed a National Front minority government supported from outside by both the BJP and the Left. D. V.P. Singh broke away from the Congress, formed the Jan Morcha in 1987 and then the Janata Dal and National Front in 1988, uniting the opposition around an anti-corruption platform.

Answer: A. Explanation: The Bofors arms-deal scandal broke in 1987, destroying Rajiv Gandhi's 'Mr Clean' image and converting his own anti-corruption plank against his government. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q26. Which chronology card should be filed under The Bofors scandal, 1987?

A. In the 1989 general election Congress fell from its 1984 record to about 197 seats, the BJP rose from 2 to 86 seats, and V.P. Singh formed a National Front minority government supported from outside by both the BJP and the Left. B. The Bofors arms-deal scandal broke in 1987, destroying Rajiv Gandhi's 'Mr Clean' image and converting his own anti-corruption plank against his government. C. L.K. Advani's rath yatra in 1990 intensified the Ayodhya mobilisation as a parallel, competing axis of political appeal to the Mandal reservation announcement. D. V.P. Singh's government implemented the Mandal Commission's recommendation of 27 per cent reservation for Other Backward Classes in central government employment in 1990, taking total reservation toward roughly 49.5 per cent together with the existing Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe quotas, and triggering nationwide agitation.

Answer: B. Explanation: The Bofors arms-deal scandal broke in 1987, destroying Rajiv Gandhi's 'Mr Clean' image and converting his own anti-corruption plank against his government. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q27. Which option should a candidate retain when revising The Bofors scandal, 1987?

A. L.K. Advani's rath yatra in 1990 intensified the Ayodhya mobilisation as a parallel, competing axis of political appeal to the Mandal reservation announcement. B. V.P. Singh's government implemented the Mandal Commission's recommendation of 27 per cent reservation for Other Backward Classes in central government employment in 1990, taking total reservation toward roughly 49.5 per cent together with the existing Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe quotas, and triggering nationwide agitation. C. The Bofors arms-deal scandal broke in 1987, destroying Rajiv Gandhi's 'Mr Clean' image and converting his own anti-corruption plank against his government. D. The Narasimha Rao government took office in 1991 and launched economic liberalisation, with Manmohan Singh as Finance Minister, in response to a balance-of-payments crisis.

Answer: C. Explanation: The Bofors arms-deal scandal broke in 1987, destroying Rajiv Gandhi's 'Mr Clean' image and converting his own anti-corruption plank against his government. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q28. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about The Bofors scandal, 1987?

A. The Narasimha Rao government took office in 1991 and launched economic liberalisation, with Manmohan Singh as Finance Minister, in response to a balance-of-payments crisis. B. L.K. Advani's rath yatra in 1990 intensified the Ayodhya mobilisation as a parallel, competing axis of political appeal to the Mandal reservation announcement. C. Rajiv Gandhi was assassinated in 1991, during the general election campaign that brought the Narasimha Rao government to office. D. The Bofors arms-deal scandal broke in 1987, destroying Rajiv Gandhi's 'Mr Clean' image and converting his own anti-corruption plank against his government.

Answer: D. Explanation: The Bofors arms-deal scandal broke in 1987, destroying Rajiv Gandhi's 'Mr Clean' image and converting his own anti-corruption plank against his government. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q29. Which statement correctly identifies V.P. Singh's exit and the National Front?

A. V.P. Singh broke away from the Congress, formed the Jan Morcha in 1987 and then the Janata Dal and National Front in 1988, uniting the opposition around an anti-corruption platform. B. In the 1989 general election Congress fell from its 1984 record to about 197 seats, the BJP rose from 2 to 86 seats, and V.P. Singh formed a National Front minority government supported from outside by both the BJP and the Left. C. L.K. Advani's rath yatra in 1990 intensified the Ayodhya mobilisation as a parallel, competing axis of political appeal to the Mandal reservation announcement. D. V.P. Singh's government implemented the Mandal Commission's recommendation of 27 per cent reservation for Other Backward Classes in central government employment in 1990, taking total reservation toward roughly 49.5 per cent together with the existing Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe quotas, and triggering nationwide agitation.

Answer: A. Explanation: V.P. Singh broke away from the Congress, formed the Jan Morcha in 1987 and then the Janata Dal and National Front in 1988, uniting the opposition around an anti-corruption platform. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q30. Which chronology card should be filed under V.P. Singh's exit and the National Front?

A. L.K. Advani's rath yatra in 1990 intensified the Ayodhya mobilisation as a parallel, competing axis of political appeal to the Mandal reservation announcement. B. V.P. Singh broke away from the Congress, formed the Jan Morcha in 1987 and then the Janata Dal and National Front in 1988, uniting the opposition around an anti-corruption platform. C. The Narasimha Rao government took office in 1991 and launched economic liberalisation, with Manmohan Singh as Finance Minister, in response to a balance-of-payments crisis. D. V.P. Singh's government implemented the Mandal Commission's recommendation of 27 per cent reservation for Other Backward Classes in central government employment in 1990, taking total reservation toward roughly 49.5 per cent together with the existing Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe quotas, and triggering nationwide agitation.

Answer: B. Explanation: V.P. Singh broke away from the Congress, formed the Jan Morcha in 1987 and then the Janata Dal and National Front in 1988, uniting the opposition around an anti-corruption platform. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q31. Which option should a candidate retain when revising V.P. Singh's exit and the National Front?

A. L.K. Advani's rath yatra in 1990 intensified the Ayodhya mobilisation as a parallel, competing axis of political appeal to the Mandal reservation announcement. B. The Narasimha Rao government took office in 1991 and launched economic liberalisation, with Manmohan Singh as Finance Minister, in response to a balance-of-payments crisis. C. V.P. Singh broke away from the Congress, formed the Jan Morcha in 1987 and then the Janata Dal and National Front in 1988, uniting the opposition around an anti-corruption platform. D. Rajiv Gandhi was assassinated in 1991, during the general election campaign that brought the Narasimha Rao government to office.

Answer: C. Explanation: V.P. Singh broke away from the Congress, formed the Jan Morcha in 1987 and then the Janata Dal and National Front in 1988, uniting the opposition around an anti-corruption platform. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q32. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about V.P. Singh's exit and the National Front?

A. The Babri Masjid at Ayodhya was demolished on 6 December 1992, the culmination of the mobilisation begun by the 1990 rath yatra. B. Rajiv Gandhi was assassinated in 1991, during the general election campaign that brought the Narasimha Rao government to office. C. The Narasimha Rao government took office in 1991 and launched economic liberalisation, with Manmohan Singh as Finance Minister, in response to a balance-of-payments crisis. D. V.P. Singh broke away from the Congress, formed the Jan Morcha in 1987 and then the Janata Dal and National Front in 1988, uniting the opposition around an anti-corruption platform.

Answer: D. Explanation: V.P. Singh broke away from the Congress, formed the Jan Morcha in 1987 and then the Janata Dal and National Front in 1988, uniting the opposition around an anti-corruption platform. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q33. Which statement correctly identifies The 1989 election: fragmentation?

A. In the 1989 general election Congress fell from its 1984 record to about 197 seats, the BJP rose from 2 to 86 seats, and V.P. Singh formed a National Front minority government supported from outside by both the BJP and the Left. B. L.K. Advani's rath yatra in 1990 intensified the Ayodhya mobilisation as a parallel, competing axis of political appeal to the Mandal reservation announcement. C. The Narasimha Rao government took office in 1991 and launched economic liberalisation, with Manmohan Singh as Finance Minister, in response to a balance-of-payments crisis. D. V.P. Singh's government implemented the Mandal Commission's recommendation of 27 per cent reservation for Other Backward Classes in central government employment in 1990, taking total reservation toward roughly 49.5 per cent together with the existing Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe quotas, and triggering nationwide agitation.

Answer: A. Explanation: In the 1989 general election Congress fell from its 1984 record to about 197 seats, the BJP rose from 2 to 86 seats, and V.P. Singh formed a National Front minority government supported from outside by both the BJP and the Left. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q34. Which chronology card should be filed under The 1989 election: fragmentation?

A. The Narasimha Rao government took office in 1991 and launched economic liberalisation, with Manmohan Singh as Finance Minister, in response to a balance-of-payments crisis. B. In the 1989 general election Congress fell from its 1984 record to about 197 seats, the BJP rose from 2 to 86 seats, and V.P. Singh formed a National Front minority government supported from outside by both the BJP and the Left. C. L.K. Advani's rath yatra in 1990 intensified the Ayodhya mobilisation as a parallel, competing axis of political appeal to the Mandal reservation announcement. D. Rajiv Gandhi was assassinated in 1991, during the general election campaign that brought the Narasimha Rao government to office.

Answer: B. Explanation: In the 1989 general election Congress fell from its 1984 record to about 197 seats, the BJP rose from 2 to 86 seats, and V.P. Singh formed a National Front minority government supported from outside by both the BJP and the Left. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q35. Which option should a candidate retain when revising The 1989 election: fragmentation?

A. The Babri Masjid at Ayodhya was demolished on 6 December 1992, the culmination of the mobilisation begun by the 1990 rath yatra. B. The Narasimha Rao government took office in 1991 and launched economic liberalisation, with Manmohan Singh as Finance Minister, in response to a balance-of-payments crisis. C. In the 1989 general election Congress fell from its 1984 record to about 197 seats, the BJP rose from 2 to 86 seats, and V.P. Singh formed a National Front minority government supported from outside by both the BJP and the Left. D. Rajiv Gandhi was assassinated in 1991, during the general election campaign that brought the Narasimha Rao government to office.

Answer: C. Explanation: In the 1989 general election Congress fell from its 1984 record to about 197 seats, the BJP rose from 2 to 86 seats, and V.P. Singh formed a National Front minority government supported from outside by both the BJP and the Left. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q36. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about The 1989 election: fragmentation?

A. Mandal, organised around caste, and Mandir, organised around religion, were competing mobilisations of the same electorate along different, crossing axes, and because neither cleavage could produce a stable national majority on its own, coalition government became the structural outcome of the decade. B. The Babri Masjid at Ayodhya was demolished on 6 December 1992, the culmination of the mobilisation begun by the 1990 rath yatra. C. Rajiv Gandhi was assassinated in 1991, during the general election campaign that brought the Narasimha Rao government to office. D. In the 1989 general election Congress fell from its 1984 record to about 197 seats, the BJP rose from 2 to 86 seats, and V.P. Singh formed a National Front minority government supported from outside by both the BJP and the Left.

Answer: D. Explanation: In the 1989 general election Congress fell from its 1984 record to about 197 seats, the BJP rose from 2 to 86 seats, and V.P. Singh formed a National Front minority government supported from outside by both the BJP and the Left. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q37. Which statement correctly identifies The Mandal Commission, 1990?

A. V.P. Singh's government implemented the Mandal Commission's recommendation of 27 per cent reservation for Other Backward Classes in central government employment in 1990, taking total reservation toward roughly 49.5 per cent together with the existing Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe quotas, and triggering nationwide agitation. B. The Narasimha Rao government took office in 1991 and launched economic liberalisation, with Manmohan Singh as Finance Minister, in response to a balance-of-payments crisis. C. L.K. Advani's rath yatra in 1990 intensified the Ayodhya mobilisation as a parallel, competing axis of political appeal to the Mandal reservation announcement. D. Rajiv Gandhi was assassinated in 1991, during the general election campaign that brought the Narasimha Rao government to office.

Answer: A. Explanation: V.P. Singh's government implemented the Mandal Commission's recommendation of 27 per cent reservation for Other Backward Classes in central government employment in 1990, taking total reservation toward roughly 49.5 per cent together with the existing Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe quotas, and triggering nationwide agitation. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q38. Which chronology card should be filed under The Mandal Commission, 1990?

A. The Narasimha Rao government took office in 1991 and launched economic liberalisation, with Manmohan Singh as Finance Minister, in response to a balance-of-payments crisis. B. V.P. Singh's government implemented the Mandal Commission's recommendation of 27 per cent reservation for Other Backward Classes in central government employment in 1990, taking total reservation toward roughly 49.5 per cent together with the existing Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe quotas, and triggering nationwide agitation. C. The Babri Masjid at Ayodhya was demolished on 6 December 1992, the culmination of the mobilisation begun by the 1990 rath yatra. D. Rajiv Gandhi was assassinated in 1991, during the general election campaign that brought the Narasimha Rao government to office.

Answer: B. Explanation: V.P. Singh's government implemented the Mandal Commission's recommendation of 27 per cent reservation for Other Backward Classes in central government employment in 1990, taking total reservation toward roughly 49.5 per cent together with the existing Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe quotas, and triggering nationwide agitation. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q39. Which option should a candidate retain when revising The Mandal Commission, 1990?

A. Mandal, organised around caste, and Mandir, organised around religion, were competing mobilisations of the same electorate along different, crossing axes, and because neither cleavage could produce a stable national majority on its own, coalition government became the structural outcome of the decade. B. The Babri Masjid at Ayodhya was demolished on 6 December 1992, the culmination of the mobilisation begun by the 1990 rath yatra. C. V.P. Singh's government implemented the Mandal Commission's recommendation of 27 per cent reservation for Other Backward Classes in central government employment in 1990, taking total reservation toward roughly 49.5 per cent together with the existing Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe quotas, and triggering nationwide agitation. D. Rajiv Gandhi was assassinated in 1991, during the general election campaign that brought the Narasimha Rao government to office.

Answer: C. Explanation: V.P. Singh's government implemented the Mandal Commission's recommendation of 27 per cent reservation for Other Backward Classes in central government employment in 1990, taking total reservation toward roughly 49.5 per cent together with the existing Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe quotas, and triggering nationwide agitation. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q40. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about The Mandal Commission, 1990?

A. The Babri Masjid at Ayodhya was demolished on 6 December 1992, the culmination of the mobilisation begun by the 1990 rath yatra. B. Mandal, organised around caste, and Mandir, organised around religion, were competing mobilisations of the same electorate along different, crossing axes, and because neither cleavage could produce a stable national majority on its own, coalition government became the structural outcome of the decade. C. The 1990s closed with a short BJP government under Atal Bihari Vajpayee in 1996, the United Front governments of H.D. Deve Gowda and then I.K. Gujral, and the National Democratic Alliance (NDA) under Vajpayee formed in 1998 and consolidated after the 1999 election. D. V.P. Singh's government implemented the Mandal Commission's recommendation of 27 per cent reservation for Other Backward Classes in central government employment in 1990, taking total reservation toward roughly 49.5 per cent together with the existing Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe quotas, and triggering nationwide agitation.

Answer: D. Explanation: V.P. Singh's government implemented the Mandal Commission's recommendation of 27 per cent reservation for Other Backward Classes in central government employment in 1990, taking total reservation toward roughly 49.5 per cent together with the existing Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe quotas, and triggering nationwide agitation. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q41. Which statement correctly identifies Advani's rath yatra, 1990?

A. L.K. Advani's rath yatra in 1990 intensified the Ayodhya mobilisation as a parallel, competing axis of political appeal to the Mandal reservation announcement. B. Rajiv Gandhi was assassinated in 1991, during the general election campaign that brought the Narasimha Rao government to office. C. The Babri Masjid at Ayodhya was demolished on 6 December 1992, the culmination of the mobilisation begun by the 1990 rath yatra. D. The Narasimha Rao government took office in 1991 and launched economic liberalisation, with Manmohan Singh as Finance Minister, in response to a balance-of-payments crisis.

Answer: A. Explanation: L.K. Advani's rath yatra in 1990 intensified the Ayodhya mobilisation as a parallel, competing axis of political appeal to the Mandal reservation announcement. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q42. Which chronology card should be filed under Advani's rath yatra, 1990?

A. The Babri Masjid at Ayodhya was demolished on 6 December 1992, the culmination of the mobilisation begun by the 1990 rath yatra. B. L.K. Advani's rath yatra in 1990 intensified the Ayodhya mobilisation as a parallel, competing axis of political appeal to the Mandal reservation announcement. C. Mandal, organised around caste, and Mandir, organised around religion, were competing mobilisations of the same electorate along different, crossing axes, and because neither cleavage could produce a stable national majority on its own, coalition government became the structural outcome of the decade. D. Rajiv Gandhi was assassinated in 1991, during the general election campaign that brought the Narasimha Rao government to office.

Answer: B. Explanation: L.K. Advani's rath yatra in 1990 intensified the Ayodhya mobilisation as a parallel, competing axis of political appeal to the Mandal reservation announcement. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q43. Which option should a candidate retain when revising Advani's rath yatra, 1990?

A. Mandal, organised around caste, and Mandir, organised around religion, were competing mobilisations of the same electorate along different, crossing axes, and because neither cleavage could produce a stable national majority on its own, coalition government became the structural outcome of the decade. B. The 1990s closed with a short BJP government under Atal Bihari Vajpayee in 1996, the United Front governments of H.D. Deve Gowda and then I.K. Gujral, and the National Democratic Alliance (NDA) under Vajpayee formed in 1998 and consolidated after the 1999 election. C. L.K. Advani's rath yatra in 1990 intensified the Ayodhya mobilisation as a parallel, competing axis of political appeal to the Mandal reservation announcement. D. The Babri Masjid at Ayodhya was demolished on 6 December 1992, the culmination of the mobilisation begun by the 1990 rath yatra.

Answer: C. Explanation: L.K. Advani's rath yatra in 1990 intensified the Ayodhya mobilisation as a parallel, competing axis of political appeal to the Mandal reservation announcement. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q44. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about Advani's rath yatra, 1990?

A. The 1990s closed with a short BJP government under Atal Bihari Vajpayee in 1996, the United Front governments of H.D. Deve Gowda and then I.K. Gujral, and the National Democratic Alliance (NDA) under Vajpayee formed in 1998 and consolidated after the 1999 election. B. Mandal, organised around caste, and Mandir, organised around religion, were competing mobilisations of the same electorate along different, crossing axes, and because neither cleavage could produce a stable national majority on its own, coalition government became the structural outcome of the decade. C. Bipan Chandra's synthesis reads 1989 to 1992 as the simultaneous convergence of three forces, OBC assertion, Hindutva mobilisation and economic liberalisation, that together dismantled the Nehruvian political-economic consensus. D. L.K. Advani's rath yatra in 1990 intensified the Ayodhya mobilisation as a parallel, competing axis of political appeal to the Mandal reservation announcement.

Answer: D. Explanation: L.K. Advani's rath yatra in 1990 intensified the Ayodhya mobilisation as a parallel, competing axis of political appeal to the Mandal reservation announcement. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q45. Which statement correctly identifies 1991: the economic break?

A. The Narasimha Rao government took office in 1991 and launched economic liberalisation, with Manmohan Singh as Finance Minister, in response to a balance-of-payments crisis. B. Mandal, organised around caste, and Mandir, organised around religion, were competing mobilisations of the same electorate along different, crossing axes, and because neither cleavage could produce a stable national majority on its own, coalition government became the structural outcome of the decade. C. Rajiv Gandhi was assassinated in 1991, during the general election campaign that brought the Narasimha Rao government to office. D. The Babri Masjid at Ayodhya was demolished on 6 December 1992, the culmination of the mobilisation begun by the 1990 rath yatra.

Answer: A. Explanation: The Narasimha Rao government took office in 1991 and launched economic liberalisation, with Manmohan Singh as Finance Minister, in response to a balance-of-payments crisis. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q46. Which chronology card should be filed under 1991: the economic break?

A. Mandal, organised around caste, and Mandir, organised around religion, were competing mobilisations of the same electorate along different, crossing axes, and because neither cleavage could produce a stable national majority on its own, coalition government became the structural outcome of the decade. B. The Narasimha Rao government took office in 1991 and launched economic liberalisation, with Manmohan Singh as Finance Minister, in response to a balance-of-payments crisis. C. The 1990s closed with a short BJP government under Atal Bihari Vajpayee in 1996, the United Front governments of H.D. Deve Gowda and then I.K. Gujral, and the National Democratic Alliance (NDA) under Vajpayee formed in 1998 and consolidated after the 1999 election. D. The Babri Masjid at Ayodhya was demolished on 6 December 1992, the culmination of the mobilisation begun by the 1990 rath yatra.

Answer: B. Explanation: The Narasimha Rao government took office in 1991 and launched economic liberalisation, with Manmohan Singh as Finance Minister, in response to a balance-of-payments crisis. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q47. Which option should a candidate retain when revising 1991: the economic break?

A. Bipan Chandra's synthesis reads 1989 to 1992 as the simultaneous convergence of three forces, OBC assertion, Hindutva mobilisation and economic liberalisation, that together dismantled the Nehruvian political-economic consensus. B. The 1990s closed with a short BJP government under Atal Bihari Vajpayee in 1996, the United Front governments of H.D. Deve Gowda and then I.K. Gujral, and the National Democratic Alliance (NDA) under Vajpayee formed in 1998 and consolidated after the 1999 election. C. The Narasimha Rao government took office in 1991 and launched economic liberalisation, with Manmohan Singh as Finance Minister, in response to a balance-of-payments crisis. D. Mandal, organised around caste, and Mandir, organised around religion, were competing mobilisations of the same electorate along different, crossing axes, and because neither cleavage could produce a stable national majority on its own, coalition government became the structural outcome of the decade.

Answer: C. Explanation: The Narasimha Rao government took office in 1991 and launched economic liberalisation, with Manmohan Singh as Finance Minister, in response to a balance-of-payments crisis. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q48. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about 1991: the economic break?

A. Bipan Chandra's synthesis reads 1989 to 1992 as the simultaneous convergence of three forces, OBC assertion, Hindutva mobilisation and economic liberalisation, that together dismantled the Nehruvian political-economic consensus. B. The 1990s closed with a short BJP government under Atal Bihari Vajpayee in 1996, the United Front governments of H.D. Deve Gowda and then I.K. Gujral, and the National Democratic Alliance (NDA) under Vajpayee formed in 1998 and consolidated after the 1999 election. C. Critics of a purely declinist reading of the period argue that it instead deepened democracy, bringing subordinated castes, regional forces and market energies into the political mainstream and replacing an elite consensus with genuine competition. D. The Narasimha Rao government took office in 1991 and launched economic liberalisation, with Manmohan Singh as Finance Minister, in response to a balance-of-payments crisis.

Answer: D. Explanation: The Narasimha Rao government took office in 1991 and launched economic liberalisation, with Manmohan Singh as Finance Minister, in response to a balance-of-payments crisis. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q49. Which statement correctly identifies Rajiv Gandhi's assassination, 1991?

A. Rajiv Gandhi was assassinated in 1991, during the general election campaign that brought the Narasimha Rao government to office. B. The Babri Masjid at Ayodhya was demolished on 6 December 1992, the culmination of the mobilisation begun by the 1990 rath yatra. C. Mandal, organised around caste, and Mandir, organised around religion, were competing mobilisations of the same electorate along different, crossing axes, and because neither cleavage could produce a stable national majority on its own, coalition government became the structural outcome of the decade. D. The 1990s closed with a short BJP government under Atal Bihari Vajpayee in 1996, the United Front governments of H.D. Deve Gowda and then I.K. Gujral, and the National Democratic Alliance (NDA) under Vajpayee formed in 1998 and consolidated after the 1999 election.

Answer: A. Explanation: Rajiv Gandhi was assassinated in 1991, during the general election campaign that brought the Narasimha Rao government to office. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q50. Which chronology card should be filed under Rajiv Gandhi's assassination, 1991?

A. Mandal, organised around caste, and Mandir, organised around religion, were competing mobilisations of the same electorate along different, crossing axes, and because neither cleavage could produce a stable national majority on its own, coalition government became the structural outcome of the decade. B. Rajiv Gandhi was assassinated in 1991, during the general election campaign that brought the Narasimha Rao government to office. C. Bipan Chandra's synthesis reads 1989 to 1992 as the simultaneous convergence of three forces, OBC assertion, Hindutva mobilisation and economic liberalisation, that together dismantled the Nehruvian political-economic consensus. D. The 1990s closed with a short BJP government under Atal Bihari Vajpayee in 1996, the United Front governments of H.D. Deve Gowda and then I.K. Gujral, and the National Democratic Alliance (NDA) under Vajpayee formed in 1998 and consolidated after the 1999 election.

Answer: B. Explanation: Rajiv Gandhi was assassinated in 1991, during the general election campaign that brought the Narasimha Rao government to office. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q51. Which option should a candidate retain when revising Rajiv Gandhi's assassination, 1991?

A. Critics of a purely declinist reading of the period argue that it instead deepened democracy, bringing subordinated castes, regional forces and market energies into the political mainstream and replacing an elite consensus with genuine competition. B. The 1990s closed with a short BJP government under Atal Bihari Vajpayee in 1996, the United Front governments of H.D. Deve Gowda and then I.K. Gujral, and the National Democratic Alliance (NDA) under Vajpayee formed in 1998 and consolidated after the 1999 election. C. Rajiv Gandhi was assassinated in 1991, during the general election campaign that brought the Narasimha Rao government to office. D. Bipan Chandra's synthesis reads 1989 to 1992 as the simultaneous convergence of three forces, OBC assertion, Hindutva mobilisation and economic liberalisation, that together dismantled the Nehruvian political-economic consensus.

Answer: C. Explanation: Rajiv Gandhi was assassinated in 1991, during the general election campaign that brought the Narasimha Rao government to office. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q52. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about Rajiv Gandhi's assassination, 1991?

A. Between 1989 and 1999 India underwent three simultaneous transitions: from single-party majority to coalition government, from state-led planning to a liberalised economy, and from a Congress-centred cross-class consensus to politics organised around caste and religious identity. B. Bipan Chandra's synthesis reads 1989 to 1992 as the simultaneous convergence of three forces, OBC assertion, Hindutva mobilisation and economic liberalisation, that together dismantled the Nehruvian political-economic consensus. C. Critics of a purely declinist reading of the period argue that it instead deepened democracy, bringing subordinated castes, regional forces and market energies into the political mainstream and replacing an elite consensus with genuine competition. D. Rajiv Gandhi was assassinated in 1991, during the general election campaign that brought the Narasimha Rao government to office.

Answer: D. Explanation: Rajiv Gandhi was assassinated in 1991, during the general election campaign that brought the Narasimha Rao government to office. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q53. Which statement correctly identifies The Babri Masjid demolition, 6 December 1992?

A. The Babri Masjid at Ayodhya was demolished on 6 December 1992, the culmination of the mobilisation begun by the 1990 rath yatra. B. The 1990s closed with a short BJP government under Atal Bihari Vajpayee in 1996, the United Front governments of H.D. Deve Gowda and then I.K. Gujral, and the National Democratic Alliance (NDA) under Vajpayee formed in 1998 and consolidated after the 1999 election. C. Bipan Chandra's synthesis reads 1989 to 1992 as the simultaneous convergence of three forces, OBC assertion, Hindutva mobilisation and economic liberalisation, that together dismantled the Nehruvian political-economic consensus. D. Mandal, organised around caste, and Mandir, organised around religion, were competing mobilisations of the same electorate along different, crossing axes, and because neither cleavage could produce a stable national majority on its own, coalition government became the structural outcome of the decade.

Answer: A. Explanation: The Babri Masjid at Ayodhya was demolished on 6 December 1992, the culmination of the mobilisation begun by the 1990 rath yatra. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q54. Which chronology card should be filed under The Babri Masjid demolition, 6 December 1992?

A. The 1990s closed with a short BJP government under Atal Bihari Vajpayee in 1996, the United Front governments of H.D. Deve Gowda and then I.K. Gujral, and the National Democratic Alliance (NDA) under Vajpayee formed in 1998 and consolidated after the 1999 election. B. The Babri Masjid at Ayodhya was demolished on 6 December 1992, the culmination of the mobilisation begun by the 1990 rath yatra. C. Critics of a purely declinist reading of the period argue that it instead deepened democracy, bringing subordinated castes, regional forces and market energies into the political mainstream and replacing an elite consensus with genuine competition. D. Bipan Chandra's synthesis reads 1989 to 1992 as the simultaneous convergence of three forces, OBC assertion, Hindutva mobilisation and economic liberalisation, that together dismantled the Nehruvian political-economic consensus.

Answer: B. Explanation: The Babri Masjid at Ayodhya was demolished on 6 December 1992, the culmination of the mobilisation begun by the 1990 rath yatra. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q55. Which option should a candidate retain when revising The Babri Masjid demolition, 6 December 1992?

A. Bipan Chandra's synthesis reads 1989 to 1992 as the simultaneous convergence of three forces, OBC assertion, Hindutva mobilisation and economic liberalisation, that together dismantled the Nehruvian political-economic consensus. B. Between 1989 and 1999 India underwent three simultaneous transitions: from single-party majority to coalition government, from state-led planning to a liberalised economy, and from a Congress-centred cross-class consensus to politics organised around caste and religious identity. C. The Babri Masjid at Ayodhya was demolished on 6 December 1992, the culmination of the mobilisation begun by the 1990 rath yatra. D. Critics of a purely declinist reading of the period argue that it instead deepened democracy, bringing subordinated castes, regional forces and market energies into the political mainstream and replacing an elite consensus with genuine competition.

Answer: C. Explanation: The Babri Masjid at Ayodhya was demolished on 6 December 1992, the culmination of the mobilisation begun by the 1990 rath yatra. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q56. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about The Babri Masjid demolition, 6 December 1992?

A. Between 1989 and 1999 India underwent three simultaneous transitions: from single-party majority to coalition government, from state-led planning to a liberalised economy, and from a Congress-centred cross-class consensus to politics organised around caste and religious identity. B. Rajiv Gandhi's panchayati raj initiative of the mid-1980s was a policy beginning rather than a completed constitutional reform, since panchayati raj bodies did not acquire constitutional status until the 73rd and 74th Amendments of the early 1990s. C. Critics of a purely declinist reading of the period argue that it instead deepened democracy, bringing subordinated castes, regional forces and market energies into the political mainstream and replacing an elite consensus with genuine competition. D. The Babri Masjid at Ayodhya was demolished on 6 December 1992, the culmination of the mobilisation begun by the 1990 rath yatra.

Answer: D. Explanation: The Babri Masjid at Ayodhya was demolished on 6 December 1992, the culmination of the mobilisation begun by the 1990 rath yatra. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q57. Which statement correctly identifies Mandal and Mandir as crossing cleavages?

A. Mandal, organised around caste, and Mandir, organised around religion, were competing mobilisations of the same electorate along different, crossing axes, and because neither cleavage could produce a stable national majority on its own, coalition government became the structural outcome of the decade. B. The 1990s closed with a short BJP government under Atal Bihari Vajpayee in 1996, the United Front governments of H.D. Deve Gowda and then I.K. Gujral, and the National Democratic Alliance (NDA) under Vajpayee formed in 1998 and consolidated after the 1999 election. C. Critics of a purely declinist reading of the period argue that it instead deepened democracy, bringing subordinated castes, regional forces and market energies into the political mainstream and replacing an elite consensus with genuine competition. D. Bipan Chandra's synthesis reads 1989 to 1992 as the simultaneous convergence of three forces, OBC assertion, Hindutva mobilisation and economic liberalisation, that together dismantled the Nehruvian political-economic consensus.

Answer: A. Explanation: Mandal, organised around caste, and Mandir, organised around religion, were competing mobilisations of the same electorate along different, crossing axes, and because neither cleavage could produce a stable national majority on its own, coalition government became the structural outcome of the decade. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q58. Which chronology card should be filed under Mandal and Mandir as crossing cleavages?

A. Between 1989 and 1999 India underwent three simultaneous transitions: from single-party majority to coalition government, from state-led planning to a liberalised economy, and from a Congress-centred cross-class consensus to politics organised around caste and religious identity. B. Mandal, organised around caste, and Mandir, organised around religion, were competing mobilisations of the same electorate along different, crossing axes, and because neither cleavage could produce a stable national majority on its own, coalition government became the structural outcome of the decade. C. Bipan Chandra's synthesis reads 1989 to 1992 as the simultaneous convergence of three forces, OBC assertion, Hindutva mobilisation and economic liberalisation, that together dismantled the Nehruvian political-economic consensus. D. Critics of a purely declinist reading of the period argue that it instead deepened democracy, bringing subordinated castes, regional forces and market energies into the political mainstream and replacing an elite consensus with genuine competition.

Answer: B. Explanation: Mandal, organised around caste, and Mandir, organised around religion, were competing mobilisations of the same electorate along different, crossing axes, and because neither cleavage could produce a stable national majority on its own, coalition government became the structural outcome of the decade. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q59. Which option should a candidate retain when revising Mandal and Mandir as crossing cleavages?

A. Rajiv Gandhi's panchayati raj initiative of the mid-1980s was a policy beginning rather than a completed constitutional reform, since panchayati raj bodies did not acquire constitutional status until the 73rd and 74th Amendments of the early 1990s. B. Critics of a purely declinist reading of the period argue that it instead deepened democracy, bringing subordinated castes, regional forces and market energies into the political mainstream and replacing an elite consensus with genuine competition. C. Mandal, organised around caste, and Mandir, organised around religion, were competing mobilisations of the same electorate along different, crossing axes, and because neither cleavage could produce a stable national majority on its own, coalition government became the structural outcome of the decade. D. Between 1989 and 1999 India underwent three simultaneous transitions: from single-party majority to coalition government, from state-led planning to a liberalised economy, and from a Congress-centred cross-class consensus to politics organised around caste and religious identity.

Answer: C. Explanation: Mandal, organised around caste, and Mandir, organised around religion, were competing mobilisations of the same electorate along different, crossing axes, and because neither cleavage could produce a stable national majority on its own, coalition government became the structural outcome of the decade. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q60. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about Mandal and Mandir as crossing cleavages?

A. Rajiv Gandhi's panchayati raj initiative of the mid-1980s was a policy beginning rather than a completed constitutional reform, since panchayati raj bodies did not acquire constitutional status until the 73rd and 74th Amendments of the early 1990s. B. Rajiv Gandhi won a record majority of about 415 of 543 seats in the December 1984 general election, the largest mandate in Indian electoral history to that point. C. Between 1989 and 1999 India underwent three simultaneous transitions: from single-party majority to coalition government, from state-led planning to a liberalised economy, and from a Congress-centred cross-class consensus to politics organised around caste and religious identity. D. Mandal, organised around caste, and Mandir, organised around religion, were competing mobilisations of the same electorate along different, crossing axes, and because neither cleavage could produce a stable national majority on its own, coalition government became the structural outcome of the decade.

Answer: D. Explanation: Mandal, organised around caste, and Mandir, organised around religion, were competing mobilisations of the same electorate along different, crossing axes, and because neither cleavage could produce a stable national majority on its own, coalition government became the structural outcome of the decade. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q61. Which statement correctly identifies The coalition decade, 1996-99?

A. The 1990s closed with a short BJP government under Atal Bihari Vajpayee in 1996, the United Front governments of H.D. Deve Gowda and then I.K. Gujral, and the National Democratic Alliance (NDA) under Vajpayee formed in 1998 and consolidated after the 1999 election. B. Bipan Chandra's synthesis reads 1989 to 1992 as the simultaneous convergence of three forces, OBC assertion, Hindutva mobilisation and economic liberalisation, that together dismantled the Nehruvian political-economic consensus. C. Between 1989 and 1999 India underwent three simultaneous transitions: from single-party majority to coalition government, from state-led planning to a liberalised economy, and from a Congress-centred cross-class consensus to politics organised around caste and religious identity. D. Critics of a purely declinist reading of the period argue that it instead deepened democracy, bringing subordinated castes, regional forces and market energies into the political mainstream and replacing an elite consensus with genuine competition.

Answer: A. Explanation: The 1990s closed with a short BJP government under Atal Bihari Vajpayee in 1996, the United Front governments of H.D. Deve Gowda and then I.K. Gujral, and the National Democratic Alliance (NDA) under Vajpayee formed in 1998 and consolidated after the 1999 election. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q62. Which chronology card should be filed under The coalition decade, 1996-99?

A. Rajiv Gandhi's panchayati raj initiative of the mid-1980s was a policy beginning rather than a completed constitutional reform, since panchayati raj bodies did not acquire constitutional status until the 73rd and 74th Amendments of the early 1990s. B. The 1990s closed with a short BJP government under Atal Bihari Vajpayee in 1996, the United Front governments of H.D. Deve Gowda and then I.K. Gujral, and the National Democratic Alliance (NDA) under Vajpayee formed in 1998 and consolidated after the 1999 election. C. Between 1989 and 1999 India underwent three simultaneous transitions: from single-party majority to coalition government, from state-led planning to a liberalised economy, and from a Congress-centred cross-class consensus to politics organised around caste and religious identity. D. Critics of a purely declinist reading of the period argue that it instead deepened democracy, bringing subordinated castes, regional forces and market energies into the political mainstream and replacing an elite consensus with genuine competition.

Answer: B. Explanation: The 1990s closed with a short BJP government under Atal Bihari Vajpayee in 1996, the United Front governments of H.D. Deve Gowda and then I.K. Gujral, and the National Democratic Alliance (NDA) under Vajpayee formed in 1998 and consolidated after the 1999 election. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q63. Which option should a candidate retain when revising The coalition decade, 1996-99?

A. Between 1989 and 1999 India underwent three simultaneous transitions: from single-party majority to coalition government, from state-led planning to a liberalised economy, and from a Congress-centred cross-class consensus to politics organised around caste and religious identity. B. Rajiv Gandhi's panchayati raj initiative of the mid-1980s was a policy beginning rather than a completed constitutional reform, since panchayati raj bodies did not acquire constitutional status until the 73rd and 74th Amendments of the early 1990s. C. The 1990s closed with a short BJP government under Atal Bihari Vajpayee in 1996, the United Front governments of H.D. Deve Gowda and then I.K. Gujral, and the National Democratic Alliance (NDA) under Vajpayee formed in 1998 and consolidated after the 1999 election. D. Rajiv Gandhi won a record majority of about 415 of 543 seats in the December 1984 general election, the largest mandate in Indian electoral history to that point.

Answer: C. Explanation: The 1990s closed with a short BJP government under Atal Bihari Vajpayee in 1996, the United Front governments of H.D. Deve Gowda and then I.K. Gujral, and the National Democratic Alliance (NDA) under Vajpayee formed in 1998 and consolidated after the 1999 election. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q64. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about The coalition decade, 1996-99?

A. Rajiv Gandhi won a record majority of about 415 of 543 seats in the December 1984 general election, the largest mandate in Indian electoral history to that point. B. Rajiv Gandhi's government pushed a modernising agenda of telecommunications, computerisation, science and technology missions, panchayati raj and education reform, prefiguring the economic opening of 1991. C. Rajiv Gandhi's panchayati raj initiative of the mid-1980s was a policy beginning rather than a completed constitutional reform, since panchayati raj bodies did not acquire constitutional status until the 73rd and 74th Amendments of the early 1990s. D. The 1990s closed with a short BJP government under Atal Bihari Vajpayee in 1996, the United Front governments of H.D. Deve Gowda and then I.K. Gujral, and the National Democratic Alliance (NDA) under Vajpayee formed in 1998 and consolidated after the 1999 election.

Answer: D. Explanation: The 1990s closed with a short BJP government under Atal Bihari Vajpayee in 1996, the United Front governments of H.D. Deve Gowda and then I.K. Gujral, and the National Democratic Alliance (NDA) under Vajpayee formed in 1998 and consolidated after the 1999 election. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q65. Which statement correctly identifies Chandra's 'Mandal, Mandir and Market' synthesis?

A. Bipan Chandra's synthesis reads 1989 to 1992 as the simultaneous convergence of three forces, OBC assertion, Hindutva mobilisation and economic liberalisation, that together dismantled the Nehruvian political-economic consensus. B. Rajiv Gandhi's panchayati raj initiative of the mid-1980s was a policy beginning rather than a completed constitutional reform, since panchayati raj bodies did not acquire constitutional status until the 73rd and 74th Amendments of the early 1990s. C. Critics of a purely declinist reading of the period argue that it instead deepened democracy, bringing subordinated castes, regional forces and market energies into the political mainstream and replacing an elite consensus with genuine competition. D. Between 1989 and 1999 India underwent three simultaneous transitions: from single-party majority to coalition government, from state-led planning to a liberalised economy, and from a Congress-centred cross-class consensus to politics organised around caste and religious identity.

Answer: A. Explanation: Bipan Chandra's synthesis reads 1989 to 1992 as the simultaneous convergence of three forces, OBC assertion, Hindutva mobilisation and economic liberalisation, that together dismantled the Nehruvian political-economic consensus. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q66. Which chronology card should be filed under Chandra's 'Mandal, Mandir and Market' synthesis?

A. Rajiv Gandhi's panchayati raj initiative of the mid-1980s was a policy beginning rather than a completed constitutional reform, since panchayati raj bodies did not acquire constitutional status until the 73rd and 74th Amendments of the early 1990s. B. Bipan Chandra's synthesis reads 1989 to 1992 as the simultaneous convergence of three forces, OBC assertion, Hindutva mobilisation and economic liberalisation, that together dismantled the Nehruvian political-economic consensus. C. Between 1989 and 1999 India underwent three simultaneous transitions: from single-party majority to coalition government, from state-led planning to a liberalised economy, and from a Congress-centred cross-class consensus to politics organised around caste and religious identity. D. Rajiv Gandhi won a record majority of about 415 of 543 seats in the December 1984 general election, the largest mandate in Indian electoral history to that point.

Answer: B. Explanation: Bipan Chandra's synthesis reads 1989 to 1992 as the simultaneous convergence of three forces, OBC assertion, Hindutva mobilisation and economic liberalisation, that together dismantled the Nehruvian political-economic consensus. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q67. Which option should a candidate retain when revising Chandra's 'Mandal, Mandir and Market' synthesis?

A. Rajiv Gandhi's government pushed a modernising agenda of telecommunications, computerisation, science and technology missions, panchayati raj and education reform, prefiguring the economic opening of 1991. B. Rajiv Gandhi won a record majority of about 415 of 543 seats in the December 1984 general election, the largest mandate in Indian electoral history to that point. C. Bipan Chandra's synthesis reads 1989 to 1992 as the simultaneous convergence of three forces, OBC assertion, Hindutva mobilisation and economic liberalisation, that together dismantled the Nehruvian political-economic consensus. D. Rajiv Gandhi's panchayati raj initiative of the mid-1980s was a policy beginning rather than a completed constitutional reform, since panchayati raj bodies did not acquire constitutional status until the 73rd and 74th Amendments of the early 1990s.

Answer: C. Explanation: Bipan Chandra's synthesis reads 1989 to 1992 as the simultaneous convergence of three forces, OBC assertion, Hindutva mobilisation and economic liberalisation, that together dismantled the Nehruvian political-economic consensus. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q68. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about Chandra's 'Mandal, Mandir and Market' synthesis?

A. Rajiv Gandhi's government pushed a modernising agenda of telecommunications, computerisation, science and technology missions, panchayati raj and education reform, prefiguring the economic opening of 1991. B. The Anti-Defection Act, the 52nd Constitutional Amendment, was passed in 1985 under Rajiv Gandhi, addressing the mass floor-crossing that had become routine after the 1967 election. C. Rajiv Gandhi won a record majority of about 415 of 543 seats in the December 1984 general election, the largest mandate in Indian electoral history to that point. D. Bipan Chandra's synthesis reads 1989 to 1992 as the simultaneous convergence of three forces, OBC assertion, Hindutva mobilisation and economic liberalisation, that together dismantled the Nehruvian political-economic consensus.

Answer: D. Explanation: Bipan Chandra's synthesis reads 1989 to 1992 as the simultaneous convergence of three forces, OBC assertion, Hindutva mobilisation and economic liberalisation, that together dismantled the Nehruvian political-economic consensus. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q69. Which statement correctly identifies The democratic-deepening counter-reading?

A. Critics of a purely declinist reading of the period argue that it instead deepened democracy, bringing subordinated castes, regional forces and market energies into the political mainstream and replacing an elite consensus with genuine competition. B. Rajiv Gandhi's panchayati raj initiative of the mid-1980s was a policy beginning rather than a completed constitutional reform, since panchayati raj bodies did not acquire constitutional status until the 73rd and 74th Amendments of the early 1990s. C. Rajiv Gandhi won a record majority of about 415 of 543 seats in the December 1984 general election, the largest mandate in Indian electoral history to that point. D. Between 1989 and 1999 India underwent three simultaneous transitions: from single-party majority to coalition government, from state-led planning to a liberalised economy, and from a Congress-centred cross-class consensus to politics organised around caste and religious identity.

Answer: A. Explanation: Critics of a purely declinist reading of the period argue that it instead deepened democracy, bringing subordinated castes, regional forces and market energies into the political mainstream and replacing an elite consensus with genuine competition. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q70. Which chronology card should be filed under The democratic-deepening counter-reading?

A. Rajiv Gandhi's panchayati raj initiative of the mid-1980s was a policy beginning rather than a completed constitutional reform, since panchayati raj bodies did not acquire constitutional status until the 73rd and 74th Amendments of the early 1990s. B. Critics of a purely declinist reading of the period argue that it instead deepened democracy, bringing subordinated castes, regional forces and market energies into the political mainstream and replacing an elite consensus with genuine competition. C. Rajiv Gandhi won a record majority of about 415 of 543 seats in the December 1984 general election, the largest mandate in Indian electoral history to that point. D. Rajiv Gandhi's government pushed a modernising agenda of telecommunications, computerisation, science and technology missions, panchayati raj and education reform, prefiguring the economic opening of 1991.

Answer: B. Explanation: Critics of a purely declinist reading of the period argue that it instead deepened democracy, bringing subordinated castes, regional forces and market energies into the political mainstream and replacing an elite consensus with genuine competition. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q71. Which option should a candidate retain when revising The democratic-deepening counter-reading?

A. The Anti-Defection Act, the 52nd Constitutional Amendment, was passed in 1985 under Rajiv Gandhi, addressing the mass floor-crossing that had become routine after the 1967 election. B. Rajiv Gandhi won a record majority of about 415 of 543 seats in the December 1984 general election, the largest mandate in Indian electoral history to that point. C. Critics of a purely declinist reading of the period argue that it instead deepened democracy, bringing subordinated castes, regional forces and market energies into the political mainstream and replacing an elite consensus with genuine competition. D. Rajiv Gandhi's government pushed a modernising agenda of telecommunications, computerisation, science and technology missions, panchayati raj and education reform, prefiguring the economic opening of 1991.

Answer: C. Explanation: Critics of a purely declinist reading of the period argue that it instead deepened democracy, bringing subordinated castes, regional forces and market energies into the political mainstream and replacing an elite consensus with genuine competition. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q72. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about The democratic-deepening counter-reading?

A. The Anti-Defection Act, the 52nd Constitutional Amendment, was passed in 1985 under Rajiv Gandhi, addressing the mass floor-crossing that had become routine after the 1967 election. B. Rajiv Gandhi's government pushed a modernising agenda of telecommunications, computerisation, science and technology missions, panchayati raj and education reform, prefiguring the economic opening of 1991. C. Rajiv Gandhi signed the Punjab accord with Harchand Singh Longowal, and separate Assam and Mizoram accords, all in 1985, settling regional crises inherited from the previous decade through negotiation rather than force. D. Critics of a purely declinist reading of the period argue that it instead deepened democracy, bringing subordinated castes, regional forces and market energies into the political mainstream and replacing an elite consensus with genuine competition.

Answer: D. Explanation: Critics of a purely declinist reading of the period argue that it instead deepened democracy, bringing subordinated castes, regional forces and market energies into the political mainstream and replacing an elite consensus with genuine competition. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q73. Which statement correctly identifies The three-transitions thesis?

A. Between 1989 and 1999 India underwent three simultaneous transitions: from single-party majority to coalition government, from state-led planning to a liberalised economy, and from a Congress-centred cross-class consensus to politics organised around caste and religious identity. B. Rajiv Gandhi's government pushed a modernising agenda of telecommunications, computerisation, science and technology missions, panchayati raj and education reform, prefiguring the economic opening of 1991. C. Rajiv Gandhi won a record majority of about 415 of 543 seats in the December 1984 general election, the largest mandate in Indian electoral history to that point. D. Rajiv Gandhi's panchayati raj initiative of the mid-1980s was a policy beginning rather than a completed constitutional reform, since panchayati raj bodies did not acquire constitutional status until the 73rd and 74th Amendments of the early 1990s.

Answer: A. Explanation: Between 1989 and 1999 India underwent three simultaneous transitions: from single-party majority to coalition government, from state-led planning to a liberalised economy, and from a Congress-centred cross-class consensus to politics organised around caste and religious identity. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q74. Which chronology card should be filed under The three-transitions thesis?

A. Rajiv Gandhi's government pushed a modernising agenda of telecommunications, computerisation, science and technology missions, panchayati raj and education reform, prefiguring the economic opening of 1991. B. Between 1989 and 1999 India underwent three simultaneous transitions: from single-party majority to coalition government, from state-led planning to a liberalised economy, and from a Congress-centred cross-class consensus to politics organised around caste and religious identity. C. Rajiv Gandhi won a record majority of about 415 of 543 seats in the December 1984 general election, the largest mandate in Indian electoral history to that point. D. The Anti-Defection Act, the 52nd Constitutional Amendment, was passed in 1985 under Rajiv Gandhi, addressing the mass floor-crossing that had become routine after the 1967 election.

Answer: B. Explanation: Between 1989 and 1999 India underwent three simultaneous transitions: from single-party majority to coalition government, from state-led planning to a liberalised economy, and from a Congress-centred cross-class consensus to politics organised around caste and religious identity. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q75. Which option should a candidate retain when revising The three-transitions thesis?

A. The Anti-Defection Act, the 52nd Constitutional Amendment, was passed in 1985 under Rajiv Gandhi, addressing the mass floor-crossing that had become routine after the 1967 election. B. Rajiv Gandhi signed the Punjab accord with Harchand Singh Longowal, and separate Assam and Mizoram accords, all in 1985, settling regional crises inherited from the previous decade through negotiation rather than force. C. Between 1989 and 1999 India underwent three simultaneous transitions: from single-party majority to coalition government, from state-led planning to a liberalised economy, and from a Congress-centred cross-class consensus to politics organised around caste and religious identity. D. Rajiv Gandhi's government pushed a modernising agenda of telecommunications, computerisation, science and technology missions, panchayati raj and education reform, prefiguring the economic opening of 1991.

Answer: C. Explanation: Between 1989 and 1999 India underwent three simultaneous transitions: from single-party majority to coalition government, from state-led planning to a liberalised economy, and from a Congress-centred cross-class consensus to politics organised around caste and religious identity. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q76. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about The three-transitions thesis?

A. The Anti-Defection Act, the 52nd Constitutional Amendment, was passed in 1985 under Rajiv Gandhi, addressing the mass floor-crossing that had become routine after the 1967 election. B. Rajiv Gandhi signed the Punjab accord with Harchand Singh Longowal, and separate Assam and Mizoram accords, all in 1985, settling regional crises inherited from the previous decade through negotiation rather than force. C. The Shah Bano case of 1985 and its legislative reversal in 1986, which overturned a Supreme Court maintenance ruling under conservative religious pressure, alienated liberal opinion and minority-rights advocates. D. Between 1989 and 1999 India underwent three simultaneous transitions: from single-party majority to coalition government, from state-led planning to a liberalised economy, and from a Congress-centred cross-class consensus to politics organised around caste and religious identity.

Answer: D. Explanation: Between 1989 and 1999 India underwent three simultaneous transitions: from single-party majority to coalition government, from state-led planning to a liberalised economy, and from a Congress-centred cross-class consensus to politics organised around caste and religious identity. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q77. Which statement correctly identifies The panchayati raj caution?

A. Rajiv Gandhi's panchayati raj initiative of the mid-1980s was a policy beginning rather than a completed constitutional reform, since panchayati raj bodies did not acquire constitutional status until the 73rd and 74th Amendments of the early 1990s. B. The Anti-Defection Act, the 52nd Constitutional Amendment, was passed in 1985 under Rajiv Gandhi, addressing the mass floor-crossing that had become routine after the 1967 election. C. Rajiv Gandhi won a record majority of about 415 of 543 seats in the December 1984 general election, the largest mandate in Indian electoral history to that point. D. Rajiv Gandhi's government pushed a modernising agenda of telecommunications, computerisation, science and technology missions, panchayati raj and education reform, prefiguring the economic opening of 1991.

Answer: A. Explanation: Rajiv Gandhi's panchayati raj initiative of the mid-1980s was a policy beginning rather than a completed constitutional reform, since panchayati raj bodies did not acquire constitutional status until the 73rd and 74th Amendments of the early 1990s. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q78. Which chronology card should be filed under The panchayati raj caution?

A. Rajiv Gandhi signed the Punjab accord with Harchand Singh Longowal, and separate Assam and Mizoram accords, all in 1985, settling regional crises inherited from the previous decade through negotiation rather than force. B. Rajiv Gandhi's panchayati raj initiative of the mid-1980s was a policy beginning rather than a completed constitutional reform, since panchayati raj bodies did not acquire constitutional status until the 73rd and 74th Amendments of the early 1990s. C. Rajiv Gandhi's government pushed a modernising agenda of telecommunications, computerisation, science and technology missions, panchayati raj and education reform, prefiguring the economic opening of 1991. D. The Anti-Defection Act, the 52nd Constitutional Amendment, was passed in 1985 under Rajiv Gandhi, addressing the mass floor-crossing that had become routine after the 1967 election.

Answer: B. Explanation: Rajiv Gandhi's panchayati raj initiative of the mid-1980s was a policy beginning rather than a completed constitutional reform, since panchayati raj bodies did not acquire constitutional status until the 73rd and 74th Amendments of the early 1990s. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q79. Which option should a candidate retain when revising The panchayati raj caution?

A. Rajiv Gandhi signed the Punjab accord with Harchand Singh Longowal, and separate Assam and Mizoram accords, all in 1985, settling regional crises inherited from the previous decade through negotiation rather than force. B. The Shah Bano case of 1985 and its legislative reversal in 1986, which overturned a Supreme Court maintenance ruling under conservative religious pressure, alienated liberal opinion and minority-rights advocates. C. Rajiv Gandhi's panchayati raj initiative of the mid-1980s was a policy beginning rather than a completed constitutional reform, since panchayati raj bodies did not acquire constitutional status until the 73rd and 74th Amendments of the early 1990s. D. The Anti-Defection Act, the 52nd Constitutional Amendment, was passed in 1985 under Rajiv Gandhi, addressing the mass floor-crossing that had become routine after the 1967 election.

Answer: C. Explanation: Rajiv Gandhi's panchayati raj initiative of the mid-1980s was a policy beginning rather than a completed constitutional reform, since panchayati raj bodies did not acquire constitutional status until the 73rd and 74th Amendments of the early 1990s. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

Q80. Which statement avoids a common matching trap about The panchayati raj caution?

A. The Shah Bano case of 1985 and its legislative reversal in 1986, which overturned a Supreme Court maintenance ruling under conservative religious pressure, alienated liberal opinion and minority-rights advocates. B. Rajiv Gandhi signed the Punjab accord with Harchand Singh Longowal, and separate Assam and Mizoram accords, all in 1985, settling regional crises inherited from the previous decade through negotiation rather than force. C. The opening of the locks of the disputed Ayodhya shrine, intended by the government to balance the Shah Bano reversal, instead alienated the other community and energised Hindu mobilisation. D. Rajiv Gandhi's panchayati raj initiative of the mid-1980s was a policy beginning rather than a completed constitutional reform, since panchayati raj bodies did not acquire constitutional status until the 73rd and 74th Amendments of the early 1990s.

Answer: D. Explanation: Rajiv Gandhi's panchayati raj initiative of the mid-1980s was a policy beginning rather than a completed constitutional reform, since panchayati raj bodies did not acquire constitutional status until the 73rd and 74th Amendments of the early 1990s. This distinction preserves the source-backed chronology and prevents cross-matching errors in UPSC elimination.

PYQS AND ANSWER PRACTICE

TRANSPARENT ZERO-DIRECT-PYQ AUDIT

No Prelims or Mains demand in the local 2018-2026 routing ledgers is routed to this owner; this is a transparent zero-direct-PYQ audit rather than an omission, and the owner's own basic and advanced files carry no 'PYQ Integration' section to integrate.

No adjacent Geography, International Relations, Governance or Polity question is relabelled as a direct Modern History PYQ.

ORIGINAL MAINS 1 - 10 MARKS

Question: Discuss the achievements and limitations of Rajiv Gandhi's modernising agenda between 1984 and 1989. Answer in about 150 words.

Model thesis: Rajiv Gandhi's technological and administrative agenda, and the negotiated 1985 accords, were real achievements, but the same years' identity misjudgements and the Bofors scandal destroyed the political capital needed to sustain them.

Evidence spine:

- Rajiv Gandhi won a record majority of about 415 of 543 seats in the December 1984 general election, the largest mandate in Indian electoral history to that point.
- Rajiv Gandhi's government pushed a modernising agenda of telecommunications, computerisation, science and technology missions, panchayati raj and education reform, prefiguring the economic opening of 1991.
- The Anti-Defection Act, the 52nd Constitutional Amendment, was passed in 1985 under Rajiv Gandhi, addressing the mass floor-crossing that had become routine after the 1967 election.
- Rajiv Gandhi signed the Punjab accord with Harchand Singh Longowal, and separate Assam and Mizoram accords, all in 1985, settling regional crises inherited from the previous decade through negotiation rather than force.
- Rajiv Gandhi's panchayati raj initiative of the mid-1980s was a policy beginning rather than a completed constitutional reform, since panchayati raj bodies did not acquire constitutional status until the 73rd and 74th Amendments of the early 1990s.

Balance: Distinguish intention from outcome, identify regional or social variation, and avoid treating a formal measure as complete implementation.

Conclusion: Rajiv Gandhi's technological and administrative agenda, and the negotiated 1985 accords, were real achievements, but the same years' identity misjudgements and the Bofors scandal destroyed the political capital needed to sustain them.

ORIGINAL MAINS 2 - 10 MARKS

Question: Examine the causes of the fragmentation of the Congress-dominated party system by 1989. Answer in about 150 words.

Model thesis: The Shah Bano reversal and the Ayodhya shrine opening alienated both communities they were meant to conciliate, and the Bofors scandal converted Rajiv Gandhi's own anti-corruption idiom into the platform on which V.P. Singh's opposition defeated Congress in 1989.

Evidence spine:

- The Shah Bano case of 1985 and its legislative reversal in 1986, which overturned a Supreme Court maintenance ruling under conservative religious pressure, alienated liberal opinion and minority-rights advocates.

- The opening of the locks of the disputed Ayodhya shrine, intended by the government to balance the Shah Bano reversal, instead alienated the other community and energised Hindu mobilisation.
- The Bofors arms-deal scandal broke in 1987, destroying Rajiv Gandhi's 'Mr Clean' image and converting his own anti-corruption plank against his government.
- V.P. Singh broke away from the Congress, formed the Jan Morcha in 1987 and then the Janata Dal and National Front in 1988, uniting the opposition around an anti-corruption platform.
- In the 1989 general election Congress fell from its 1984 record to about 197 seats, the BJP rose from 2 to 86 seats, and V.P. Singh formed a National Front minority government supported from outside by both the BJP and the Left.

Balance: Distinguish intention from outcome, identify regional or social variation, and avoid treating a formal measure as complete implementation.

Conclusion: The Shah Bano reversal and the Ayodhya shrine opening alienated both communities they were meant to conciliate, and the Bofors scandal converted Rajiv Gandhi's own anti-corruption idiom into the platform on which V.P. Singh's opposition defeated Congress in 1989.

ORIGINAL MAINS 3 - 15 MARKS

Question: 'Mandal and Mandir reshaped Indian politics after 1989.' Discuss. Answer in about 250 words.

Model thesis: The Mandal Commission's 1990 reservation decision and Advani's rath yatra of the same year mobilised the same electorate along crossing axes of caste and religion, and because neither cleavage produced a durable national majority on its own, coalition government became the structural, not incidental, outcome.

Evidence spine:

- V.P. Singh's government implemented the Mandal Commission's recommendation of 27 per cent reservation for Other Backward Classes in central government employment in 1990, taking total reservation toward roughly 49.5 per cent together with the existing Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe quotas, and triggering nationwide agitation.
- L.K. Advani's rath yatra in 1990 intensified the Ayodhya mobilisation as a parallel, competing axis of political appeal to the Mandal reservation announcement.
- The Babri Masjid at Ayodhya was demolished on 6 December 1992, the culmination of the mobilisation begun by the 1990 rath yatra.
- Mandal, organised around caste, and Mandir, organised around religion, were competing mobilisations of the same electorate along different, crossing axes, and because neither cleavage could produce a stable national majority on its own, coalition government became the structural outcome of the decade.

Balance: Distinguish intention from outcome, identify regional or social variation, and avoid treating a formal measure as complete implementation.

Conclusion: The Mandal Commission's 1990 reservation decision and Advani's rath yatra of the same year mobilised the same electorate along crossing axes of caste and religion, and because neither cleavage produced a durable national majority on its own, coalition government became the structural, not incidental, outcome.

ORIGINAL MAINS 4 - 15 MARKS

Question: Assess the significance of 1991 as a turning point in India's political economy. Answer in about 250 words.

Model thesis: 1991 was decisive because it was involuntary: a balance-of-payments crisis suspended the political veto that had blocked economic reform for three decades, permitting a minority government to act where consensus had never existed.

Evidence spine:

- The Narasimha Rao government took office in 1991 and launched economic liberalisation, with Manmohan Singh as Finance Minister, in response to a balance-of-payments crisis.
- Rajiv Gandhi was assassinated in 1991, during the general election campaign that brought the Narasimha Rao government to office.

- Bipan Chandra's synthesis reads 1989 to 1992 as the simultaneous convergence of three forces, OBC assertion, Hindutva mobilisation and economic liberalisation, that together dismantled the Nehruvian political-economic consensus.
- Between 1989 and 1999 India underwent three simultaneous transitions: from single-party majority to coalition government, from state-led planning to a liberalised economy, and from a Congress-centred cross-class consensus to politics organised around caste and religious identity.

Balance: Distinguish intention from outcome, identify regional or social variation, and avoid treating a formal measure as complete implementation.

Conclusion: 1991 was decisive because it was involuntary: a balance-of-payments crisis suspended the political veto that had blocked economic reform for three decades, permitting a minority government to act where consensus had never existed.

ORIGINAL MAINS 5 - 20 MARKS

Question: 'Rajiv Gandhi modernised the economy's aspirations but destabilised the polity's secular-federal balance.' Critically examine. Answer in about 300 words.

Model thesis: Rajiv Gandhi's technocratic agenda and the 1985 accords addressed real developmental and federal deficits, but the twin identity concessions of 1985-86 and the Bofors scandal converted a record mandate into a fragmented party system within five years, a paradox this owner resolves by crediting the substantive achievements while holding the political judgement to account.

Evidence spine:

- Rajiv Gandhi won a record majority of about 415 of 543 seats in the December 1984 general election, the largest mandate in Indian electoral history to that point.
- Rajiv Gandhi's government pushed a modernising agenda of telecommunications, computerisation, science and technology missions, panchayati raj and education reform, prefiguring the economic opening of 1991.
- Rajiv Gandhi signed the Punjab accord with Harchand Singh Longowal, and separate Assam and Mizoram accords, all in 1985, settling regional crises inherited from the previous decade through negotiation rather than force.
- The Shah Bano case of 1985 and its legislative reversal in 1986, which overturned a Supreme Court maintenance ruling under conservative religious pressure, alienated liberal opinion and minority-rights advocates.
- The opening of the locks of the disputed Ayodhya shrine, intended by the government to balance the Shah Bano reversal, instead alienated the other community and energised Hindu mobilisation.
- The Bofors arms-deal scandal broke in 1987, destroying Rajiv Gandhi's 'Mr Clean' image and converting his own anti-corruption plank against his government.
- V.P. Singh broke away from the Congress, formed the Jan Morcha in 1987 and then the Janata Dal and National Front in 1988, uniting the opposition around an anti-corruption platform.

Balance: Distinguish intention from outcome, identify regional or social variation, and avoid treating a formal measure as complete implementation.

Conclusion: Rajiv Gandhi's technocratic agenda and the 1985 accords addressed real developmental and federal deficits, but the twin identity concessions of 1985-86 and the Bofors scandal converted a record mandate into a fragmented party system within five years, a paradox this owner resolves by crediting the substantive achievements while holding the political judgement to account.

ORIGINAL MAINS 6 - 20 MARKS

Question: Trace the transformation of Indian politics between 1984 and 1999, and evaluate whether this period represented a crisis of the Nehruvian consensus or its democratic deepening. Answer in about 300 words.

Model thesis: Between the record mandate of 1984 and the consolidated NDA government of 1999, India underwent three simultaneous transitions, from single-party majority to coalition, from planning to markets, and from a cross-class consensus to identity-based competition, a movement that a purely declinist reading treats as crisis and a rival reading treats as the deepening of democratic competition.

Evidence spine:

- In the 1989 general election Congress fell from its 1984 record to about 197 seats, the BJP rose from 2 to 86 seats, and V.P. Singh formed a National Front minority government supported from outside by both the BJP and the Left.
- V.P. Singh's government implemented the Mandal Commission's recommendation of 27 per cent reservation for Other Backward Classes in central government employment in 1990, taking total reservation toward roughly 49.5 per cent together with the existing Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe quotas, and triggering nationwide agitation.
- L.K. Advani's rath yatra in 1990 intensified the Ayodhya mobilisation as a parallel, competing axis of political appeal to the Mandal reservation announcement.
- The Narasimha Rao government took office in 1991 and launched economic liberalisation, with Manmohan Singh as Finance Minister, in response to a balance-of-payments crisis.
- The Babri Masjid at Ayodhya was demolished on 6 December 1992, the culmination of the mobilisation begun by the 1990 rath yatra.
- The 1990s closed with a short BJP government under Atal Bihari Vajpayee in 1996, the United Front governments of H.D. Deve Gowda and then I.K. Gujral, and the National Democratic Alliance (NDA) under Vajpayee formed in 1998 and consolidated after the 1999 election.
- Bipan Chandra's synthesis reads 1989 to 1992 as the simultaneous convergence of three forces, OBC assertion, Hindutva mobilisation and economic liberalisation, that together dismantled the Nehruvian political-economic consensus.
- Critics of a purely declinist reading of the period argue that it instead deepened democracy, bringing subordinated castes, regional forces and market energies into the political mainstream and replacing an elite consensus with genuine competition.
- Between 1989 and 1999 India underwent three simultaneous transitions: from single-party majority to coalition government, from state-led planning to a liberalised economy, and from a Congress-centred cross-class consensus to politics organised around caste and religious identity.

Balance: Distinguish intention from outcome, identify regional or social variation, and avoid treating a formal measure as complete implementation.

Conclusion: Between the record mandate of 1984 and the consolidated NDA government of 1999, India underwent three simultaneous transitions, from single-party majority to coalition, from planning to markets, and from a cross-class consensus to identity-based competition, a movement that a purely declinist reading treats as crisis and a rival reading treats as the deepening of democratic competition.