

SOLVED PRACTICE WORKBOOK

New Imperialism and Scramble for Africa - Solved Practice Workbook

UPSC complete learning session | Foundation to advanced | Concepts, evidence, practice and answer writing

Original deterministic study visual; labels are explanatory, not textual quotations.

Source order: repository knowledge -> official current linkage -> clearly marked analysis. No fabricated PYQs or statistics.

CONTENTS / WORKBOOK INDEX

Major learning parts and meaningful subtopics are listed in document order. Page numbers are generated from the final PDF layout; PDF bookmarks mirror the same hierarchy.

New Imperialism and Scramble for Africa - Solved Practice Workbook 5

BASIC MCQS / REMEDIATION 5

Q1. Which statement correctly identifies New Imperialism?	5
Q2. Which chronology card should be filed under New Imperialism?	5
Q3. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of New Imperialism?	5
Q4. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about New Imperialism?	5
Q5. Which statement correctly identifies Ten to ninety per cent transformation?	6
Q6. Which chronology card should be filed under Ten to ninety per cent transformation?	6
Q7. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Ten to ninety per cent transformation?	6
Q8. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Ten to ninety per cent transformation?	6
Q9. Which statement correctly identifies Suez Canal, 1869?	6
Q10. Which chronology card should be filed under Suez Canal, 1869?	7
Q11. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Suez Canal, 1869?	7
Q12. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Suez Canal, 1869?	7
Q13. Which statement correctly identifies British occupation of Egypt, 1882?	7
Q14. Which chronology card should be filed under British occupation of Egypt, 1882?	7
Q15. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of British occupation of Egypt, 1882?	8
Q16. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about British occupation of Egypt, 1882?	8
Q17. Which statement correctly identifies Economic driver?	8
Q18. Which chronology card should be filed under Economic driver?	8
Q19. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Economic driver?	8
Q20. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Economic driver?	9
Q21. Which statement correctly identifies Prestige and rivalry?	9
Q22. Which chronology card should be filed under Prestige and rivalry?	9
Q23. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Prestige and rivalry?	9
Q24. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Prestige and rivalry?	9
Q25. Which statement correctly identifies Technology as permissive cause?	10
Q26. Which chronology card should be filed under Technology as permissive cause?	10
Q27. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Technology as permissive cause?	10

Q28. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Technology as permissive cause?	10
Q29. Which statement correctly identifies Civilising mission and racial ideology?	11
Q30. Which chronology card should be filed under Civilising mission and racial ideology?	11
Q31. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Civilising mission and racial ideology?	11
Q32. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Civilising mission and racial ideology?	11
Q33. Which statement correctly identifies Berlin Conference, 1884-85?	11
Q34. Which chronology card should be filed under Berlin Conference, 1884-85?	12
Q35. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Berlin Conference, 1884-85?	12
Q36. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Berlin Conference, 1884-85?	12
Q37. Which statement correctly identifies Effective occupation?	12
Q38. Which chronology card should be filed under Effective occupation?	12
Q39. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Effective occupation?	13
Q40. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Effective occupation?	13
Q41. Which statement correctly identifies Congo Free State and Leopold II?	13
Q42. Which chronology card should be filed under Congo Free State and Leopold II?	13
Q43. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Congo Free State and Leopold II?	13
Q44. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Congo Free State and Leopold II?	14
Q45. Which statement correctly identifies Partition pattern?	14
Q46. Which chronology card should be filed under Partition pattern?	14
Q47. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Partition pattern?	14
Q48. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Partition pattern?	14
Q49. Which statement correctly identifies Ethiopia and Liberia in 1914?	15
Q50. Which chronology card should be filed under Ethiopia and Liberia in 1914?	15
Q51. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Ethiopia and Liberia in 1914?	15
Q52. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Ethiopia and Liberia in 1914?	15
Q53. Which statement correctly identifies Adwa, 1896?	15
Q54. Which chronology card should be filed under Adwa, 1896?	16
Q55. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Adwa, 1896?	16
Q56. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Adwa, 1896?	16
Q57. Which statement correctly identifies Zulu and Samori Ture resistance?	16
Q58. Which chronology card should be filed under Zulu and Samori Ture resistance?	16
Q59. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Zulu and Samori Ture resistance?	17

Q60. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Zulu and Samori Ture resistance?	17
Q61. Which statement correctly identifies Herero and Nama genocide, 1904-08?	17
Q62. Which chronology card should be filed under Herero and Nama genocide, 1904-08?	17
Q63. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Herero and Nama genocide, 1904-08?	18
Q64. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Herero and Nama genocide, 1904-08?	18
Q65. Which statement correctly identifies Maji Maji, 1905-07?	18
Q66. Which chronology card should be filed under Maji Maji, 1905-07?	18
Q67. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Maji Maji, 1905-07?	19
Q68. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Maji Maji, 1905-07?	19
Q69. Which statement correctly identifies Extraction and labour restructuring?	19
Q70. Which chronology card should be filed under Extraction and labour restructuring?	19
Q71. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Extraction and labour restructuring?	20
Q72. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Extraction and labour restructuring?	20
Q73. Which statement correctly identifies Colonial borders and authority?	20
Q74. Which chronology card should be filed under Colonial borders and authority?	20
Q75. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Colonial borders and authority?	21
Q76. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Colonial borders and authority?	21
Q77. Which statement correctly identifies African agency and the Berlin verdict?	21
Q78. Which chronology card should be filed under African agency and the Berlin verdict?	21
Q79. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of African agency and the Berlin verdict?	21
Q80. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about African agency and the Berlin verdict?	22
PYQS AND ANSWER PRACTICE	22
TRANSPARENT ZERO-DIRECT-PYQ AUDIT	22
ORIGINAL MAINS 1 - 10 MARKS	22
ORIGINAL MAINS 2 - 10 MARKS	23
ORIGINAL MAINS 3 - 15 MARKS	24
ORIGINAL MAINS 4 - 15 MARKS	26
ORIGINAL MAINS 5 - 20 MARKS	27
ORIGINAL MAINS 6 - 20 MARKS	28

New Imperialism and Scramble for Africa - Solved Practice Workbook

BASIC MCQS / REMEDIATION

Q1. Which statement correctly identifies New Imperialism?

A. New Imperialism was the late-nineteenth-century shift from limited coastal influence toward aggressive direct political control of inland territory by industrial powers. B. Britain occupied Egypt in 1882, showing how financial and strategic entanglement could become direct imperial control. C. Britannica's figures place about ten per cent of African territory under European control in the 1870s and about ninety per cent by 1914. D. The Suez Canal opened in 1869 and increased the strategic value of Egypt, African routes and access to Asia.

Answer: A. Explanation: New Imperialism was the late-nineteenth-century shift from limited coastal influence toward aggressive direct political control of inland territory by industrial powers. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q2. Which chronology card should be filed under New Imperialism?

A. Britain occupied Egypt in 1882, showing how financial and strategic entanglement could become direct imperial control. B. New Imperialism was the late-nineteenth-century shift from limited coastal influence toward aggressive direct political control of inland territory by industrial powers. C. Industrial powers sought raw materials, markets and investment opportunities, while actual metropolitan profit remained uneven and concentrated. D. The Suez Canal opened in 1869 and increased the strategic value of Egypt, African routes and access to Asia.

Answer: B. Explanation: New Imperialism was the late-nineteenth-century shift from limited coastal influence toward aggressive direct political control of inland territory by industrial powers. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q3. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of New Imperialism?

A. Britain occupied Egypt in 1882, showing how financial and strategic entanglement could become direct imperial control. B. Industrial powers sought raw materials, markets and investment opportunities, while actual metropolitan profit remained uneven and concentrated. C. New Imperialism was the late-nineteenth-century shift from limited coastal influence toward aggressive direct political control of inland territory by industrial powers. D. National prestige and great-power rivalry accelerated the scramble, especially as recently unified Germany and Italy sought colonial status.

Answer: C. Explanation: New Imperialism was the late-nineteenth-century shift from limited coastal influence toward aggressive direct political control of inland territory by industrial powers. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q4. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about New Imperialism?

A. National prestige and great-power rivalry accelerated the scramble, especially as recently unified Germany and Italy sought colonial status. B. Industrial powers sought raw materials, markets and investment opportunities, while actual metropolitan profit remained uneven and concentrated. C. Steam transport, improved weapons and medicines increased European reach; technology supplied capability, not motive. D. New Imperialism was the late-nineteenth-century shift from limited coastal influence toward aggressive direct political control of inland territory by industrial powers.

Answer: D. Explanation: New Imperialism was the late-nineteenth-century shift from limited coastal influence toward aggressive direct political control of inland territory by industrial powers. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q5. Which statement correctly identifies Ten to ninety per cent transformation?

A. Britannica's figures place about ten per cent of African territory under European control in the 1870s and about ninety per cent by 1914. B. Britain occupied Egypt in 1882, showing how financial and strategic entanglement could become direct imperial control. C. The Suez Canal opened in 1869 and increased the strategic value of Egypt, African routes and access to Asia. D. Industrial powers sought raw materials, markets and investment opportunities, while actual metropolitan profit remained uneven and concentrated.

Answer: A. Explanation: Britannica's figures place about ten per cent of African territory under European control in the 1870s and about ninety per cent by 1914. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q6. Which chronology card should be filed under Ten to ninety per cent transformation?

A. National prestige and great-power rivalry accelerated the scramble, especially as recently unified Germany and Italy sought colonial status. B. Britannica's figures place about ten per cent of African territory under European control in the 1870s and about ninety per cent by 1914. C. Industrial powers sought raw materials, markets and investment opportunities, while actual metropolitan profit remained uneven and concentrated. D. Britain occupied Egypt in 1882, showing how financial and strategic entanglement could become direct imperial control.

Answer: B. Explanation: Britannica's figures place about ten per cent of African territory under European control in the 1870s and about ninety per cent by 1914. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q7. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Ten to ninety per cent transformation?

A. Steam transport, improved weapons and medicines increased European reach; technology supplied capability, not motive. B. National prestige and great-power rivalry accelerated the scramble, especially as recently unified Germany and Italy sought colonial status. C. Britannica's figures place about ten per cent of African territory under European control in the 1870s and about ninety per cent by 1914. D. Industrial powers sought raw materials, markets and investment opportunities, while actual metropolitan profit remained uneven and concentrated.

Answer: C. Explanation: Britannica's figures place about ten per cent of African territory under European control in the 1870s and about ninety per cent by 1914. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q8. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Ten to ninety per cent transformation?

A. Steam transport, improved weapons and medicines increased European reach; technology supplied capability, not motive. B. National prestige and great-power rivalry accelerated the scramble, especially as recently unified Germany and Italy sought colonial status. C. Civilising rhetoric and racial superiority supplied domestic legitimation while coexisting with coercion, extraction and atrocity. D. Britannica's figures place about ten per cent of African territory under European control in the 1870s and about ninety per cent by 1914.

Answer: D. Explanation: Britannica's figures place about ten per cent of African territory under European control in the 1870s and about ninety per cent by 1914. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q9. Which statement correctly identifies Suez Canal, 1869?

A. The Suez Canal opened in 1869 and increased the strategic value of Egypt, African routes and access to Asia. B. Britain occupied Egypt in 1882, showing how financial and strategic entanglement could become direct imperial control. C. National prestige and great-power rivalry accelerated the scramble, especially as recently unified Germany and Italy sought colonial status. D. Industrial powers sought raw materials, markets and investment opportunities, while actual metropolitan profit remained uneven and concentrated.

Answer: A. Explanation: The Suez Canal opened in 1869 and increased the strategic value of Egypt, African routes and access to Asia. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q10. Which chronology card should be filed under Suez Canal, 1869?

A. Industrial powers sought raw materials, markets and investment opportunities, while actual metropolitan profit remained uneven and concentrated. B. The Suez Canal opened in 1869 and increased the strategic value of Egypt, African routes and access to Asia. C. National prestige and great-power rivalry accelerated the scramble, especially as recently unified Germany and Italy sought colonial status. D. Steam transport, improved weapons and medicines increased European reach; technology supplied capability, not motive.

Answer: B. Explanation: The Suez Canal opened in 1869 and increased the strategic value of Egypt, African routes and access to Asia. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q11. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Suez Canal, 1869?

A. Civilising rhetoric and racial superiority supplied domestic legitimation while coexisting with coercion, extraction and atrocity. B. Steam transport, improved weapons and medicines increased European reach; technology supplied capability, not motive. C. The Suez Canal opened in 1869 and increased the strategic value of Egypt, African routes and access to Asia. D. National prestige and great-power rivalry accelerated the scramble, especially as recently unified Germany and Italy sought colonial status.

Answer: C. Explanation: The Suez Canal opened in 1869 and increased the strategic value of Egypt, African routes and access to Asia. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q12. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Suez Canal, 1869?

A. Civilising rhetoric and racial superiority supplied domestic legitimation while coexisting with coercion, extraction and atrocity. B. Steam transport, improved weapons and medicines increased European reach; technology supplied capability, not motive. C. The Berlin Conference met from 15 November 1884 to 26 February 1885 with representatives of fourteen countries. D. The Suez Canal opened in 1869 and increased the strategic value of Egypt, African routes and access to Asia.

Answer: D. Explanation: The Suez Canal opened in 1869 and increased the strategic value of Egypt, African routes and access to Asia. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q13. Which statement correctly identifies British occupation of Egypt, 1882?

A. Britain occupied Egypt in 1882, showing how financial and strategic entanglement could become direct imperial control. B. Industrial powers sought raw materials, markets and investment opportunities, while actual metropolitan profit remained uneven and concentrated. C. National prestige and great-power rivalry accelerated the scramble, especially as recently unified Germany and Italy sought colonial status. D. Steam transport, improved weapons and medicines increased European reach; technology supplied capability, not motive.

Answer: A. Explanation: Britain occupied Egypt in 1882, showing how financial and strategic entanglement could become direct imperial control. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q14. Which chronology card should be filed under British occupation of Egypt, 1882?

A. Civilising rhetoric and racial superiority supplied domestic legitimation while coexisting with coercion, extraction and atrocity. B. Britain occupied Egypt in 1882, showing how financial and strategic entanglement could become direct imperial control. C. National prestige and great-power rivalry accelerated the scramble, especially as recently unified Germany and Italy sought colonial status. D. Steam transport, improved weapons and medicines increased European reach; technology supplied capability, not motive.

Answer: B. Explanation: Britain occupied Egypt in 1882, showing how financial and strategic entanglement could become direct imperial control. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q15. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of British occupation of Egypt, 1882?

A. The Berlin Conference met from 15 November 1884 to 26 February 1885 with representatives of fourteen countries. B. Steam transport, improved weapons and medicines increased European reach; technology supplied capability, not motive. C. Britain occupied Egypt in 1882, showing how financial and strategic entanglement could become direct imperial control. D. Civilising rhetoric and racial superiority supplied domestic legitimation while coexisting with coercion, extraction and atrocity.

Answer: C. Explanation: Britain occupied Egypt in 1882, showing how financial and strategic entanglement could become direct imperial control. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q16. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about British occupation of Egypt, 1882?

A. The Berlin General Act required effective occupation for recognition, standardising the rules of competition rather than drawing every African border at one meeting. B. The Berlin Conference met from 15 November 1884 to 26 February 1885 with representatives of fourteen countries. C. Civilising rhetoric and racial superiority supplied domestic legitimation while coexisting with coercion, extraction and atrocity. D. Britain occupied Egypt in 1882, showing how financial and strategic entanglement could become direct imperial control.

Answer: D. Explanation: Britain occupied Egypt in 1882, showing how financial and strategic entanglement could become direct imperial control. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q17. Which statement correctly identifies Economic driver?

A. Industrial powers sought raw materials, markets and investment opportunities, while actual metropolitan profit remained uneven and concentrated. B. Civilising rhetoric and racial superiority supplied domestic legitimation while coexisting with coercion, extraction and atrocity. C. Steam transport, improved weapons and medicines increased European reach; technology supplied capability, not motive. D. National prestige and great-power rivalry accelerated the scramble, especially as recently unified Germany and Italy sought colonial status.

Answer: A. Explanation: Industrial powers sought raw materials, markets and investment opportunities, while actual metropolitan profit remained uneven and concentrated. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q18. Which chronology card should be filed under Economic driver?

A. The Berlin Conference met from 15 November 1884 to 26 February 1885 with representatives of fourteen countries. B. Industrial powers sought raw materials, markets and investment opportunities, while actual metropolitan profit remained uneven and concentrated. C. Steam transport, improved weapons and medicines increased European reach; technology supplied capability, not motive. D. Civilising rhetoric and racial superiority supplied domestic legitimation while coexisting with coercion, extraction and atrocity.

Answer: B. Explanation: Industrial powers sought raw materials, markets and investment opportunities, while actual metropolitan profit remained uneven and concentrated. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q19. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Economic driver?

A. The Berlin General Act required effective occupation for recognition, standardising the rules of competition rather than drawing every African border at one meeting. B. The Berlin Conference met from 15 November 1884 to 26 February 1885 with representatives of fourteen countries. C. Industrial powers sought raw materials, markets and investment opportunities, while actual metropolitan profit remained uneven and concentrated. D. Civilising rhetoric and racial superiority supplied domestic legitimation while coexisting with coercion, extraction and atrocity.

Answer: C. Explanation: Industrial powers sought raw materials, markets and investment opportunities, while actual metropolitan profit remained uneven and concentrated. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q20. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Economic driver?

A. The Berlin Conference met from 15 November 1884 to 26 February 1885 with representatives of fourteen countries. B. The Berlin General Act required effective occupation for recognition, standardising the rules of competition rather than drawing every African border at one meeting. C. The Conference recognised the Congo Free State under Leopold II, illustrating the overlap of private profit, sovereignty and imperial violence. D. Industrial powers sought raw materials, markets and investment opportunities, while actual metropolitan profit remained uneven and concentrated.

Answer: D. Explanation: Industrial powers sought raw materials, markets and investment opportunities, while actual metropolitan profit remained uneven and concentrated. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q21. Which statement correctly identifies Prestige and rivalry?

A. National prestige and great-power rivalry accelerated the scramble, especially as recently unified Germany and Italy sought colonial status. B. Civilising rhetoric and racial superiority supplied domestic legitimation while coexisting with coercion, extraction and atrocity. C. Steam transport, improved weapons and medicines increased European reach; technology supplied capability, not motive. D. The Berlin Conference met from 15 November 1884 to 26 February 1885 with representatives of fourteen countries.

Answer: A. Explanation: National prestige and great-power rivalry accelerated the scramble, especially as recently unified Germany and Italy sought colonial status. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q22. Which chronology card should be filed under Prestige and rivalry?

A. Civilising rhetoric and racial superiority supplied domestic legitimation while coexisting with coercion, extraction and atrocity. B. National prestige and great-power rivalry accelerated the scramble, especially as recently unified Germany and Italy sought colonial status. C. The Berlin Conference met from 15 November 1884 to 26 February 1885 with representatives of fourteen countries. D. The Berlin General Act required effective occupation for recognition, standardising the rules of competition rather than drawing every African border at one meeting.

Answer: B. Explanation: National prestige and great-power rivalry accelerated the scramble, especially as recently unified Germany and Italy sought colonial status. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q23. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Prestige and rivalry?

A. The Conference recognised the Congo Free State under Leopold II, illustrating the overlap of private profit, sovereignty and imperial violence. B. The Berlin General Act required effective occupation for recognition, standardising the rules of competition rather than drawing every African border at one meeting. C. National prestige and great-power rivalry accelerated the scramble, especially as recently unified Germany and Italy sought colonial status. D. The Berlin Conference met from 15 November 1884 to 26 February 1885 with representatives of fourteen countries.

Answer: C. Explanation: National prestige and great-power rivalry accelerated the scramble, especially as recently unified Germany and Italy sought colonial status. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q24. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Prestige and rivalry?

A. The Conference recognised the Congo Free State under Leopold II, illustrating the overlap of private profit, sovereignty and imperial violence. B. The Berlin General Act required effective occupation for recognition, standardising the rules of competition rather than drawing every African border at one meeting. C. Britain, France, Belgium, Germany, Portugal and Italy acquired major African zones through conquest and negotiated delimitation after Berlin. D. National prestige and great-power rivalry accelerated the scramble, especially as recently unified Germany and Italy sought colonial status.

Answer: D. Explanation: National prestige and great-power rivalry accelerated the scramble, especially as recently unified Germany and Italy sought colonial status. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q25. Which statement correctly identifies Technology as permissive cause?

A. Steam transport, improved weapons and medicines increased European reach; technology supplied capability, not motive. B. The Berlin Conference met from 15 November 1884 to 26 February 1885 with representatives of fourteen countries. C. The Berlin General Act required effective occupation for recognition, standardising the rules of competition rather than drawing every African border at one meeting. D. Civilising rhetoric and racial superiority supplied domestic legitimisation while coexisting with coercion, extraction and atrocity.

Answer: A. Explanation: Steam transport, improved weapons and medicines increased European reach; technology supplied capability, not motive. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q26. Which chronology card should be filed under Technology as permissive cause?

A. The Berlin General Act required effective occupation for recognition, standardising the rules of competition rather than drawing every African border at one meeting. B. Steam transport, improved weapons and medicines increased European reach; technology supplied capability, not motive. C. The Conference recognised the Congo Free State under Leopold II, illustrating the overlap of private profit, sovereignty and imperial violence. D. The Berlin Conference met from 15 November 1884 to 26 February 1885 with representatives of fourteen countries.

Answer: B. Explanation: Steam transport, improved weapons and medicines increased European reach; technology supplied capability, not motive. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q27. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Technology as permissive cause?

A. The Conference recognised the Congo Free State under Leopold II, illustrating the overlap of private profit, sovereignty and imperial violence. B. The Berlin General Act required effective occupation for recognition, standardising the rules of competition rather than drawing every African border at one meeting. C. Steam transport, improved weapons and medicines increased European reach; technology supplied capability, not motive. D. Britain, France, Belgium, Germany, Portugal and Italy acquired major African zones through conquest and negotiated delimitation after Berlin.

Answer: C. Explanation: Steam transport, improved weapons and medicines increased European reach; technology supplied capability, not motive. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q28. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Technology as permissive cause?

A. By 1914 Ethiopia and Liberia remained independent while most of Africa had been partitioned. B. The Conference recognised the Congo Free State under Leopold II, illustrating the overlap of private profit, sovereignty and imperial violence. C. Britain, France, Belgium, Germany, Portugal and Italy acquired major African zones through conquest and negotiated delimitation after Berlin. D. Steam transport, improved weapons and medicines increased European reach; technology supplied capability, not motive.

Answer: D. Explanation: Steam transport, improved weapons and medicines increased European reach; technology supplied capability, not motive. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q29. Which statement correctly identifies Civilising mission and racial ideology?

A. Civilising rhetoric and racial superiority supplied domestic legitimation while coexisting with coercion, extraction and atrocity. B. The Berlin Conference met from 15 November 1884 to 26 February 1885 with representatives of fourteen countries. C. The Conference recognised the Congo Free State under Leopold II, illustrating the overlap of private profit, sovereignty and imperial violence. D. The Berlin General Act required effective occupation for recognition, standardising the rules of competition rather than drawing every African border at one meeting.

Answer: A. Explanation: Civilising rhetoric and racial superiority supplied domestic legitimation while coexisting with coercion, extraction and atrocity. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q30. Which chronology card should be filed under Civilising mission and racial ideology?

A. The Berlin General Act required effective occupation for recognition, standardising the rules of competition rather than drawing every African border at one meeting. B. Civilising rhetoric and racial superiority supplied domestic legitimation while coexisting with coercion, extraction and atrocity. C. Britain, France, Belgium, Germany, Portugal and Italy acquired major African zones through conquest and negotiated delimitation after Berlin. D. The Conference recognised the Congo Free State under Leopold II, illustrating the overlap of private profit, sovereignty and imperial violence.

Answer: B. Explanation: Civilising rhetoric and racial superiority supplied domestic legitimation while coexisting with coercion, extraction and atrocity. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q31. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Civilising mission and racial ideology?

A. Britain, France, Belgium, Germany, Portugal and Italy acquired major African zones through conquest and negotiated delimitation after Berlin. B. By 1914 Ethiopia and Liberia remained independent while most of Africa had been partitioned. C. Civilising rhetoric and racial superiority supplied domestic legitimation while coexisting with coercion, extraction and atrocity. D. The Conference recognised the Congo Free State under Leopold II, illustrating the overlap of private profit, sovereignty and imperial violence.

Answer: C. Explanation: Civilising rhetoric and racial superiority supplied domestic legitimation while coexisting with coercion, extraction and atrocity. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q32. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Civilising mission and racial ideology?

A. By 1914 Ethiopia and Liberia remained independent while most of Africa had been partitioned. B. Ethiopia defeated Italy at Adwa in 1896, proving that European conquest was contingent rather than automatic. C. Britain, France, Belgium, Germany, Portugal and Italy acquired major African zones through conquest and negotiated delimitation after Berlin. D. Civilising rhetoric and racial superiority supplied domestic legitimation while coexisting with coercion, extraction and atrocity.

Answer: D. Explanation: Civilising rhetoric and racial superiority supplied domestic legitimation while coexisting with coercion, extraction and atrocity. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q33. Which statement correctly identifies Berlin Conference, 1884-85?

A. The Berlin Conference met from 15 November 1884 to 26 February 1885 with representatives of fourteen countries. B. Britain, France, Belgium, Germany, Portugal and Italy acquired major African zones through conquest and negotiated delimitation after Berlin. C. The Conference recognised the Congo Free State under Leopold II, illustrating the overlap of private profit, sovereignty and imperial violence. D. The Berlin General Act required effective occupation for recognition, standardising the rules of competition rather than drawing every African border at one meeting.

Answer: A. Explanation: The Berlin Conference met from 15 November 1884 to 26 February 1885 with representatives of fourteen countries. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q34. Which chronology card should be filed under Berlin Conference, 1884-85?

A. Britain, France, Belgium, Germany, Portugal and Italy acquired major African zones through conquest and negotiated delimitation after Berlin. B. The Berlin Conference met from 15 November 1884 to 26 February 1885 with representatives of fourteen countries. C. By 1914 Ethiopia and Liberia remained independent while most of Africa had been partitioned. D. The Conference recognised the Congo Free State under Leopold II, illustrating the overlap of private profit, sovereignty and imperial violence.

Answer: B. Explanation: The Berlin Conference met from 15 November 1884 to 26 February 1885 with representatives of fourteen countries. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q35. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Berlin Conference, 1884-85?

A. By 1914 Ethiopia and Liberia remained independent while most of Africa had been partitioned. B. Britain, France, Belgium, Germany, Portugal and Italy acquired major African zones through conquest and negotiated delimitation after Berlin. C. The Berlin Conference met from 15 November 1884 to 26 February 1885 with representatives of fourteen countries. D. Ethiopia defeated Italy at Adwa in 1896, proving that European conquest was contingent rather than automatic.

Answer: C. Explanation: The Berlin Conference met from 15 November 1884 to 26 February 1885 with representatives of fourteen countries. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q36. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Berlin Conference, 1884-85?

A. Ethiopia defeated Italy at Adwa in 1896, proving that European conquest was contingent rather than automatic. B. Zulu resistance and Samori Ture's prolonged West African campaigns demonstrate organised African military agency. C. By 1914 Ethiopia and Liberia remained independent while most of Africa had been partitioned. D. The Berlin Conference met from 15 November 1884 to 26 February 1885 with representatives of fourteen countries.

Answer: D. Explanation: The Berlin Conference met from 15 November 1884 to 26 February 1885 with representatives of fourteen countries. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q37. Which statement correctly identifies Effective occupation?

A. The Berlin General Act required effective occupation for recognition, standardising the rules of competition rather than drawing every African border at one meeting. B. By 1914 Ethiopia and Liberia remained independent while most of Africa had been partitioned. C. The Conference recognised the Congo Free State under Leopold II, illustrating the overlap of private profit, sovereignty and imperial violence. D. Britain, France, Belgium, Germany, Portugal and Italy acquired major African zones through conquest and negotiated delimitation after Berlin.

Answer: A. Explanation: The Berlin General Act required effective occupation for recognition, standardising the rules of competition rather than drawing every African border at one meeting. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q38. Which chronology card should be filed under Effective occupation?

A. Britain, France, Belgium, Germany, Portugal and Italy acquired major African zones through conquest and negotiated delimitation after Berlin. B. The Berlin General Act required effective occupation for recognition, standardising the rules of competition rather than drawing every African border at one meeting. C. Ethiopia defeated Italy at Adwa in 1896, proving that European conquest was contingent rather than automatic. D. By 1914 Ethiopia and Liberia remained independent while most of Africa had been partitioned.

Answer: B. Explanation: The Berlin General Act required effective occupation for recognition, standardising the rules of competition rather than drawing every African border at one meeting. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q39. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Effective occupation?

A. Zulu resistance and Samori Ture's prolonged West African campaigns demonstrate organised African military agency. B. By 1914 Ethiopia and Liberia remained independent while most of Africa had been partitioned. C. The Berlin General Act required effective occupation for recognition, standardising the rules of competition rather than drawing every African border at one meeting. D. Ethiopia defeated Italy at Adwa in 1896, proving that European conquest was contingent rather than automatic.

Answer: C. Explanation: The Berlin General Act required effective occupation for recognition, standardising the rules of competition rather than drawing every African border at one meeting. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q40. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Effective occupation?

A. Ethiopia defeated Italy at Adwa in 1896, proving that European conquest was contingent rather than automatic. B. German suppression in South West Africa became the genocide of the Herero and Nama between 1904 and 1908. C. Zulu resistance and Samori Ture's prolonged West African campaigns demonstrate organised African military agency. D. The Berlin General Act required effective occupation for recognition, standardising the rules of competition rather than drawing every African border at one meeting.

Answer: D. Explanation: The Berlin General Act required effective occupation for recognition, standardising the rules of competition rather than drawing every African border at one meeting. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q41. Which statement correctly identifies Congo Free State and Leopold II?

A. The Conference recognised the Congo Free State under Leopold II, illustrating the overlap of private profit, sovereignty and imperial violence. B. Britain, France, Belgium, Germany, Portugal and Italy acquired major African zones through conquest and negotiated delimitation after Berlin. C. Ethiopia defeated Italy at Adwa in 1896, proving that European conquest was contingent rather than automatic. D. By 1914 Ethiopia and Liberia remained independent while most of Africa had been partitioned.

Answer: A. Explanation: The Conference recognised the Congo Free State under Leopold II, illustrating the overlap of private profit, sovereignty and imperial violence. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q42. Which chronology card should be filed under Congo Free State and Leopold II?

A. By 1914 Ethiopia and Liberia remained independent while most of Africa had been partitioned. B. The Conference recognised the Congo Free State under Leopold II, illustrating the overlap of private profit, sovereignty and imperial violence. C. Zulu resistance and Samori Ture's prolonged West African campaigns demonstrate organised African military agency. D. Ethiopia defeated Italy at Adwa in 1896, proving that European conquest was contingent rather than automatic.

Answer: B. Explanation: The Conference recognised the Congo Free State under Leopold II, illustrating the overlap of private profit, sovereignty and imperial violence. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q43. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Congo Free State and Leopold II?

A. German suppression in South West Africa became the genocide of the Herero and Nama between 1904 and 1908. B. Zulu resistance and Samori Ture's prolonged West African campaigns demonstrate organised African military agency. C. The Conference recognised the Congo Free State under Leopold II, illustrating the overlap of private profit, sovereignty and imperial violence. D. Ethiopia defeated Italy at Adwa in 1896, proving that European conquest was contingent rather than automatic.

Answer: C. Explanation: The Conference recognised the Congo Free State under Leopold II, illustrating the overlap of private profit, sovereignty and imperial violence. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q44. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Congo Free State and Leopold II?

A. The Maji Maji uprising in German East Africa from 1905 to 1907 showed mass resistance continuing after formal conquest. B. German suppression in South West Africa became the genocide of the Herero and Nama between 1904 and 1908. C. Zulu resistance and Samori Ture's prolonged West African campaigns demonstrate organised African military agency. D. The Conference recognised the Congo Free State under Leopold II, illustrating the overlap of private profit, sovereignty and imperial violence.

Answer: D. Explanation: The Conference recognised the Congo Free State under Leopold II, illustrating the overlap of private profit, sovereignty and imperial violence. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q45. Which statement correctly identifies Partition pattern?

A. Britain, France, Belgium, Germany, Portugal and Italy acquired major African zones through conquest and negotiated delimitation after Berlin. B. By 1914 Ethiopia and Liberia remained independent while most of Africa had been partitioned. C. Ethiopia defeated Italy at Adwa in 1896, proving that European conquest was contingent rather than automatic. D. Zulu resistance and Samori Ture's prolonged West African campaigns demonstrate organised African military agency.

Answer: A. Explanation: Britain, France, Belgium, Germany, Portugal and Italy acquired major African zones through conquest and negotiated delimitation after Berlin. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q46. Which chronology card should be filed under Partition pattern?

A. Zulu resistance and Samori Ture's prolonged West African campaigns demonstrate organised African military agency. B. Britain, France, Belgium, Germany, Portugal and Italy acquired major African zones through conquest and negotiated delimitation after Berlin. C. Ethiopia defeated Italy at Adwa in 1896, proving that European conquest was contingent rather than automatic. D. German suppression in South West Africa became the genocide of the Herero and Nama between 1904 and 1908.

Answer: B. Explanation: Britain, France, Belgium, Germany, Portugal and Italy acquired major African zones through conquest and negotiated delimitation after Berlin. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q47. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Partition pattern?

A. Zulu resistance and Samori Ture's prolonged West African campaigns demonstrate organised African military agency. B. The Maji Maji uprising in German East Africa from 1905 to 1907 showed mass resistance continuing after formal conquest. C. Britain, France, Belgium, Germany, Portugal and Italy acquired major African zones through conquest and negotiated delimitation after Berlin. D. German suppression in South West Africa became the genocide of the Herero and Nama between 1904 and 1908.

Answer: C. Explanation: Britain, France, Belgium, Germany, Portugal and Italy acquired major African zones through conquest and negotiated delimitation after Berlin. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q48. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Partition pattern?

A. The Maji Maji uprising in German East Africa from 1905 to 1907 showed mass resistance continuing after formal conquest. B. Cash taxation, mines, plantations and labour obligations reorganised economies for export and altered migration, households and gendered work. C. German suppression in South West Africa became the genocide of the Herero and Nama between 1904 and 1908. D. Britain, France, Belgium, Germany, Portugal and Italy acquired major African zones through conquest and negotiated delimitation after Berlin.

Answer: D. Explanation: Britain, France, Belgium, Germany, Portugal and Italy acquired major African zones through conquest and negotiated delimitation after Berlin. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q49. Which statement correctly identifies Ethiopia and Liberia in 1914?

A. By 1914 Ethiopia and Liberia remained independent while most of Africa had been partitioned. B. German suppression in South West Africa became the genocide of the Herero and Nama between 1904 and 1908. C. Zulu resistance and Samori Ture's prolonged West African campaigns demonstrate organised African military agency. D. Ethiopia defeated Italy at Adwa in 1896, proving that European conquest was contingent rather than automatic.

Answer: A. Explanation: By 1914 Ethiopia and Liberia remained independent while most of Africa had been partitioned. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q50. Which chronology card should be filed under Ethiopia and Liberia in 1914?

A. The Maji Maji uprising in German East Africa from 1905 to 1907 showed mass resistance continuing after formal conquest. B. By 1914 Ethiopia and Liberia remained independent while most of Africa had been partitioned. C. Zulu resistance and Samori Ture's prolonged West African campaigns demonstrate organised African military agency. D. German suppression in South West Africa became the genocide of the Herero and Nama between 1904 and 1908.

Answer: B. Explanation: By 1914 Ethiopia and Liberia remained independent while most of Africa had been partitioned. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q51. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Ethiopia and Liberia in 1914?

A. The Maji Maji uprising in German East Africa from 1905 to 1907 showed mass resistance continuing after formal conquest. B. German suppression in South West Africa became the genocide of the Herero and Nama between 1904 and 1908. C. By 1914 Ethiopia and Liberia remained independent while most of Africa had been partitioned. D. Cash taxation, mines, plantations and labour obligations reorganised economies for export and altered migration, households and gendered work.

Answer: C. Explanation: By 1914 Ethiopia and Liberia remained independent while most of Africa had been partitioned. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q52. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Ethiopia and Liberia in 1914?

A. Cash taxation, mines, plantations and labour obligations reorganised economies for export and altered migration, households and gendered work. B. Boundaries rarely followed existing political realities, while colonial administrations hardened identities and reshaped authority through selected chiefs and intermediaries. C. The Maji Maji uprising in German East Africa from 1905 to 1907 showed mass resistance continuing after formal conquest. D. By 1914 Ethiopia and Liberia remained independent while most of Africa had been partitioned.

Answer: D. Explanation: By 1914 Ethiopia and Liberia remained independent while most of Africa had been partitioned. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q53. Which statement correctly identifies Adwa, 1896?

A. Ethiopia defeated Italy at Adwa in 1896, proving that European conquest was contingent rather than automatic. B. German suppression in South West Africa became the genocide of the Herero and Nama between 1904 and 1908. C. The Maji Maji uprising in German East Africa from 1905 to 1907 showed mass resistance continuing after formal conquest. D. Zulu resistance and Samori Ture's prolonged West African campaigns demonstrate organised African military agency.

Answer: A. Explanation: Ethiopia defeated Italy at Adwa in 1896, proving that European conquest was contingent rather than automatic. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q54. Which chronology card should be filed under Adwa, 1896?

A. The Maji Maji uprising in German East Africa from 1905 to 1907 showed mass resistance continuing after formal conquest. B. Ethiopia defeated Italy at Adwa in 1896, proving that European conquest was contingent rather than automatic. C. German suppression in South West Africa became the genocide of the Herero and Nama between 1904 and 1908. D. Cash taxation, mines, plantations and labour obligations reorganised economies for export and altered migration, households and gendered work.

Answer: B. Explanation: Ethiopia defeated Italy at Adwa in 1896, proving that European conquest was contingent rather than automatic. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q55. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Adwa, 1896?

A. The Maji Maji uprising in German East Africa from 1905 to 1907 showed mass resistance continuing after formal conquest. B. Boundaries rarely followed existing political realities, while colonial administrations hardened identities and reshaped authority through selected chiefs and intermediaries. C. Ethiopia defeated Italy at Adwa in 1896, proving that European conquest was contingent rather than automatic. D. Cash taxation, mines, plantations and labour obligations reorganised economies for export and altered migration, households and gendered work.

Answer: C. Explanation: Ethiopia defeated Italy at Adwa in 1896, proving that European conquest was contingent rather than automatic. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q56. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Adwa, 1896?

A. Cash taxation, mines, plantations and labour obligations reorganised economies for export and altered migration, households and gendered work. B. Boundaries rarely followed existing political realities, while colonial administrations hardened identities and reshaped authority through selected chiefs and intermediaries. C. African societies resisted, negotiated, collaborated and adapted; Berlin was a legitimising rulebook and accelerator, not a complete cartographic act. D. Ethiopia defeated Italy at Adwa in 1896, proving that European conquest was contingent rather than automatic.

Answer: D. Explanation: Ethiopia defeated Italy at Adwa in 1896, proving that European conquest was contingent rather than automatic. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q57. Which statement correctly identifies Zulu and Samori Ture resistance?

A. Zulu resistance and Samori Ture's prolonged West African campaigns demonstrate organised African military agency. B. German suppression in South West Africa became the genocide of the Herero and Nama between 1904 and 1908. C. The Maji Maji uprising in German East Africa from 1905 to 1907 showed mass resistance continuing after formal conquest. D. Cash taxation, mines, plantations and labour obligations reorganised economies for export and altered migration, households and gendered work.

Answer: A. Explanation: Zulu resistance and Samori Ture's prolonged West African campaigns demonstrate organised African military agency. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q58. Which chronology card should be filed under Zulu and Samori Ture resistance?

A. Cash taxation, mines, plantations and labour obligations reorganised economies for export and altered migration, households and gendered work. B. Zulu resistance and Samori Ture's prolonged West African campaigns demonstrate organised African military agency. C. The Maji Maji uprising in German East Africa from 1905 to 1907 showed mass resistance continuing after formal conquest. D. Boundaries rarely followed existing political realities, while colonial administrations hardened identities and reshaped authority through selected chiefs and intermediaries.

Answer: B. Explanation: Zulu resistance and Samori Ture's prolonged West African campaigns demonstrate organised African military agency. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q59. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Zulu and Samori Ture resistance?

A. African societies resisted, negotiated, collaborated and adapted; Berlin was a legitimising rulebook and accelerator, not a complete cartographic act. B. Cash taxation, mines, plantations and labour obligations reorganised economies for export and altered migration, households and gendered work. C. Zulu resistance and Samori Ture's prolonged West African campaigns demonstrate organised African military agency. D. Boundaries rarely followed existing political realities, while colonial administrations hardened identities and reshaped authority through selected chiefs and intermediaries.

Answer: C. Explanation: Zulu resistance and Samori Ture's prolonged West African campaigns demonstrate organised African military agency. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q60. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Zulu and Samori Ture resistance?

A. African societies resisted, negotiated, collaborated and adapted; Berlin was a legitimising rulebook and accelerator, not a complete cartographic act. B. Boundaries rarely followed existing political realities, while colonial administrations hardened identities and reshaped authority through selected chiefs and intermediaries. C. New Imperialism was the late-nineteenth-century shift from limited coastal influence toward aggressive direct political control of inland territory by industrial powers. D. Zulu resistance and Samori Ture's prolonged West African campaigns demonstrate organised African military agency.

Answer: D. Explanation: Zulu resistance and Samori Ture's prolonged West African campaigns demonstrate organised African military agency. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q61. Which statement correctly identifies Herero and Nama genocide, 1904-08?

A. German suppression in South West Africa became the genocide of the Herero and Nama between 1904 and 1908. B. Cash taxation, mines, plantations and labour obligations reorganised economies for export and altered migration, households and gendered work. C. Boundaries rarely followed existing political realities, while colonial administrations hardened identities and reshaped authority through selected chiefs and intermediaries. D. The Maji Maji uprising in German East Africa from 1905 to 1907 showed mass resistance continuing after formal conquest.

Answer: A. Explanation: German suppression in South West Africa became the genocide of the Herero and Nama between 1904 and 1908. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q62. Which chronology card should be filed under Herero and Nama genocide, 1904-08?

A. Boundaries rarely followed existing political realities, while colonial administrations hardened identities and reshaped authority through selected chiefs and intermediaries. B. German suppression in South West Africa became the genocide of the Herero and Nama between 1904 and 1908. C. Cash taxation, mines, plantations and labour obligations reorganised economies for export and altered migration, households and gendered work. D. African societies resisted, negotiated, collaborated and adapted; Berlin was a legitimising rulebook and accelerator, not a complete cartographic act.

Answer: B. Explanation: German suppression in South West Africa became the genocide of the Herero and Nama between 1904 and 1908. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q63. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Herero and Nama genocide, 1904-08?

A. African societies resisted, negotiated, collaborated and adapted; Berlin was a legitimising rulebook and accelerator, not a complete cartographic act. B. New Imperialism was the late-nineteenth-century shift from limited coastal influence toward aggressive direct political control of inland territory by industrial powers. C. German suppression in South West Africa became the genocide of the Herero and Nama between 1904 and 1908. D. Boundaries rarely followed existing political realities, while colonial administrations hardened identities and reshaped authority through selected chiefs and intermediaries.

Answer: C. Explanation: German suppression in South West Africa became the genocide of the Herero and Nama between 1904 and 1908. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q64. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Herero and Nama genocide, 1904-08?

A. African societies resisted, negotiated, collaborated and adapted; Berlin was a legitimising rulebook and accelerator, not a complete cartographic act. B. Britannica's figures place about ten per cent of African territory under European control in the 1870s and about ninety per cent by 1914. C. New Imperialism was the late-nineteenth-century shift from limited coastal influence toward aggressive direct political control of inland territory by industrial powers. D. German suppression in South West Africa became the genocide of the Herero and Nama between 1904 and 1908.

Answer: D. Explanation: German suppression in South West Africa became the genocide of the Herero and Nama between 1904 and 1908. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q65. Which statement correctly identifies Maji Maji, 1905-07?

A. The Maji Maji uprising in German East Africa from 1905 to 1907 showed mass resistance continuing after formal conquest. B. Cash taxation, mines, plantations and labour obligations reorganised economies for export and altered migration, households and gendered work. C. African societies resisted, negotiated, collaborated and adapted; Berlin was a legitimising rulebook and accelerator, not a complete cartographic act. D. Boundaries rarely followed existing political realities, while colonial administrations hardened identities and reshaped authority through selected chiefs and intermediaries.

Answer: A. Explanation: The Maji Maji uprising in German East Africa from 1905 to 1907 showed mass resistance continuing after formal conquest. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q66. Which chronology card should be filed under Maji Maji, 1905-07?

A. Boundaries rarely followed existing political realities, while colonial administrations hardened identities and reshaped authority through selected chiefs and intermediaries. B. The Maji Maji uprising in German East Africa from 1905 to 1907 showed mass resistance continuing after formal conquest. C. African societies resisted, negotiated, collaborated and adapted; Berlin was a legitimising rulebook and accelerator, not a complete cartographic act. D. New Imperialism was the late-nineteenth-century shift from limited coastal influence toward aggressive direct political control of inland territory by industrial powers.

Answer: B. Explanation: The Maji Maji uprising in German East Africa from 1905 to 1907 showed mass resistance continuing after formal conquest. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q67. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Maji Maji, 1905-07?

A. African societies resisted, negotiated, collaborated and adapted; Berlin was a legitimising rulebook and accelerator, not a complete cartographic act. B. New Imperialism was the late-nineteenth-century shift from limited coastal influence toward aggressive direct political control of inland territory by industrial powers. C. The Maji Maji uprising in German East Africa from 1905 to 1907 showed mass resistance continuing after formal conquest. D. Britannica's figures place about ten per cent of African territory under European control in the 1870s and about ninety per cent by 1914.

Answer: C. Explanation: The Maji Maji uprising in German East Africa from 1905 to 1907 showed mass resistance continuing after formal conquest. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q68. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Maji Maji, 1905-07?

A. The Suez Canal opened in 1869 and increased the strategic value of Egypt, African routes and access to Asia. B. Britannica's figures place about ten per cent of African territory under European control in the 1870s and about ninety per cent by 1914. C. New Imperialism was the late-nineteenth-century shift from limited coastal influence toward aggressive direct political control of inland territory by industrial powers. D. The Maji Maji uprising in German East Africa from 1905 to 1907 showed mass resistance continuing after formal conquest.

Answer: D. Explanation: The Maji Maji uprising in German East Africa from 1905 to 1907 showed mass resistance continuing after formal conquest. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q69. Which statement correctly identifies Extraction and labour restructuring?

A. Cash taxation, mines, plantations and labour obligations reorganised economies for export and altered migration, households and gendered work. B. African societies resisted, negotiated, collaborated and adapted; Berlin was a legitimising rulebook and accelerator, not a complete cartographic act. C. Boundaries rarely followed existing political realities, while colonial administrations hardened identities and reshaped authority through selected chiefs and intermediaries. D. New Imperialism was the late-nineteenth-century shift from limited coastal influence toward aggressive direct political control of inland territory by industrial powers.

Answer: A. Explanation: Cash taxation, mines, plantations and labour obligations reorganised economies for export and altered migration, households and gendered work. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q70. Which chronology card should be filed under Extraction and labour restructuring?

A. New Imperialism was the late-nineteenth-century shift from limited coastal influence toward aggressive direct political control of inland territory by industrial powers. B. Cash taxation, mines, plantations and labour obligations reorganised economies for export and altered migration, households and gendered work. C. African societies resisted, negotiated, collaborated and adapted; Berlin was a legitimising rulebook and accelerator, not a complete cartographic act. D. Britannica's figures place about ten per cent of African territory under European control in the 1870s and about ninety per cent by 1914.

Answer: B. Explanation: Cash taxation, mines, plantations and labour obligations reorganised economies for export and altered migration, households and gendered work. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q71. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Extraction and labour restructuring?

A. Britannica's figures place about ten per cent of African territory under European control in the 1870s and about ninety per cent by 1914. B. The Suez Canal opened in 1869 and increased the strategic value of Egypt, African routes and access to Asia. C. Cash taxation, mines, plantations and labour obligations reorganised economies for export and altered migration, households and gendered work. D. New Imperialism was the late-nineteenth-century shift from limited coastal influence toward aggressive direct political control of inland territory by industrial powers.

Answer: C. Explanation: Cash taxation, mines, plantations and labour obligations reorganised economies for export and altered migration, households and gendered work. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q72. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Extraction and labour restructuring?

A. Britain occupied Egypt in 1882, showing how financial and strategic entanglement could become direct imperial control. B. Britannica's figures place about ten per cent of African territory under European control in the 1870s and about ninety per cent by 1914. C. The Suez Canal opened in 1869 and increased the strategic value of Egypt, African routes and access to Asia. D. Cash taxation, mines, plantations and labour obligations reorganised economies for export and altered migration, households and gendered work.

Answer: D. Explanation: Cash taxation, mines, plantations and labour obligations reorganised economies for export and altered migration, households and gendered work. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q73. Which statement correctly identifies Colonial borders and authority?

A. Boundaries rarely followed existing political realities, while colonial administrations hardened identities and reshaped authority through selected chiefs and intermediaries. B. African societies resisted, negotiated, collaborated and adapted; Berlin was a legitimising rulebook and accelerator, not a complete cartographic act. C. Britannica's figures place about ten per cent of African territory under European control in the 1870s and about ninety per cent by 1914. D. New Imperialism was the late-nineteenth-century shift from limited coastal influence toward aggressive direct political control of inland territory by industrial powers.

Answer: A. Explanation: Boundaries rarely followed existing political realities, while colonial administrations hardened identities and reshaped authority through selected chiefs and intermediaries. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q74. Which chronology card should be filed under Colonial borders and authority?

A. Britannica's figures place about ten per cent of African territory under European control in the 1870s and about ninety per cent by 1914. B. Boundaries rarely followed existing political realities, while colonial administrations hardened identities and reshaped authority through selected chiefs and intermediaries. C. The Suez Canal opened in 1869 and increased the strategic value of Egypt, African routes and access to Asia. D. New Imperialism was the late-nineteenth-century shift from limited coastal influence toward aggressive direct political control of inland territory by industrial powers.

Answer: B. Explanation: Boundaries rarely followed existing political realities, while colonial administrations hardened identities and reshaped authority through selected chiefs and intermediaries. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q75. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Colonial borders and authority?

A. Britannica's figures place about ten per cent of African territory under European control in the 1870s and about ninety per cent by 1914. B. Britain occupied Egypt in 1882, showing how financial and strategic entanglement could become direct imperial control. C. Boundaries rarely followed existing political realities, while colonial administrations hardened identities and reshaped authority through selected chiefs and intermediaries. D. The Suez Canal opened in 1869 and increased the strategic value of Egypt, African routes and access to Asia.

Answer: C. Explanation: Boundaries rarely followed existing political realities, while colonial administrations hardened identities and reshaped authority through selected chiefs and intermediaries. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q76. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Colonial borders and authority?

A. Industrial powers sought raw materials, markets and investment opportunities, while actual metropolitan profit remained uneven and concentrated. B. The Suez Canal opened in 1869 and increased the strategic value of Egypt, African routes and access to Asia. C. Britain occupied Egypt in 1882, showing how financial and strategic entanglement could become direct imperial control. D. Boundaries rarely followed existing political realities, while colonial administrations hardened identities and reshaped authority through selected chiefs and intermediaries.

Answer: D. Explanation: Boundaries rarely followed existing political realities, while colonial administrations hardened identities and reshaped authority through selected chiefs and intermediaries. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q77. Which statement correctly identifies African agency and the Berlin verdict?

A. African societies resisted, negotiated, collaborated and adapted; Berlin was a legitimising rulebook and accelerator, not a complete cartographic act. B. New Imperialism was the late-nineteenth-century shift from limited coastal influence toward aggressive direct political control of inland territory by industrial powers. C. Britannica's figures place about ten per cent of African territory under European control in the 1870s and about ninety per cent by 1914. D. The Suez Canal opened in 1869 and increased the strategic value of Egypt, African routes and access to Asia.

Answer: A. Explanation: African societies resisted, negotiated, collaborated and adapted; Berlin was a legitimising rulebook and accelerator, not a complete cartographic act. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q78. Which chronology card should be filed under African agency and the Berlin verdict?

A. Britannica's figures place about ten per cent of African territory under European control in the 1870s and about ninety per cent by 1914. B. African societies resisted, negotiated, collaborated and adapted; Berlin was a legitimising rulebook and accelerator, not a complete cartographic act. C. Britain occupied Egypt in 1882, showing how financial and strategic entanglement could become direct imperial control. D. The Suez Canal opened in 1869 and increased the strategic value of Egypt, African routes and access to Asia.

Answer: B. Explanation: African societies resisted, negotiated, collaborated and adapted; Berlin was a legitimising rulebook and accelerator, not a complete cartographic act. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q79. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of African agency and the Berlin verdict?

A. Britain occupied Egypt in 1882, showing how financial and strategic entanglement could become direct imperial control. B. Industrial powers sought raw materials, markets and investment opportunities, while actual metropolitan profit remained uneven and concentrated. C. African societies resisted, negotiated, collaborated and adapted; Berlin was a legitimising rulebook and accelerator, not a complete cartographic act. D. The Suez Canal opened in 1869 and increased the strategic value of Egypt, African routes and access to Asia.

Answer: C. Explanation: African societies resisted, negotiated, collaborated and adapted; Berlin was a legitimising rulebook and accelerator, not a complete cartographic act. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q80. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about African agency and the Berlin verdict?

A. Industrial powers sought raw materials, markets and investment opportunities, while actual metropolitan profit remained uneven and concentrated. B. National prestige and great-power rivalry accelerated the scramble, especially as recently unified Germany and Italy sought colonial status. C. Britain occupied Egypt in 1882, showing how financial and strategic entanglement could become direct imperial control. D. African societies resisted, negotiated, collaborated and adapted; Berlin was a legitimising rulebook and accelerator, not a complete cartographic act.

Answer: D. Explanation: African societies resisted, negotiated, collaborated and adapted; Berlin was a legitimising rulebook and accelerator, not a complete cartographic act. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

PYQS AND ANSWER PRACTICE

TRANSPARENT ZERO-DIRECT-PYQ AUDIT

No direct UPSC PYQ is verified as owned solely by this topic in the local 2018-2025 routing blocks. Owner probable questions remain original practice.

ORIGINAL MAINS 1 - 10 MARKS

Question: What made late-nineteenth-century imperialism new? Answer in about 150 words.

Model thesis: Its speed, inland territorial reach, industrial-strategic drivers and formal rules of effective occupation distinguished it from earlier coastal influence.

Claim -> named evidence -> analysis -> qualification:

- New Imperialism was the late-nineteenth-century shift from limited coastal influence toward aggressive direct political control of inland territory by industrial powers.
- Britannica's figures place about ten per cent of African territory under European control in the 1870s and about ninety per cent by 1914.
- Industrial powers sought raw materials, markets and investment opportunities, while actual metropolitan profit remained uneven and concentrated.
- The Berlin General Act required effective occupation for recognition, standardising the rules of competition rather than drawing every African border at one meeting.

Qualified conclusion: Its speed, inland territorial reach, industrial-strategic drivers and formal rules of effective occupation distinguished it from earlier coastal influence.

Demand decoding: The directive answer requires a direct position on "What made late-nineteenth-century imperialism new? Answer in about 150 words.", every clause and time boundary, chronological-causal organisation, named evidence, a counter-position and a qualified global verdict.

Detailed examiner-grade model status: The solved content above is the executable answer base. Preserve its thesis, named chronology, spatial evidence, causal mechanism, counter-position and qualification rather than replacing it with a generic narrative.

Executable exam-length answer / compression plan: For a 10-mark answer, open with a two-sentence thesis and a spatial-temporal frame; organise three named events, treaties, actors, regions, institutions or attributed interpretations as claim -> evidence -> analysis -> qualification; reserve the final lines for a graded conclusion.

Why this earns marks: The answer obeys the directive, distinguishes structure, trigger and outcome, connects evidence to mechanism, includes non-European agency and avoids teleology, presentism and monocausal explanation.

How to improve this answer: For "What made late-nineteenth-century imperialism new? Answer in about 150 words.", replace the weakest generalisation with one additional named treaty, regional case, primary record or attributed scholarly position and state what that evidence cannot prove.

Detailed examiner-grade model answer:

Introduction and thesis: Its speed, inland territorial reach, industrial-strategic drivers and formal rules of effective occupation distinguished it from earlier coastal influence.

Analytical body:

1. Claim and named evidence: New Imperialism was the late-nineteenth-century shift from limited coastal influence toward aggressive direct political control of inland territory by industrial powers. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
2. Claim and named evidence: Britannica's figures place about ten per cent of African territory under European control in the 1870s and about ninety per cent by 1914. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
3. Claim and named evidence: Industrial powers sought raw materials, markets and investment opportunities, while actual metropolitan profit remained uneven and concentrated. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
4. Claim and named evidence: The Berlin General Act required effective occupation for recognition, standardising the rules of competition rather than drawing every African border at one meeting. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.

Counter-position / limit: No single actor, battle, treaty, ideology or economic pressure should be made sufficient where the evidence shows interaction among structures, triggers, agency and uneven regional outcomes.

Qualified conclusion: Its speed, inland territorial reach, industrial-strategic drivers and formal rules of effective occupation distinguished it from earlier coastal influence.

ORIGINAL MAINS 2 - 10 MARKS

Question: How far was the Berlin Conference responsible for partition? Answer in about 150 words.

Model thesis: Berlin legitimised claims and standardised effective occupation, accelerating conquest, but actual borders emerged through later force and bargaining.

Claim -> named evidence -> analysis -> qualification:

- The Berlin Conference met from 15 November 1884 to 26 February 1885 with representatives of fourteen countries.
- The Berlin General Act required effective occupation for recognition, standardising the rules of competition rather than drawing every African border at one meeting.
- The Conference recognised the Congo Free State under Leopold II, illustrating the overlap of private profit, sovereignty and imperial violence.
- African societies resisted, negotiated, collaborated and adapted; Berlin was a legitimising rulebook and accelerator, not a complete cartographic act.

Qualified conclusion: Berlin legitimised claims and standardised effective occupation, accelerating conquest, but actual borders emerged through later force and bargaining.

Demand decoding: The directive answer requires a direct position on "How far was the Berlin Conference responsible for partition? Answer in about 150 words.", every clause and time boundary, chronological-causal organisation, named evidence, a counter-position and a qualified global verdict.

Detailed examiner-grade model status: The solved content above is the executable answer base. Preserve its thesis, named chronology, spatial evidence, causal mechanism, counter-position and qualification rather than replacing it with a generic narrative.

Executable exam-length answer / compression plan: For a 10-mark answer, open with a two-sentence thesis and a spatial-temporal frame; organise three named events, treaties, actors, regions, institutions or attributed interpretations as claim -> evidence -> analysis -> qualification; reserve the final lines for a graded conclusion.

Why this earns marks: The answer obeys the directive, distinguishes structure, trigger and outcome, connects evidence to mechanism, includes non-European agency and avoids teleology, presentism and monocausal explanation.

How to improve this answer: For “How far was the Berlin Conference responsible for partition? Answer in about 150 words.”, replace the weakest generalisation with one additional named treaty, regional case, primary record or attributed scholarly position and state what that evidence cannot prove.

Detailed examiner-grade model answer:

Introduction and thesis: Berlin legitimised claims and standardised effective occupation, accelerating conquest, but actual borders emerged through later force and bargaining.

Analytical body:

1. Claim and named evidence: The Berlin Conference met from 15 November 1884 to 26 February 1885 with representatives of fourteen countries. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
2. Claim and named evidence: The Berlin General Act required effective occupation for recognition, standardising the rules of competition rather than drawing every African border at one meeting. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
3. Claim and named evidence: The Conference recognised the Congo Free State under Leopold II, illustrating the overlap of private profit, sovereignty and imperial violence. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
4. Claim and named evidence: African societies resisted, negotiated, collaborated and adapted; Berlin was a legitimising rulebook and accelerator, not a complete cartographic act. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.

Counter-position / limit: No single actor, battle, treaty, ideology or economic pressure should be made sufficient where the evidence shows interaction among structures, triggers, agency and uneven regional outcomes.

Qualified conclusion: Berlin legitimised claims and standardised effective occupation, accelerating conquest, but actual borders emerged through later force and bargaining.

ORIGINAL MAINS 3 - 15 MARKS

Question: Explain the causes of the Scramble for Africa. Answer in about 250 words.

Model thesis: Industrial demand and strategy supplied structural incentives, prestige set the pace, technology enabled conquest and racial ideology legitimised it.

Claim -> named evidence -> analysis -> qualification:

- The Suez Canal opened in 1869 and increased the strategic value of Egypt, African routes and access to Asia.
- Britain occupied Egypt in 1882, showing how financial and strategic entanglement could become direct imperial control.
- Industrial powers sought raw materials, markets and investment opportunities, while actual metropolitan profit remained uneven and concentrated.
- National prestige and great-power rivalry accelerated the scramble, especially as recently unified Germany and Italy sought colonial status.
- Steam transport, improved weapons and medicines increased European reach; technology supplied capability, not motive.
- Civilising rhetoric and racial superiority supplied domestic legitimation while coexisting with coercion, extraction and atrocity.

Qualified conclusion: Industrial demand and strategy supplied structural incentives, prestige set the pace, technology enabled conquest and racial ideology legitimised it.

Demand decoding: The directive explain requires a direct position on “Explain the causes of the Scramble for Africa. Answer in about 250 words.”, every clause and time boundary, chronological-causal organisation, named evidence, a counter-position and a qualified global verdict.

Detailed examiner-grade model status: The solved content above is the executable answer base. Preserve its thesis, named chronology, spatial evidence, causal mechanism, counter-position and qualification rather than replacing it with a generic narrative.

Executable exam-length answer / compression plan: For a 15-mark answer, open with a two-sentence thesis and a spatial-temporal frame; organise five named events, treaties, actors, regions, institutions or attributed interpretations as claim -> evidence -> analysis -> qualification; reserve the final lines for a graded conclusion.

Why this earns marks: The answer obeys the directive, distinguishes structure, trigger and outcome, connects evidence to mechanism, includes non-European agency and avoids teleology, presentism and monocausal explanation.

How to improve this answer: For “Explain the causes of the Scramble for Africa. Answer in about 250 words.”, replace the weakest generalisation with one additional named treaty, regional case, primary record or attributed scholarly position and state what that evidence cannot prove.

Detailed examiner-grade model answer:

Introduction and thesis: Industrial demand and strategy supplied structural incentives, prestige set the pace, technology enabled conquest and racial ideology legitimised it.

Analytical body:

1. Claim and named evidence: The Suez Canal opened in 1869 and increased the strategic value of Egypt, African routes and access to Asia. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
2. Claim and named evidence: Britain occupied Egypt in 1882, showing how financial and strategic entanglement could become direct imperial control. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
3. Claim and named evidence: Industrial powers sought raw materials, markets and investment opportunities, while actual metropolitan profit remained uneven and concentrated. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
4. Claim and named evidence: National prestige and great-power rivalry accelerated the scramble, especially as recently unified Germany and Italy sought colonial status. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
5. Claim and named evidence: Steam transport, improved weapons and medicines increased European reach; technology supplied capability, not motive. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
6. Claim and named evidence: Civilising rhetoric and racial superiority supplied domestic legitimation while coexisting with coercion, extraction and atrocity. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.

Counter-position / limit: No single actor, battle, treaty, ideology or economic pressure should be made sufficient where the evidence shows interaction among structures, triggers, agency and uneven regional outcomes.

Qualified conclusion: Industrial demand and strategy supplied structural incentives, prestige set the pace, technology enabled conquest and racial ideology legitimised it.

ORIGINAL MAINS 4 - 15 MARKS

Question: Assess African agency during the Scramble. Answer in about 250 words.

Model thesis: African states and communities resisted, negotiated and adapted under unequal conditions; Adwa proves contingency while later revolts show conquest never ended opposition.

Claim -> named evidence -> analysis -> qualification:

- Ethiopia defeated Italy at Adwa in 1896, proving that European conquest was contingent rather than automatic.
- Zulu resistance and Samori Ture's prolonged West African campaigns demonstrate organised African military agency.
- The Maji Maji uprising in German East Africa from 1905 to 1907 showed mass resistance continuing after formal conquest.
- African societies resisted, negotiated, collaborated and adapted; Berlin was a legitimising rulebook and accelerator, not a complete cartographic act.

Qualified conclusion: African states and communities resisted, negotiated and adapted under unequal conditions; Adwa proves contingency while later revolts show conquest never ended opposition.

Demand decoding: The directive assess requires a direct position on "Assess African agency during the Scramble. Answer in about 250 words.", every clause and time boundary, chronological-causal organisation, named evidence, a counter-position and a qualified global verdict.

Detailed examiner-grade model status: The solved content above is the executable answer base. Preserve its thesis, named chronology, spatial evidence, causal mechanism, counter-position and qualification rather than replacing it with a generic narrative.

Executable exam-length answer / compression plan: For a 15-mark answer, open with a two-sentence thesis and a spatial-temporal frame; organise five named events, treaties, actors, regions, institutions or attributed interpretations as claim -> evidence -> analysis -> qualification; reserve the final lines for a graded conclusion.

Why this earns marks: The answer obeys the directive, distinguishes structure, trigger and outcome, connects evidence to mechanism, includes non-European agency and avoids teleology, presentism and monocausal explanation.

How to improve this answer: For "Assess African agency during the Scramble. Answer in about 250 words.", replace the weakest generalisation with one additional named treaty, regional case, primary record or attributed scholarly position and state what that evidence cannot prove.

Detailed examiner-grade model answer:

Introduction and thesis: African states and communities resisted, negotiated and adapted under unequal conditions; Adwa proves contingency while later revolts show conquest never ended opposition.

Analytical body:

1. Claim and named evidence: Ethiopia defeated Italy at Adwa in 1896, proving that European conquest was contingent rather than automatic. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
2. Claim and named evidence: Zulu resistance and Samori Ture's prolonged West African campaigns demonstrate organised African military agency. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
3. Claim and named evidence: The Maji Maji uprising in German East Africa from 1905 to 1907 showed mass resistance continuing after formal conquest. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
4. Claim and named evidence: African societies resisted, negotiated, collaborated and adapted; Berlin was a legitimising rulebook and accelerator, not a complete cartographic act. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.

Counter-position / limit: No single actor, battle, treaty, ideology or economic pressure should be made sufficient where the evidence shows interaction among structures, triggers, agency and uneven regional outcomes.

Qualified conclusion: African states and communities resisted, negotiated and adapted under unequal conditions; Adwa proves contingency while later revolts show conquest never ended opposition.

ORIGINAL MAINS 5 - 20 MARKS

Question: Analyse the social and economic consequences of New Imperialism in Africa. Answer in about 300 words.

Model thesis: Extraction, migrant labour, gendered household change, remade authority, hardened identities and imposed borders outlasted colonial rule.

Claim -> named evidence -> analysis -> qualification:

- German suppression in South West Africa became the genocide of the Herero and Nama between 1904 and 1908.
- The Maji Maji uprising in German East Africa from 1905 to 1907 showed mass resistance continuing after formal conquest.
- Cash taxation, mines, plantations and labour obligations reorganised economies for export and altered migration, households and gendered work.
- Boundaries rarely followed existing political realities, while colonial administrations hardened identities and reshaped authority through selected chiefs and intermediaries.

Qualified conclusion: Extraction, migrant labour, gendered household change, remade authority, hardened identities and imposed borders outlasted colonial rule.

Demand decoding: The directive analyse requires a direct position on “Analyse the social and economic consequences of New Imperialism in Africa. Answer in about...”, every clause and time boundary, chronological-causal organisation, named evidence, a counter-position and a qualified global verdict.

Detailed examiner-grade model status: The solved content above is the executable answer base. Preserve its thesis, named chronology, spatial evidence, causal mechanism, counter-position and qualification rather than replacing it with a generic narrative.

Executable exam-length answer / compression plan: For a 20-mark answer, open with a two-sentence thesis and a spatial-temporal frame; organise six to eight named events, treaties, actors, regions, institutions or attributed interpretations as claim -> evidence -> analysis -> qualification; reserve the final lines for a graded conclusion.

Why this earns marks: The answer obeys the directive, distinguishes structure, trigger and outcome, connects evidence to mechanism, includes non-European agency and avoids teleology, presentism and monocausal explanation.

How to improve this answer: For “Analyse the social and economic consequences of New Imperialism in Africa. Answer in about...”, replace the weakest generalisation with one additional named treaty, regional case, primary record or attributed scholarly position and state what that evidence cannot prove.

Detailed examiner-grade model answer:

Introduction and thesis: Extraction, migrant labour, gendered household change, remade authority, hardened identities and imposed borders outlasted colonial rule.

Analytical body:

1. Claim and named evidence: German suppression in South West Africa became the genocide of the Herero and Nama between 1904 and 1908. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
2. Claim and named evidence: The Maji Maji uprising in German East Africa from 1905 to 1907 showed mass resistance continuing after formal conquest. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.

3. Claim and named evidence: Cash taxation, mines, plantations and labour obligations reorganised economies for export and altered migration, households and gendered work. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
4. Claim and named evidence: Boundaries rarely followed existing political realities, while colonial administrations hardened identities and reshaped authority through selected chiefs and intermediaries. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.

Counter-position / limit: No single actor, battle, treaty, ideology or economic pressure should be made sufficient where the evidence shows interaction among structures, triggers, agency and uneven regional outcomes.

Qualified conclusion: Extraction, migrant labour, gendered household change, remade authority, hardened identities and imposed borders outlasted colonial rule.

ORIGINAL MAINS 6 - 20 MARKS

Question: The civilising mission concealed a coercive political economy. Critically examine. Answer in about 300 words.

Model thesis: Ideology performed real legitimising work, but Congo, forced labour, Herero-Nama genocide and Maji Maji expose the extraction and violence beneath it.

Claim -> named evidence -> analysis -> qualification:

- Civilising rhetoric and racial superiority supplied domestic legitimation while coexisting with coercion, extraction and atrocity.
- The Conference recognised the Congo Free State under Leopold II, illustrating the overlap of private profit, sovereignty and imperial violence.
- German suppression in South West Africa became the genocide of the Herero and Nama between 1904 and 1908.
- The Maji Maji uprising in German East Africa from 1905 to 1907 showed mass resistance continuing after formal conquest.
- Cash taxation, mines, plantations and labour obligations reorganised economies for export and altered migration, households and gendered work.

Qualified conclusion: Ideology performed real legitimising work, but Congo, forced labour, Herero-Nama genocide and Maji Maji expose the extraction and violence beneath it.

Demand decoding: The directive critically examine requires a direct position on “The civilising mission concealed a coercive political economy. Critically examine. Answer in...”, every clause and time boundary, chronological-causal organisation, named evidence, a counter-position and a qualified global verdict.

Detailed examiner-grade model status: The solved content above is the executable answer base. Preserve its thesis, named chronology, spatial evidence, causal mechanism, counter-position and qualification rather than replacing it with a generic narrative.

Executable exam-length answer / compression plan: For a 20-mark answer, open with a two-sentence thesis and a spatial-temporal frame; organise six to eight named events, treaties, actors, regions, institutions or attributed interpretations as claim -> evidence -> analysis -> qualification; reserve the final lines for a graded conclusion.

Why this earns marks: The answer obeys the directive, distinguishes structure, trigger and outcome, connects evidence to mechanism, includes non-European agency and avoids teleology, presentism and monocausal explanation.

How to improve this answer: For “The civilising mission concealed a coercive political economy. Critically examine. Answer in...”, replace the weakest generalisation with one additional named treaty, regional case, primary record or attributed scholarly position and state what that evidence cannot prove.

Detailed examiner-grade model answer:

Introduction and thesis: Ideology performed real legitimising work, but Congo, forced labour, Herero-Nama genocide and Maji Maji expose the extraction and violence beneath it.

Analytical body:

1. Claim and named evidence: Civilising rhetoric and racial superiority supplied domestic legitimisation while coexisting with coercion, extraction and atrocity. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
2. Claim and named evidence: The Conference recognised the Congo Free State under Leopold II, illustrating the overlap of private profit, sovereignty and imperial violence. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
3. Claim and named evidence: German suppression in South West Africa became the genocide of the Herero and Nama between 1904 and 1908. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
4. Claim and named evidence: The Maji Maji uprising in German East Africa from 1905 to 1907 showed mass resistance continuing after formal conquest. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
5. Claim and named evidence: Cash taxation, mines, plantations and labour obligations reorganised economies for export and altered migration, households and gendered work. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.

Counter-position / limit: No single actor, battle, treaty, ideology or economic pressure should be made sufficient where the evidence shows interaction among structures, triggers, agency and uneven regional outcomes.

Qualified conclusion: Ideology performed real legitimising work, but Congo, forced labour, Herero-Nama genocide and Maji Maji expose the extraction and violence beneath it.