

COMPLETE LEARNING SESSION

Scheduled Castes: Rights, Atrocities and Welfare - Learner-v2 Refreshed

UPSC complete learning session | Foundation to advanced | Concepts, evidence, practice and answer writing

Original deterministic study visual; labels are explanatory, not textual quotations.

Source order: repository knowledge -> official current linkage -> clearly marked analysis. No fabricated PYQs or statistics.

CONTENTS / SESSION INDEX

Major learning parts and meaningful subtopics are listed in document order. Page numbers are generated from the final PDF layout; PDF bookmarks mirror the same hierarchy.

Scheduled Castes: Rights, Atrocities and Welfare - Learner-v2 Complete Learning Session 6

SOURCE, PROGRESSION AND CURRENT-LINKAGE AUDIT 6

BASIC LEARNING SESSION 7

SESSION 1 - FOUNDATION - WHAT THE SCHEDULED CASTE OWNER HOLDS AND HOW IT IS EXAMINED 8

SESSION 2 - FOUNDATION - THE CONSTITUTIONAL AND STATUTORY BANK 10

SESSION 3 - FOUNDATION - THE ATROCITIES STATUTE AND WHAT COUNTS AS AN ATROCITY 12

SESSION 4 - CORE - THE INVESTIGATION, TRIAL AND RELIEF CHAIN 14

SESSION 5 - CORE - THE 2015 AMENDMENT AND THE COURT-NOTIFICATION DISCIPLINE 16

SESSION 6 - CORE - THE 2018 AMENDMENT AND THE ACT-COURT-AMENDMENT SEQUENCE 18

SESSION 7 - CORE - THE AMENDMENT SEQUENCE AS INSTITUTIONAL DIALOGUE 20

SESSION 8 - CORE - THE UMBRELLA DEVELOPMENT FRAMEWORK AND WHAT IT ACTUALLY IS 22

SESSION 9 - CORE - CREDIT, SCHOLARSHIP AND THE VERIFIED OFFICIAL ANCHOR 24

SESSION 10 - CORE - THE CONSTITUTIONAL STATUS OF THE SCHEDULED CASTE COMMISSION 26

SESSION 11 - CORE - THE 2024 SUB-CLASSIFICATION JUDGMENT AND ITS FOUR BOUNDARIES 28

SESSION 12 - CORE - WITHIN-CATEGORY HETEROGENEITY AND SCHEME CAPTURE 30

SESSION 13 - CORE SYNTHESIS - THE POLITICAL-ECONOMY TRADE-OFF OF SUB-CLASSIFICATION 32

SESSION 14 - CORE SYNTHESIS - REGISTERED DATA, DENOMINATORS AND THE DATED SCALE ANCHOR 34

SESSION 15 - CORE SYNTHESIS - INTERSECTIONALITY, MOBILITY AND THE HONEST OWNERSHIP STATEMENT . . 36

BASIC MCQS / REMEDIATION 42

Q1. Which statement correctly identifies What this owner holds and why its PYQ record is stated as zero? 42

Q2. Which chronology card should be filed under What this owner holds and why its PYQ record is stated as zero? 43

Q3. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of What this owner holds and why its PYQ record is stated as zero? 44

Q4. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about What this owner holds and why its PYQ record is stated as zero? . . . 45

Q5. Which statement correctly identifies The constitutional and statutory bank for a Scheduled Caste answer? 46

Q6. Which chronology card should be filed under The constitutional and statutory bank for a Scheduled Caste answer? . . . 46

Q7. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of The constitutional and statutory bank for a Scheduled Caste answer? 47

Q8. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about The constitutional and statutory bank for a Scheduled Caste answer? 48

Q9. Which statement correctly identifies The atrocities statute of 1989 as a special law? 49

Q10. Which chronology card should be filed under The atrocities statute of 1989 as a special law?	49
Q11. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of The atrocities statute of 1989 as a special law?	50
Q12. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about The atrocities statute of 1989 as a special law?	51
Q13. Which statement correctly identifies What counts as an atrocity and who may commit one?	51
Q14. Which chronology card should be filed under What counts as an atrocity and who may commit one?	52
Q15. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of What counts as an atrocity and who may commit one?	53
Q16. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about What counts as an atrocity and who may commit one?	54
Q17. Which statement correctly identifies The investigation, trial and relief route?	54
Q18. Which chronology card should be filed under The investigation, trial and relief route?	55
Q19. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of The investigation, trial and relief route?	56
Q20. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about The investigation, trial and relief route?	56
Q21. Which statement correctly identifies The 2015 amendment and the court-notification discipline?	57
Q22. Which chronology card should be filed under The 2015 amendment and the court-notification discipline?	58
Q23. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of The 2015 amendment and the court-notification discipline?	59
Q24. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about The 2015 amendment and the court-notification discipline?	59
Q25. Which statement correctly identifies The 2018 amendment and the Act-Court-Amendment sequence?	60
Q26. Which chronology card should be filed under The 2018 amendment and the Act-Court-Amendment sequence?	61
Q27. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of The 2018 amendment and the Act-Court-Amendment sequence?	62
Q28. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about The 2018 amendment and the Act-Court-Amendment sequence?	62
Q29. Which statement correctly identifies The sequence as institutional dialogue between legislature and judiciary?	63
Q30. Which chronology card should be filed under The sequence as institutional dialogue between legislature and judiciary?	64
Q31. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of The sequence as institutional dialogue between legislature and judiciary?	65
Q32. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about The sequence as institutional dialogue between legislature and judiciary?	65
Q33. Which statement correctly identifies The umbrella development framework and what it actually is?	66
Q34. Which chronology card should be filed under The umbrella development framework and what it actually is?	67
Q35. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of The umbrella development framework and what it actually is?	68
Q36. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about The umbrella development framework and what it actually is?	68
Q37. Which statement correctly identifies The concessional-credit corporation and its delivery route?	69
Q38. Which chronology card should be filed under The concessional-credit corporation and its delivery route?	70
Q39. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of The concessional-credit corporation and its delivery route?	71

Q40. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about The concessional-credit corporation and its delivery route?	71
Q41. Which statement correctly identifies The post-matriculation scholarship as a verified official anchor?	72
Q42. Which chronology card should be filed under The post-matriculation scholarship as a verified official anchor?	73
Q43. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of The post-matriculation scholarship as a verified official anchor?	74
Q44. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about The post-matriculation scholarship as a verified official anchor?	74
Q45. Which statement correctly identifies The commission for Scheduled Castes is a constitutional body?	75
Q46. Which chronology card should be filed under The commission for Scheduled Castes is a constitutional body?	76
Q47. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of The commission for Scheduled Castes is a constitutional body?	77
Q48. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about The commission for Scheduled Castes is a constitutional body?	77
Q49. Which statement correctly identifies The 2024 judgment on sub-classification and exactly what it decided?	78
Q50. Which chronology card should be filed under The 2024 judgment on sub-classification and exactly what it decided?	79
Q51. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of The 2024 judgment on sub-classification and exactly what it decided?	79
Q52. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about The 2024 judgment on sub-classification and exactly what it decided?	80
Q53. Which statement correctly identifies The creamy-layer observations were separate opinions and not a rule?	81
Q54. Which chronology card should be filed under The creamy-layer observations were separate opinions and not a rule?	81
Q55. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of The creamy-layer observations were separate opinions and not a rule?	82
Q56. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about The creamy-layer observations were separate opinions and not a rule?	83
Q57. Which statement correctly identifies Within-category heterogeneity and why flat schemes may miss the worst off?	83
Q58. Which chronology card should be filed under Within-category heterogeneity and why flat schemes may miss the worst off?	84
Q59. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Within-category heterogeneity and why flat schemes may miss the worst off?	85
Q60. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Within-category heterogeneity and why flat schemes may miss the worst off?	85
Q61. Which statement correctly identifies The political-economy trade-off of sub-classification?	86
Q62. Which chronology card should be filed under The political-economy trade-off of sub-classification?	87
Q63. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of The political-economy trade-off of sub-classification?	88
Q64. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about The political-economy trade-off of sub-classification?	88
Q65. Which statement correctly identifies What registered atrocity data measure and what they do not?	89
Q66. Which chronology card should be filed under What registered atrocity data measure and what they do not?	90

Q67. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of What registered atrocity data measure and what they do not?	91
Q68. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about What registered atrocity data measure and what they do not?	92
Q69. Which statement correctly identifies The scale anchor and how to use it?	92
Q70. Which chronology card should be filed under The scale anchor and how to use it?	93
Q71. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of The scale anchor and how to use it?	94
Q72. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about The scale anchor and how to use it?	95
Q73. Which statement correctly identifies Intersectionality and the mobility argument?	95
Q74. Which chronology card should be filed under Intersectionality and the mobility argument?	96
Q75. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Intersectionality and the mobility argument?	97
Q76. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Intersectionality and the mobility argument?	98
Q77. Which statement correctly identifies The zero-direct-PYQ audit stated openly?	98
Q78. Which chronology card should be filed under The zero-direct-PYQ audit stated openly?	99
Q79. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of The zero-direct-PYQ audit stated openly?	100
Q80. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about The zero-direct-PYQ audit stated openly?	101
PYQS AND ANSWER PRACTICE	102
TRANSPARENT ZERO-DIRECT-PYQ AUDIT	102
OWNER PYQ LEDGER EXTRACTS	102
ORIGINAL MAINS 1 - 10 MARKS	102
ORIGINAL MAINS 2 - 10 MARKS	103
ORIGINAL MAINS 3 - 15 MARKS	104
ORIGINAL MAINS 4 - 15 MARKS	105
ORIGINAL MAINS 5 - 20 MARKS	105
ORIGINAL MAINS 6 - 20 MARKS	106
OPTIONAL ADVANCED DEPTH - NOT REQUIRED FOR A CORE ANSWER	107
CONSOLIDATED REGISTER NOTES	112
Scheduled Castes: Rights, Atrocities and Welfare: RAPID RIGHT, SCHEME AND MEASURED-OUTCOME MAP	112
Scheduled Castes: Rights, Atrocities and Welfare: CLOSE-OPTION AND ENTITLEMENT TRAPS	115
Scheduled Castes: Rights, Atrocities and Welfare: ANSWER-WRITING SPINE	116
Scheduled Castes: Rights, Atrocities and Welfare: DATED-INDICATOR AND STATUS BOUNDARY	116
COMPLETE TOPIC ASCII MASTER FLOW DIAGRAM	117

Scheduled Castes: Rights, Atrocities and Welfare - Learner-v2 Complete Learning Session

Authoring-only generation: 2026-09-02. No PDF was rendered and no tracker or index was mutated.

SOURCE, PROGRESSION AND CURRENT-LINKAGE AUDIT

- Generation date: 2026-09-02.
- Repository-first evidence: the Basic owner is taught first and preserved in full; the Advanced owner is retained only in the optional final teaching block.
- OCR evidence: Repository Markdown was primary. The OCR-searchable official General Studies question papers held under books\mains and books\more_previous_papers were read only to confirm the printed wording of routed Mains demands. No official answer key, marking scheme, page precision or unsupported quotation was imported from them.
- Qdrant: not used; repository Markdown and available OCR context were sufficient.
- PYQ integrity: The audited routing ledgers route no General Studies Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner for the covered years, and that zero is reported openly rather than concealed or filled with a manufactured demand card. The four audited ledgers consulted are the Mains routing ledgers for 2018 to 2023 and for 2024 to 2025 and the Prelims routing ledgers for 2018 to 2023 and for 2024 to 2025, and neither the Basic owner nor the Advanced owner for this topic carries a generated previous-year integration block, which is itself consistent with that zero. The nearest neighbouring demand is the 2018 General Studies Paper II question on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions, and the audited 2018-2023 Mains routing ledger routes it to the Polity commissions owner, so no ownership is claimed over it here; the tribal demands are routed to the Indian Society and Modern History owners and the Scheduled Area and Fifth Schedule objective demands to the Polity owner, so none of those is claimed either. The Advanced owner records expressly that there is no direct recent Mains hit on Scheduled Caste atrocities and welfare and that the 2024 sub-classification judgment is a current anchor for a possible future demand, and this package adopts exactly that position: the judgment is taught as a current anchor and is not presented as evidence that a demand already exists. The practice in this package therefore consists of six original Mains questions with model solutions, each written to the repository's examiner-grade standard using the claim, named evidence, analysis and qualification pattern, together with eighty original objective questions on a strict A -> B -> C -> D rotation. Each model solution opens with its analytical claim so that the evidence which follows does argumentative rather than decorative work. The locally held OCR-searchable official General Studies papers were read only to confirm that no question on this owner's subject matter is routed here; no question was invented from them, no marking scheme or page precision was imported and no official answer key is claimed for any question anywhere in this package.
- Live-link boundary: One live official page was verified for this topic on 2026-09-02. The Department of Social Justice and Empowerment's own scheme page for the post-matric scholarship for students belonging to the Scheduled Castes, read on that date, records that the objective of the scheme is to appreciably increase the gross enrolment ratio of Scheduled Caste students in higher education with a focus on those from the poorest households by providing financial assistance at the post-matriculation or post-secondary stage to enable them to complete their education; that the scholarships are available for studies in India only; that awardees are selected by the State Government or Union Territory to which the applicant actually belongs according to the terms of domicile decided by that State; that the scheme applies to students who are currently beneficiaries as well as to fresh admissions; and that the complete scheme guidelines, revised in March 2021, are published on that page. Those statements are used only for what they say, and no coverage, disbursement, beneficiary or enrolment figure is inferred from them. Three further official checks were attempted on the same date, namely a ministry scheme identifier that returned a not-found page, a second ministry identifier that returned the same not-found page and a departmental landing page that returned navigational content only, so nothing was read or used from them and no secondary summary, coaching site or news report has been treated as an official source. The package therefore relies on the dated official anchors already carried by the repository owners, each cited with its issuing instrument or decision date: Articles 14 to 17, 23, 46, 330, 332 and 338 of the Constitution; the Protection of Civil Rights Act, 1955; the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 with its Special Court, victim-relief and presumption architecture and the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules, 1995 as amended; the 2015 amendment expanding the offence list, strengthening victim and witness rights and creating the Special and Exclusive Special Court architecture notified by States with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the concerned High Court; the 2018 amendment inserting Section 18A to remove the preliminary-inquiry and arrest-approval requirements and to restore the statutory bar on anticipatory bail, which overrode rather than implemented the judicial reading of that year, and the 2020 decision in Prathvi Raj Chauhan upholding Section 18A while preserving an exceptional constitutional-court remedy where no prima facie case is disclosed; the umbrella Scheduled Caste development framework of the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment with its model-village, approved district and State project and hostel-support channels; the National Scheduled Castes Finance and Development Corporation as a Government of India company lending through State channelising agencies; the decision in State of Punjab against Davinder Singh of 1 August 2024, a seven-judge Constitution Bench decision by a majority of six to one, which permitted data-supported sub-classification within the Scheduled Castes and overruled E.V. Chinnaiah without altering the Presidential List or allotting any sub-quota, and whose creamy-layer observations appeared in separate opinions and are not a legislated rule; the National Crime Records Bureau annual crime report as the primary official source for registered atrocity cases, with its recorded under-reporting and registration-practice limits; and the 2011 Census share of 16.6 per cent of India's population. No atrocity count, registration, pendency, conviction, disposal, beneficiary, sanction, loan, budget or expenditure figure is asserted, no National Family Health Survey, Periodic Labour Force Survey, NITI Aayog or Sustainable Development Goal value is asserted, no legal or constitutional provision is invented or upgraded in status, no judicial observation is converted into a binding holding or a legislated rule, and no previous-year question, official answer key or option is asserted or inferred.

- Fact/inference discipline: no current-affairs item, PYQ wording, figure or quotation is invented.

BASIC LEARNING SESSION

Refreshed teaching navigation

Distinct embedded teaching-navigation image. The separate continuous Cārvāka-style flowchart package remains an independent at-a-glance artifact.

SESSION 1 - FOUNDATION - WHAT THE SCHEDULED CASTE OWNER HOLDS AND HOW IT IS EXAMINED

DEFINITION / WHAT THIS IS CALLED

Plain-language definition: Evidence chain: What this owner holds and why its PYQ record is stated as zero Qualified use: Open a Scheduled Caste answer by naming the channel, protection or delivery, that the question actually tests.

Technical definition: Technically, FOUNDATION - What the Scheduled Caste owner holds and how it is examined is analysed by relating FOUNDATION to how it is examined, then testing the relationship through Evidence chain and Qualified use.

ANSWER-GRABBING OPENING - WRITE/ADAPT IN THE EXAM

Evidence chain: What this owner holds and why its PYQ record is stated as zero Qualified use: Open a Scheduled Caste answer by naming the channel, protection or delivery, that the question actually tests.

MUST-WRITE KEYWORDS

- FOUNDATION
- how it is examined
- Evidence chain
- Qualified use
- This
- Scheduled Caste

How to use them: Frame the answer through FOUNDATION; define how it is examined, connect Evidence chain with Qualified use to explain the mechanism, and use This for the decisive comparison or qualification.

VISUAL FIRST

WHAT THE SCHEDULED CASTE OWNER HOLDS AND HOW IT IS EXAMINED

01. What this owner holds and why its PYQ record is stated as zero

BOUNDARY -> The commissions demand of 2018 is routed to the Polity owner and reservation doctrine to the special-provisions owner.

This topic-specific rail fixes the evidence sequence and its exam boundary before analysis.

CORE EXPLANATION

This topic owns the Scheduled Caste half of the protection-and-welfare argument, namely the special atrocities law with its amendment sequence, the umbrella development framework, the concessional-credit corporation, the post-matriculation scholarship route and the within-category targeting debate opened by the 2024 sub-classification judgment; its distinctive feature is the honesty of its examination record, because the audited routing ledgers route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner for the covered years, and the nearest neighbouring demand, the 2018 General Studies Paper II question on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions, is routed by the ledger to the Polity commissions owner and is therefore not claimed here; reservation doctrine such as the ceiling and the creamy-layer rule for other backward classes is owned by the Polity special-provisions owner, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation question by the manual-scavenging owner.

NAMED EVIDENCE AND MECHANISM

- This topic owns the Scheduled Caste half of the protection-and-welfare argument, namely the special atrocities law with its amendment sequence, the umbrella development framework, the concessional-credit corporation, the post-matriculation scholarship route and the within-category targeting debate opened by the 2024 sub-classification judgment; its distinctive feature is the honesty of its examination record, because the audited routing ledgers route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner for the covered years, and the nearest neighbouring demand, the 2018 General Studies Paper II question on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions, is routed by the ledger to the Polity commissions owner and is therefore not claimed here; reservation doctrine such as the ceiling and the creamy-layer rule for other backward classes is owned by the Polity special-provisions owner, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation question by the manual-scavenging owner.

EXAMINER CAUTION

- The commissions demand of 2018 is routed to the Polity owner and reservation doctrine to the special-provisions owner.

EXAM LINK

- Prelims: Retain the exact statute, section, article, ministry, official category, survey round or dated edition attached to What the Scheduled Caste owner holds and how it is examined, and never upgrade a policy document into a statute or a targeted scheme into a universal entitlement.
- Mains: Open a Scheduled Caste answer by naming the channel, protection or delivery, that the question actually tests.

MINI RECAP

- Evidence chain: What this owner holds and why its PYQ record is stated as zero
- Qualified use: Open a Scheduled Caste answer by naming the channel, protection or delivery, that the question actually tests.

CLOSING RECALL FLOW - FOUNDATION - WHAT THE SCHEDULED CASTE OWNER HOLDS AND HOW IT IS EXAMINED

START / CONCEPT: FOUNDATION - What the Scheduled Caste owner holds and how it is examined

|
v

EXACT TERMS: FOUNDATION · how it is examined · Evidence chain · Qualified use · This · Scheduled Caste

|
v

MECHANISM / ARGUMENT: This topic owns the Scheduled Caste half of the protection-and-welfare argument, namely the special atrocities law with its amendment sequence, the umbrella development framework, the concessional-credit corporation, the post-matriculation scholarship route and the within-category targeting debate opened by the 2024 sub-classification judgment; its distinctive feature is the honesty of its examination record, because the audited routing ledgers route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner for the covered years, and the nearest neighbouring demand, the 2018 General Studies Paper II question on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions, is routed by the ledger to the Polity commissions owner and is therefore not claimed here; reservation doctrine such as the ceiling and the creamy-layer rule for other backward classes is owned by the Polity special-provisions owner, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation question by the manual-scavenging owner.

|
v

CONSEQUENCE / CONTRAST: Prelims: Retain the exact statute, section, article, ministry, official category, survey round or dated edition attached to What the Scheduled Caste owner holds and how it is examined, and never upgrade a policy document into a statute or a targeted scheme into a universal entitlement.

|
v

UPSC TRAP / ANSWER-USE: Do not miss this limiting distinction: the commissions demand of 2018 is routed to the Polity owner and reservation doctrine...

|
v

ANSWER-GRABBING FORMULATION: Evidence chain: What this owner holds and why its PYQ record is stated as zero Qualified use: Open a Scheduled Caste answer by naming the channel, protection or delivery, that the question actually tests.

SESSION 2 - FOUNDATION - THE CONSTITUTIONAL AND STATUTORY BANK

DEFINITION / WHAT THIS IS CALLED

Plain-language definition: The owners record the law bank as Articles 14 to 17, 23, 46, 330 and 332 and 338, where Article 15 and Article 16 permit special provision and reservation, Article 17 abolishes untouchability and makes its practice an offence, Article 23 prohibits forced labour and trafficking, Article 46 directs the State to promote with special care the educational and economic interests of the weaker sections and to protect them from social injustice and all forms of exploitation, Articles 330 and 332 reserve seats in the House of the People and in the State Assemblies, and Article 338 creates the national commission; the statutory layer is the Protection of Civil Rights Act, 1955 and the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 with its special-court, relief and witness architecture, and the discipline is that an untouchability offence and an atrocity are separate statutory routes rather than synonyms.

Technical definition: Evidence chain: The constitutional and statutory bank for a Scheduled Caste answer Qualified use: Anchor a caste-justice answer in the exact provision and statute before any evaluation.

ANSWER-GRABBING OPENING - WRITE/ADAPT IN THE EXAM

Evidence chain: The constitutional and statutory bank for a Scheduled Caste answer Qualified use: Anchor a caste-justice answer in the exact provision and statute before any evaluation.

MUST-WRITE KEYWORDS

- FOUNDATION
- The constitutional
- statutory bank
- Evidence chain
- Qualified use
- Article 15

How to use them: Frame the answer through FOUNDATION; define The constitutional, connect statutory bank with Evidence chain to explain the mechanism, and use Qualified use for the decisive comparison or qualification.

VISUAL FIRST

THE CONSTITUTIONAL AND STATUTORY BANK

01. The constitutional and statutory bank for a Scheduled Caste answer BOUNDARY -> An untouchability offence and an atrocity are separate statutory routes rather than synonyms.

This topic-specific rail fixes the evidence sequence and its exam boundary before analysis.

CORE EXPLANATION

The owners record the law bank as Articles 14 to 17, 23, 46, 330 and 332 and 338, where Article 15 and Article 16 permit special provision and reservation, Article 17 abolishes untouchability and makes its practice an offence, Article 23 prohibits forced labour and trafficking, Article 46 directs the State to promote with special care the educational and economic interests of the weaker sections and to protect them from social injustice and all forms of exploitation, Articles 330 and 332 reserve seats in the House of the People and in the State Assemblies, and Article 338 creates the national commission; the statutory layer is the Protection of Civil Rights Act, 1955 and the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 with its special-court, relief and witness architecture, and the discipline is that an untouchability offence and an atrocity are separate statutory routes rather than synonyms.

NAMED EVIDENCE AND MECHANISM

- The owners record the law bank as Articles 14 to 17, 23, 46, 330 and 332 and 338, where Article 15 and Article 16 permit special provision and reservation, Article 17 abolishes untouchability and makes its practice an offence, Article 23 prohibits forced labour and trafficking, Article 46 directs the State to promote with special care the educational and economic interests of the weaker sections and to protect them from social injustice and all forms of exploitation, Articles 330 and 332 reserve seats in the House of the People and in the State Assemblies, and Article 338 creates the national commission; the statutory layer is the Protection of Civil Rights Act, 1955 and the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 with its special-court, relief and witness architecture, and the discipline is that an untouchability offence and an atrocity are separate statutory routes rather than synonyms.

EXAMINER CAUTION

- An untouchability offence and an atrocity are separate statutory routes rather than synonyms.

EXAM LINK

- Prelims: Retain the exact statute, section, article, ministry, official category, survey round or dated edition attached to The constitutional and statutory bank, and never upgrade a policy document into a statute or a targeted scheme into a universal entitlement.
- Mains: Anchor a caste-justice answer in the exact provision and statute before any evaluation.

MINI RECAP

- Evidence chain: The constitutional and statutory bank for a Scheduled Caste answer
- Qualified use: Anchor a caste-justice answer in the exact provision and statute before any evaluation.

CLOSING RECALL FLOW - FOUNDATION - THE CONSTITUTIONAL AND STATUTORY BANK

START / CONCEPT: FOUNDATION - The constitutional and statutory bank

|

v

EXACT TERMS: FOUNDATION • The constitutional • statutory bank • Evidence chain • Qualified use •
Article 15

|

v

MECHANISM / ARGUMENT: The owners record the law bank as Articles 14 to 17, 23, 46, 330 and 332 and 338, where Article 15 and Article 16 permit special provision and reservation, Article 17 abolishes untouchability and makes its practice an offence, Article 23 prohibits forced labour and trafficking, Article 46 directs the State to promote with special care the educational and economic interests of the weaker sections and to protect them from social injustice and all forms of exploitation, Articles 330 and 332 reserve seats in the House of the People and in the State Assemblies, and Article 338 creates the national commission; the statutory layer is the Protection of Civil Rights Act, 1955 and the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 with its special-court, relief and witness architecture, and the discipline is that an untouchability offence and an atrocity are separate statutory routes rather than synonyms.

|

v

CONSEQUENCE / CONTRAST: An untouchability offence and an atrocity are separate statutory routes rather than synonyms.

|

v

UPSC TRAP / ANSWER-USE: Do not miss this limiting distinction: the constitutional and statutory bank for a Scheduled Caste answer Qualified use.

|

v

ANSWER-GRABBING FORMULATION: Evidence chain: The constitutional and statutory bank for a Scheduled Caste answer Qualified use: Anchor a caste-justice answer in the exact provision and statute before any evaluation.

SESSION 3 - FOUNDATION - THE ATROCITIES STATUTE AND WHAT COUNTS AS AN ATROCITY

DEFINITION / WHAT THIS IS CALLED

Plain-language definition: The Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 is a special law providing enhanced penalties for caste-based offences committed against members of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, and the owners record its distinctive architecture as Special Courts for trial, victim-relief provisions and a presumption of the offence in certain circumstances; the reason the design matters in an answer is that the same physical act may be an ordinary offence under the general penal law and an atrocity under this Act, and it is the identity of the victim, the identity of the accused and the listed nature of the act that convert the first into the second, which is why a general law-and-order framing misses what the statute is for.

Technical definition: The owners define an atrocity as an offence listed in the Schedule to the Act, and they name assault, wrongful dispossession, forced labour, sexual exploitation and public humiliation among the listed heads, committed against a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe person by a person who is not a member of those categories; the 2015 amendment expanded the list with new offences including garlanding with footwear and preventing entry to public places, so the offence set is not confined to physical violence and expressly reaches social and economic exclusion such as boycott, which is why an answer that treats the Act as a violence statute alone understates its coverage.

ANSWER-GRABBING OPENING - WRITE/ADAPT IN THE EXAM

Evidence chain: The atrocities statute of 1989 as a special law - What counts as an atrocity and who may commit one
Qualified use: Show why the same act becomes an atrocity rather than an ordinary offence.

MUST-WRITE KEYWORDS

- FOUNDATION
- The atrocities statute
- what counts as an atrocity
- Evidence chain
- Qualified use
- The Scheduled Castes

How to use them: Frame the answer through FOUNDATION; define The atrocities statute, connect what counts as an atrocity with Evidence chain to explain the mechanism, and use Qualified use for the decisive comparison or qualification.

VISUAL FIRST

THE ATROCITIES STATUTE AND WHAT COUNTS AS AN ATROCITY

01. The atrocities statute of 1989 as a special law

|
v

02. What counts as an atrocity and who may commit one

BOUNDARY -> Coverage extends to social and economic exclusion and is not confined to physical violence.

This topic-specific rail fixes the evidence sequence and its exam boundary before analysis.

CORE EXPLANATION

The Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 is a special law providing enhanced penalties for caste-based offences committed against members of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, and the owners record its distinctive architecture as Special Courts for trial, victim-relief provisions and a presumption of the offence in certain circumstances; the reason the design matters in an answer is that the same physical act may be an ordinary offence under the general penal law and an atrocity under this Act, and it is the identity of the victim, the identity of the accused and the listed nature of the act that convert the first into the second, which is why a general law-and-order framing misses what the statute is for. The owners define an atrocity as an offence listed in the Schedule to the Act, and they name assault, wrongful dispossession, forced labour, sexual exploitation and public humiliation among the listed heads, committed against a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe person by a person who is not a member of those categories; the 2015 amendment expanded the list with new offences including garlanding with footwear and preventing entry to public places, so the offence set is not confined to physical violence and expressly reaches social and economic exclusion such as boycott, which is why an answer that treats the Act as a violence statute alone understates its coverage.

NAMED EVIDENCE AND MECHANISM

- The Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 is a special law providing enhanced penalties for caste-based offences committed against members of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, and the owners record its distinctive architecture as Special Courts for trial, victim-relief provisions and a presumption of the offence in certain circumstances; the reason the design matters in an answer is that the same physical act may be an ordinary offence under the general penal law and an atrocity under this Act, and it is the identity of the victim, the identity of the accused and the listed nature of the act that convert the first into the second, which is why a general law-and-order framing misses what the statute is for.
- The owners define an atrocity as an offence listed in the Schedule to the Act, and they name assault, wrongful dispossession, forced labour, sexual exploitation and public humiliation among the listed heads, committed against a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe person by a person who is not a member of those categories; the 2015 amendment expanded the list with new offences including garlanding with footwear and preventing entry to public places, so the offence set is not confined to physical violence and expressly reaches social and economic exclusion such as boycott, which is why an answer that treats the Act as a violence statute alone understates its coverage.

EXAMINER CAUTION

- Coverage extends to social and economic exclusion and is not confined to physical violence.

EXAM LINK

- Prelims: Retain the exact statute, section, article, ministry, official category, survey round or dated edition attached to The atrocities statute and what counts as an atrocity, and never upgrade a policy document into a statute or a targeted scheme into a universal entitlement.
- Mains: Show why the same act becomes an atrocity rather than an ordinary offence.

MINI RECAP

- Evidence chain: The atrocities statute of 1989 as a special law -> What counts as an atrocity and who may commit one
- Qualified use: Show why the same act becomes an atrocity rather than an ordinary offence.

CLOSING RECALL FLOW - FOUNDATION - THE ATROCITIES STATUTE AND WHAT COUNTS AS AN ATROCITY

START / CONCEPT: FOUNDATION - The atrocities statute and what counts as an atrocity

|
v

EXACT TERMS: FOUNDATION · The atrocities statute · what counts as an atrocity · Evidence chain · Qualified use · The Scheduled Castes

|
v

MECHANISM / ARGUMENT: The Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 is a special law providing enhanced penalties for caste-based offences committed against members of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, and the owners record its distinctive architecture as Special Courts for trial, victim-relief provisions and a presumption of the offence in certain circumstances; the reason the design matters in an answer is that the same physical act may be an ordinary offence under the general penal law and an atrocity under this Act, and it is the identity of the victim, the identity of the accused and the listed nature of the act that convert the first into the second, which is why a general law-and-order framing misses what the statute is for.

|
v

CONSEQUENCE / CONTRAST: The owners define an atrocity as an offence listed in the Schedule to the Act, and they name assault, wrongful dispossession, forced labour, sexual exploitation and public humiliation among the listed heads, committed against a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe person by a person who is not a member of those categories; the 2015 amendment expanded the list with new offences including garlanding with footwear and preventing entry to public places, so the offence set is not confined to physical violence and expressly reaches social and economic exclusion such as boycott, which is why an answer that treats the Act as a violence statute alone understates its coverage.

|
v

UPSC TRAP / ANSWER-USE: Coverage extends to social and economic exclusion and is not confined to physical violence.

|
v

ANSWER-GRABBING FORMULATION: Evidence chain: The atrocities statute of 1989 as a special law - What counts as an atrocity and who may commit one Qualified use: Show why the same act becomes an atrocity rather than an ordinary offence.

SESSION 4 - CORE - THE INVESTIGATION, TRIAL AND RELIEF CHAIN

DEFINITION / WHAT THIS IS CALLED

Plain-language definition: The owners set out the procedural chain as registration of a first information report for a listed atrocity offence, investigation by an officer of the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police or above, trial before a State-notified Special Court with a Special Public Prosecutor, and victim relief in the form of monetary compensation, shelter and travel expenses in accordance with the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules, 1995 as amended; the analytical value of setting out the chain in this order is that a failure can be located at exactly one joint, so an answer can say whether the defect is registration, investigation rank, court capacity, prosecutor quality or the payment of relief rather than asserting that the Act does not work.

Technical definition: Evidence chain: The investigation, trial and relief route Qualified use: Convert a general enforcement complaint into a located procedural diagnosis.

ANSWER-GRABBING OPENING - WRITE/ADAPT IN THE EXAM

The owners set out the procedural chain as registration of a first information report for a listed atrocity offence, investigation by an officer of the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police or above, trial before a State-notified Special Court with a Special Public Prosecutor, and victim relief in the form of monetary compensation, shelter and travel expenses in accordance with the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules, 1995 as amended; the analytical value of setting out the chain in this order is that a failure can be located at exactly one joint, so an answer can say whether the defect is registration, investigation rank, court capacity, prosecutor quality or the payment of relief rather than asserting that the Act does not work.

MUST-WRITE KEYWORDS

- The investigation
- trial
- relief chain
- Evidence chain
- Qualified use
- Deputy Superintendent

How to use them: Frame the answer through The investigation; define trial, connect relief chain with Evidence chain to explain the mechanism, and use Qualified use for the decisive comparison or qualification.

VISUAL FIRST

THE INVESTIGATION, TRIAL AND RELIEF CHAIN

01. The investigation, trial and relief route

BOUNDARY -> A failure must be located at one joint of the chain rather than asserted of the whole Act.

This topic-specific rail fixes the evidence sequence and its exam boundary before analysis.

CORE EXPLANATION

The owners set out the procedural chain as registration of a first information report for a listed atrocity offence, investigation by an officer of the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police or above, trial before a State-notified Special Court with a Special Public Prosecutor, and victim relief in the form of monetary compensation, shelter and travel expenses in accordance with the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules, 1995 as amended; the analytical value of setting out the chain in this order is that a failure can be located at exactly one joint, so an answer can say whether the defect is registration, investigation rank, court capacity, prosecutor quality or the payment of relief rather than asserting that the Act does not work.

NAMED EVIDENCE AND MECHANISM

- The owners set out the procedural chain as registration of a first information report for a listed atrocity offence, investigation by an officer of the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police or above, trial before a State-notified Special Court with a Special Public Prosecutor, and victim relief in the form of monetary compensation, shelter and travel expenses in accordance with the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules, 1995 as amended; the analytical value of setting out the chain in this order is that a failure can be located at exactly one joint, so an answer can say whether the defect is registration, investigation rank, court capacity, prosecutor quality or the payment of relief rather than asserting that the Act does not work.

EXAMINER CAUTION

- A failure must be located at one joint of the chain rather than asserted of the whole Act.

EXAM LINK

- Prelims: Retain the exact statute, section, article, ministry, official category, survey round or dated edition attached to The investigation, trial and relief chain, and never upgrade a policy document into a statute or a targeted scheme into a universal entitlement.
- Mains: Convert a general enforcement complaint into a located procedural diagnosis.

MINI RECAP

- Evidence chain: The investigation, trial and relief route
- Qualified use: Convert a general enforcement complaint into a located procedural diagnosis.

CLOSING RECALL FLOW - CORE - THE INVESTIGATION, TRIAL AND RELIEF CHAIN

START / CONCEPT: CORE - The investigation, trial and relief chain

|

v

EXACT TERMS: The investigation · trial · relief chain · Evidence chain · Qualified use · Deputy Superintendent

|

v

MECHANISM / ARGUMENT: Evidence chain: The investigation, trial and relief route Qualified use: Convert a general enforcement complaint into a located procedural diagnosis.

|

v

CONSEQUENCE / CONTRAST: A failure must be located at one joint of the chain rather than asserted of the whole Act.

|

v

UPSC TRAP / ANSWER-USE: Do not miss this limiting distinction: the owners set out the procedural chain as registration of a first information report...

|

v

ANSWER-GRABBING FORMULATION: The owners set out the procedural chain as registration of a first information report for a listed atrocity offence, investigation by an officer of the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police or above, trial before a State-notified Special Court with a Special Public Prosecutor, and victim relief in the form of monetary compensation, shelter and travel expenses in accordance with the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules, 1995 as amended; the analytical value of setting out the chain in this order is that a failure can be located at exactly one joint, so an answer can say whether the defect is registration, investigation rank, court capacity, prosecutor quality or the payment of relief rather than asserting that the Act does not work.

SESSION 5 - CORE - THE 2015 AMENDMENT AND THE COURT-NOTIFICATION DISCIPLINE

DEFINITION / WHAT THIS IS CALLED

Plain-language definition: The 2015 amendment expanded the list of atrocity offences, strengthened the rights of victims and witnesses and created the Special and Exclusive Special Court architecture, and the owners attach a precise caution to that architecture: such courts are notified by States under the conditions the Act lays down and with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the concerned High Court, so it must not be stated that an Exclusive Special Court automatically exists in every district; the examinable consequence is that court availability is a State-specific fact to be verified rather than a national entitlement to be assumed, and pendency in atrocity trials is therefore partly a notification and staffing question.

Technical definition: Evidence chain: The 2015 amendment and the court-notification discipline Qualified use: State an institutional fact as verifiable and State-specific rather than as a national entitlement.

ANSWER-GRABBING OPENING - WRITE/ADAPT IN THE EXAM

Evidence chain: The 2015 amendment and the court-notification discipline Qualified use: State an institutional fact as verifiable and State-specific rather than as a national entitlement.

MUST-WRITE KEYWORDS

- The 2015 amendment
- the court-notification discipline
- Evidence chain
- Qualified use
- Special
- Exclusive Special Court

How to use them: Frame the answer through The 2015 amendment; define the court-notification discipline, connect Evidence chain with Qualified use to explain the mechanism, and use Special for the decisive comparison or qualification.

VISUAL FIRST

THE 2015 AMENDMENT AND THE COURT-NOTIFICATION DISCIPLINE

01. The 2015 amendment and the court-notification discipline

BOUNDARY -> Special and Exclusive Special Courts are State-notified and not automatic in every district.

This topic-specific rail fixes the evidence sequence and its exam boundary before analysis.

CORE EXPLANATION

The 2015 amendment expanded the list of atrocity offences, strengthened the rights of victims and witnesses and created the Special and Exclusive Special Court architecture, and the owners attach a precise caution to that architecture: such courts are notified by States under the conditions the Act lays down and with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the concerned High Court, so it must not be stated that an Exclusive Special Court automatically exists in every district; the examinable consequence is that court availability is a State-specific fact to be verified rather than a national entitlement to be assumed, and pendency in atrocity trials is therefore partly a notification and staffing question.

NAMED EVIDENCE AND MECHANISM

- The 2015 amendment expanded the list of atrocity offences, strengthened the rights of victims and witnesses and created the Special and Exclusive Special Court architecture, and the owners attach a precise caution to that architecture: such courts are notified by States under the conditions the Act lays down and with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the concerned High Court, so it must not be stated that an Exclusive Special Court automatically exists in every district; the examinable consequence is that court availability is a State-specific fact to be verified rather than a national entitlement to be assumed, and pendency in atrocity trials is therefore partly a notification and staffing question.

EXAMINER CAUTION

- Special and Exclusive Special Courts are State-notified and not automatic in every district.

EXAM LINK

- Prelims: Retain the exact statute, section, article, ministry, official category, survey round or dated edition attached to The 2015 amendment and the court-notification discipline, and never upgrade a policy document into a statute or a targeted scheme into a universal entitlement.
- Mains: State an institutional fact as verifiable and State-specific rather than as a national entitlement.

MINI RECAP

- Evidence chain: The 2015 amendment and the court-notification discipline
- Qualified use: State an institutional fact as verifiable and State-specific rather than as a national entitlement.

CLOSING RECALL FLOW - CORE - THE 2015 AMENDMENT AND THE COURT-NOTIFICATION DISCIPLINE

START / CONCEPT: CORE - The 2015 amendment and the court-notification discipline

|
v

EXACT TERMS: The 2015 amendment · the court-notification discipline · Evidence chain · Qualified use · Special · Exclusive Special Court

|
v

MECHANISM / ARGUMENT: The 2015 amendment expanded the list of atrocity offences, strengthened the rights of victims and witnesses and created the Special and Exclusive Special Court architecture, and the owners attach a precise caution to that architecture: such courts are notified by States under the conditions the Act lays down and with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the concerned High Court, so it must not be stated that an Exclusive Special Court automatically exists in every district; the examinable consequence is that court availability is a State-specific fact to be verified rather than a national entitlement to be assumed, and pendency in atrocity trials is therefore partly a notification and staffing question.

|
v

CONSEQUENCE / CONTRAST: Special and Exclusive Special Courts are State-notified and not automatic in every district.

|
v

UPSC TRAP / ANSWER-USE: Do not miss this limiting distinction: the 2015 amendment and the court-notification discipline Qualified use.

|
v

ANSWER-GRABBING FORMULATION: Evidence chain: The 2015 amendment and the court-notification discipline Qualified use: State an institutional fact as verifiable and State-specific rather than as a national entitlement.

SESSION 6 - CORE - THE 2018 AMENDMENT AND THE ACT-COURT-AMENDMENT SEQUENCE

DEFINITION / WHAT THIS IS CALLED

Plain-language definition: A 2018 ruling of the Supreme Court diluted arrest and anticipatory-bail protection under the Act; Parliament responded by inserting Section 18A, under which no preliminary inquiry is required for the registration of a first information report, no approval is required for arrest and the statutory bar on anticipatory bail is restored notwithstanding that ruling; the constitutional challenge to the amendment was then decided in Prathvi Raj Chauhan in 2020, which upheld Section 18A while preserving an exceptional power in a constitutional court to intervene where the complaint discloses no prima facie case; the recurring trap is to say the 2018 amendment implemented a judicial direction when it in fact overrode one.

Technical definition: Evidence chain: The 2018 amendment and the Act-Court-Amendment sequence Qualified use: Narrate a contested amendment in its exact three-step sequence.

ANSWER-GRABBING OPENING - WRITE/ADAPT IN THE EXAM

Evidence chain: The 2018 amendment and the Act-Court-Amendment sequence Qualified use: Narrate a contested amendment in its exact three-step sequence.

MUST-WRITE KEYWORDS

- The 2018 amendment
- the Act-Court-Amendment sequence
- Evidence chain
- Qualified use
- Supreme Court
- Act

How to use them: Frame the answer through The 2018 amendment; define the Act-Court-Amendment sequence, connect Evidence chain with Qualified use to explain the mechanism, and use Supreme Court for the decisive comparison or qualification.

VISUAL FIRST

THE 2018 AMENDMENT AND THE ACT-COURT-AMENDMENT SEQUENCE

01. The 2018 amendment and the Act-Court-Amendment sequence

BOUNDARY -> The amendment overrode a judicial reading; it did not implement a judicial direction.

This topic-specific rail fixes the evidence sequence and its exam boundary before analysis.

CORE EXPLANATION

The owners record the sequence with care. A 2018 ruling of the Supreme Court diluted arrest and anticipatory-bail protection under the Act; Parliament responded by inserting Section 18A, under which no preliminary inquiry is required for the registration of a first information report, no approval is required for arrest and the statutory bar on anticipatory bail is restored notwithstanding that ruling; the constitutional challenge to the amendment was then decided in Prathvi Raj Chauhan in 2020, which upheld Section 18A while preserving an exceptional power in a constitutional court to intervene where the complaint discloses no prima facie case; the recurring trap is to say the 2018 amendment implemented a judicial direction when it in fact overrode one.

NAMED EVIDENCE AND MECHANISM

- The owners record the sequence with care. A 2018 ruling of the Supreme Court diluted arrest and anticipatory-bail protection under the Act; Parliament responded by inserting Section 18A, under which no preliminary inquiry is required for the registration of a first information report, no approval is required for arrest and the statutory bar on anticipatory bail is restored notwithstanding that ruling; the constitutional challenge to the amendment was then decided in Prathvi Raj Chauhan in 2020, which upheld Section 18A while preserving an exceptional power in a constitutional court to intervene where the complaint discloses no prima facie case; the recurring trap is to say the 2018 amendment implemented a judicial direction when it in fact overrode one.

EXAMINER CAUTION

- The amendment overrode a judicial reading; it did not implement a judicial direction.

EXAM LINK

- Prelims: Retain the exact statute, section, article, ministry, official category, survey round or dated edition attached to The 2018 amendment and the Act-Court-Amendment sequence, and never upgrade a policy document into a statute or a targeted scheme into a universal entitlement.
- Mains: Narrate a contested amendment in its exact three-step sequence.

MINI RECAP

- Evidence chain: The 2018 amendment and the Act-Court-Amendment sequence
- Qualified use: Narrate a contested amendment in its exact three-step sequence.

CLOSING RECALL FLOW - CORE - THE 2018 AMENDMENT AND THE ACT-COURT-AMENDMENT SEQUENCE

START / CONCEPT: CORE - The 2018 amendment and the Act-Court-Amendment sequence

|
v

EXACT TERMS: The 2018 amendment • the Act-Court-Amendment sequence • Evidence chain • Qualified use
• Supreme Court • Act

|
v

MECHANISM / ARGUMENT: A 2018 ruling of the Supreme Court diluted arrest and anticipatory-bail protection under the Act; Parliament responded by inserting Section 18A, under which no preliminary inquiry is required for the registration of a first information report, no approval is required for arrest and the statutory bar on anticipatory bail is restored notwithstanding that ruling; the constitutional challenge to the amendment was then decided in Prathvi Raj Chauhan in 2020, which upheld Section 18A while preserving an exceptional power in a constitutional court to intervene where the complaint discloses no prima facie case; the recurring trap is to say the 2018 amendment implemented a judicial direction when it in fact overrode one.

|
v

CONSEQUENCE / CONTRAST: The resulting consequence is that the 2018 amendment and the Act-Court-Amendment sequence Qualified use.

|
v

UPSC TRAP / ANSWER-USE: Do not miss this limiting distinction: the 2018 amendment and the Act-Court-Amendment sequence Qualified use.

|
v

ANSWER-GRABBING FORMULATION: Evidence chain: The 2018 amendment and the Act-Court-Amendment sequence Qualified use: Narrate a contested amendment in its exact three-step sequence.

SESSION 7 - CORE - THE AMENDMENT SEQUENCE AS INSTITUTIONAL DIALOGUE

DEFINITION / WHAT THIS IS CALLED

Plain-language definition: The owners treat the 1989 Act, the 2018 ruling and the 2018 amendment as a textbook instance of the legislature responding to a judicial reading by amending the law, and they invite the cross-link to the Polity owner for the doctrine; the analytical shape is that the Court read a safeguard against misuse into a statute, Parliament restored the original stringency by express provision, and the Court then tested the restored provision and upheld it while retaining a narrow constitutional escape valve, so the episode ends in an equilibrium rather than in a victory for either branch; an answer that uses it must state all three steps, because reciting only the amendment converts a dialogue into a confrontation.

Technical definition: Evidence chain: The sequence as institutional dialogue between legislature and judiciary
Qualified use: Use an amendment as evidence of institutional dialogue instead of confrontation.

ANSWER-GRABBING OPENING - WRITE/ADAPT IN THE EXAM

The owners treat the 1989 Act, the 2018 ruling and the 2018 amendment as a textbook instance of the legislature responding to a judicial reading by amending the law, and they invite the cross-link to the Polity owner for the doctrine; the analytical shape is that the Court read a safeguard against misuse into a statute, Parliament restored the original stringency by express provision, and the Court then tested the restored provision and upheld it while retaining a narrow constitutional escape valve, so the episode ends in an equilibrium rather than in a victory for either branch; an answer that uses it must state all three steps, because reciting only the amendment converts a dialogue into a confrontation.

MUST-WRITE KEYWORDS

- The amendment sequence as institutional dialogue
- Evidence chain
- Qualified use
- Act
- Polity

- Court

How to use them: Frame the answer through The amendment sequence as institutional dialogue; define Evidence chain, connect Qualified use with Act to explain the mechanism, and use Polity for the decisive comparison or qualification.

VISUAL FIRST

THE AMENDMENT SEQUENCE AS INSTITUTIONAL DIALOGUE

01. The sequence as institutional dialogue between legislature and judiciary

BOUNDARY -> The episode ends in an equilibrium rather than in a victory for either branch.

This topic-specific rail fixes the evidence sequence and its exam boundary before analysis.

CORE EXPLANATION

The owners treat the 1989 Act, the 2018 ruling and the 2018 amendment as a textbook instance of the legislature responding to a judicial reading by amending the law, and they invite the cross-link to the Polity owner for the doctrine; the analytical shape is that the Court read a safeguard against misuse into a statute, Parliament restored the original stringency by express provision, and the Court then tested the restored provision and upheld it while retaining a narrow constitutional escape valve, so the episode ends in an equilibrium rather than in a victory for either branch; an answer that uses it must state all three steps, because reciting only the amendment converts a dialogue into a confrontation.

NAMED EVIDENCE AND MECHANISM

- The owners treat the 1989 Act, the 2018 ruling and the 2018 amendment as a textbook instance of the legislature responding to a judicial reading by amending the law, and they invite the cross-link to the Polity owner for the doctrine; the analytical shape is that the Court read a safeguard against misuse into a statute, Parliament restored the original stringency by express provision, and the Court then tested the restored provision and upheld it while retaining a narrow constitutional escape valve, so the episode ends in an equilibrium rather than in a victory for either branch; an answer that uses it must state all three steps, because reciting only the amendment converts a dialogue into a confrontation.

EXAMINER CAUTION

- The episode ends in an equilibrium rather than in a victory for either branch.

EXAM LINK

- Prelims: Retain the exact statute, section, article, ministry, official category, survey round or dated edition attached to The amendment sequence as institutional dialogue, and never upgrade a policy document into a statute or a targeted scheme into a universal entitlement.
- Mains: Use an amendment as evidence of institutional dialogue instead of confrontation.

MINI RECAP

- Evidence chain: The sequence as institutional dialogue between legislature and judiciary
- Qualified use: Use an amendment as evidence of institutional dialogue instead of confrontation.

CLOSING RECALL FLOW - CORE - THE AMENDMENT SEQUENCE AS INSTITUTIONAL DIALOGUE

START / CONCEPT: CORE - The amendment sequence as institutional dialogue

|

v

EXACT TERMS: The amendment sequence as institutional dialogue · Evidence chain · Qualified use · Act · Polity · Court

|

v

MECHANISM / ARGUMENT: Evidence chain: The sequence as institutional dialogue between legislature and judiciary Qualified use: Use an amendment as evidence of institutional dialogue instead of confrontation.

|

v

CONSEQUENCE / CONTRAST: Mains: Use an amendment as evidence of institutional dialogue instead of confrontation.

|

v

UPSC TRAP / ANSWER-USE: Do not miss this limiting distinction: the owners treat the 1989 Act, the 2018 ruling and the 2018 amendment as...

|

v

ANSWER-GRABBING FORMULATION: The owners treat the 1989 Act, the 2018 ruling and the 2018 amendment as a textbook instance of the legislature responding to a judicial reading by amending the law, and they invite the cross-link to the Polity owner for the doctrine; the analytical shape is that the Court read a safeguard against misuse into a statute, Parliament restored the original stringency by express provision, and the Court then tested the restored provision and upheld it while retaining a narrow constitutional escape valve, so the episode ends in an equilibrium rather than in a victory for either branch; an answer that uses it must state all three steps, because reciting only the amendment converts a dialogue into a confrontation.

SESSION 8 - CORE - THE UMBRELLA DEVELOPMENT FRAMEWORK AND WHAT IT ACTUALLY IS

DEFINITION / WHAT THIS IS CALLED

Plain-language definition: Evidence chain: The umbrella development framework and what it actually is Qualified use: Attribute a benefit to the correct channel before using it as evidence of delivery.

Technical definition: Pradhan Mantri Anusuchit Jaati Abhyudaya Yojana is the umbrella Scheduled Caste development framework of the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, and the owners record its three delivery channels as development of Scheduled Caste dominated villages under the model-village component, grants for approved district and State socio-economic development projects, and hostel support in higher educational institutions; the critical qualification is that these are project and sanction channels driven by State proposals and annual approvals rather than an automatic individual benefit, so it is an error both to describe the framework as a personal scholarship or loan entitlement and to treat every ministry scheme for Scheduled Castes as one of its components.

ANSWER-GRABBING OPENING - WRITE/ADAPT IN THE EXAM

Evidence chain: The umbrella development framework and what it actually is Qualified use: Attribute a benefit to the correct channel before using it as evidence of delivery.

MUST-WRITE KEYWORDS

- The umbrella development framework
- what it actually is
- Evidence chain
- Qualified use
- Pradhan Mantri Anusuchit Jaati Abhyudaya Yojana
- Pradhan Mantri Anusuchit Jaati Abhyudaya

How to use them: Frame the answer through The umbrella development framework; define what it actually is, connect Evidence chain with Qualified use to explain the mechanism, and use Pradhan Mantri Anusuchit Jaati Abhyudaya Yojana for the decisive comparison or qualification.

VISUAL FIRST

THE UMBRELLA DEVELOPMENT FRAMEWORK AND WHAT IT ACTUALLY IS

01. The umbrella development framework and what it actually is BOUNDARY -> Its channels are project and sanction routes rather than an automatic individual benefit.

This topic-specific rail fixes the evidence sequence and its exam boundary before analysis.

CORE EXPLANATION

Pradhan Mantri Anusuchit Jaati Abhyudaya Yojana is the umbrella Scheduled Caste development framework of the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, and the owners record its three delivery channels as development of Scheduled Caste dominated villages under the model-village component, grants for approved district and State socio-economic development projects, and hostel support in higher educational institutions; the critical qualification is that these are project and sanction channels driven by State proposals and annual approvals rather than an automatic individual benefit, so it is an error both to describe the framework as a personal scholarship or loan entitlement and to treat every ministry scheme for Scheduled Castes as one of its components.

NAMED EVIDENCE AND MECHANISM

- Pradhan Mantri Anusuchit Jaati Abhyudaya Yojana is the umbrella Scheduled Caste development framework of the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, and the owners record its three delivery channels as development of Scheduled Caste dominated villages under the model-village component, grants for approved district and State socio-economic development projects, and hostel support in higher educational institutions; the critical qualification is that these are project and sanction channels driven by State proposals and annual approvals rather than an automatic individual benefit, so it is an error both to describe the framework as a personal scholarship or loan entitlement and to treat every ministry scheme for Scheduled Castes as one of its components.

EXAMINER CAUTION

- Its channels are project and sanction routes rather than an automatic individual benefit.

EXAM LINK

- Prelims: Retain the exact statute, section, article, ministry, official category, survey round or dated edition attached to The umbrella development framework and what it actually is, and never upgrade a policy document into a statute or a targeted scheme into a universal entitlement.
- Mains: Attribute a benefit to the correct channel before using it as evidence of delivery.

MINI RECAP

- Evidence chain: The umbrella development framework and what it actually is
- Qualified use: Attribute a benefit to the correct channel before using it as evidence of delivery.

CLOSING RECALL FLOW - CORE - THE UMBRELLA DEVELOPMENT FRAMEWORK AND WHAT IT ACTUALLY IS

START / CONCEPT: CORE - The umbrella development framework and what it actually is

|
v

EXACT TERMS: The umbrella development framework · what it actually is · Evidence chain · Qualified use · Pradhan Mantri Anusuchit Jaati Abhyudaya Yojana · Pradhan Mantri Anusuchit Jaati Abhyudaya

|
v

MECHANISM / ARGUMENT: Pradhan Mantri Anusuchit Jaati Abhyudaya Yojana is the umbrella Scheduled Caste development framework of the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, and the owners record its three delivery channels as development of Scheduled Caste dominated villages under the model-village component, grants for approved district and State socio-economic development projects, and hostel support in higher educational institutions; the critical qualification is that these are project and sanction channels driven by State proposals and annual approvals rather than an automatic individual benefit, so it is an error both to describe the framework as a personal scholarship or loan entitlement and to treat every ministry scheme for Scheduled Castes as one of its components.

|
v

CONSEQUENCE / CONTRAST: Prelims: Retain the exact statute, section, article, ministry, official category, survey round or dated edition attached to The umbrella development framework and what it actually is, and never upgrade a policy document into a statute or a targeted scheme into a universal entitlement.

|
v

UPSC TRAP / ANSWER-USE: Its channels are project and sanction routes rather than an automatic individual benefit.

|
v

ANSWER-GRABBING FORMULATION: Evidence chain: The umbrella development framework and what it actually is Qualified use: Attribute a benefit to the correct channel before using it as evidence of delivery.

SESSION 9 - CORE - CREDIT, SCHOLARSHIP AND THE VERIFIED OFFICIAL ANCHOR

DEFINITION / WHAT THIS IS CALLED

Plain-language definition: The Department of Social Justice and Empowerment's own scheme page for the post-matric scholarship for students belonging to the Scheduled Castes, read on 2 September 2026, records that the objective of the scheme is to appreciably increase the gross enrolment ratio of Scheduled Caste students in higher education with a focus on those from the poorest households by providing financial assistance at the post-matriculation or post-secondary stage to enable them to complete their education; the same page records that the scholarships are available for studies in India only, that awardees are selected by the State Government or Union Territory to which the applicant actually belongs according to the domicile terms decided by that State, that the scheme applies both to current beneficiaries and to fresh admissions, and that the complete guidelines were revised in March 2021 and are published on that page; nothing beyond those recorded statements is claimed, and no coverage, disbursement or beneficiary count is asserted.

Technical definition: Evidence chain: The concessional-credit corporation and its delivery route - The post-matriculation scholarship as a verified official anchor Qualified use: Cite an official scheme statement for exactly what it says and no further.

ANSWER-GRABBING OPENING - WRITE/ADAPT IN THE EXAM

Evidence chain: The concessional-credit corporation and its delivery route - The post-matriculation scholarship as a verified official anchor Qualified use: Cite an official scheme statement for exactly what it says and no further.

MUST-WRITE KEYWORDS

- Credit
- scholarship
- the verified official anchor
- Evidence chain

- Qualified use
- The National Scheduled Castes Finance and Development Corporation

How to use them: Frame the answer through Credit; define scholarship, connect the verified official anchor with Evidence chain to explain the mechanism, and use Qualified use for the decisive comparison or qualification.

VISUAL FIRST

CREDIT, SCHOLARSHIP AND THE VERIFIED OFFICIAL ANCHOR

01. The concessional-credit corporation and its delivery route

|
v

02. The post-matriculation scholarship as a verified official anchor

BOUNDARY -> The verified page records objective, stage, territorial limit, selection authority and revision date and nothing more.

This topic-specific rail fixes the evidence sequence and its exam boundary before analysis.

CORE EXPLANATION

The National Scheduled Castes Finance and Development Corporation is a Government of India company under the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment which provides concessional credit to Scheduled Caste beneficiaries, and the owners record its instruments as term loans, micro-credit and skill-development finance delivered through State channelising agencies rather than directly to a borrower; the reason the delivery route is examinable is that it makes the corporation's reach a function of the capacity and the appetite of the State agency in each State, so credit access is uneven for reasons that lie outside the corporation's own design, and an answer about economic mobility must say so. The Department of Social Justice and Empowerment's own scheme page for the post-matric scholarship for students belonging to the Scheduled Castes, read on 2 September 2026, records that the objective of the scheme is to appreciably increase the gross enrolment ratio of Scheduled Caste students in higher education with a focus on those from the poorest households by providing financial assistance at the post-matriculation or post-secondary stage to enable them to complete their education; the same page records that the scholarships are available for studies in India only, that awardees are selected by the State Government or Union Territory to which the applicant actually belongs according to the domicile terms decided by that State, that the scheme applies both to current beneficiaries and to fresh admissions, and that the complete guidelines were revised in March 2021 and are published on that page; nothing beyond those recorded statements is claimed, and no coverage, disbursement or beneficiary count is asserted.

NAMED EVIDENCE AND MECHANISM

- The National Scheduled Castes Finance and Development Corporation is a Government of India company under the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment which provides concessional credit to Scheduled Caste beneficiaries, and the owners record its instruments as term loans, micro-credit and skill-development finance delivered through State channelising agencies rather than directly to a borrower; the reason the delivery route is examinable is that it makes the corporation's reach a function of the capacity and the appetite of the State agency in each State, so credit access is uneven for reasons that lie outside the corporation's own design, and an answer about economic mobility must say so.
- The Department of Social Justice and Empowerment's own scheme page for the post-matric scholarship for students belonging to the Scheduled Castes, read on 2 September 2026, records that the objective of the scheme is to appreciably increase the gross enrolment ratio of Scheduled Caste students in higher education with a focus on those from the poorest households by providing financial assistance at the post-matriculation or post-secondary stage to enable them to complete their education; the same page records that the scholarships are available for studies in India only, that awardees are selected by the State Government or Union Territory to which the applicant actually belongs according to the domicile terms decided by that State, that the scheme applies both to current beneficiaries and to fresh admissions, and that the complete guidelines were revised in March 2021 and are published on that page; nothing beyond those recorded statements is claimed, and no coverage, disbursement or beneficiary count is asserted.

EXAMINER CAUTION

- The verified page records objective, stage, territorial limit, selection authority and revision date and nothing more.

EXAM LINK

- Prelims: Retain the exact statute, section, article, ministry, official category, survey round or dated edition attached to Credit, scholarship and the verified official anchor, and never upgrade a policy document into a statute or a targeted scheme into a universal entitlement.
- Mains: Cite an official scheme statement for exactly what it says and no further.

MINI RECAP

- Evidence chain: The concessional-credit corporation and its delivery route -> The post-matriculation scholarship as a verified official anchor
- Qualified use: Cite an official scheme statement for exactly what it says and no further.

CLOSING RECALL FLOW - CORE - CREDIT, SCHOLARSHIP AND THE VERIFIED OFFICIAL ANCHOR

START / CONCEPT: CORE - Credit, scholarship and the verified official anchor

|

v

EXACT TERMS: Credit · scholarship · the verified official anchor · Evidence chain · Qualified use ·
The National Scheduled Castes Finance and Development Corporation

|

v

MECHANISM / ARGUMENT: The National Scheduled Castes Finance and Development Corporation is a Government of India company under the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment which provides concessional credit to Scheduled Caste beneficiaries, and the owners record its instruments as term loans, micro-credit and skill-development finance delivered through State channelising agencies rather than directly to a borrower; the reason the delivery route is examinable is that it makes the corporation's reach a function of the capacity and the appetite of the State agency in each State, so credit access is uneven for reasons that lie outside the corporation's own design, and an answer about economic mobility must say so.

|

v

CONSEQUENCE / CONTRAST: The Department of Social Justice and Empowerment's own scheme page for the post-matric scholarship for students belonging to the Scheduled Castes, read on 2 September 2026, records that the objective of the scheme is to appreciably increase the gross enrolment ratio of Scheduled Caste students in higher education with a focus on those from the poorest households by providing financial assistance at the post-matriculation or post-secondary stage to enable them to complete their education; the same page records that the scholarships are available for studies in India only, that awardees are selected by the State Government or Union Territory to which the applicant actually belongs according to the domicile terms decided by that State, that the scheme applies both to current beneficiaries and to fresh admissions, and that the complete guidelines were revised in March 2021 and are published on that page; nothing beyond those recorded statements is claimed, and no coverage, disbursement or beneficiary count is asserted.

|

v

UPSC TRAP / ANSWER-USE: Do not miss this limiting distinction: the concessional-credit corporation and its delivery route - The post-matriculation scholarship as a verified...

|

v

ANSWER-GRABBING FORMULATION: Evidence chain: The concessional-credit corporation and its delivery route - The post-matriculation scholarship as a verified official anchor Qualified use: Cite an official scheme statement for exactly what it says and no further.

SESSION 10 - CORE - THE CONSTITUTIONAL STATUS OF THE SCHEDULED CASTE COMMISSION

DEFINITION / WHAT THIS IS CALLED

Plain-language definition: Evidence chain: The commission for Scheduled Castes is a constitutional body Qualified use: Use a status distinction precisely and route the institutional detail.

Technical definition: The National Commission for Scheduled Castes exists under Article 338 of the Constitution and is therefore a constitutional body whose duties to investigate and monitor safeguards, to inquire into specific complaints and to advise on planning and socio-economic development are entrenched in the Constitution itself, which distinguishes it sharply from a statutory commission created by ordinary legislation such as the women's commission; the owners deliberately do not re-teach its composition and detailed mandate because that content belongs to the Polity commissions owner, and they require the cross-link to be stated rather than the material to be duplicated, so an answer here should use the status distinction and route the institutional detail.

ANSWER-GRABBING OPENING - WRITE/ADAPT IN THE EXAM

Evidence chain: The commission for Scheduled Castes is a constitutional body
Qualified use: Use a status distinction precisely and route the institutional detail.

MUST-WRITE KEYWORDS

- The constitutional status of the Scheduled Caste commission
- Evidence chain
- Qualified use
- Article 338
- The National Commission
- Scheduled Castes

How to use them: Frame the answer through The constitutional status of the Scheduled Caste commission; define Evidence chain, connect Qualified use with Article 338 to explain the mechanism, and use The National Commission for the decisive comparison or qualification.

VISUAL FIRST

THE CONSTITUTIONAL STATUS OF THE SCHEDULED CASTE COMMISSION

01. The commission for Scheduled Castes is a constitutional body

BOUNDARY -> Institutional detail belongs to the Polity commissions owner and is cross-linked rather than duplicated.

This topic-specific rail fixes the evidence sequence and its exam boundary before analysis.

CORE EXPLANATION

The National Commission for Scheduled Castes exists under Article 338 of the Constitution and is therefore a constitutional body whose duties to investigate and monitor safeguards, to inquire into specific complaints and to advise on planning and socio-economic development are entrenched in the Constitution itself, which distinguishes it sharply from a statutory commission created by ordinary legislation such as the women's commission; the owners deliberately do not re-teach its composition and detailed mandate because that content belongs to the Polity commissions owner, and they require the cross-link to be stated rather than the material to be duplicated, so an answer here should use the status distinction and route the institutional detail.

NAMED EVIDENCE AND MECHANISM

- The National Commission for Scheduled Castes exists under Article 338 of the Constitution and is therefore a constitutional body whose duties to investigate and monitor safeguards, to inquire into specific complaints and to advise on planning and socio-economic development are entrenched in the Constitution itself, which distinguishes it sharply from a statutory commission created by ordinary legislation such as the women's commission; the owners deliberately do not re-teach its composition and detailed mandate because that content belongs to the Polity commissions owner, and they require the cross-link to be stated rather than the material to be duplicated, so an answer here should use the status distinction and route the institutional detail.

EXAMINER CAUTION

- Institutional detail belongs to the Polity commissions owner and is cross-linked rather than duplicated.

EXAM LINK

- Prelims: Retain the exact statute, section, article, ministry, official category, survey round or dated edition attached to The constitutional status of the Scheduled Caste commission, and never upgrade a policy document into a statute or a targeted scheme into a universal entitlement.
- Mains: Use a status distinction precisely and route the institutional detail.

MINI RECAP

- Evidence chain: The commission for Scheduled Castes is a constitutional body
- Qualified use: Use a status distinction precisely and route the institutional detail.

CLOSING RECALL FLOW - CORE - THE CONSTITUTIONAL STATUS OF THE SCHEDULED CASTE COMMISSION

START / CONCEPT: CORE - The constitutional status of the Scheduled Caste commission

|
v

EXACT TERMS: The constitutional status of the Scheduled Caste commission · Evidence chain · Qualified use · Article 338 · The National Commission · Scheduled Castes

|
v

MECHANISM / ARGUMENT: The National Commission for Scheduled Castes exists under Article 338 of the Constitution and is therefore a constitutional body whose duties to investigate and monitor safeguards, to inquire into specific complaints and to advise on planning and socio-economic development are entrenched in the Constitution itself, which distinguishes it sharply from a statutory commission created by ordinary legislation such as the women's commission; the owners deliberately do not re-teach its composition and detailed mandate because that content belongs to the Polity commissions owner, and they require the cross-link to be stated rather than the material to be duplicated, so an answer here should use the status distinction and route the institutional detail.

|
v

CONSEQUENCE / CONTRAST: Institutional detail belongs to the Polity commissions owner and is cross-linked rather than duplicated.

|
v

UPSC TRAP / ANSWER-USE: Do not miss this limiting distinction: use a status distinction precisely and route the institutional detail.

|
v

ANSWER-GRABBING FORMULATION: Evidence chain: The commission for Scheduled Castes is a constitutional body Qualified use: Use a status distinction precisely and route the institutional detail.

SESSION 11 - CORE - THE 2024 SUB-CLASSIFICATION JUDGMENT AND ITS FOUR BOUNDARIES

DEFINITION / WHAT THIS IS CALLED

Plain-language definition: Chinnaiyah; the owners then set the boundary of the holding with unusual care, because the judgment does not alter the Presidential List of Scheduled Castes, does not itself allot any sub-quota to any group and does not direct any State to sub-classify, so what it grants is constitutional permission for an evidence-based State measure and nothing more.

Technical definition: Evidence chain: The 2024 judgment on sub-classification and exactly what it decided - The creamy-layer observations were separate opinions and not a rule Qualified use: State a holding with its boundaries before drawing any policy consequence.

ANSWER-GRABBING OPENING - WRITE/ADAPT IN THE EXAM

Evidence chain: The 2024 judgment on sub-classification and exactly what it decided - The creamy-layer observations were separate opinions and not a rule Qualified use: State a holding with its boundaries before drawing any policy consequence.

MUST-WRITE KEYWORDS

- The 2024 sub-classification judgment
- its four boundaries
- Evidence chain
- Qualified use
- Punjab
- Davinder Singh

How to use them: Frame the answer through The 2024 sub-classification judgment; define its four boundaries, connect Evidence chain with Qualified use to explain the mechanism, and use Punjab for the decisive comparison or qualification.

VISUAL FIRST

THE 2024 SUB-CLASSIFICATION JUDGMENT AND ITS FOUR BOUNDARIES

01. The 2024 judgment on sub-classification and exactly what it decided

|
v

02. The creamy-layer observations were separate opinions and not a rule

BOUNDARY -> The judgment permits an evidence-based State measure; it allots nothing and mandates nothing.

This topic-specific rail fixes the evidence sequence and its exam boundary before analysis.

CORE EXPLANATION

State of Punjab against Davinder Singh, decided on 1 August 2024 by a seven-judge Constitution Bench by a majority of six to one, held that sub-classification within the Scheduled Castes for the purpose of reservation is constitutionally permissible where it is supported by data, and it overruled the earlier decision in E.V. Chinnaiah; the owners then set the boundary of the holding with unusual care, because the judgment does not alter the Presidential List of Scheduled Castes, does not itself allot any sub-quota to any group and does not direct any State to sub-classify, so what it grants is constitutional permission for an evidence-based State measure and nothing more. The owners record that observations about applying a creamy-layer style filter to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes appeared in separate opinions in the 2024 judgment and were not part of the binding holding, and that no general creamy-layer exclusion for those categories has been legislated; the discipline that follows is that the existing creamy-layer rule for other backward classes must not be transplanted in an answer, and that a candidate who writes that the Supreme Court has introduced a creamy layer for the Scheduled Castes has converted an obiter discussion into a legislated rule, which is exactly the status error this folder exists to prevent.

NAMED EVIDENCE AND MECHANISM

- State of Punjab against Davinder Singh, decided on 1 August 2024 by a seven-judge Constitution Bench by a majority of six to one, held that sub-classification within the Scheduled Castes for the purpose of reservation is constitutionally permissible where it is supported by data, and it overruled the earlier decision in E.V. Chinnaiah; the owners then set the boundary of the holding with unusual care, because the judgment does not alter the Presidential List of Scheduled Castes, does not itself allot any sub-quota to any group and does not direct any State to sub-classify, so what it grants is constitutional permission for an evidence-based State measure and nothing more.
- The owners record that observations about applying a creamy-layer style filter to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes appeared in separate opinions in the 2024 judgment and were not part of the binding holding, and that no general creamy-layer exclusion for those categories has been legislated; the discipline that follows is that the existing creamy-layer rule for other backward classes must not be transplanted in an answer, and that a candidate who writes that the Supreme Court has introduced a creamy layer for the Scheduled Castes has converted an obiter discussion into a legislated rule, which is exactly the status error this folder exists to prevent.

EXAMINER CAUTION

- The judgment permits an evidence-based State measure; it allots nothing and mandates nothing.

EXAM LINK

- Prelims: Retain the exact statute, section, article, ministry, official category, survey round or dated edition attached to The 2024 sub-classification judgment and its four boundaries, and never upgrade a policy document into a statute or a targeted scheme into a universal entitlement.
- Mains: State a holding with its boundaries before drawing any policy consequence.

MINI RECAP

- Evidence chain: The 2024 judgment on sub-classification and exactly what it decided -> The creamy-layer observations were separate opinions and not a rule
- Qualified use: State a holding with its boundaries before drawing any policy consequence.

CLOSING RECALL FLOW - CORE - THE 2024 SUB-CLASSIFICATION JUDGMENT AND ITS FOUR BOUNDARIES

START / CONCEPT: CORE - The 2024 sub-classification judgment and its four boundaries

|
v

EXACT TERMS: The 2024 sub-classification judgment · its four boundaries · Evidence chain · Qualified use · Punjab · Davinder Singh

|
v

MECHANISM / ARGUMENT: Chinnaiiah; the owners then set the boundary of the holding with unusual care, because the judgment does not alter the Presidential List of Scheduled Castes, does not itself allot any sub-quota to any group and does not direct any State to sub-classify, so what it grants is constitutional permission for an evidence-based State measure and nothing more.

|
v

CONSEQUENCE / CONTRAST: The owners record that observations about applying a creamy-layer style filter to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes appeared in separate opinions in the 2024 judgment and were not part of the binding holding, and that no general creamy-layer exclusion for those categories has been legislated; the discipline that follows is that the existing creamy-layer rule for other backward classes must not be transplanted in an answer, and that a candidate who writes that the Supreme Court has introduced a creamy layer for the Scheduled Castes has converted an obiter discussion into a legislated rule, which is exactly the status error this folder exists to prevent.

|
v

UPSC TRAP / ANSWER-USE: Do not miss this limiting distinction: state of Punjab against Davinder Singh, decided on 1 August 2024 by a seven-judge...

|
v

ANSWER-GRABBING FORMULATION: Evidence chain: The 2024 judgment on sub-classification and exactly what it decided - The creamy-layer observations were separate opinions and not a rule Qualified use: State a holding with its boundaries before drawing any policy consequence.

SESSION 12 - CORE - WITHIN-CATEGORY HETEROGENEITY AND SCHEME CAPTURE

DEFINITION / WHAT THIS IS CALLED

Plain-language definition: The owners insist that the Scheduled Castes are not a monolithic category, because some sub-castes face substantially greater disadvantage than others and manual-scavenging communities are named as a boundary case carrying stigma and occupational hazard beyond general Scheduled Caste disadvantage; the policy consequence is that a scheme designed for the category as a whole may be captured disproportionately by the relatively better-placed sub-groups, so the model-village, hostel and credit channels can be fully implemented and still leave the worst-off communities untouched, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation route belongs to the manual-scavenging owner.

Technical definition: Evidence chain: Within-category heterogeneity and why flat schemes may miss the worst off
Qualified use: Argue targeting from heterogeneity rather than from a general call for more funds.

ANSWER-GRABBING OPENING - WRITE/ADAPT IN THE EXAM

Evidence chain: Within-category heterogeneity and why flat schemes may miss the worst off
Qualified use: Argue targeting from heterogeneity rather than from a general call for more funds.

MUST-WRITE KEYWORDS

- Within-category heterogeneity
- scheme capture
- Evidence chain
- Qualified use
- The owners insist that the Scheduled Castes
- Scheduled Castes

How to use them: Frame the answer through Within-category heterogeneity; define scheme capture, connect Evidence chain with Qualified use to explain the mechanism, and use The owners insist that the Scheduled Castes for the decisive comparison or qualification.

VISUAL FIRST

WITHIN-CATEGORY HETEROGENEITY AND SCHEME CAPTURE

01. Within-category heterogeneity and why flat schemes may miss the worst off BOUNDARY -> A category-wide scheme can be fully implemented and still miss the worst-off sub-groups.

This topic-specific rail fixes the evidence sequence and its exam boundary before analysis.

CORE EXPLANATION

The owners insist that the Scheduled Castes are not a monolithic category, because some sub-castes face substantially greater disadvantage than others and manual-scavenging communities are named as a boundary case carrying stigma and occupational hazard beyond general Scheduled Caste disadvantage; the policy consequence is that a scheme designed for the category as a whole may be captured disproportionately by the relatively better-placed sub-groups, so the model-village, hostel and credit channels can be fully implemented and still leave the worst-off communities untouched, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation route belongs to the manual-scavenging owner.

NAMED EVIDENCE AND MECHANISM

- The owners insist that the Scheduled Castes are not a monolithic category, because some sub-castes face substantially greater disadvantage than others and manual-scavenging communities are named as a boundary case carrying stigma and occupational hazard beyond general Scheduled Caste disadvantage; the policy consequence is that a scheme designed for the category as a whole may be captured disproportionately by the relatively better-placed sub-groups, so the model-village, hostel and credit channels can be fully implemented and still leave the worst-off communities untouched, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation route belongs to the manual-scavenging owner.

EXAMINER CAUTION

- A category-wide scheme can be fully implemented and still miss the worst-off sub-groups.

EXAM LINK

- Prelims: Retain the exact statute, section, article, ministry, official category, survey round or dated edition attached to Within-category heterogeneity and scheme capture, and never upgrade a policy document into a statute or a targeted scheme into a universal entitlement.
- Mains: Argue targeting from heterogeneity rather than from a general call for more funds.

MINI RECAP

- Evidence chain: Within-category heterogeneity and why flat schemes may miss the worst off
- Qualified use: Argue targeting from heterogeneity rather than from a general call for more funds.

CLOSING RECALL FLOW - CORE - WITHIN-CATEGORY HETEROGENEITY AND SCHEME CAPTURE

START / CONCEPT: CORE - Within-category heterogeneity and scheme capture

|
v

EXACT TERMS: Within-category heterogeneity · scheme capture · Evidence chain · Qualified use · The owners insist that the Scheduled Castes · Scheduled Castes

|
v

MECHANISM / ARGUMENT: Prelims: Retain the exact statute, section, article, ministry, official category, survey round or dated edition attached to Within-category heterogeneity and scheme capture, and never upgrade a policy document into a statute or a targeted scheme into a universal entitlement.

|
v

CONSEQUENCE / CONTRAST: The owners insist that the Scheduled Castes are not a monolithic category, because some sub-castes face substantially greater disadvantage than others and manual-scavenging communities are named as a boundary case carrying stigma and occupational hazard beyond general Scheduled Caste disadvantage; the policy consequence is that a scheme designed for the category as a whole may be captured disproportionately by the relatively better-placed sub-groups, so the model-village, hostel and credit channels can be fully implemented and still leave the worst-off communities untouched, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation route belongs to the manual-scavenging owner.

|
v

UPSC TRAP / ANSWER-USE: Do not miss this limiting distinction: a category-wide scheme can be fully implemented and still miss the worst-off sub-groups.

|
v

ANSWER-GRABBING FORMULATION: Evidence chain: Within-category heterogeneity and why flat schemes may miss the worst off Qualified use: Argue targeting from heterogeneity rather than from a general call for more funds.

SESSION 13 - CORE SYNTHESIS - THE POLITICAL-ECONOMY TRADE-OFF OF SUB-CLASSIFICATION

DEFINITION / WHAT THIS IS CALLED

Plain-language definition: The owners set out three considerations that any sub-classification answer must hold together: the opportunity, which is that sub-classification addresses within-category inequality and prevents relatively advanced sub-castes from capturing a disproportionate share of benefits; the risk, which is that it may fragment Scheduled Caste political unity and weaken collective bargaining power while State-level politics exploits sub-caste divisions for electoral purposes; and the empirical requirement, which is that any classification must be justified by backwardness and representation data for each sub-group, failing which it is arbitrary and legally vulnerable; the owners add that the judgment permits but does not mandate the measure, so a State's inaction is not itself unconstitutional.

Technical definition: Evidence chain: The political-economy trade-off of sub-classification Qualified use: Hold opportunity, fragmentation risk and the evidence requirement together in one verdict.

ANSWER-GRABBING OPENING - WRITE/ADAPT IN THE EXAM

Evidence chain: The political-economy trade-off of sub-classification Qualified use: Hold opportunity, fragmentation risk and the evidence requirement together in one verdict.

MUST-WRITE KEYWORDS

- CORE SYNTHESIS
- The political-economy trade-off of sub-classification
- Evidence chain
- Qualified use
- Scheduled Caste
- Permission

How to use them: Frame the answer through CORE SYNTHESIS; define The political-economy trade-off of sub-classification, connect Evidence chain with Qualified use to explain the mechanism, and use Scheduled Caste for the decisive comparison or qualification.

VISUAL FIRST

THE POLITICAL-ECONOMY TRADE-OFF OF SUB-CLASSIFICATION

01. The political-economy trade-off of sub-classification

BOUNDARY -> Permission is not a mandate, so State inaction is not itself unconstitutional.

This topic-specific rail fixes the evidence sequence and its exam boundary before analysis.

CORE EXPLANATION

The owners set out three considerations that any sub-classification answer must hold together: the opportunity, which is that sub-classification addresses within-category inequality and prevents relatively advanced sub-castes from capturing a disproportionate share of benefits; the risk, which is that it may fragment Scheduled Caste political unity and weaken collective bargaining power while State-level politics exploits sub-caste divisions for electoral purposes; and the empirical requirement, which is that any classification must be justified by backwardness and representation data for each sub-group, failing which it is arbitrary and legally vulnerable; the owners add that the judgment permits but does not mandate the measure, so a State's inaction is not itself unconstitutional.

NAMED EVIDENCE AND MECHANISM

- The owners set out three considerations that any sub-classification answer must hold together: the opportunity, which is that sub-classification addresses within-category inequality and prevents relatively advanced sub-castes from capturing a disproportionate share of benefits; the risk, which is that it may fragment Scheduled Caste political unity and weaken collective bargaining power while State-level politics exploits sub-caste divisions for electoral purposes; and the empirical requirement, which is that any classification must be justified by backwardness and representation data for each sub-group, failing which it is arbitrary and legally vulnerable; the owners add that the judgment permits but does not mandate the measure, so a State's inaction is not itself unconstitutional.

EXAMINER CAUTION

- Permission is not a mandate, so State inaction is not itself unconstitutional.

EXAM LINK

- Prelims: Retain the exact statute, section, article, ministry, official category, survey round or dated edition attached to The political-economy trade-off of sub-classification, and never upgrade a policy document into a statute or a targeted scheme into a universal entitlement.
- Mains: Hold opportunity, fragmentation risk and the evidence requirement together in one verdict.

MINI RECAP

- Evidence chain: The political-economy trade-off of sub-classification
- Qualified use: Hold opportunity, fragmentation risk and the evidence requirement together in one verdict.

CLOSING RECALL FLOW - CORE SYNTHESIS - THE POLITICAL-ECONOMY TRADE-OFF OF SUB-CLASSIFICATION

START / CONCEPT: CORE SYNTHESIS - The political-economy trade-off of sub-classification

|
v

EXACT TERMS: CORE SYNTHESIS · The political-economy trade-off of sub-classification · Evidence chain · Qualified use · Scheduled Caste · Permission

|
v

MECHANISM / ARGUMENT: The owners set out three considerations that any sub-classification answer must hold together: the opportunity, which is that sub-classification addresses within-category inequality and prevents relatively advanced sub-castes from capturing a disproportionate share of benefits; the risk, which is that it may fragment Scheduled Caste political unity and weaken collective bargaining power while State-level politics exploits sub-caste divisions for electoral purposes; and the empirical requirement, which is that any classification must be justified by backwardness and representation data for each sub-group, failing which it is arbitrary and legally vulnerable; the owners add that the judgment permits but does not mandate the measure, so a State's inaction is not itself unconstitutional.

|
v

CONSEQUENCE / CONTRAST: Permission is not a mandate, so State inaction is not itself unconstitutional.

|
v

UPSC TRAP / ANSWER-USE: Do not miss this limiting distinction: the political-economy trade-off of sub-classification Qualified use.

|
v

ANSWER-GRABBING FORMULATION: Evidence chain: The political-economy trade-off of sub-classification Qualified use: Hold opportunity, fragmentation risk and the evidence requirement together in one verdict.

SESSION 14 - CORE SYNTHESIS - REGISTERED DATA, DENOMINATORS AND THE DATED SCALE ANCHOR

DEFINITION / WHAT THIS IS CALLED

Plain-language definition: The owners carry one dated scale anchor, namely that the Scheduled Castes formed 16.6 per cent of India's population in the 2011 Census, and they attach the instruction that current atrocity data be used only with the year and denominator attached; the analytical use of a population share is to convert an absolute count into a rate and to make a representation claim about seats, services or budget shares meaningful, and its limit is that a share measured in 2011 is a dated denominator which must not be silently applied to a later count without saying so.

Technical definition: Evidence chain: What registered atrocity data measure and what they do not - The scale anchor and how to use it Qualified use: Use official data with the year, the denominator and the reporting caveat attached.

ANSWER-GRABBING OPENING - WRITE/ADAPT IN THE EXAM

Evidence chain: What registered atrocity data measure and what they do not - The scale anchor and how to use it
Qualified use: Use official data with the year, the denominator and the reporting caveat attached.

MUST-WRITE KEYWORDS

- CORE SYNTHESIS
- Registered data
- denominators
- the dated scale anchor
- Evidence chain
- Qualified use

How to use them: Frame the answer through CORE SYNTHESIS; define Registered data, connect denominators with the dated scale anchor to explain the mechanism, and use Evidence chain for the decisive comparison or qualification.

VISUAL FIRST

REGISTERED DATA, DENOMINATORS AND THE DATED SCALE ANCHOR

01. What registered atrocity data measure and what they do not

|
v

02. The scale anchor and how to use it

BOUNDARY -> Registration is not prevalence and a 2011 population share is a dated denominator.

This topic-specific rail fixes the evidence sequence and its exam boundary before analysis.

CORE EXPLANATION

The National Crime Records Bureau publishes registered atrocity cases under the Act in its annual crime report, and the owners record it as the primary official source while stating its limits explicitly: it counts cases that entered the system, so a rise may reflect rising victimisation, improving reporting or both, and under-reporting driven by social pressure, fear of retaliation and police reluctance depresses registration, with registration practice varying across States; the owners add that a conviction figure must be read together with pendency, investigation quality and witness vulnerability, so a bare conviction rate is not evidence about the incidence of atrocity, and any current figure must be cited with its year and its denominator. The owners carry one dated scale anchor, namely that the Scheduled Castes formed 16.6 per cent of India's population in the 2011 Census, and they attach the instruction that current atrocity data be used only with the year and denominator attached; the analytical use of a population share is to convert an absolute count into a rate and to make a representation claim about seats, services or budget shares meaningful, and its limit is that a share measured in 2011 is a dated denominator which must not be silently applied to a later count without saying so.

NAMED EVIDENCE AND MECHANISM

- The National Crime Records Bureau publishes registered atrocity cases under the Act in its annual crime report, and the owners record it as the primary official source while stating its limits explicitly: it counts cases that entered the system, so a rise may reflect rising victimisation, improving reporting or both, and under-reporting driven by social pressure, fear of retaliation and police reluctance depresses registration, with registration practice varying across States; the owners add that a conviction figure must be read together with pendency, investigation quality and witness vulnerability, so a bare conviction rate is not evidence about the incidence of atrocity, and any current figure must be cited with its year and its denominator.
- The owners carry one dated scale anchor, namely that the Scheduled Castes formed 16.6 per cent of India's population in the 2011 Census, and they attach the instruction that current atrocity data be used only with the year and denominator attached; the analytical use of a population share is to convert an absolute count into a rate and to make a representation claim about seats, services or budget shares meaningful, and its limit is that a share measured in 2011 is a dated denominator which must not be silently applied to a later count without saying so.

EXAMINER CAUTION

- Registration is not prevalence and a 2011 population share is a dated denominator.

EXAM LINK

- Prelims: Retain the exact statute, section, article, ministry, official category, survey round or dated edition attached to Registered data, denominators and the dated scale anchor, and never upgrade a policy document into a statute or a targeted scheme into a universal entitlement.
- Mains: Use official data with the year, the denominator and the reporting caveat attached.

MINI RECAP

- Evidence chain: What registered atrocity data measure and what they do not -> The scale anchor and how to use it
- Qualified use: Use official data with the year, the denominator and the reporting caveat attached.

CLOSING RECALL FLOW - CORE SYNTHESIS - REGISTERED DATA, DENOMINATORS AND THE DATED SCALE ANCHOR

START / CONCEPT: CORE SYNTHESIS - Registered data, denominators and the dated scale anchor

|
v

EXACT TERMS: CORE SYNTHESIS · Registered data · denominators · the dated scale anchor · Evidence chain · Qualified use

|
v

MECHANISM / ARGUMENT: The owners carry one dated scale anchor, namely that the Scheduled Castes formed 16.6 per cent of India's population in the 2011 Census, and they attach the instruction that current atrocity data be used only with the year and denominator attached; the analytical use of a population share is to convert an absolute count into a rate and to make a representation claim about seats, services or budget shares meaningful, and its limit is that a share measured in 2011 is a dated denominator which must not be silently applied to a later count without saying so.

|
v

CONSEQUENCE / CONTRAST: Registration is not prevalence and a 2011 population share is a dated denominator.

|
v

UPSC TRAP / ANSWER-USE: The National Crime Records Bureau publishes registered atrocity cases under the Act in its annual crime report, and the owners record it as the primary official source while stating its limits explicitly: it counts cases that entered the system, so a rise may reflect rising victimisation, improving reporting or both, and under-reporting driven by social pressure, fear of retaliation and police reluctance depresses registration, with registration practice varying across States; the owners add that a conviction figure must be read together with pendency, investigation quality and witness vulnerability, so a bare conviction rate is not evidence about the incidence of atrocity, and any current figure must be cited with its year and its denominator.

|
v

ANSWER-GRABBING FORMULATION: Evidence chain: What registered atrocity data measure and what they do not - The scale anchor and how to use it Qualified use: Use official data with the year, the denominator and the reporting caveat attached.

SESSION 15 - CORE SYNTHESIS - INTERSECTIONALITY, MOBILITY AND THE HONEST OWNERSHIP STATEMENT

DEFINITION / WHAT THIS IS CALLED

Plain-language definition: Second, mobility has an entry side and a conversion side: reservation, scholarships and credit widen entry, while discrimination, landlessness, occupational segregation and violence constrain the conversion of entry into income, assets and standing; the answer-writing consequence is that a recommendation must say which side it operates on, because an entry instrument does not repair a conversion failure.

Technical definition: Evidence chain: Intersectionality and the mobility argument - The zero-direct-PYQ audit stated openly Qualified use: Close with an entry-and-conversion verdict and an explicit ownership and data boundary.

ANSWER-GRABBING OPENING - WRITE/ADAPT IN THE EXAM

Evidence chain: Intersectionality and the mobility argument - The zero-direct-PYQ audit stated openly Qualified use: Close with an entry-and-conversion verdict and an explicit ownership and data boundary.

MUST-WRITE KEYWORDS

- CORE SYNTHESIS
- Intersectionality
- mobility
- the honest ownership statement
- Evidence chain
- Qualified use

How to use them: Frame the answer through CORE SYNTHESIS; define Intersectionality, connect mobility with the honest ownership statement to explain the mechanism, and use Evidence chain for the decisive comparison or qualification.

VISUAL FIRST

INTERSECTIONALITY, MOBILITY AND THE HONEST OWNERSHIP STATEMENT

01. Intersectionality and the mobility argument

|
v

02. The zero-direct-PYQ audit stated openly

BOUNDARY -> No Mains or objective demand is routed to this owner, and none is manufactured.

This topic-specific rail fixes the evidence sequence and its exam boundary before analysis.

CORE EXPLANATION

The owners record two analytical claims that turn a protection answer into a justice answer. First, Dalit women face caste discrimination, gender-based violence and economic dependence at the same time, so an intersectional case cannot be resolved by an atrocity remedy alone or by a gender remedy alone. Second, mobility has an entry side and a conversion side: reservation, scholarships and credit widen entry, while discrimination, landlessness, occupational segregation and violence constrain the conversion of entry into income, assets and standing; the answer-writing consequence is that a recommendation must say which side it operates on, because an entry instrument does not repair a conversion failure. The audited routing ledgers, which cover the Mains papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025 and the Prelims papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025, route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner, and that absence is reported here rather than concealed or filled with a manufactured demand card; the neighbouring 2018 General Studies Paper II demand on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions is routed to the Polity commissions owner, the tribal demands are routed to the Indian Society and Modern History owners, and the Scheduled Area and Fifth Schedule objective demands are routed to the Polity owner, so none of them is claimed here; the practice in this package is therefore six original Mains questions with model solutions written to the repository's examiner-grade standard, and the 2024 sub-classification judgment is treated as a current anchor for a future demand rather than as evidence that a demand already exists.

NAMED EVIDENCE AND MECHANISM

- The owners record two analytical claims that turn a protection answer into a justice answer. First, Dalit women face caste discrimination, gender-based violence and economic dependence at the same time, so an intersectional case cannot be resolved by an atrocity remedy alone or by a gender remedy alone. Second, mobility has an entry side and a conversion side: reservation, scholarships and credit widen entry, while discrimination, landlessness, occupational segregation and violence constrain the conversion of entry into income, assets and standing; the answer-writing consequence is that a recommendation must say which side it operates on, because an entry instrument does not repair a conversion failure.
- The audited routing ledgers, which cover the Mains papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025 and the Prelims papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025, route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner, and that absence is reported here rather than concealed or filled with a manufactured demand card; the neighbouring 2018 General Studies Paper II demand on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions is routed to the Polity commissions owner, the tribal demands are routed to the Indian Society and Modern History owners, and the Scheduled Area and Fifth Schedule objective demands are routed to the Polity owner, so none of them is claimed here; the practice in this package is therefore six original Mains questions with model solutions written to the repository's examiner-grade standard, and the 2024 sub-classification judgment is treated as a current anchor for a future demand rather than as evidence that a demand already exists.

EXAMINER CAUTION

- No Mains or objective demand is routed to this owner, and none is manufactured.

EXAM LINK

- Prelims: Retain the exact statute, section, article, ministry, official category, survey round or dated edition attached to Intersectionality, mobility and the honest ownership statement, and never upgrade a policy document into a statute or a targeted scheme into a universal entitlement.
- Mains: Close with an entry-and-conversion verdict and an explicit ownership and data boundary.

MINI RECAP

- Evidence chain: Intersectionality and the mobility argument -> The zero-direct-PYQ audit stated openly
- Qualified use: Close with an entry-and-conversion verdict and an explicit ownership and data boundary.

COMPLETE BASIC OWNER EVIDENCE BANK

Subject: Social Justice | Tier: Must-Do (foundation) | GS Paper: GS-II. Core area: Prevention of atrocities, SC welfare schemes, sub-classification debate and targeted welfare delivery. Grounded in: Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 (amended 2015, 2018); PM-AJAY (MoSJE); National Scheduled Castes Finance and Development Corporation (NSFDC); State of Punjab v. Davinder Singh (Supreme Court, August 2024); audited UPSC PYQs. FACT: = source-grounded | ANALYSIS: = analytical inference | CURRENT: = current anchor. Companion: advanced/07_Scheduled-Castes-Rights-Atrocities-and-Welfare.md.

1. Visual foundation

SC PROTECTION-WELFARE ARCHITECTURE

Core proposition: FACT: Scheduled Caste protection rests on the Prevention of Atrocities Act (1989, amended 2015 and 2018) for legal remedy and PM-AJAY and NSFDC for welfare delivery; the August 2024 Davinder Singh judgment permits states to sub-classify within SCs for more targeted reservation/welfare allocation, introducing a new dimension to SC-welfare policy.

2. Essential definitions

Concept	Exam-ready meaning
FACT: PoA Act, 1989	The Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989, a special law providing enhanced penalties for caste-based offences against SCs/STs, with Special Courts and victim-relief provisions.
FACT: Atrocity (PoA Act)	Offences listed in the Schedule to the Act (assault, wrongful dispossession, forced labour, sexual exploitation, public humiliation, etc.) committed against an SC/ST person by a non-SC/ST person; the Act provides for enhanced punishment.
FACT: 2015 Amendment (PoA Act)	Expanded atrocity offences, strengthened victim/witness rights and created the Special/Exclusive Special Court architecture. Courts are notified by States with the Chief Justice's concurrence; do not state that an Exclusive Special Court automatically exists in every district.
FACT: 2018 Amendment (PoA Act)	Inserted Section 18A after the 2018 ruling: no preliminary inquiry is required for FIR registration, no approval is required for arrest, and the statutory bar on anticipatory bail is restored. Prathvi Raj Chauhan (2020) preserves exceptional constitutional-court protection where no prima facie case exists.
FACT: PM-AJAY	Pradhan Mantri Anusuchit Jaati Abhyudaya Yojana - umbrella SC-development framework covering SC-dominated-village development (Adarsh Gram), grants for district/state socio-economic projects and hostel support in higher educational institutions. State proposals and annual approvals determine delivery; do not treat every MoSJE SC scheme as a PM-AJAY component.
FACT: NSFDC	National Scheduled Castes Finance and Development Corporation - a Government of India company under MoSJE providing concessional credit and livelihood finance to SC beneficiaries through state channelising agencies.
CURRENT: Davinder Singh (1 Aug 2024)	State of Punjab v. Davinder Singh , a seven-judge Constitution Bench decision (6:1), overruled E.V. Chinnaiah and held that data-supported sub-classification within SCs for reservation is constitutionally permissible. It does not alter the Presidential List or itself allot a sub-quota. Creamy-layer comments in separate opinions are not a legislated SC/ST exclusion rule.

3. How SC protection and welfare instruments work (mechanism)

- PoA Act, 1989 - legal protection: FIR registration for listed atrocity offences; investigation by DSP or above-rank officer; trial in Special Courts; enhanced punishment; victim-relief (monetary compensation, shelter, travel expenses) as per Schedule; presumption of offence in certain circumstances.
- 2015 Amendment: expanded atrocity offences (e.g., garlanding with footwear, preventing entry to public places), strengthened victim/witness safeguards and the Special/Exclusive Special Court architecture. Court notification depends on statutory conditions and State action; it is not an automatic one-court-per-district rule.
- 2018 Amendment (Act-Court-Amendment sequence): Parliament inserted Section 18A: no preliminary inquiry before FIR, no approval before arrest and the statutory anticipatory-bail bar notwithstanding the earlier ruling. Prathvi Raj Chauhan later upheld Section 18A while retaining exceptional constitutional-court protection where the complaint discloses no prima facie case.
- PM-AJAY - welfare delivery: (a) Adarsh Gram development for SC-dominated villages;

(b) grants for approved district/state socio-economic projects; and (c) hostel support in higher educational institutions. These are project/sanction channels, not automatic individual benefits.

5. NSFDC - credit access: provides term loans, micro-credit and skill-development finance to SC entrepreneurs/beneficiaries at concessional rates through state channelising agencies.

4. Institutions and tools

- FACT: PoA Act, 1989 (amended 2015, 2018): State-notified Special/Exclusive Special Courts, Special Public Prosecutors, victim/witness safeguards and relief/ rehabilitation; verify the court-notification status for the relevant State.
- FACT: PM-AJAY (MoSJE): umbrella framework for Adarsh Gram, district/state socio-economic development projects and hostel support, implemented through approved proposals rather than an automatic individual entitlement.
- FACT: NSFDC (MoSJE PSU): concessional credit, micro-credit, skill-development finance for SC beneficiaries.
- FACT: NCSC (Art 338): National Commission for Scheduled Castes - constitutional body investigating SC-rights violations and advising on safeguards; composition/mandate detail is in Polity/basic/National-Commissions-SC-ST-BC.md (cross-link, not re-taught here).

5. Indian applications and examples

- ANALYSIS: A case of public humiliation (garlanding with footwear) of an SC person: prosecutable as an atrocity under the 2015-expanded offence list; Special Court jurisdiction.
- ANALYSIS: PM-AJAY's Adarsh Gram component targeting SC-dominated villages for saturation of basic services illustrates the welfare-delivery mechanism.
- CURRENT: Davinder Singh (1 August 2024): the seven-judge Bench permitted data-supported sub-classification within SCs and overruled E.V. Chinnaiah. It does not itself allot a sub-quota or alter the Presidential List. Creamy-layer observations were in separate opinions, not a current SC/ST exclusion rule; any welfare use must therefore be evidence-based and lawfully designed.
- FACT: Scale anchor: Scheduled Castes formed 16.6% of India's population in Census 2011. Use current NCRB atrocity data only with year and denominator; registration can rise because victimisation rises, reporting improves, or both.

6. Must-Know Facts for Prelims

- FACT: PoA Act, 1989 provides enhanced penalties for listed atrocity offences against SCs/STs; trial in Special Courts.
- FACT: The 2015 Amendment expanded offences and strengthened State-notified Special/ Exclusive Special Courts and Special Public Prosecutors.
- FACT: The 2018 Amendment inserted Section 18A: no preliminary inquiry before FIR, no approval before arrest and the statutory anticipatory-bail bar, subject to the narrow Prathvi Raj Chauhan prima-facie-case safeguard.
- FACT: PM-AJAY is the umbrella SC-welfare scheme under MoSJE, merging erstwhile standalone schemes.
- FACT: NSFDC provides concessional credit to SC beneficiaries through state channelising agencies.

7. UPSC traps

- WRONG: The 2018 PoA Amendment was passed to implement a Supreme Court direction. -> The 2018 Amendment was passed to override a Supreme Court ruling that diluted arrest/ anticipatory-bail provisions; Parliament reinstated the original stringent provisions.

- WRONG: Davinder Singh (2024) created a sub-classification or an SC/ST creamy-layer rule. ->

The judgment permits data-supported sub-classification; it neither allocates a sub-quota by itself nor makes the separate creamy-layer observations a legislated rule.

- WRONG: NCSC is a statutory body like NCW. -> NCSC is a constitutional body under Art 338;

NCW is a statutory body under the NCW Act, 1990.

- WRONG: PM-AJAY is an automatic individual scholarship/loan entitlement. -> It is an umbrella project framework for Adarsh Gram, socio-economic development proposals and hostel support; other SC schemes and NSFDC credit have distinct eligibility routes.

8. CURRENT: Current anchor

- CURRENT: Davinder Singh (1 August 2024): The binding point is constitutional permission for evidence-based sub-classification within SCs, not automatic redistribution of a quota or a creamy-layer rule. Use it as a current targeting debate while retaining the distinct PoA enforcement problem and the relevant State's legal action.

9. PYQ application

- ANALYSIS: No direct 2024/2025 GS-II Mains hit on SC atrocities/welfare. However, the Davinder Singh judgment is a current anchor that examiners may use in future questions on targeted welfare delivery or within-SC inequality.

10. Mains angles

- ANALYSIS: Distinguish the PoA Act's legal-protection function from PM-AJAY's welfare-delivery function - both address SC disadvantage but through different instruments.
 - ANALYSIS: The 2018 Amendment is a textbook example of Parliament responding to a judicial ruling by amending the law - a separation-of-powers theme (cross-link Polity).
 - ANALYSIS: Davinder Singh's sub-classification logic connects to within-SC heterogeneity -
- Mains answers should acknowledge that "SC" is not a monolithic category and that some sub-castes face greater disadvantage than others.

Answer thesis: Scheduled Caste protection combines legal remedy (PoA Act, 1989, with its 2015 and 2018 amendments) and welfare delivery (PM-AJAY, NSFDC); the August 2024 Davinder Singh ruling introduces a new targeting dimension by permitting sub-classification within SCs, potentially improving resource allocation to the most disadvantaged sub-groups while raising political-economy concerns about SC unity.

11. Probable questions

- ANALYSIS: Prelims: Which amendment to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act restored stringent arrest provisions after a Supreme Court ruling diluted them?
- ANALYSIS: Mains (10 marks): Examine the significance of the 2018 Amendment to the SC/ST (Prevention of Atrocities) Act in restoring procedural safeguards for victims.
- ANALYSIS: Mains (15 marks): The Supreme Court's Davinder Singh ruling permits sub-classification within Scheduled Castes. Discuss the implications for targeted welfare delivery and political representation.

11A. Answer architecture (10/15/20-mark support)

- Law bank: Articles 14-17, 23, 46, 330/332 and 338; PCR Act, 1955; SC/ST (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 and its special-court, relief and witness architecture.
- Data: NCRB atrocity data show persistence, but reporting also reflects registration; conviction must be read with pendency, investigation and witness vulnerability.
- Intersectionality: Dalit women face caste, gender violence and economic dependence.

- Mobility: reservation, scholarships and credit widen entry, while discrimination, landlessness, occupational segregation and violence constrain conversion.

10 marks: right/law plus 2-3 barriers. 15 marks: prevention, prosecution, relief, representation and mobility. 20 marks: untouchability, atrocity, assets, education, labour, gender and institutions with data cautions.

Reasoned verdict: Protective law must be joined to material mobility, recognition and credible local enforcement.

12. Study links

- FACT: Advanced companion: advanced/07_Scheduled-Castes-Rights-Atrocities-and-Welfare.md.
- FACT: Polity/basic/National-Commissions-SC-ST-BC.md - NCSC composition and mandate (constitutional body).
- FACT: Polity/advanced/22_Special-Provisions.md - reservation doctrine (50% ceiling, Indra Sawhney, creamy layer) - cross-link, not re-taught here.
- FACT: 08_Scheduled-Tribes-PVTGs-and-Tribal-Welfare.md - parallel PoA Act application for STs; FRA/PESA welfare architecture.

CLOSING RECALL FLOW - CORE SYNTHESIS - INTERSECTIONALITY, MOBILITY AND THE HONEST OWNERSHIP STATEMENT

START / CONCEPT: CORE SYNTHESIS - Intersectionality, mobility and the honest ownership statement

|

v

EXACT TERMS: CORE SYNTHESIS · Intersectionality · mobility · the honest ownership statement · Evidence chain · Qualified use

|

v

MECHANISM / ARGUMENT: Second, mobility has an entry side and a conversion side: reservation, scholarships and credit widen entry, while discrimination, landlessness, occupational segregation and violence constrain the conversion of entry into income, assets and standing; the answer-writing consequence is that a recommendation must say which side it operates on, because an entry instrument does not repair a conversion failure.

|

v

CONSEQUENCE / CONTRAST: Court notification depends on statutory conditions and State action; it is not an automatic one-court-per-district rule. no preliminary inquiry before FIR, no approval before arrest and the statutory anticipatory-bail bar notwithstanding the earlier ruling.

|

v

UPSC TRAP / ANSWER-USE: It does not itself allot a sub-quota or alter the Presidential List.

|

v

ANSWER-GRABBING FORMULATION: Evidence chain: Intersectionality and the mobility argument - The zero-direct-PYQ audit stated openly Qualified use: Close with an entry-and-conversion verdict and an explicit ownership and data boundary.

BASIC MCQS / REMEDIATION

Q1. Which statement correctly identifies What this owner holds and why its PYQ record is stated as zero?

A. This topic owns the Scheduled Caste half of the protection-and-welfare argument, namely the special atrocities law with its amendment sequence, the umbrella development framework, the concessional-credit corporation, the post-matriculation scholarship route and the within-category targeting debate opened by the 2024 sub-classification judgment; its distinctive feature is the honesty of its examination record, because the audited routing ledgers route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner for the covered years, and the nearest neighbouring demand, the 2018 General Studies Paper II question on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions, is routed by the ledger to the Polity commissions owner and is therefore not claimed here; reservation doctrine such as the ceiling and the creamy-layer rule for other backward classes is owned by the Polity special-provisions owner, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation question by the manual-scavenging owner. B. The owners record the law bank as Articles 14 to 17, 23, 46, 330 and 332 and 338, where Article 15 and Article 16 permit special provision and reservation, Article 17 abolishes untouchability and makes its practice an offence, Article 23 prohibits forced labour and trafficking, Article 46 directs the State to promote with special care the educational and economic interests of the weaker sections and to protect them from social injustice and all forms of exploitation, Articles 330 and 332 reserve seats in the House of the People and in the State Assemblies, and Article 338 creates the national commission; the statutory layer is the Protection of Civil Rights Act, 1955 and the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 with its special-court, relief and witness architecture, and the discipline is that an untouchability offence and an atrocity are separate statutory routes rather than synonyms. C. The owners define an atrocity as an offence listed in the Schedule to the Act, and they name assault, wrongful dispossession, forced labour, sexual exploitation and public humiliation among the listed heads, committed against a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe person by a person who is not a member of those categories; the 2015 amendment expanded the list with new offences including garlanding with footwear and preventing entry to public places, so the offence set is not confined to physical violence and expressly reaches social and economic exclusion such as boycott, which is why an answer that treats the Act as a violence statute alone understates its coverage. D. The Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 is a special law providing enhanced penalties for caste-based offences committed against members of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, and the owners record its distinctive architecture as Special Courts for trial, victim-relief provisions and a presumption of the offence in certain circumstances; the reason the design matters in an answer is that the same physical act may be an ordinary offence under the general penal law and an atrocity under this Act, and it is the identity of the victim, the identity of the accused and the listed nature of the act that convert the first into the second, which is why a general law-and-order framing misses what the statute is for.

Answer: A. Explanation: This topic owns the Scheduled Caste half of the protection-and-welfare argument, namely the special atrocities law with its amendment sequence, the umbrella development framework, the concessional-credit corporation, the post-matriculation scholarship route and the within-category targeting debate opened by the 2024 sub-classification judgment; its distinctive feature is the honesty of its examination record, because the audited routing ledgers route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner for the covered years, and the nearest neighbouring demand, the 2018 General Studies Paper II question on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions, is routed by the ledger to the Polity commissions owner and is therefore not claimed here; reservation doctrine such as the ceiling and the creamy-layer rule for other backward classes is owned by the Polity special-provisions owner, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation question by the manual-scavenging owner. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q2. Which chronology card should be filed under What this owner holds and why its PYQ record is stated as zero?

A. The owners set out the procedural chain as registration of a first information report for a listed atrocity offence, investigation by an officer of the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police or above, trial before a State-notified Special Court with a Special Public Prosecutor, and victim relief in the form of monetary compensation, shelter and travel expenses in accordance with the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules, 1995 as amended; the analytical value of setting out the chain in this order is that a failure can be located at exactly one joint, so an answer can say whether the defect is registration, investigation rank, court capacity, prosecutor quality or the payment of relief rather than asserting that the Act does not work. B. This topic owns the Scheduled Caste half of the protection-and-welfare argument, namely the special atrocities law with its amendment sequence, the umbrella development framework, the concessional-credit corporation, the post-matriculation scholarship route and the within-category targeting debate opened by the 2024 sub-classification judgment; its distinctive feature is the honesty of its examination record, because the audited routing ledgers route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner for the covered years, and the nearest neighbouring demand, the 2018 General Studies Paper II question on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions, is routed by the ledger to the Polity commissions owner and is therefore not claimed here; reservation doctrine such as the ceiling and the creamy-layer rule for other backward classes is owned by the Polity special-provisions owner, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation question by the manual-scavenging owner. C. The owners define an atrocity as an offence listed in the Schedule to the Act, and they name assault, wrongful dispossession, forced labour, sexual exploitation and public humiliation among the listed heads, committed against a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe person by a person who is not a member of those categories; the 2015 amendment expanded the list with new offences including garlanding with footwear and preventing entry to public places, so the offence set is not confined to physical violence and expressly reaches social and economic exclusion such as boycott, which is why an answer that treats the Act as a violence statute alone understates its coverage. D. The Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 is a special law providing enhanced penalties for caste-based offences committed against members of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, and the owners record its distinctive architecture as Special Courts for trial, victim-relief provisions and a presumption of the offence in certain circumstances; the reason the design matters in an answer is that the same physical act may be an ordinary offence under the general penal law and an atrocity under this Act, and it is the identity of the victim, the identity of the accused and the listed nature of the act that convert the first into the second, which is why a general law-and-order framing misses what the statute is for.

Answer: B. Explanation: This topic owns the Scheduled Caste half of the protection-and-welfare argument, namely the special atrocities law with its amendment sequence, the umbrella development framework, the concessional-credit corporation, the post-matriculation scholarship route and the within-category targeting debate opened by the 2024 sub-classification judgment; its distinctive feature is the honesty of its examination record, because the audited routing ledgers route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner for the covered years, and the nearest neighbouring demand, the 2018 General Studies Paper II question on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions, is routed by the ledger to the Polity commissions owner and is therefore not claimed here; reservation doctrine such as the ceiling and the creamy-layer rule for other backward classes is owned by the Polity special-provisions owner, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation question by the manual-scavenging owner. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q3. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of What this owner holds and why its PYQ record is stated as zero?

A. The owners define an atrocity as an offence listed in the Schedule to the Act, and they name assault, wrongful dispossession, forced labour, sexual exploitation and public humiliation among the listed heads, committed against a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe person by a person who is not a member of those categories; the 2015 amendment expanded the list with new offences including garlanding with footwear and preventing entry to public places, so the offence set is not confined to physical violence and expressly reaches social and economic exclusion such as boycott, which is why an answer that treats the Act as a violence statute alone understates its coverage. B. The owners set out the procedural chain as registration of a first information report for a listed atrocity offence, investigation by an officer of the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police or above, trial before a State-notified Special Court with a Special Public Prosecutor, and victim relief in the form of monetary compensation, shelter and travel expenses in accordance with the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules, 1995 as amended; the analytical value of setting out the chain in this order is that a failure can be located at exactly one joint, so an answer can say whether the defect is registration, investigation rank, court capacity, prosecutor quality or the payment of relief rather than asserting that the Act does not work. C. This topic owns the Scheduled Caste half of the protection-and-welfare argument, namely the special atrocities law with its amendment sequence, the umbrella development framework, the concessional-credit corporation, the post-matriculation scholarship route and the within-category targeting debate opened by the 2024 sub-classification judgment; its distinctive feature is the honesty of its examination record, because the audited routing ledgers route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner for the covered years, and the nearest neighbouring demand, the 2018 General Studies Paper II question on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions, is routed by the ledger to the Polity commissions owner and is therefore not claimed here; reservation doctrine such as the ceiling and the creamy-layer rule for other backward classes is owned by the Polity special-provisions owner, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation question by the manual-scavenging owner. D. The 2015 amendment expanded the list of atrocity offences, strengthened the rights of victims and witnesses and created the Special and Exclusive Special Court architecture, and the owners attach a precise caution to that architecture: such courts are notified by States under the conditions the Act lays down and with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the concerned High Court, so it must not be stated that an Exclusive Special Court automatically exists in every district; the examinable consequence is that court availability is a State-specific fact to be verified rather than a national entitlement to be assumed, and pendency in atrocity trials is therefore partly a notification and staffing question.

Answer: C. Explanation: This topic owns the Scheduled Caste half of the protection-and-welfare argument, namely the special atrocities law with its amendment sequence, the umbrella development framework, the concessional-credit corporation, the post-matriculation scholarship route and the within-category targeting debate opened by the 2024 sub-classification judgment; its distinctive feature is the honesty of its examination record, because the audited routing ledgers route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner for the covered years, and the nearest neighbouring demand, the 2018 General Studies Paper II question on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions, is routed by the ledger to the Polity commissions owner and is therefore not claimed here; reservation doctrine such as the ceiling and the creamy-layer rule for other backward classes is owned by the Polity special-provisions owner, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation question by the manual-scavenging owner. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q4. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about What this owner holds and why its PYQ record is stated as zero?

A. The 2015 amendment expanded the list of atrocity offences, strengthened the rights of victims and witnesses and created the Special and Exclusive Special Court architecture, and the owners attach a precise caution to that architecture: such courts are notified by States under the conditions the Act lays down and with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the concerned High Court, so it must not be stated that an Exclusive Special Court automatically exists in every district; the examinable consequence is that court availability is a State-specific fact to be verified rather than a national entitlement to be assumed, and pendency in atrocity trials is therefore partly a notification and staffing question. B. The owners record the sequence with care. A 2018 ruling of the Supreme Court diluted arrest and anticipatory-bail protection under the Act; Parliament responded by inserting Section 18A, under which no preliminary inquiry is required for the registration of a first information report, no approval is required for arrest and the statutory bar on anticipatory bail is restored notwithstanding that ruling; the constitutional challenge to the amendment was then decided in Prathvi Raj Chauhan in 2020, which upheld Section 18A while preserving an exceptional power in a constitutional court to intervene where the complaint discloses no prima facie case; the recurring trap is to say the 2018 amendment implemented a judicial direction when it in fact overrode one. C. The owners set out the procedural chain as registration of a first information report for a listed atrocity offence, investigation by an officer of the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police or above, trial before a State-notified Special Court with a Special Public Prosecutor, and victim relief in the form of monetary compensation, shelter and travel expenses in accordance with the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules, 1995 as amended; the analytical value of setting out the chain in this order is that a failure can be located at exactly one joint, so an answer can say whether the defect is registration, investigation rank, court capacity, prosecutor quality or the payment of relief rather than asserting that the Act does not work. D. This topic owns the Scheduled Caste half of the protection-and-welfare argument, namely the special atrocities law with its amendment sequence, the umbrella development framework, the concessional-credit corporation, the post-matriculation scholarship route and the within-category targeting debate opened by the 2024 sub-classification judgment; its distinctive feature is the honesty of its examination record, because the audited routing ledgers route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner for the covered years, and the nearest neighbouring demand, the 2018 General Studies Paper II question on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions, is routed by the ledger to the Polity commissions owner and is therefore not claimed here; reservation doctrine such as the ceiling and the creamy-layer rule for other backward classes is owned by the Polity special-provisions owner, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation question by the manual-scavenging owner.

Answer: D. Explanation: This topic owns the Scheduled Caste half of the protection-and-welfare argument, namely the special atrocities law with its amendment sequence, the umbrella development framework, the concessional-credit corporation, the post-matriculation scholarship route and the within-category targeting debate opened by the 2024 sub-classification judgment; its distinctive feature is the honesty of its examination record, because the audited routing ledgers route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner for the covered years, and the nearest neighbouring demand, the 2018 General Studies Paper II question on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions, is routed by the ledger to the Polity commissions owner and is therefore not claimed here; reservation doctrine such as the ceiling and the creamy-layer rule for other backward classes is owned by the Polity special-provisions owner, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation question by the manual-scavenging owner. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q5. Which statement correctly identifies The constitutional and statutory bank for a Scheduled Caste answer?

A. The owners record the law bank as Articles 14 to 17, 23, 46, 330 and 332 and 338, where Article 15 and Article 16 permit special provision and reservation, Article 17 abolishes untouchability and makes its practice an offence, Article 23 prohibits forced labour and trafficking, Article 46 directs the State to promote with special care the educational and economic interests of the weaker sections and to protect them from social injustice and all forms of exploitation, Articles 330 and 332 reserve seats in the House of the People and in the State Assemblies, and Article 338 creates the national commission; the statutory layer is the Protection of Civil Rights Act, 1955 and the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 with its special-court, relief and witness architecture, and the discipline is that an untouchability offence and an atrocity are separate statutory routes rather than synonyms. B. The owners define an atrocity as an offence listed in the Schedule to the Act, and they name assault, wrongful dispossession, forced labour, sexual exploitation and public humiliation among the listed heads, committed against a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe person by a person who is not a member of those categories; the 2015 amendment expanded the list with new offences including garlanding with footwear and preventing entry to public places, so the offence set is not confined to physical violence and expressly reaches social and economic exclusion such as boycott, which is why an answer that treats the Act as a violence statute alone understates its coverage. C. The Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 is a special law providing enhanced penalties for caste-based offences committed against members of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, and the owners record its distinctive architecture as Special Courts for trial, victim-relief provisions and a presumption of the offence in certain circumstances; the reason the design matters in an answer is that the same physical act may be an ordinary offence under the general penal law and an atrocity under this Act, and it is the identity of the victim, the identity of the accused and the listed nature of the act that convert the first into the second, which is why a general law-and-order framing misses what the statute is for. D. The owners set out the procedural chain as registration of a first information report for a listed atrocity offence, investigation by an officer of the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police or above, trial before a State-notified Special Court with a Special Public Prosecutor, and victim relief in the form of monetary compensation, shelter and travel expenses in accordance with the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules, 1995 as amended; the analytical value of setting out the chain in this order is that a failure can be located at exactly one joint, so an answer can say whether the defect is registration, investigation rank, court capacity, prosecutor quality or the payment of relief rather than asserting that the Act does not work.

Answer: A. Explanation: The owners record the law bank as Articles 14 to 17, 23, 46, 330 and 332 and 338, where Article 15 and Article 16 permit special provision and reservation, Article 17 abolishes untouchability and makes its practice an offence, Article 23 prohibits forced labour and trafficking, Article 46 directs the State to promote with special care the educational and economic interests of the weaker sections and to protect them from social injustice and all forms of exploitation, Articles 330 and 332 reserve seats in the House of the People and in the State Assemblies, and Article 338 creates the national commission; the statutory layer is the Protection of Civil Rights Act, 1955 and the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 with its special-court, relief and witness architecture, and the discipline is that an untouchability offence and an atrocity are separate statutory routes rather than synonyms. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q6. Which chronology card should be filed under The constitutional and statutory bank for a Scheduled Caste answer?

A. The owners define an atrocity as an offence listed in the Schedule to the Act, and they name assault, wrongful dispossession, forced labour, sexual exploitation and public humiliation among the listed heads, committed against a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe person by a person who is not a member of those categories; the 2015 amendment expanded the list with new offences including garlanding with footwear and preventing entry to public places, so the offence set is not confined to physical violence and expressly reaches social and economic exclusion such as boycott, which is why an answer that treats the Act as a violence statute alone understates its coverage. B. The owners record the law bank as Articles 14 to 17, 23, 46, 330 and 332 and 338, where Article 15 and Article 16 permit special provision and reservation, Article 17 abolishes untouchability and makes its practice an offence, Article 23 prohibits forced labour and trafficking, Article 46 directs the State to promote with special care the educational and economic interests of the weaker sections and to protect them from social injustice and all forms of exploitation,

Articles 330 and 332 reserve seats in the House of the People and in the State Assemblies, and Article 338 creates the national commission; the statutory layer is the Protection of Civil Rights Act, 1955 and the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 with its special-court, relief and witness architecture, and the discipline is that an untouchability offence and an atrocity are separate statutory routes rather than synonyms. C. The owners set out the procedural chain as registration of a first information report for a listed atrocity offence, investigation by an officer of the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police or above, trial before a State-notified Special Court with a Special Public Prosecutor, and victim relief in the form of monetary compensation, shelter and travel expenses in accordance with the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules, 1995 as amended; the analytical value of setting out the chain in this order is that a failure can be located at exactly one joint, so an answer can say whether the defect is registration, investigation rank, court capacity, prosecutor quality or the payment of relief rather than asserting that the Act does not work. D. The 2015 amendment expanded the list of atrocity offences, strengthened the rights of victims and witnesses and created the Special and Exclusive Special Court architecture, and the owners attach a precise caution to that architecture: such courts are notified by States under the conditions the Act lays down and with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the concerned High Court, so it must not be stated that an Exclusive Special Court automatically exists in every district; the examinable consequence is that court availability is a State-specific fact to be verified rather than a national entitlement to be assumed, and pendency in atrocity trials is therefore partly a notification and staffing question.

Answer: B. Explanation: The owners record the law bank as Articles 14 to 17, 23, 46, 330 and 332 and 338, where Article 15 and Article 16 permit special provision and reservation, Article 17 abolishes untouchability and makes its practice an offence, Article 23 prohibits forced labour and trafficking, Article 46 directs the State to promote with special care the educational and economic interests of the weaker sections and to protect them from social injustice and all forms of exploitation, Articles 330 and 332 reserve seats in the House of the People and in the State Assemblies, and Article 338 creates the national commission; the statutory layer is the Protection of Civil Rights Act, 1955 and the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 with its special-court, relief and witness architecture, and the discipline is that an untouchability offence and an atrocity are separate statutory routes rather than synonyms. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q7. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of The constitutional and statutory bank for a Scheduled Caste answer?

A. The 2015 amendment expanded the list of atrocity offences, strengthened the rights of victims and witnesses and created the Special and Exclusive Special Court architecture, and the owners attach a precise caution to that architecture: such courts are notified by States under the conditions the Act lays down and with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the concerned High Court, so it must not be stated that an Exclusive Special Court automatically exists in every district; the examinable consequence is that court availability is a State-specific fact to be verified rather than a national entitlement to be assumed, and pendency in atrocity trials is therefore partly a notification and staffing question. B. The owners set out the procedural chain as registration of a first information report for a listed atrocity offence, investigation by an officer of the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police or above, trial before a State-notified Special Court with a Special Public Prosecutor, and victim relief in the form of monetary compensation, shelter and travel expenses in accordance with the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules, 1995 as amended; the analytical value of setting out the chain in this order is that a failure can be located at exactly one joint, so an answer can say whether the defect is registration, investigation rank, court capacity, prosecutor quality or the payment of relief rather than asserting that the Act does not work. C. The owners record the law bank as Articles 14 to 17, 23, 46, 330 and 332 and 338, where Article 15 and Article 16 permit special provision and reservation, Article 17 abolishes untouchability and makes its practice an offence, Article 23 prohibits forced labour and trafficking, Article 46 directs the State to promote with special care the educational and economic interests of the weaker sections and to protect them from social injustice and all forms of exploitation, Articles 330 and 332 reserve seats in the House of the People and in the State Assemblies, and Article 338 creates the national commission; the statutory layer is the Protection of Civil Rights Act, 1955 and the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 with its special-court, relief and witness architecture, and the discipline is that an untouchability offence and an atrocity are separate statutory routes rather than synonyms. D. The owners record the sequence with care. A 2018 ruling of the Supreme Court diluted arrest and anticipatory-bail protection under the Act; Parliament responded by inserting Section 18A, under which no preliminary inquiry is required for the registration of a first information report, no approval is required for arrest and the statutory bar on anticipatory bail is restored notwithstanding that ruling; the constitutional challenge to the amendment was then decided in Prathvi Raj Chauhan in 2020, which upheld Section 18A while preserving an exceptional power in a constitutional court to intervene where the complaint discloses no prima facie case; the recurring trap is to say the 2018 amendment implemented a judicial direction when it in fact overrode one.

Answer: C. Explanation: The owners record the law bank as Articles 14 to 17, 23, 46, 330 and 332 and 338, where Article 15 and Article 16 permit special provision and reservation, Article 17 abolishes untouchability and makes its practice an offence, Article 23 prohibits forced labour and trafficking, Article 46 directs the State to promote with special care the educational and economic interests of the weaker sections and to protect them from social injustice and all forms of exploitation, Articles 330 and 332 reserve seats in the House of the People and in the State Assemblies, and Article 338 creates the national commission; the statutory layer is the Protection of Civil Rights Act, 1955 and the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 with its special-court, relief and witness architecture, and the discipline is that an untouchability offence and an atrocity are separate statutory routes rather than synonyms. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q8. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about The constitutional and statutory bank for a Scheduled Caste answer?

A. The owners treat the 1989 Act, the 2018 ruling and the 2018 amendment as a textbook instance of the legislature responding to a judicial reading by amending the law, and they invite the cross-link to the Polity owner for the doctrine; the analytical shape is that the Court read a safeguard against misuse into a statute, Parliament restored the original stringency by express provision, and the Court then tested the restored provision and upheld it while retaining a narrow constitutional escape valve, so the episode ends in an equilibrium rather than in a victory for either branch; an answer that uses it must state all three steps, because reciting only the amendment converts a dialogue into a confrontation. B. The 2015 amendment expanded the list of atrocity offences, strengthened the rights of victims and witnesses and created the Special and Exclusive Special Court architecture, and the owners attach a precise caution to that architecture: such courts are notified by States under the conditions the Act lays down and with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the concerned High Court, so it must not be stated that an Exclusive Special Court automatically exists in every district; the examinable consequence is that court availability is a State-specific fact to be verified rather than a national entitlement to be assumed, and pendency in atrocity trials is therefore partly a notification and staffing question. C. The owners record the sequence with care. A 2018 ruling of the Supreme Court diluted arrest and anticipatory-bail protection under the Act; Parliament responded by inserting Section 18A, under which no preliminary inquiry is required for the registration of a first information report, no approval is required for arrest and the statutory bar on anticipatory bail is restored notwithstanding that ruling; the constitutional challenge to the amendment was then decided in Prathvi Raj Chauhan in 2020, which upheld Section 18A while preserving an exceptional power in a constitutional court to intervene where the complaint discloses no prima facie case; the recurring trap is to say the 2018 amendment implemented a judicial direction when it in fact overrode one. D. The owners record the law bank as Articles 14 to 17, 23, 46, 330 and 332 and 338, where Article 15 and Article 16 permit special provision and reservation, Article 17 abolishes untouchability and makes its practice an offence, Article 23 prohibits forced labour and trafficking, Article 46 directs the State to promote with special care the educational and economic interests of the weaker sections and to protect them from social injustice and all forms of exploitation, Articles 330 and 332 reserve seats in the House of the People and in the State Assemblies, and Article 338 creates the national commission; the statutory layer is the Protection of Civil Rights Act, 1955 and the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 with its special-court, relief and witness architecture, and the discipline is that an untouchability offence and an atrocity are separate statutory routes rather than synonyms.

Answer: D. Explanation: The owners record the law bank as Articles 14 to 17, 23, 46, 330 and 332 and 338, where Article 15 and Article 16 permit special provision and reservation, Article 17 abolishes untouchability and makes its practice an offence, Article 23 prohibits forced labour and trafficking, Article 46 directs the State to promote with special care the educational and economic interests of the weaker sections and to protect them from social injustice and all forms of exploitation, Articles 330 and 332 reserve seats in the House of the People and in the State Assemblies, and Article 338 creates the national commission; the statutory layer is the Protection of Civil Rights Act, 1955 and the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 with its special-court, relief and witness architecture, and the discipline is that an untouchability offence and an atrocity are separate statutory routes rather than synonyms. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q9. Which statement correctly identifies The atrocities statute of 1989 as a special law?

A. The Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 is a special law providing enhanced penalties for caste-based offences committed against members of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, and the owners record its distinctive architecture as Special Courts for trial, victim-relief provisions and a presumption of the offence in certain circumstances; the reason the design matters in an answer is that the same physical act may be an ordinary offence under the general penal law and an atrocity under this Act, and it is the identity of the victim, the identity of the accused and the listed nature of the act that convert the first into the second, which is why a general law-and-order framing misses what the statute is for. B. The owners define an atrocity as an offence listed in the Schedule to the Act, and they name assault, wrongful dispossession, forced labour, sexual exploitation and public humiliation among the listed heads, committed against a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe person by a person who is not a member of those categories; the 2015 amendment expanded the list with new offences including garlanding with footwear and preventing entry to public places, so the offence set is not confined to physical violence and expressly reaches social and economic exclusion such as boycott, which is why an answer that treats the Act as a violence statute alone understates its coverage. C. The owners set out the procedural chain as registration of a first information report for a listed atrocity offence, investigation by an officer of the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police or above, trial before a State-notified Special Court with a Special Public Prosecutor, and victim relief in the form of monetary compensation, shelter and travel expenses in accordance with the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules, 1995 as amended; the analytical value of setting out the chain in this order is that a failure can be located at exactly one joint, so an answer can say whether the defect is registration, investigation rank, court capacity, prosecutor quality or the payment of relief rather than asserting that the Act does not work. D. The 2015 amendment expanded the list of atrocity offences, strengthened the rights of victims and witnesses and created the Special and Exclusive Special Court architecture, and the owners attach a precise caution to that architecture: such courts are notified by States under the conditions the Act lays down and with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the concerned High Court, so it must not be stated that an Exclusive Special Court automatically exists in every district; the examinable consequence is that court availability is a State-specific fact to be verified rather than a national entitlement to be assumed, and pendency in atrocity trials is therefore partly a notification and staffing question.

Answer: A. Explanation: The Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 is a special law providing enhanced penalties for caste-based offences committed against members of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, and the owners record its distinctive architecture as Special Courts for trial, victim-relief provisions and a presumption of the offence in certain circumstances; the reason the design matters in an answer is that the same physical act may be an ordinary offence under the general penal law and an atrocity under this Act, and it is the identity of the victim, the identity of the accused and the listed nature of the act that convert the first into the second, which is why a general law-and-order framing misses what the statute is for. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q10. Which chronology card should be filed under The atrocities statute of 1989 as a special law?

A. The owners set out the procedural chain as registration of a first information report for a listed atrocity offence, investigation by an officer of the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police or above, trial before a State-notified Special Court with a Special Public Prosecutor, and victim relief in the form of monetary compensation, shelter and travel expenses in accordance with the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules, 1995 as amended; the analytical value of setting out the chain in this order is that a failure can be located at exactly one joint, so an answer can say whether the defect is registration, investigation rank, court capacity, prosecutor quality or the payment of relief rather than asserting that the Act does not work. B. The Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 is a special law providing enhanced penalties for caste-based offences committed against members of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, and the owners record its distinctive architecture as Special Courts for trial, victim-relief provisions and a presumption of the offence in certain circumstances; the reason the design matters in an answer is that the same physical act may be an ordinary offence under the general penal law and an atrocity under this Act, and it is the identity of the victim, the identity of the accused and the listed nature of the act that convert the first into the second, which is why a general law-and-order framing misses what the statute is for.

C. The 2015 amendment expanded the list of atrocity offences, strengthened the rights of victims and witnesses and created the Special and Exclusive Special Court architecture, and the owners attach a precise caution to that architecture: such courts are notified by States under the conditions the Act lays down and with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the concerned High Court, so it must not be stated that an Exclusive Special Court automatically exists in every district; the examinable consequence is that court availability is a State-specific fact to be verified rather than a national entitlement to be assumed, and pendency in atrocity trials is therefore partly a notification and staffing question. D. The owners record the sequence with care. A 2018 ruling of the Supreme Court diluted arrest and anticipatory-bail protection under the Act; Parliament responded by inserting Section 18A, under which no preliminary inquiry is required for the registration of a first information report, no approval is required for arrest and the statutory bar on anticipatory bail is restored notwithstanding that ruling; the constitutional challenge to the amendment was then decided in Prathvi Raj Chauhan in 2020, which upheld Section 18A while preserving an exceptional power in a constitutional court to intervene where the complaint discloses no prima facie case; the recurring trap is to say the 2018 amendment implemented a judicial direction when it in fact overrode one.

Answer: B. Explanation: The Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 is a special law providing enhanced penalties for caste-based offences committed against members of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, and the owners record its distinctive architecture as Special Courts for trial, victim-relief provisions and a presumption of the offence in certain circumstances; the reason the design matters in an answer is that the same physical act may be an ordinary offence under the general penal law and an atrocity under this Act, and it is the identity of the victim, the identity of the accused and the listed nature of the act that convert the first into the second, which is why a general law-and-order framing misses what the statute is for. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q11. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of The atrocities statute of 1989 as a special law?

A. The owners record the sequence with care. A 2018 ruling of the Supreme Court diluted arrest and anticipatory-bail protection under the Act; Parliament responded by inserting Section 18A, under which no preliminary inquiry is required for the registration of a first information report, no approval is required for arrest and the statutory bar on anticipatory bail is restored notwithstanding that ruling; the constitutional challenge to the amendment was then decided in Prathvi Raj Chauhan in 2020, which upheld Section 18A while preserving an exceptional power in a constitutional court to intervene where the complaint discloses no prima facie case; the recurring trap is to say the 2018 amendment implemented a judicial direction when it in fact overrode one. B. The owners treat the 1989 Act, the 2018 ruling and the 2018 amendment as a textbook instance of the legislature responding to a judicial reading by amending the law, and they invite the cross-link to the Polity owner for the doctrine; the analytical shape is that the Court read a safeguard against misuse into a statute, Parliament restored the original stringency by express provision, and the Court then tested the restored provision and upheld it while retaining a narrow constitutional escape valve, so the episode ends in an equilibrium rather than in a victory for either branch; an answer that uses it must state all three steps, because reciting only the amendment converts a dialogue into a confrontation. C. The Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 is a special law providing enhanced penalties for caste-based offences committed against members of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, and the owners record its distinctive architecture as Special Courts for trial, victim-relief provisions and a presumption of the offence in certain circumstances; the reason the design matters in an answer is that the same physical act may be an ordinary offence under the general penal law and an atrocity under this Act, and it is the identity of the victim, the identity of the accused and the listed nature of the act that convert the first into the second, which is why a general law-and-order framing misses what the statute is for. D. The 2015 amendment expanded the list of atrocity offences, strengthened the rights of victims and witnesses and created the Special and Exclusive Special Court architecture, and the owners attach a precise caution to that architecture: such courts are notified by States under the conditions the Act lays down and with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the concerned High Court, so it must not be stated that an Exclusive Special Court automatically exists in every district; the examinable consequence is that court availability is a State-specific fact to be verified rather than a national entitlement to be assumed, and pendency in atrocity trials is therefore partly a notification and staffing question.

Answer: C. Explanation: The Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 is a special law providing enhanced penalties for caste-based offences committed against members of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, and the owners record its distinctive architecture as Special Courts for trial, victim-relief provisions and a presumption of the offence in certain circumstances; the reason the design matters in an answer is that the same physical act may be an ordinary offence under the general penal law and an atrocity under this Act, and it is the identity of the victim, the identity of the accused and the listed nature of the act that convert the first into the second, which is why a general law-and-order framing misses what the statute is for. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q12. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about The atrocities statute of 1989 as a special law?

A. Pradhan Mantri Anusuchit Jaati Abhyudaya Yojana is the umbrella Scheduled Caste development framework of the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, and the owners record its three delivery channels as development of Scheduled Caste dominated villages under the model-village component, grants for approved district and State socio-economic development projects, and hostel support in higher educational institutions; the critical qualification is that these are project and sanction channels driven by State proposals and annual approvals rather than an automatic individual benefit, so it is an error both to describe the framework as a personal scholarship or loan entitlement and to treat every ministry scheme for Scheduled Castes as one of its components. B. The owners treat the 1989 Act, the 2018 ruling and the 2018 amendment as a textbook instance of the legislature responding to a judicial reading by amending the law, and they invite the cross-link to the Polity owner for the doctrine; the analytical shape is that the Court read a safeguard against misuse into a statute, Parliament restored the original stringency by express provision, and the Court then tested the restored provision and upheld it while retaining a narrow constitutional escape valve, so the episode ends in an equilibrium rather than in a victory for either branch; an answer that uses it must state all three steps, because reciting only the amendment converts a dialogue into a confrontation. C. The owners record the sequence with care. A 2018 ruling of the Supreme Court diluted arrest and anticipatory-bail protection under the Act; Parliament responded by inserting Section 18A, under which no preliminary inquiry is required for the registration of a first information report, no approval is required for arrest and the statutory bar on anticipatory bail is restored notwithstanding that ruling; the constitutional challenge to the amendment was then decided in Prathvi Raj Chauhan in 2020, which upheld Section 18A while preserving an exceptional power in a constitutional court to intervene where the complaint discloses no prima facie case; the recurring trap is to say the 2018 amendment implemented a judicial direction when it in fact overrode one. D. The Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 is a special law providing enhanced penalties for caste-based offences committed against members of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, and the owners record its distinctive architecture as Special Courts for trial, victim-relief provisions and a presumption of the offence in certain circumstances; the reason the design matters in an answer is that the same physical act may be an ordinary offence under the general penal law and an atrocity under this Act, and it is the identity of the victim, the identity of the accused and the listed nature of the act that convert the first into the second, which is why a general law-and-order framing misses what the statute is for.

Answer: D. Explanation: The Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 is a special law providing enhanced penalties for caste-based offences committed against members of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, and the owners record its distinctive architecture as Special Courts for trial, victim-relief provisions and a presumption of the offence in certain circumstances; the reason the design matters in an answer is that the same physical act may be an ordinary offence under the general penal law and an atrocity under this Act, and it is the identity of the victim, the identity of the accused and the listed nature of the act that convert the first into the second, which is why a general law-and-order framing misses what the statute is for. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q13. Which statement correctly identifies What counts as an atrocity and who may commit one?

A. The owners define an atrocity as an offence listed in the Schedule to the Act, and they name assault, wrongful dispossession, forced labour, sexual exploitation and public humiliation among the listed heads, committed against a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe person by a person who is not a member of those categories; the 2015 amendment expanded the list with new offences including garlanding with footwear and preventing entry to public places, so the offence set is not confined to physical violence and expressly reaches social and economic exclusion such as boycott, which is why an answer that treats the Act as a violence statute alone understates its coverage. B. The 2015 amendment expanded the list of atrocity offences, strengthened the rights of victims and witnesses and created the Special and Exclusive Special Court architecture, and the owners attach a precise caution to that architecture: such courts are notified by States under the conditions the Act lays down and with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the concerned High Court, so it must not be stated that an Exclusive Special Court automatically exists in every district; the examinable consequence is that court availability is a State-specific fact to be verified rather than a national entitlement to be assumed, and pendency in atrocity trials is therefore partly a notification and staffing question. C. The owners set out the procedural chain as registration of a first information report for a listed atrocity offence, investigation by an officer of the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police or above, trial before a State-notified Special Court with a Special Public Prosecutor, and victim relief in the form of monetary compensation, shelter and travel expenses in accordance with the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules, 1995 as amended; the analytical value of setting out the chain in this order is that a failure can be located at exactly one joint, so an answer can say whether the defect is registration, investigation rank, court capacity, prosecutor quality or the payment of relief rather than asserting that the Act does not work. D. The owners record the sequence with care. A 2018 ruling of the Supreme Court diluted arrest and anticipatory-bail protection under the Act; Parliament responded by inserting Section 18A, under which no preliminary inquiry is required for the registration of a first information report, no approval is required for arrest and the statutory bar on anticipatory bail is restored notwithstanding that ruling; the constitutional challenge to the amendment was then decided in Prathvi Raj Chauhan in 2020, which upheld Section 18A while preserving an exceptional power in a constitutional court to intervene where the complaint discloses no prima facie case; the recurring trap is to say the 2018 amendment implemented a judicial direction when it in fact overrode one.

Answer: A. Explanation: The owners define an atrocity as an offence listed in the Schedule to the Act, and they name assault, wrongful dispossession, forced labour, sexual exploitation and public humiliation among the listed heads, committed against a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe person by a person who is not a member of those categories; the 2015 amendment expanded the list with new offences including garlanding with footwear and preventing entry to public places, so the offence set is not confined to physical violence and expressly reaches social and economic exclusion such as boycott, which is why an answer that treats the Act as a violence statute alone understates its coverage. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q14. Which chronology card should be filed under What counts as an atrocity and who may commit one?

A. The 2015 amendment expanded the list of atrocity offences, strengthened the rights of victims and witnesses and created the Special and Exclusive Special Court architecture, and the owners attach a precise caution to that architecture: such courts are notified by States under the conditions the Act lays down and with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the concerned High Court, so it must not be stated that an Exclusive Special Court automatically exists in every district; the examinable consequence is that court availability is a State-specific fact to be verified rather than a national entitlement to be assumed, and pendency in atrocity trials is therefore partly a notification and staffing question. B. The owners define an atrocity as an offence listed in the Schedule to the Act, and they name assault, wrongful dispossession, forced labour, sexual exploitation and public humiliation among the listed heads, committed against a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe person by a person who is not a member of those categories; the 2015 amendment expanded the list with new offences including garlanding with footwear and preventing entry to public places, so the offence set is not confined to physical violence and expressly reaches social and economic exclusion such as boycott, which is why an answer that treats the Act as a violence statute alone understates its coverage. C. The owners record the sequence with care. A 2018 ruling of the Supreme Court diluted arrest and anticipatory-bail protection under the Act; Parliament responded by inserting Section 18A, under which no preliminary inquiry is required for the registration of a first information report, no approval is required for arrest and the statutory bar on anticipatory bail is restored notwithstanding that ruling; the constitutional challenge to the amendment was then decided in Prathvi Raj Chauhan in 2020, which upheld Section 18A while preserving an exceptional power in a constitutional court to intervene where the complaint discloses no prima facie case; the recurring trap is to say the 2018 amendment implemented a judicial direction when it in fact overrode one. D. The owners treat the 1989 Act, the 2018 ruling and the 2018 amendment as a textbook instance of the legislature responding to a judicial reading by amending the law, and they invite the cross-link to the Polity owner for the doctrine; the analytical shape is that the Court read a safeguard against misuse into a statute, Parliament restored the original stringency by express provision, and the Court then tested the restored provision and upheld it while retaining a narrow constitutional escape valve, so the episode ends in an equilibrium rather than in a victory for either branch; an answer that uses it must state all three steps, because reciting only the amendment converts a dialogue into a confrontation.

Answer: B. Explanation: The owners define an atrocity as an offence listed in the Schedule to the Act, and they name assault, wrongful dispossession, forced labour, sexual exploitation and public humiliation among the listed heads, committed against a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe person by a person who is not a member of those categories; the 2015 amendment expanded the list with new offences including garlanding with footwear and preventing entry to public places, so the offence set is not confined to physical violence and expressly reaches social and economic exclusion such as boycott, which is why an answer that treats the Act as a violence statute alone understates its coverage. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q15. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of What counts as an atrocity and who may commit one?

A. The owners record the sequence with care. A 2018 ruling of the Supreme Court diluted arrest and anticipatory-bail protection under the Act; Parliament responded by inserting Section 18A, under which no preliminary inquiry is required for the registration of a first information report, no approval is required for arrest and the statutory bar on anticipatory bail is restored notwithstanding that ruling; the constitutional challenge to the amendment was then decided in Prathvi Raj Chauhan in 2020, which upheld Section 18A while preserving an exceptional power in a constitutional court to intervene where the complaint discloses no prima facie case; the recurring trap is to say the 2018 amendment implemented a judicial direction when it in fact overrode one. B. The owners treat the 1989 Act, the 2018 ruling and the 2018 amendment as a textbook instance of the legislature responding to a judicial reading by amending the law, and they invite the cross-link to the Polity owner for the doctrine; the analytical shape is that the Court read a safeguard against misuse into a statute, Parliament restored the original stringency by express provision, and the Court then tested the restored provision and upheld it while retaining a narrow constitutional escape valve, so the episode ends in an equilibrium rather than in a victory for either branch; an answer that uses it must state all three steps, because reciting only the amendment converts a dialogue into a confrontation. C. The owners define an atrocity as an offence listed in the Schedule to the Act, and they name assault, wrongful dispossession, forced labour, sexual exploitation and public humiliation among the listed heads, committed against a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe person by a person who is not a member of those categories; the 2015 amendment expanded the list with new offences including garlanding with footwear and preventing entry to public places, so the offence set is not confined to physical violence and expressly reaches social and economic exclusion such as boycott, which is why an answer that treats the Act as a violence statute alone understates its coverage. D. Pradhan Mantri Anusuchit Jaati Abhyudaya Yojana is the umbrella Scheduled Caste development framework of the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, and the owners record its three delivery channels as development of Scheduled Caste dominated villages under the model-village component, grants for approved district and State socio-economic development projects, and hostel support in higher educational institutions; the critical qualification is that these are project and sanction channels driven by State proposals and annual approvals rather than an automatic individual benefit, so it is an error both to describe the framework as a personal scholarship or loan entitlement and to treat every ministry scheme for Scheduled Castes as one of its components.

Answer: C. Explanation: The owners define an atrocity as an offence listed in the Schedule to the Act, and they name assault, wrongful dispossession, forced labour, sexual exploitation and public humiliation among the listed heads, committed against a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe person by a person who is not a member of those categories; the 2015 amendment expanded the list with new offences including garlanding with footwear and preventing entry to public places, so the offence set is not confined to physical violence and expressly reaches social and economic exclusion such as boycott, which is why an answer that treats the Act as a violence statute alone understates its coverage. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q16. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about What counts as an atrocity and who may commit one?

A. Pradhan Mantri Anusuchit Jaati Abhyudaya Yojana is the umbrella Scheduled Caste development framework of the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, and the owners record its three delivery channels as development of Scheduled Caste dominated villages under the model-village component, grants for approved district and State socio-economic development projects, and hostel support in higher educational institutions; the critical qualification is that these are project and sanction channels driven by State proposals and annual approvals rather than an automatic individual benefit, so it is an error both to describe the framework as a personal scholarship or loan entitlement and to treat every ministry scheme for Scheduled Castes as one of its components. B. The National Scheduled Castes Finance and Development Corporation is a Government of India company under the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment which provides concessional credit to Scheduled Caste beneficiaries, and the owners record its instruments as term loans, micro-credit and skill-development finance delivered through State channelising agencies rather than directly to a borrower; the reason the delivery route is examinable is that it makes the corporation's reach a function of the capacity and the appetite of the State agency in each State, so credit access is uneven for reasons that lie outside the corporation's own design, and an answer about economic mobility must say so. C. The owners treat the 1989 Act, the 2018 ruling and the 2018 amendment as a textbook instance of the legislature responding to a judicial reading by amending the law, and they invite the cross-link to the Polity owner for the doctrine; the analytical shape is that the Court read a safeguard against misuse into a statute, Parliament restored the original stringency by express provision, and the Court then tested the restored provision and upheld it while retaining a narrow constitutional escape valve, so the episode ends in an equilibrium rather than in a victory for either branch; an answer that uses it must state all three steps, because reciting only the amendment converts a dialogue into a confrontation. D. The owners define an atrocity as an offence listed in the Schedule to the Act, and they name assault, wrongful dispossession, forced labour, sexual exploitation and public humiliation among the listed heads, committed against a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe person by a person who is not a member of those categories; the 2015 amendment expanded the list with new offences including garlanding with footwear and preventing entry to public places, so the offence set is not confined to physical violence and expressly reaches social and economic exclusion such as boycott, which is why an answer that treats the Act as a violence statute alone understates its coverage.

Answer: D. Explanation: The owners define an atrocity as an offence listed in the Schedule to the Act, and they name assault, wrongful dispossession, forced labour, sexual exploitation and public humiliation among the listed heads, committed against a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe person by a person who is not a member of those categories; the 2015 amendment expanded the list with new offences including garlanding with footwear and preventing entry to public places, so the offence set is not confined to physical violence and expressly reaches social and economic exclusion such as boycott, which is why an answer that treats the Act as a violence statute alone understates its coverage. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q17. Which statement correctly identifies The investigation, trial and relief route?

A. The owners set out the procedural chain as registration of a first information report for a listed atrocity offence, investigation by an officer of the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police or above, trial before a State-notified Special Court with a Special Public Prosecutor, and victim relief in the form of monetary compensation, shelter and travel expenses in accordance with the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules, 1995 as amended; the analytical value of setting out the chain in this order is that a failure can be located at exactly one joint, so an answer can say whether the defect is registration, investigation rank, court capacity, prosecutor quality or the payment of relief rather than asserting that the Act does not work. B. The owners record the sequence with care. A 2018 ruling of the Supreme Court diluted arrest and anticipatory-bail protection under the Act; Parliament responded by inserting Section 18A, under which no preliminary inquiry is required for the registration of a first information report, no approval is required for arrest and the statutory bar on anticipatory bail is restored notwithstanding that ruling; the constitutional challenge to the amendment was then decided in Prathvi Raj Chauhan in 2020, which upheld Section 18A while preserving an exceptional power in a constitutional court to intervene where the complaint discloses no prima facie case; the recurring trap is to say the 2018 amendment implemented a judicial direction when it in fact overrode one. C. The 2015 amendment expanded the list of atrocity offences, strengthened the rights of victims and witnesses and created the Special and Exclusive Special Court architecture, and the owners attach a precise caution to that architecture: such courts are notified by States under the conditions the Act lays down and with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the concerned High Court, so it must not be stated that an Exclusive Special Court automatically exists in every district; the examinable consequence is that court availability is a State-specific fact to be verified rather than a national entitlement to be assumed, and pendency in atrocity trials is therefore partly a notification and staffing question. D. The owners treat the 1989 Act, the 2018 ruling and the 2018 amendment as a textbook instance of the legislature responding to a judicial reading by amending the law, and they invite the cross-link to the Polity owner for the doctrine; the analytical shape is that the Court read a safeguard against misuse into a statute, Parliament restored the original stringency by express provision, and the Court then tested the restored provision and upheld it while retaining a narrow constitutional escape valve, so the episode ends in an equilibrium rather than in a victory for either branch; an answer that uses it must state all three steps, because reciting only the amendment converts a dialogue into a confrontation.

Answer: A. Explanation: The owners set out the procedural chain as registration of a first information report for a listed atrocity offence, investigation by an officer of the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police or above, trial before a State-notified Special Court with a Special Public Prosecutor, and victim relief in the form of monetary compensation, shelter and travel expenses in accordance with the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules, 1995 as amended; the analytical value of setting out the chain in this order is that a failure can be located at exactly one joint, so an answer can say whether the defect is registration, investigation rank, court capacity, prosecutor quality or the payment of relief rather than asserting that the Act does not work. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q18. Which chronology card should be filed under The investigation, trial and relief route?

A. The owners record the sequence with care. A 2018 ruling of the Supreme Court diluted arrest and anticipatory-bail protection under the Act; Parliament responded by inserting Section 18A, under which no preliminary inquiry is required for the registration of a first information report, no approval is required for arrest and the statutory bar on anticipatory bail is restored notwithstanding that ruling; the constitutional challenge to the amendment was then decided in Prathvi Raj Chauhan in 2020, which upheld Section 18A while preserving an exceptional power in a constitutional court to intervene where the complaint discloses no prima facie case; the recurring trap is to say the 2018 amendment implemented a judicial direction when it in fact overrode one. B. The owners set out the procedural chain as registration of a first information report for a listed atrocity offence, investigation by an officer of the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police or above, trial before a State-notified Special Court with a Special Public Prosecutor, and victim relief in the form of monetary compensation, shelter and travel expenses in accordance with the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules, 1995 as amended; the analytical value of setting out the chain in this order is that a failure can be located at exactly one joint, so an answer can say whether the defect is registration, investigation rank, court capacity, prosecutor quality or the payment of relief rather than asserting that the Act does not work. C. The owners treat the 1989 Act, the 2018 ruling and the 2018 amendment as a textbook instance of the legislature responding to a judicial reading by amending the law, and they invite the cross-link to the Polity owner for the doctrine; the analytical shape is that the Court read a safeguard against misuse into a statute, Parliament restored the original stringency by express provision, and the Court then tested the restored provision and upheld it while retaining a narrow constitutional escape valve, so the episode ends in an equilibrium rather than in a victory for either branch; an answer that uses it must state all three steps, because reciting only the amendment converts a dialogue into a confrontation. D. Pradhan Mantri Anusuchit Jaati Abhyudaya Yojana is the umbrella Scheduled Caste development framework of the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, and the owners record its three delivery channels as development of Scheduled Caste dominated villages under the model-village component, grants for approved district and State socio-economic development projects, and hostel support in higher educational institutions; the critical qualification is that these are project and sanction channels driven by State proposals and annual approvals rather than an automatic individual benefit, so it is an error both to describe the framework as a personal scholarship or loan entitlement and to treat every ministry scheme for Scheduled Castes as one of its components.

Answer: B. Explanation: The owners set out the procedural chain as registration of a first information report for a listed atrocity offence, investigation by an officer of the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police or above, trial before a State-notified Special Court with a Special Public Prosecutor, and victim relief in the form of monetary compensation, shelter and travel expenses in accordance with the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules, 1995 as amended; the analytical value of setting out the chain in this order is that a failure can be located at exactly one joint, so an answer can say whether the defect is registration, investigation rank, court capacity, prosecutor quality or the payment of relief rather than asserting that the Act does not work. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q19. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of The investigation, trial and relief route?

A. The owners treat the 1989 Act, the 2018 ruling and the 2018 amendment as a textbook instance of the legislature responding to a judicial reading by amending the law, and they invite the cross-link to the Polity owner for the doctrine; the analytical shape is that the Court read a safeguard against misuse into a statute, Parliament restored the original stringency by express provision, and the Court then tested the restored provision and upheld it while retaining a narrow constitutional escape valve, so the episode ends in an equilibrium rather than in a victory for either branch; an answer that uses it must state all three steps, because reciting only the amendment converts a dialogue into a confrontation. B. The National Scheduled Castes Finance and Development Corporation is a Government of India company under the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment which provides concessional credit to Scheduled Caste beneficiaries, and the owners record its instruments as term loans, micro-credit and skill-development finance delivered through State channelising agencies rather than directly to a borrower; the reason the delivery route is examinable is that it makes the corporation's reach a function of the capacity and the appetite of the State agency in each State, so credit access is uneven for reasons that lie outside the corporation's own design, and an answer about economic mobility must say so. C. The owners set out the procedural chain as registration of a first information report for a listed atrocity offence, investigation by an officer of the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police or above, trial before a State-notified Special Court with a Special Public Prosecutor, and victim relief in the form of monetary compensation, shelter and travel expenses in accordance with the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules, 1995 as amended; the analytical value of setting out the chain in this order is that a failure can be located at exactly one joint, so an answer can say whether the defect is registration, investigation rank, court capacity, prosecutor quality or the payment of relief rather than asserting that the Act does not work. D. Pradhan Mantri Anusuchit Jaati Abhyudaya Yojana is the umbrella Scheduled Caste development framework of the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, and the owners record its three delivery channels as development of Scheduled Caste dominated villages under the model-village component, grants for approved district and State socio-economic development projects, and hostel support in higher educational institutions; the critical qualification is that these are project and sanction channels driven by State proposals and annual approvals rather than an automatic individual benefit, so it is an error both to describe the framework as a personal scholarship or loan entitlement and to treat every ministry scheme for Scheduled Castes as one of its components.

Answer: C. Explanation: The owners set out the procedural chain as registration of a first information report for a listed atrocity offence, investigation by an officer of the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police or above, trial before a State-notified Special Court with a Special Public Prosecutor, and victim relief in the form of monetary compensation, shelter and travel expenses in accordance with the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules, 1995 as amended; the analytical value of setting out the chain in this order is that a failure can be located at exactly one joint, so an answer can say whether the defect is registration, investigation rank, court capacity, prosecutor quality or the payment of relief rather than asserting that the Act does not work. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q20. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about The investigation, trial and relief route?

A. The Department of Social Justice and Empowerment's own scheme page for the post-matric scholarship for students belonging to the Scheduled Castes, read on 2 September 2026, records that the objective of the scheme is to appreciably increase the gross enrolment ratio of Scheduled Caste students in higher education with a focus on those from the poorest households by providing financial assistance at the post-matriculation or post-secondary stage to enable them to complete their education; the same page records that the scholarships are available for studies in India only, that awardees are selected by the State Government or Union Territory to which the applicant actually belongs according to the domicile terms decided by that State, that the scheme applies both to current beneficiaries and to fresh admissions, and that the complete guidelines were revised in March 2021 and are published on that page; nothing beyond those recorded statements is claimed, and no coverage, disbursement or beneficiary count is asserted. B. The National Scheduled Castes Finance and Development Corporation is a Government of India company under the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment which provides concessional credit to Scheduled Caste beneficiaries, and the owners record its instruments as term loans, micro-credit and skill-development finance delivered through State channelising agencies rather than directly to a borrower; the reason the delivery route is examinable is that it makes the corporation's reach a function of the capacity and the appetite of the State agency in each State, so credit access is uneven for reasons that lie outside the corporation's own design, and an answer about economic mobility must say so. C. Pradhan Mantri Anusuchit Jaati Abhyudaya Yojana is the umbrella Scheduled Caste development framework of the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, and the owners record its three delivery channels as development of Scheduled Caste dominated villages under the model-village component, grants for approved district and State socio-economic development projects, and hostel support in higher educational institutions; the critical qualification is that these are project and sanction channels driven by State proposals and annual approvals rather than an automatic individual benefit, so it is an error both to describe the framework as a personal scholarship or loan entitlement and to treat every ministry scheme for Scheduled Castes as one of its components. D. The owners set out the procedural chain as registration of a first information report for a listed atrocity offence, investigation by an officer of the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police or above, trial before a State-notified Special Court with a Special Public Prosecutor, and victim relief in the form of monetary compensation, shelter and travel expenses in accordance with the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules, 1995 as amended; the analytical value of setting out the chain in this order is that a failure can be located at exactly one joint, so an answer can say whether the defect is registration, investigation rank, court capacity, prosecutor quality or the payment of relief rather than asserting that the Act does not work.

Answer: D. Explanation: The owners set out the procedural chain as registration of a first information report for a listed atrocity offence, investigation by an officer of the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police or above, trial before a State-notified Special Court with a Special Public Prosecutor, and victim relief in the form of monetary compensation, shelter and travel expenses in accordance with the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules, 1995 as amended; the analytical value of setting out the chain in this order is that a failure can be located at exactly one joint, so an answer can say whether the defect is registration, investigation rank, court capacity, prosecutor quality or the payment of relief rather than asserting that the Act does not work. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q21. Which statement correctly identifies The 2015 amendment and the court-notification discipline?

A. The 2015 amendment expanded the list of atrocity offences, strengthened the rights of victims and witnesses and created the Special and Exclusive Special Court architecture, and the owners attach a precise caution to that architecture: such courts are notified by States under the conditions the Act lays down and with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the concerned High Court, so it must not be stated that an Exclusive Special Court automatically exists in every district; the examinable consequence is that court availability is a State-specific fact to be verified rather than a national entitlement to be assumed, and pendency in atrocity trials is therefore partly a notification and staffing question. B. The owners record the sequence with care. A 2018 ruling of the Supreme Court diluted arrest and anticipatory-bail protection under the Act; Parliament responded by inserting Section 18A, under which no preliminary inquiry is required for the registration of a first information report, no approval is required for arrest and the statutory bar on anticipatory bail is restored notwithstanding that ruling; the constitutional challenge to the amendment was then decided in Prathvi Raj Chauhan in 2020, which upheld Section 18A while preserving an exceptional power in a constitutional court to intervene where the complaint discloses no prima facie case; the recurring trap is to say the 2018 amendment implemented a judicial direction when it in fact overrode one. C. Pradhan Mantri Anusuchit Jaati Abhyudaya Yojana is the umbrella Scheduled Caste development framework of the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, and the owners record its three delivery channels as development of Scheduled Caste dominated villages under the model-village component, grants for approved district and State socio-economic development projects, and hostel support in higher educational institutions; the critical qualification is that these are project and sanction channels driven by State proposals and annual approvals rather than an automatic individual benefit, so it is an error both to describe the framework as a personal scholarship or loan entitlement and to treat every ministry scheme for Scheduled Castes as one of its components. D. The owners treat the 1989 Act, the 2018 ruling and the 2018 amendment as a textbook instance of the legislature responding to a judicial reading by amending the law, and they invite the cross-link to the Polity owner for the doctrine; the analytical shape is that the Court read a safeguard against misuse into a statute, Parliament restored the original stringency by express provision, and the Court then tested the restored provision and upheld it while retaining a narrow constitutional escape valve, so the episode ends in an equilibrium rather than in a victory for either branch; an answer that uses it must state all three steps, because reciting only the amendment converts a dialogue into a confrontation.

Answer: A. Explanation: The 2015 amendment expanded the list of atrocity offences, strengthened the rights of victims and witnesses and created the Special and Exclusive Special Court architecture, and the owners attach a precise caution to that architecture: such courts are notified by States under the conditions the Act lays down and with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the concerned High Court, so it must not be stated that an Exclusive Special Court automatically exists in every district; the examinable consequence is that court availability is a State-specific fact to be verified rather than a national entitlement to be assumed, and pendency in atrocity trials is therefore partly a notification and staffing question. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q22. Which chronology card should be filed under The 2015 amendment and the court-notification discipline?

A. The owners treat the 1989 Act, the 2018 ruling and the 2018 amendment as a textbook instance of the legislature responding to a judicial reading by amending the law, and they invite the cross-link to the Polity owner for the doctrine; the analytical shape is that the Court read a safeguard against misuse into a statute, Parliament restored the original stringency by express provision, and the Court then tested the restored provision and upheld it while retaining a narrow constitutional escape valve, so the episode ends in an equilibrium rather than in a victory for either branch; an answer that uses it must state all three steps, because reciting only the amendment converts a dialogue into a confrontation. B. The 2015 amendment expanded the list of atrocity offences, strengthened the rights of victims and witnesses and created the Special and Exclusive Special Court architecture, and the owners attach a precise caution to that architecture: such courts are notified by States under the conditions the Act lays down and with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the concerned High Court, so it must not be stated that an Exclusive Special Court automatically exists in every district; the examinable consequence is that court availability is a State-specific fact to be verified rather than a national entitlement to be assumed, and pendency in atrocity trials is therefore partly a notification and staffing question. C. The National Scheduled Castes Finance and Development Corporation is a Government of India company under the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment which provides concessional credit to Scheduled Caste beneficiaries, and the owners record its instruments as term loans, micro-credit and skill-development finance delivered through State channelising agencies rather than directly to a borrower; the reason the delivery route is examinable is that it makes the corporation's reach a function of the capacity and the appetite of the State agency in each State, so credit access is uneven for reasons that lie outside the corporation's own design, and an answer about economic mobility must say so. D. Pradhan Mantri Anusuchit Jaati Abhyudaya Yojana is the umbrella Scheduled Caste development framework of the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, and the owners record its three delivery channels as development of Scheduled Caste dominated villages under the model-village component, grants for approved district and State socio-economic development projects, and hostel support in higher educational institutions; the critical qualification is that these are project and sanction channels driven by State proposals and annual approvals rather than an automatic individual benefit, so it is an error both to describe the framework as a personal scholarship or loan entitlement and to treat every ministry scheme for Scheduled Castes as one of its components.

Answer: B. Explanation: The 2015 amendment expanded the list of atrocity offences, strengthened the rights of victims and witnesses and created the Special and Exclusive Special Court architecture, and the owners attach a precise caution to that architecture: such courts are notified by States under the conditions the Act lays down and with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the concerned High Court, so it must not be stated that an Exclusive Special Court automatically exists in every district; the examinable consequence is that court availability is a State-specific fact to be verified rather than a national entitlement to be assumed, and pendency in atrocity trials is therefore partly a notification and staffing question. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q23. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of The 2015 amendment and the court-notification discipline?

A. The National Scheduled Castes Finance and Development Corporation is a Government of India company under the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment which provides concessional credit to Scheduled Caste beneficiaries, and the owners record its instruments as term loans, micro-credit and skill-development finance delivered through State channelising agencies rather than directly to a borrower; the reason the delivery route is examinable is that it makes the corporation's reach a function of the capacity and the appetite of the State agency in each State, so credit access is uneven for reasons that lie outside the corporation's own design, and an answer about economic mobility must say so. B. The Department of Social Justice and Empowerment's own scheme page for the post-matric scholarship for students belonging to the Scheduled Castes, read on 2 September 2026, records that the objective of the scheme is to appreciably increase the gross enrolment ratio of Scheduled Caste students in higher education with a focus on those from the poorest households by providing financial assistance at the post-matriculation or post-secondary stage to enable them to complete their education; the same page records that the scholarships are available for studies in India only, that awardees are selected by the State Government or Union Territory to which the applicant actually belongs according to the domicile terms decided by that State, that the scheme applies both to current beneficiaries and to fresh admissions, and that the complete guidelines were revised in March 2021 and are published on that page; nothing beyond those recorded statements is claimed, and no coverage, disbursement or beneficiary count is asserted. C. The 2015 amendment expanded the list of atrocity offences, strengthened the rights of victims and witnesses and created the Special and Exclusive Special Court architecture, and the owners attach a precise caution to that architecture: such courts are notified by States under the conditions the Act lays down and with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the concerned High Court, so it must not be stated that an Exclusive Special Court automatically exists in every district; the examinable consequence is that court availability is a State-specific fact to be verified rather than a national entitlement to be assumed, and pendency in atrocity trials is therefore partly a notification and staffing question. D. Pradhan Mantri Anusuchit Jaati Abhyudaya Yojana is the umbrella Scheduled Caste development framework of the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, and the owners record its three delivery channels as development of Scheduled Caste dominated villages under the model-village component, grants for approved district and State socio-economic development projects, and hostel support in higher educational institutions; the critical qualification is that these are project and sanction channels driven by State proposals and annual approvals rather than an automatic individual benefit, so it is an error both to describe the framework as a personal scholarship or loan entitlement and to treat every ministry scheme for Scheduled Castes as one of its components.

Answer: C. Explanation: The 2015 amendment expanded the list of atrocity offences, strengthened the rights of victims and witnesses and created the Special and Exclusive Special Court architecture, and the owners attach a precise caution to that architecture: such courts are notified by States under the conditions the Act lays down and with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the concerned High Court, so it must not be stated that an Exclusive Special Court automatically exists in every district; the examinable consequence is that court availability is a State-specific fact to be verified rather than a national entitlement to be assumed, and pendency in atrocity trials is therefore partly a notification and staffing question. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q24. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about The 2015 amendment and the court-notification discipline?

A. The Department of Social Justice and Empowerment's own scheme page for the post-matric scholarship for students belonging to the Scheduled Castes, read on 2 September 2026, records that the objective of the scheme is to appreciably increase the gross enrolment ratio of Scheduled Caste students in higher education with a focus on those from the poorest households by providing financial assistance at the post-matriculation or post-secondary stage to enable them to complete their education; the same page records that the scholarships are available for studies in India only, that awardees are selected by the State Government or Union Territory to which the applicant actually belongs according to the domicile terms decided by that State, that the scheme applies both to current beneficiaries and to fresh admissions, and that the complete guidelines were revised in March 2021 and are published on that page; nothing beyond those recorded statements is claimed, and no coverage, disbursement or beneficiary count is asserted. B. The National Scheduled Castes Finance and Development Corporation is a Government of India company under the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment which provides concessional credit to Scheduled Caste beneficiaries, and the owners record its instruments as term loans, micro-credit and skill-development finance delivered through State channelising agencies rather than directly to a borrower; the reason the delivery route is examinable is that it makes the corporation's reach a function of the capacity and the appetite of the State agency in each State, so credit access is uneven for reasons that lie outside the corporation's own design, and an answer about economic mobility must say so. C. The National Commission for Scheduled Castes exists under Article 338 of the Constitution and is therefore a constitutional body whose duties to investigate and monitor safeguards, to inquire into specific complaints and to advise on planning and socio-economic development are entrenched in the Constitution itself, which distinguishes it sharply from a statutory commission created by ordinary legislation such as the women's commission; the owners deliberately do not re-teach its composition and detailed mandate because that content belongs to the Polity commissions owner, and they require the cross-link to be stated rather than the material to be duplicated, so an answer here should use the status distinction and route the institutional detail. D. The 2015 amendment expanded the list of atrocity offences, strengthened the rights of victims and witnesses and created the Special and Exclusive Special Court architecture, and the owners attach a precise caution to that architecture: such courts are notified by States under the conditions the Act lays down and with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the concerned High Court, so it must not be stated that an Exclusive Special Court automatically exists in every district; the examinable consequence is that court availability is a State-specific fact to be verified rather than a national entitlement to be assumed, and pendency in atrocity trials is therefore partly a notification and staffing question.

Answer: D. Explanation: The 2015 amendment expanded the list of atrocity offences, strengthened the rights of victims and witnesses and created the Special and Exclusive Special Court architecture, and the owners attach a precise caution to that architecture: such courts are notified by States under the conditions the Act lays down and with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the concerned High Court, so it must not be stated that an Exclusive Special Court automatically exists in every district; the examinable consequence is that court availability is a State-specific fact to be verified rather than a national entitlement to be assumed, and pendency in atrocity trials is therefore partly a notification and staffing question. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q25. Which statement correctly identifies The 2018 amendment and the Act-Court-Amendment sequence?

A. The owners record the sequence with care. A 2018 ruling of the Supreme Court diluted arrest and anticipatory-bail protection under the Act; Parliament responded by inserting Section 18A, under which no preliminary inquiry is required for the registration of a first information report, no approval is required for arrest and the statutory bar on anticipatory bail is restored notwithstanding that ruling; the constitutional challenge to the amendment was then decided in Prathvi Raj Chauhan in 2020, which upheld Section 18A while preserving an exceptional power in a constitutional court to intervene where the complaint discloses no prima facie case; the recurring trap is to say the 2018 amendment implemented a judicial direction when it in fact overrode one. B. The owners treat the 1989 Act, the 2018 ruling and the 2018 amendment as a textbook instance of the legislature responding to a judicial reading by amending the law, and they invite the cross-link to the Polity owner for the doctrine; the analytical shape is that the Court read a safeguard against misuse into a statute, Parliament restored the original stringency by express provision, and the Court then tested the restored provision and upheld it while retaining a narrow constitutional escape valve, so the episode ends in an equilibrium rather than in a victory for either branch; an answer that uses it must state all three steps, because reciting only the amendment converts a dialogue into a confrontation. C. Pradhan Mantri Anusuchit Jaati Abhyudaya Yojana is the umbrella Scheduled Caste development framework of the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, and the owners record its three delivery channels as development of Scheduled Caste dominated villages under the model-village component, grants for approved district and State socio-economic development projects, and hostel support in higher educational institutions; the critical qualification is that these are project and sanction channels driven by State proposals and annual approvals rather than an automatic individual benefit, so it is an error both to describe the framework as a personal scholarship or loan entitlement and to treat every ministry scheme for Scheduled Castes as one of its components. D. The National Scheduled Castes Finance and Development Corporation is a Government of India company under the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment which provides concessional credit to Scheduled Caste beneficiaries, and the owners record its instruments as term loans, micro-credit and skill-development finance delivered through State channelising agencies rather than directly to a borrower; the reason the delivery route is examinable is that it makes the corporation's reach a function of the capacity and the appetite of the State agency in each State, so credit access is uneven for reasons that lie outside the corporation's own design, and an answer about economic mobility must say so.

Answer: A. Explanation: The owners record the sequence with care. A 2018 ruling of the Supreme Court diluted arrest and anticipatory-bail protection under the Act; Parliament responded by inserting Section 18A, under which no preliminary inquiry is required for the registration of a first information report, no approval is required for arrest and the statutory bar on anticipatory bail is restored notwithstanding that ruling; the constitutional challenge to the amendment was then decided in Prathvi Raj Chauhan in 2020, which upheld Section 18A while preserving an exceptional power in a constitutional court to intervene where the complaint discloses no prima facie case; the recurring trap is to say the 2018 amendment implemented a judicial direction when it in fact overrode one. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q26. Which chronology card should be filed under The 2018 amendment and the Act-Court-Amendment sequence?

A. Pradhan Mantri Anusuchit Jaati Abhyudaya Yojana is the umbrella Scheduled Caste development framework of the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, and the owners record its three delivery channels as development of Scheduled Caste dominated villages under the model-village component, grants for approved district and State socio-economic development projects, and hostel support in higher educational institutions; the critical qualification is that these are project and sanction channels driven by State proposals and annual approvals rather than an automatic individual benefit, so it is an error both to describe the framework as a personal scholarship or loan entitlement and to treat every ministry scheme for Scheduled Castes as one of its components. B. The owners record the sequence with care. A 2018 ruling of the Supreme Court diluted arrest and anticipatory-bail protection under the Act; Parliament responded by inserting Section 18A, under which no preliminary inquiry is required for the registration of a first information report, no approval is required for arrest and the statutory bar on anticipatory bail is restored notwithstanding that ruling; the constitutional challenge to the amendment was then decided in Prathvi Raj Chauhan in 2020, which upheld Section 18A while preserving an exceptional power in a constitutional court to intervene where the complaint discloses no prima facie case; the recurring trap is to say the 2018 amendment implemented a judicial direction when it in fact overrode one. C. The Department of Social Justice and Empowerment's own scheme page for the post-matric scholarship for students belonging to the Scheduled Castes, read on 2 September 2026, records that the objective of the scheme is to appreciably increase the gross enrolment ratio of Scheduled Caste students in higher education with a focus on those from the poorest households by providing financial assistance at the post-matriculation or post-secondary stage to enable them to complete their education; the same page records that the scholarships are available for studies in India only, that awardees are selected by the State Government or Union Territory to which the applicant actually belongs according to the domicile terms decided by that State, that the scheme applies both to current beneficiaries and to fresh admissions, and that the complete guidelines were revised in March 2021 and are published on that page; nothing beyond those recorded statements is claimed, and no coverage, disbursement or beneficiary count is asserted. D. The National Scheduled Castes Finance and Development Corporation is a Government of India company under the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment which provides concessional credit to Scheduled Caste beneficiaries, and the owners record its instruments as term loans, micro-credit and skill-development finance delivered through State channelising agencies rather than directly to a borrower; the reason the delivery route is examinable is that it makes the corporation's reach a function of the capacity and the appetite of the State agency in each State, so credit access is uneven for reasons that lie outside the corporation's own design, and an answer about economic mobility must say so.

Answer: B. Explanation: The owners record the sequence with care. A 2018 ruling of the Supreme Court diluted arrest and anticipatory-bail protection under the Act; Parliament responded by inserting Section 18A, under which no preliminary inquiry is required for the registration of a first information report, no approval is required for arrest and the statutory bar on anticipatory bail is restored notwithstanding that ruling; the constitutional challenge to the amendment was then decided in Prathvi Raj Chauhan in 2020, which upheld Section 18A while preserving an exceptional power in a constitutional court to intervene where the complaint discloses no prima facie case; the recurring trap is to say the 2018 amendment implemented a judicial direction when it in fact overrode one. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q27. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of The 2018 amendment and the Act-Court-Amendment sequence?

A. The National Scheduled Castes Finance and Development Corporation is a Government of India company under the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment which provides concessional credit to Scheduled Caste beneficiaries, and the owners record its instruments as term loans, micro-credit and skill-development finance delivered through State channelising agencies rather than directly to a borrower; the reason the delivery route is examinable is that it makes the corporation's reach a function of the capacity and the appetite of the State agency in each State, so credit access is uneven for reasons that lie outside the corporation's own design, and an answer about economic mobility must say so. B. The National Commission for Scheduled Castes exists under Article 338 of the Constitution and is therefore a constitutional body whose duties to investigate and monitor safeguards, to inquire into specific complaints and to advise on planning and socio-economic development are entrenched in the Constitution itself, which distinguishes it sharply from a statutory commission created by ordinary legislation such as the women's commission; the owners deliberately do not re-teach its composition and detailed mandate because that content belongs to the Polity commissions owner, and they require the cross-link to be stated rather than the material to be duplicated, so an answer here should use the status distinction and route the institutional detail. C. The owners record the sequence with care. A 2018 ruling of the Supreme Court diluted arrest and anticipatory-bail protection under the Act; Parliament responded by inserting Section 18A, under which no preliminary inquiry is required for the registration of a first information report, no approval is required for arrest and the statutory bar on anticipatory bail is restored notwithstanding that ruling; the constitutional challenge to the amendment was then decided in Prathvi Raj Chauhan in 2020, which upheld Section 18A while preserving an exceptional power in a constitutional court to intervene where the complaint discloses no prima facie case; the recurring trap is to say the 2018 amendment implemented a judicial direction when it in fact overrode one. D. The Department of Social Justice and Empowerment's own scheme page for the post-matric scholarship for students belonging to the Scheduled Castes, read on 2 September 2026, records that the objective of the scheme is to appreciably increase the gross enrolment ratio of Scheduled Caste students in higher education with a focus on those from the poorest households by providing financial assistance at the post-matriculation or post-secondary stage to enable them to complete their education; the same page records that the scholarships are available for studies in India only, that awardees are selected by the State Government or Union Territory to which the applicant actually belongs according to the domicile terms decided by that State, that the scheme applies both to current beneficiaries and to fresh admissions, and that the complete guidelines were revised in March 2021 and are published on that page; nothing beyond those recorded statements is claimed, and no coverage, disbursement or beneficiary count is asserted.

Answer: C. Explanation: The owners record the sequence with care. A 2018 ruling of the Supreme Court diluted arrest and anticipatory-bail protection under the Act; Parliament responded by inserting Section 18A, under which no preliminary inquiry is required for the registration of a first information report, no approval is required for arrest and the statutory bar on anticipatory bail is restored notwithstanding that ruling; the constitutional challenge to the amendment was then decided in Prathvi Raj Chauhan in 2020, which upheld Section 18A while preserving an exceptional power in a constitutional court to intervene where the complaint discloses no prima facie case; the recurring trap is to say the 2018 amendment implemented a judicial direction when it in fact overrode one. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q28. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about The 2018 amendment and the Act-Court-Amendment sequence?

A. The National Commission for Scheduled Castes exists under Article 338 of the Constitution and is therefore a constitutional body whose duties to investigate and monitor safeguards, to inquire into specific complaints and to advise on planning and socio-economic development are entrenched in the Constitution itself, which distinguishes it sharply from a statutory commission created by ordinary legislation such as the women's commission; the owners deliberately do not re-teach its composition and detailed mandate because that content belongs to the Polity commissions owner, and they require the cross-link to be stated rather than the material to be duplicated, so an answer here should use the status distinction and route the institutional detail. B. The Department of Social Justice and Empowerment's own scheme page for the post-matric scholarship for students belonging to the Scheduled Castes, read on 2 September 2026, records that the objective of the scheme is to appreciably increase the gross enrolment ratio of Scheduled Caste students in higher education with a focus on those from the poorest households by providing financial assistance at the post-matriculation or post-secondary stage to enable them to complete their education; the same page records that the scholarships are available for studies in India only, that awardees are selected by the State Government or Union Territory to which the applicant actually belongs according to the domicile terms decided by that State, that the scheme applies both to current beneficiaries and to fresh admissions, and that the complete guidelines were revised in March 2021 and are published on that page; nothing beyond those recorded statements is claimed, and no coverage, disbursement or beneficiary count is asserted. C. State of Punjab against Davinder Singh, decided on 1 August 2024 by a seven-judge Constitution Bench by a majority of six to one, held that sub-classification within the Scheduled Castes for the purpose of reservation is constitutionally permissible where it is supported by data, and it overruled the earlier decision in E.V. Chinnaiah; the owners then set the boundary of the holding with unusual care, because the judgment does not alter the Presidential List of Scheduled Castes, does not itself allot any sub-quota to any group and does not direct any State to sub-classify, so what it grants is constitutional permission for an evidence-based State measure and nothing more. D. The owners record the sequence with care. A 2018 ruling of the Supreme Court diluted arrest and anticipatory-bail protection under the Act; Parliament responded by inserting Section 18A, under which no preliminary inquiry is required for the registration of a first information report, no approval is required for arrest and the statutory bar on anticipatory bail is restored notwithstanding that ruling; the constitutional challenge to the amendment was then decided in Prathvi Raj Chauhan in 2020, which upheld Section 18A while preserving an exceptional power in a constitutional court to intervene where the complaint discloses no prima facie case; the recurring trap is to say the 2018 amendment implemented a judicial direction when it in fact overrode one.

Answer: D. Explanation: The owners record the sequence with care. A 2018 ruling of the Supreme Court diluted arrest and anticipatory-bail protection under the Act; Parliament responded by inserting Section 18A, under which no preliminary inquiry is required for the registration of a first information report, no approval is required for arrest and the statutory bar on anticipatory bail is restored notwithstanding that ruling; the constitutional challenge to the amendment was then decided in Prathvi Raj Chauhan in 2020, which upheld Section 18A while preserving an exceptional power in a constitutional court to intervene where the complaint discloses no prima facie case; the recurring trap is to say the 2018 amendment implemented a judicial direction when it in fact overrode one. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q29. Which statement correctly identifies The sequence as institutional dialogue between legislature and judiciary?

A. The owners treat the 1989 Act, the 2018 ruling and the 2018 amendment as a textbook instance of the legislature responding to a judicial reading by amending the law, and they invite the cross-link to the Polity owner for the doctrine; the analytical shape is that the Court read a safeguard against misuse into a statute, Parliament restored the original stringency by express provision, and the Court then tested the restored provision and upheld it while retaining a narrow constitutional escape valve, so the episode ends in an equilibrium rather than in a victory for either branch; an answer that uses it must state all three steps, because reciting only the amendment converts a dialogue into a confrontation. B. The Department of Social Justice and Empowerment's own scheme page for the post-matric scholarship for students belonging to the Scheduled Castes, read on 2 September 2026, records that the objective of the scheme is to appreciably increase the gross enrolment ratio of Scheduled Caste students in higher education with a focus on those from the poorest households by providing financial assistance at the post-matriculation or post-secondary stage to enable them to complete their education; the same page records that the scholarships are available for studies in India only, that awardees are selected by the State Government or Union Territory to which the applicant actually belongs according to the domicile terms decided by that State, that the scheme applies both to current beneficiaries and to fresh admissions, and that the complete guidelines were revised in March 2021 and are published on that page; nothing beyond those recorded statements is claimed, and no coverage, disbursement or beneficiary count is asserted. C. Pradhan Mantri Anusuchit Jaati Abhyudaya Yojana is the umbrella Scheduled Caste development framework of the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, and the owners record its three delivery channels as development of Scheduled Caste dominated villages under the model-village component, grants for approved district and State socio-economic development projects, and hostel support in higher educational institutions; the critical qualification is that these are project and sanction channels driven by State proposals and annual approvals rather than an automatic individual benefit, so it is an error both to describe the framework as a personal scholarship or loan entitlement and to treat every ministry scheme for Scheduled Castes as one of its components. D. The National Scheduled Castes Finance and Development Corporation is a Government of India company under the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment which provides concessional credit to Scheduled Caste beneficiaries, and the owners record its instruments as term loans, micro-credit and skill-development finance delivered through State channelising agencies rather than directly to a borrower; the reason the delivery route is examinable is that it makes the corporation's reach a function of the capacity and the appetite of the State agency in each State, so credit access is uneven for reasons that lie outside the corporation's own design, and an answer about economic mobility must say so.

Answer: A. Explanation: The owners treat the 1989 Act, the 2018 ruling and the 2018 amendment as a textbook instance of the legislature responding to a judicial reading by amending the law, and they invite the cross-link to the Polity owner for the doctrine; the analytical shape is that the Court read a safeguard against misuse into a statute, Parliament restored the original stringency by express provision, and the Court then tested the restored provision and upheld it while retaining a narrow constitutional escape valve, so the episode ends in an equilibrium rather than in a victory for either branch; an answer that uses it must state all three steps, because reciting only the amendment converts a dialogue into a confrontation. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q30. Which chronology card should be filed under The sequence as institutional dialogue between legislature and judiciary?

A. The Department of Social Justice and Empowerment's own scheme page for the post-matric scholarship for students belonging to the Scheduled Castes, read on 2 September 2026, records that the objective of the scheme is to appreciably increase the gross enrolment ratio of Scheduled Caste students in higher education with a focus on those from the poorest households by providing financial assistance at the post-matriculation or post-secondary stage to enable them to complete their education; the same page records that the scholarships are available for studies in India only, that awardees are selected by the State Government or Union Territory to which the applicant actually belongs according to the domicile terms decided by that State, that the scheme applies both to current beneficiaries and to fresh admissions, and that the complete guidelines were revised in March 2021 and are published on that page; nothing beyond those recorded statements is claimed, and no coverage, disbursement or beneficiary count is asserted. B. The owners treat the 1989 Act, the 2018 ruling and the 2018 amendment as a textbook instance of the legislature responding to a judicial reading by amending the law, and they invite the cross-link to the Polity owner for the doctrine; the analytical shape is that the Court read a safeguard against misuse into a statute, Parliament restored the original stringency by express provision, and the Court then tested the restored provision and upheld it while retaining a narrow constitutional escape valve, so the episode ends in an equilibrium rather than in a victory for either branch; an answer that uses it must state all three steps, because reciting only the amendment converts a dialogue into a confrontation. C. The National Commission for Scheduled Castes exists under Article 338 of the Constitution and is therefore a constitutional body whose duties to investigate and monitor safeguards, to inquire into specific complaints and to advise on planning and socio-economic development are entrenched in the Constitution itself, which distinguishes it sharply from a statutory commission created by ordinary legislation such as the women's commission; the owners deliberately do not re-teach its composition and detailed mandate because that content belongs to the Polity commissions owner, and they require the cross-link to be stated rather than the material to be duplicated, so an answer here should use the status distinction and route the institutional detail. D. The National Scheduled Castes Finance and Development Corporation is a Government of India company under the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment which provides concessional credit to Scheduled Caste beneficiaries, and the owners record its instruments as term loans, micro-credit and skill-development finance delivered through State channelising agencies rather than directly to a borrower; the reason the delivery route is examinable is that it makes the corporation's reach a function of the capacity and the appetite of the State agency in each State, so credit access is uneven for reasons that lie outside the corporation's own design, and an answer about economic mobility must say so.

Answer: B. Explanation: The owners treat the 1989 Act, the 2018 ruling and the 2018 amendment as a textbook instance of the legislature responding to a judicial reading by amending the law, and they invite the cross-link to the Polity owner for the doctrine; the analytical shape is that the Court read a safeguard against misuse into a statute, Parliament restored the original stringency by express provision, and the Court then tested the restored provision and upheld it while retaining a narrow constitutional escape valve, so the episode ends in an equilibrium rather than in a victory for either branch; an answer that uses it must state all three steps, because reciting only the amendment converts a dialogue into a confrontation. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q31. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of The sequence as institutional dialogue between legislature and judiciary?

A. The Department of Social Justice and Empowerment's own scheme page for the post-matric scholarship for students belonging to the Scheduled Castes, read on 2 September 2026, records that the objective of the scheme is to appreciably increase the gross enrolment ratio of Scheduled Caste students in higher education with a focus on those from the poorest households by providing financial assistance at the post-matriculation or post-secondary stage to enable them to complete their education; the same page records that the scholarships are available for studies in India only, that awardees are selected by the State Government or Union Territory to which the applicant actually belongs according to the domicile terms decided by that State, that the scheme applies both to current beneficiaries and to fresh admissions, and that the complete guidelines were revised in March 2021 and are published on that page; nothing beyond those recorded statements is claimed, and no coverage, disbursement or beneficiary count is asserted. B. The National Commission for Scheduled Castes exists under Article 338 of the Constitution and is therefore a constitutional body whose duties to investigate and monitor safeguards, to inquire into specific complaints and to advise on planning and socio-economic development are entrenched in the Constitution itself, which distinguishes it sharply from a statutory commission created by ordinary legislation such as the women's commission; the owners deliberately do not re-teach its composition and detailed mandate because that content belongs to the Polity commissions owner, and they require the cross-link to be stated rather than the material to be duplicated, so an answer here should use the status distinction and route the institutional detail. C. The owners treat the 1989 Act, the 2018 ruling and the 2018 amendment as a textbook instance of the legislature responding to a judicial reading by amending the law, and they invite the cross-link to the Polity owner for the doctrine; the analytical shape is that the Court read a safeguard against misuse into a statute, Parliament restored the original stringency by express provision, and the Court then tested the restored provision and upheld it while retaining a narrow constitutional escape valve, so the episode ends in an equilibrium rather than in a victory for either branch; an answer that uses it must state all three steps, because reciting only the amendment converts a dialogue into a confrontation. D. State of Punjab against Davinder Singh, decided on 1 August 2024 by a seven-judge Constitution Bench by a majority of six to one, held that sub-classification within the Scheduled Castes for the purpose of reservation is constitutionally permissible where it is supported by data, and it overruled the earlier decision in E.V. Chinnaiah; the owners then set the boundary of the holding with unusual care, because the judgment does not alter the Presidential List of Scheduled Castes, does not itself allot any sub-quota to any group and does not direct any State to sub-classify, so what it grants is constitutional permission for an evidence-based State measure and nothing more.

Answer: C. Explanation: The owners treat the 1989 Act, the 2018 ruling and the 2018 amendment as a textbook instance of the legislature responding to a judicial reading by amending the law, and they invite the cross-link to the Polity owner for the doctrine; the analytical shape is that the Court read a safeguard against misuse into a statute, Parliament restored the original stringency by express provision, and the Court then tested the restored provision and upheld it while retaining a narrow constitutional escape valve, so the episode ends in an equilibrium rather than in a victory for either branch; an answer that uses it must state all three steps, because reciting only the amendment converts a dialogue into a confrontation. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q32. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about The sequence as institutional dialogue between legislature and judiciary?

A. State of Punjab against Davinder Singh, decided on 1 August 2024 by a seven-judge Constitution Bench by a majority of six to one, held that sub-classification within the Scheduled Castes for the purpose of reservation is constitutionally permissible where it is supported by data, and it overruled the earlier decision in E.V. Chinnaiah; the owners then set the boundary of the holding with unusual care, because the judgment does not alter the Presidential List of Scheduled Castes, does not itself allot any sub-quota to any group and does not direct any State to sub-classify, so what it grants is constitutional permission for an evidence-based State measure and nothing more. B. The owners record that observations about applying a creamy-layer style filter to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes appeared in separate opinions in the 2024 judgment and were not part of the binding holding, and that no general creamy-layer exclusion for those categories has been legislated; the discipline that follows is that the existing creamy-layer rule for other backward classes must not be transplanted in an answer, and that a candidate who writes that the Supreme Court has introduced a creamy layer for the Scheduled Castes has converted an obiter discussion into a legislated rule, which is exactly the status error this folder exists to prevent. C. The National Commission for Scheduled Castes exists under Article 338 of the Constitution and is therefore a constitutional body whose duties to investigate and monitor safeguards, to inquire into specific complaints and to advise on planning and socio-economic development are entrenched in the Constitution itself, which distinguishes it sharply from a statutory commission created by ordinary legislation such as the women's commission; the owners deliberately do not re-teach its composition and detailed mandate because that content belongs to the Polity commissions owner, and they require the cross-link to be stated rather than the material to be duplicated, so an answer here should use the status distinction and route the institutional detail. D. The owners treat the 1989 Act, the 2018 ruling and the 2018 amendment as a textbook instance of the legislature responding to a judicial reading by amending the law, and they invite the cross-link to the Polity owner for the doctrine; the analytical shape is that the Court read a safeguard against misuse into a statute, Parliament restored the original stringency by express provision, and the Court then tested the restored provision and upheld it while retaining a narrow constitutional escape valve, so the episode ends in an equilibrium rather than in a victory for either branch; an answer that uses it must state all three steps, because reciting only the amendment converts a dialogue into a confrontation.

Answer: D. Explanation: The owners treat the 1989 Act, the 2018 ruling and the 2018 amendment as a textbook instance of the legislature responding to a judicial reading by amending the law, and they invite the cross-link to the Polity owner for the doctrine; the analytical shape is that the Court read a safeguard against misuse into a statute, Parliament restored the original stringency by express provision, and the Court then tested the restored provision and upheld it while retaining a narrow constitutional escape valve, so the episode ends in an equilibrium rather than in a victory for either branch; an answer that uses it must state all three steps, because reciting only the amendment converts a dialogue into a confrontation. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q33. Which statement correctly identifies The umbrella development framework and what it actually is?

A. Pradhan Mantri Anusuchit Jaati Abhyudaya Yojana is the umbrella Scheduled Caste development framework of the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, and the owners record its three delivery channels as development of Scheduled Caste dominated villages under the model-village component, grants for approved district and State socio-economic development projects, and hostel support in higher educational institutions; the critical qualification is that these are project and sanction channels driven by State proposals and annual approvals rather than an automatic individual benefit, so it is an error both to describe the framework as a personal scholarship or loan entitlement and to treat every ministry scheme for Scheduled Castes as one of its components. B. The National Commission for Scheduled Castes exists under Article 338 of the Constitution and is therefore a constitutional body whose duties to investigate and monitor safeguards, to inquire into specific complaints and to advise on planning and socio-economic development are entrenched in the Constitution itself, which distinguishes it sharply from a statutory commission created by ordinary legislation such as the women's commission; the owners deliberately do not re-teach its composition and detailed mandate because that content belongs to the Polity commissions owner, and they require the cross-link to be stated rather than the material to be duplicated, so an answer here should use the status distinction and route the institutional detail. C. The Department of Social Justice and Empowerment's own scheme page for the post-matric scholarship for students belonging to the Scheduled Castes, read on 2 September 2026, records that the objective of the scheme is to appreciably increase the gross enrolment ratio of Scheduled Caste students in higher education with a focus on those from the poorest households by providing financial assistance at the post-matriculation or post-secondary stage to enable them to complete their education; the same page records that the scholarships are available for studies in India only, that awardees are selected by the State Government or Union Territory to which the applicant actually belongs according to the domicile terms decided by that State, that the scheme applies both to current beneficiaries and to fresh admissions, and that the complete guidelines were revised in March 2021 and are published on that page; nothing beyond those recorded statements is claimed, and no coverage, disbursement or beneficiary count is asserted. D. The National Scheduled Castes Finance and Development Corporation is a Government of India company under the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment which provides concessional credit to Scheduled Caste beneficiaries, and the owners record its instruments as term loans, micro-credit and skill-development finance delivered through State channelising agencies rather than directly to a borrower; the reason the delivery route is examinable is that it makes the corporation's reach a function of the capacity and the appetite of the State agency in each State, so credit access is uneven for reasons that lie outside the corporation's own design, and an answer about economic mobility must say so.

Answer: A. Explanation: Pradhan Mantri Anusuchit Jaati Abhyudaya Yojana is the umbrella Scheduled Caste development framework of the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, and the owners record its three delivery channels as development of Scheduled Caste dominated villages under the model-village component, grants for approved district and State socio-economic development projects, and hostel support in higher educational institutions; the critical qualification is that these are project and sanction channels driven by State proposals and annual approvals rather than an automatic individual benefit, so it is an error both to describe the framework as a personal scholarship or loan entitlement and to treat every ministry scheme for Scheduled Castes as one of its components. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q34. Which chronology card should be filed under The umbrella development framework and what it actually is?

A. State of Punjab against Davinder Singh, decided on 1 August 2024 by a seven-judge Constitution Bench by a majority of six to one, held that sub-classification within the Scheduled Castes for the purpose of reservation is constitutionally permissible where it is supported by data, and it overruled the earlier decision in E.V. Chinnaiah; the owners then set the boundary of the holding with unusual care, because the judgment does not alter the Presidential List of Scheduled Castes, does not itself allot any sub-quota to any group and does not direct any State to sub-classify, so what it grants is constitutional permission for an evidence-based State measure and nothing more. B. Pradhan Mantri Anusuchit Jaati Abhyudaya Yojana is the umbrella Scheduled Caste development framework of the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, and the owners record its three delivery channels as development of Scheduled Caste dominated villages under the model-village component, grants for approved district and State socio-economic development projects, and hostel support in higher educational institutions; the critical qualification is that these are project and sanction channels driven by State proposals and annual approvals rather than an automatic individual benefit, so it is an error both to describe the framework as a personal scholarship or loan entitlement and to treat every ministry scheme for Scheduled Castes as one of its components. C. The National Commission for Scheduled Castes exists under Article 338 of the Constitution and is therefore a constitutional body whose duties to investigate and monitor safeguards, to inquire into specific complaints and to advise on planning and socio-economic development are entrenched in the Constitution itself, which distinguishes it sharply from a statutory commission created by ordinary legislation such as the women's commission; the owners deliberately do not re-teach its composition and detailed mandate because that content belongs to the Polity commissions owner, and they require the cross-link to be stated rather than the material to be duplicated, so an answer here should use the status distinction and route the institutional detail. D. The Department of Social Justice and Empowerment's own scheme page for the post-matric scholarship for students belonging to the Scheduled Castes, read on 2 September 2026, records that the objective of the scheme is to appreciably increase the gross enrolment ratio of Scheduled Caste students in higher education with a focus on those from the poorest households by providing financial assistance at the post-matriculation or post-secondary stage to enable them to complete their education; the same page records that the scholarships are available for studies in India only, that awardees are selected by the State Government or Union Territory to which the applicant actually belongs according to the domicile terms decided by that State, that the scheme applies both to current beneficiaries and to fresh admissions, and that the complete guidelines were revised in March 2021 and are published on that page; nothing beyond those recorded statements is claimed, and no coverage, disbursement or beneficiary count is asserted.

Answer: B. Explanation: Pradhan Mantri Anusuchit Jaati Abhyudaya Yojana is the umbrella Scheduled Caste development framework of the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, and the owners record its three delivery channels as development of Scheduled Caste dominated villages under the model-village component, grants for approved district and State socio-economic development projects, and hostel support in higher educational institutions; the critical qualification is that these are project and sanction channels driven by State proposals and annual approvals rather than an automatic individual benefit, so it is an error both to describe the framework as a personal scholarship or loan entitlement and to treat every ministry scheme for Scheduled Castes as one of its components. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q35. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of The umbrella development framework and what it actually is?

A. State of Punjab against Davinder Singh, decided on 1 August 2024 by a seven-judge Constitution Bench by a majority of six to one, held that sub-classification within the Scheduled Castes for the purpose of reservation is constitutionally permissible where it is supported by data, and it overruled the earlier decision in E.V. Chinnaiah; the owners then set the boundary of the holding with unusual care, because the judgment does not alter the Presidential List of Scheduled Castes, does not itself allot any sub-quota to any group and does not direct any State to sub-classify, so what it grants is constitutional permission for an evidence-based State measure and nothing more. B. The owners record that observations about applying a creamy-layer style filter to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes appeared in separate opinions in the 2024 judgment and were not part of the binding holding, and that no general creamy-layer exclusion for those categories has been legislated; the discipline that follows is that the existing creamy-layer rule for other backward classes must not be transplanted in an answer, and that a candidate who writes that the Supreme Court has introduced a creamy layer for the Scheduled Castes has converted an obiter discussion into a legislated rule, which is exactly the status error this folder exists to prevent. C. Pradhan Mantri Anusuchit Jaati Abhyudaya Yojana is the umbrella Scheduled Caste development framework of the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, and the owners record its three delivery channels as development of Scheduled Caste dominated villages under the model-village component, grants for approved district and State socio-economic development projects, and hostel support in higher educational institutions; the critical qualification is that these are project and sanction channels driven by State proposals and annual approvals rather than an automatic individual benefit, so it is an error both to describe the framework as a personal scholarship or loan entitlement and to treat every ministry scheme for Scheduled Castes as one of its components. D. The National Commission for Scheduled Castes exists under Article 338 of the Constitution and is therefore a constitutional body whose duties to investigate and monitor safeguards, to inquire into specific complaints and to advise on planning and socio-economic development are entrenched in the Constitution itself, which distinguishes it sharply from a statutory commission created by ordinary legislation such as the women's commission; the owners deliberately do not re-teach its composition and detailed mandate because that content belongs to the Polity commissions owner, and they require the cross-link to be stated rather than the material to be duplicated, so an answer here should use the status distinction and route the institutional detail.

Answer: C. Explanation: Pradhan Mantri Anusuchit Jaati Abhyudaya Yojana is the umbrella Scheduled Caste development framework of the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, and the owners record its three delivery channels as development of Scheduled Caste dominated villages under the model-village component, grants for approved district and State socio-economic development projects, and hostel support in higher educational institutions; the critical qualification is that these are project and sanction channels driven by State proposals and annual approvals rather than an automatic individual benefit, so it is an error both to describe the framework as a personal scholarship or loan entitlement and to treat every ministry scheme for Scheduled Castes as one of its components. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q36. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about The umbrella development framework and what it actually is?

A. State of Punjab against Davinder Singh, decided on 1 August 2024 by a seven-judge Constitution Bench by a majority of six to one, held that sub-classification within the Scheduled Castes for the purpose of reservation is constitutionally permissible where it is supported by data, and it overruled the earlier decision in E.V. Chinnaiah; the owners then set the boundary of the holding with unusual care, because the judgment does not alter the Presidential List of Scheduled Castes, does not itself allot any sub-quota to any group and does not direct any State to sub-classify, so what it grants is constitutional permission for an evidence-based State measure and nothing more. B. The owners record that observations about applying a creamy-layer style filter to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes appeared in separate opinions in the 2024 judgment and were not part of the binding holding, and that no general creamy-layer exclusion for those categories has been legislated; the discipline that follows is that the existing creamy-layer rule for other backward classes must not be transplanted in an answer, and that a candidate who writes that the Supreme Court has introduced a creamy layer for the Scheduled Castes has converted an obiter discussion into a legislated rule, which is exactly the status error this folder exists to prevent. C. The owners insist that the Scheduled Castes are not a monolithic category, because some sub-castes face substantially greater disadvantage than others and manual-scavenging communities are named as a boundary case carrying stigma and occupational hazard beyond general Scheduled Caste disadvantage; the policy consequence is that a scheme designed for the category as a whole may be captured disproportionately by the relatively better-placed sub-groups, so the model-village, hostel and credit channels can be fully implemented and still leave the worst-off communities untouched, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation route belongs to the manual-scavenging owner. D. Pradhan Mantri Anusuchit Jaati Abhyudaya Yojana is the umbrella Scheduled Caste development framework of the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, and the owners record its three delivery channels as development of Scheduled Caste dominated villages under the model-village component, grants for approved district and State socio-economic development projects, and hostel support in higher educational institutions; the critical qualification is that these are project and sanction channels driven by State proposals and annual approvals rather than an automatic individual benefit, so it is an error both to describe the framework as a personal scholarship or loan entitlement and to treat every ministry scheme for Scheduled Castes as one of its components.

Answer: D. Explanation: Pradhan Mantri Anusuchit Jaati Abhyudaya Yojana is the umbrella Scheduled Caste development framework of the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, and the owners record its three delivery channels as development of Scheduled Caste dominated villages under the model-village component, grants for approved district and State socio-economic development projects, and hostel support in higher educational institutions; the critical qualification is that these are project and sanction channels driven by State proposals and annual approvals rather than an automatic individual benefit, so it is an error both to describe the framework as a personal scholarship or loan entitlement and to treat every ministry scheme for Scheduled Castes as one of its components. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q37. Which statement correctly identifies The concessional-credit corporation and its delivery route?

A. The National Scheduled Castes Finance and Development Corporation is a Government of India company under the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment which provides concessional credit to Scheduled Caste beneficiaries, and the owners record its instruments as term loans, micro-credit and skill-development finance delivered through State channelising agencies rather than directly to a borrower; the reason the delivery route is examinable is that it makes the corporation's reach a function of the capacity and the appetite of the State agency in each State, so credit access is uneven for reasons that lie outside the corporation's own design, and an answer about economic mobility must say so. B. State of Punjab against Davinder Singh, decided on 1 August 2024 by a seven-judge Constitution Bench by a majority of six to one, held that sub-classification within the Scheduled Castes for the purpose of reservation is constitutionally permissible where it is supported by data, and it overruled the earlier decision in E.V. Chinnaiah; the owners then set the boundary of the holding with unusual care, because the judgment does not alter the Presidential List of Scheduled Castes, does not itself allot any sub-quota to any group and does not direct any State to sub-classify, so what it grants is constitutional permission for an evidence-based State measure and nothing more. C. The National Commission for Scheduled Castes exists under Article 338 of the Constitution and is therefore a constitutional body whose duties to investigate and monitor safeguards, to inquire into specific complaints and to advise on planning and socio-economic development are entrenched in the Constitution itself, which distinguishes it sharply from a statutory commission created by ordinary legislation such as the women's commission; the owners deliberately do not re-teach its composition and detailed mandate because that content belongs to the Polity commissions owner, and they require the cross-link to be stated rather than the material to be duplicated, so an answer here should use the status distinction and route the institutional detail. D. The Department of Social Justice and Empowerment's own scheme page for the post-matric scholarship for students belonging to the Scheduled Castes, read on 2 September 2026, records that the objective of the scheme is to appreciably increase the gross enrolment ratio of Scheduled Caste students in higher education with a focus on those from the poorest households by providing financial assistance at the post-matriculation or post-secondary stage to enable them to complete their education; the same page records that the scholarships are available for studies in India only, that awardees are selected by the State Government or Union Territory to which the applicant actually belongs according to the domicile terms decided by that State, that the scheme applies both to current beneficiaries and to fresh admissions, and that the complete guidelines were revised in March 2021 and are published on that page; nothing beyond those recorded statements is claimed, and no coverage, disbursement or beneficiary count is asserted.

Answer: A. Explanation: The National Scheduled Castes Finance and Development Corporation is a Government of India company under the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment which provides concessional credit to Scheduled Caste beneficiaries, and the owners record its instruments as term loans, micro-credit and skill-development finance delivered through State channelising agencies rather than directly to a borrower; the reason the delivery route is examinable is that it makes the corporation's reach a function of the capacity and the appetite of the State agency in each State, so credit access is uneven for reasons that lie outside the corporation's own design, and an answer about economic mobility must say so. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q38. Which chronology card should be filed under The concessional-credit corporation and its delivery route?

A. State of Punjab against Davinder Singh, decided on 1 August 2024 by a seven-judge Constitution Bench by a majority of six to one, held that sub-classification within the Scheduled Castes for the purpose of reservation is constitutionally permissible where it is supported by data, and it overruled the earlier decision in E.V. Chinnaiah; the owners then set the boundary of the holding with unusual care, because the judgment does not alter the Presidential List of Scheduled Castes, does not itself allot any sub-quota to any group and does not direct any State to sub-classify, so what it grants is constitutional permission for an evidence-based State measure and nothing more. B. The National Scheduled Castes Finance and Development Corporation is a Government of India company under the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment which provides concessional credit to Scheduled Caste beneficiaries, and the owners record its instruments as term loans, micro-credit and skill-development finance delivered through State channelising agencies rather than directly to a borrower; the reason the delivery route is examinable is that it makes the corporation's reach a function of the capacity and the appetite of the State agency in each State, so credit access is uneven for reasons that lie outside the corporation's own design, and an answer about economic mobility must say so. C. The owners record that observations about applying a creamy-layer style filter to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes appeared in separate opinions in the 2024 judgment and were not part of the binding holding, and that no general creamy-layer exclusion for those categories has been legislated; the discipline that follows is that the existing creamy-layer rule for other backward classes must not be transplanted in an answer, and that a candidate who writes that the Supreme Court has introduced a creamy layer for the Scheduled Castes has converted an obiter discussion into a legislated rule, which is exactly the status error this folder exists to prevent. D. The National Commission for Scheduled Castes exists under Article 338 of the Constitution and is therefore a constitutional body whose duties to investigate and monitor safeguards, to inquire into specific complaints and to advise on planning and socio-economic development are entrenched in the Constitution itself, which distinguishes it sharply from a statutory commission created by ordinary legislation such as the women's commission; the owners deliberately do not re-teach its composition and detailed mandate because that content belongs to the Polity commissions owner, and they require the cross-link to be stated rather than the material to be duplicated, so an answer here should use the status distinction and route the institutional detail.

Answer: B. Explanation: The National Scheduled Castes Finance and Development Corporation is a Government of India company under the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment which provides concessional credit to Scheduled Caste beneficiaries, and the owners record its instruments as term loans, micro-credit and skill-development finance delivered through State channelising agencies rather than directly to a borrower; the reason the delivery route is examinable is that it makes the corporation's reach a function of the capacity and the appetite of the State agency in each State, so credit access is uneven for reasons that lie outside the corporation's own design, and an answer about economic mobility must say so. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q39. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of The concessional-credit corporation and its delivery route?

A. State of Punjab against Davinder Singh, decided on 1 August 2024 by a seven-judge Constitution Bench by a majority of six to one, held that sub-classification within the Scheduled Castes for the purpose of reservation is constitutionally permissible where it is supported by data, and it overruled the earlier decision in E.V. Chinnaiah; the owners then set the boundary of the holding with unusual care, because the judgment does not alter the Presidential List of Scheduled Castes, does not itself allot any sub-quota to any group and does not direct any State to sub-classify, so what it grants is constitutional permission for an evidence-based State measure and nothing more. B. The owners insist that the Scheduled Castes are not a monolithic category, because some sub-castes face substantially greater disadvantage than others and manual-scavenging communities are named as a boundary case carrying stigma and occupational hazard beyond general Scheduled Caste disadvantage; the policy consequence is that a scheme designed for the category as a whole may be captured disproportionately by the relatively better-placed sub-groups, so the model-village, hostel and credit channels can be fully implemented and still leave the worst-off communities untouched, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation route belongs to the manual-scavenging owner. C. The National Scheduled Castes Finance and Development Corporation is a Government of India company under the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment which provides concessional credit to Scheduled Caste beneficiaries, and the owners record its instruments as term loans, micro-credit and skill-development finance delivered through State channelising agencies rather than directly to a borrower; the reason the delivery route is examinable is that it makes the corporation's reach a function of the capacity and the appetite of the State agency in each State, so credit access is uneven for reasons that lie outside the corporation's own design, and an answer about economic mobility must say so. D. The owners record that observations about applying a creamy-layer style filter to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes appeared in separate opinions in the 2024 judgment and were not part of the binding holding, and that no general creamy-layer exclusion for those categories has been legislated; the discipline that follows is that the existing creamy-layer rule for other backward classes must not be transplanted in an answer, and that a candidate who writes that the Supreme Court has introduced a creamy layer for the Scheduled Castes has converted an obiter discussion into a legislated rule, which is exactly the status error this folder exists to prevent.

Answer: C. Explanation: The National Scheduled Castes Finance and Development Corporation is a Government of India company under the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment which provides concessional credit to Scheduled Caste beneficiaries, and the owners record its instruments as term loans, micro-credit and skill-development finance delivered through State channelising agencies rather than directly to a borrower; the reason the delivery route is examinable is that it makes the corporation's reach a function of the capacity and the appetite of the State agency in each State, so credit access is uneven for reasons that lie outside the corporation's own design, and an answer about economic mobility must say so. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q40. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about The concessional-credit corporation and its delivery route?

A. The owners record that observations about applying a creamy-layer style filter to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes appeared in separate opinions in the 2024 judgment and were not part of the binding holding, and that no general creamy-layer exclusion for those categories has been legislated; the discipline that follows is that the existing creamy-layer rule for other backward classes must not be transplanted in an answer, and that a candidate who writes that the Supreme Court has introduced a creamy layer for the Scheduled Castes has converted an obiter discussion into a legislated rule, which is exactly the status error this folder exists to prevent. B. The owners set out three considerations that any sub-classification answer must hold together: the opportunity, which is that sub-classification addresses within-category inequality and prevents relatively advanced sub-castes from capturing a disproportionate share of benefits; the risk, which is that it may fragment Scheduled Caste political unity and weaken collective bargaining power while State-level politics exploits sub-caste divisions for electoral purposes; and the empirical requirement, which is that any classification must be justified by backwardness and representation data for each sub-group, failing which it is arbitrary and legally vulnerable; the owners add that the judgment permits but does not mandate the measure, so a State's inaction is not itself unconstitutional. C. The owners insist that the Scheduled Castes are not a monolithic category, because some sub-castes face substantially greater disadvantage than others and manual-scavenging communities are named as a boundary case carrying stigma and occupational hazard beyond general Scheduled Caste disadvantage; the policy consequence is that a scheme designed for the category as a whole may be captured disproportionately by the relatively better-placed sub-groups, so the model-village, hostel and credit channels can be fully implemented and still leave the worst-off communities untouched, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation route belongs to the manual-scavenging owner. D. The National Scheduled Castes Finance and Development Corporation is a Government of India company under the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment which provides concessional credit to Scheduled Caste beneficiaries, and the owners record its instruments as term loans, micro-credit and skill-development finance delivered through State channelising agencies rather than directly to a borrower; the reason the delivery route is examinable is that it makes the corporation's reach a function of the capacity and the appetite of the State agency in each State, so credit access is uneven for reasons that lie outside the corporation's own design, and an answer about economic mobility must say so.

Answer: D. Explanation: The National Scheduled Castes Finance and Development Corporation is a Government of India company under the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment which provides concessional credit to Scheduled Caste beneficiaries, and the owners record its instruments as term loans, micro-credit and skill-development finance delivered through State channelising agencies rather than directly to a borrower; the reason the delivery route is examinable is that it makes the corporation's reach a function of the capacity and the appetite of the State agency in each State, so credit access is uneven for reasons that lie outside the corporation's own design, and an answer about economic mobility must say so. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q41. Which statement correctly identifies The post-matriculation scholarship as a verified official anchor?

A. The Department of Social Justice and Empowerment's own scheme page for the post-matric scholarship for students belonging to the Scheduled Castes, read on 2 September 2026, records that the objective of the scheme is to appreciably increase the gross enrolment ratio of Scheduled Caste students in higher education with a focus on those from the poorest households by providing financial assistance at the post-matriculation or post-secondary stage to enable them to complete their education; the same page records that the scholarships are available for studies in India only, that awardees are selected by the State Government or Union Territory to which the applicant actually belongs according to the domicile terms decided by that State, that the scheme applies both to current beneficiaries and to fresh admissions, and that the complete guidelines were revised in March 2021 and are published on that page; nothing beyond those recorded statements is claimed, and no coverage, disbursement or beneficiary count is asserted. B. State of Punjab against Davinder Singh, decided on 1 August 2024 by a seven-judge Constitution Bench by a majority of six to one, held that sub-classification within the Scheduled Castes for the purpose of reservation is constitutionally permissible where it is supported by data, and it overruled the earlier decision in E.V. Chinnaiah; the owners then set the boundary of the holding with unusual care, because the judgment does not alter the Presidential List of Scheduled Castes, does not itself allot any sub-quota to any group and does not direct any State to sub-classify, so what it grants is constitutional permission for an evidence-based State measure and nothing more. C. The National Commission for Scheduled Castes exists under Article 338 of the Constitution and is therefore a constitutional body whose duties to investigate and monitor safeguards, to inquire into specific complaints and to advise on planning and socio-economic development are entrenched in the Constitution itself, which distinguishes it sharply from a statutory commission created by ordinary legislation such as the women's commission; the owners deliberately do not re-teach its composition and detailed mandate because that content belongs to the Polity commissions owner, and they require the cross-link to be stated rather than the material to be duplicated, so an answer here should use the status distinction and route the institutional detail. D. The owners record that observations about applying a creamy-layer style filter to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes appeared in separate opinions in the 2024 judgment and were not part of the binding holding, and that no general creamy-layer exclusion for those categories has been legislated; the discipline that follows is that the existing creamy-layer rule for other backward classes must not be transplanted in an answer, and that a candidate who writes that the Supreme Court has introduced a creamy layer for the Scheduled Castes has converted an obiter discussion into a legislated rule, which is exactly the status error this folder exists to prevent.

Answer: A. Explanation: The Department of Social Justice and Empowerment's own scheme page for the post-matric scholarship for students belonging to the Scheduled Castes, read on 2 September 2026, records that the objective of the scheme is to appreciably increase the gross enrolment ratio of Scheduled Caste students in higher education with a focus on those from the poorest households by providing financial assistance at the post-matriculation or post-secondary stage to enable them to complete their education; the same page records that the scholarships are available for studies in India only, that awardees are selected by the State Government or Union Territory to which the applicant actually belongs according to the domicile terms decided by that State, that the scheme applies both to current beneficiaries and to fresh admissions, and that the complete guidelines were revised in March 2021 and are published on that page; nothing beyond those recorded statements is claimed, and no coverage, disbursement or beneficiary count is asserted. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q42. Which chronology card should be filed under The post-matriculation scholarship as a verified official anchor?

A. The owners insist that the Scheduled Castes are not a monolithic category, because some sub-castes face substantially greater disadvantage than others and manual-scavenging communities are named as a boundary case carrying stigma and occupational hazard beyond general Scheduled Caste disadvantage; the policy consequence is that a scheme designed for the category as a whole may be captured disproportionately by the relatively better-placed sub-groups, so the model-village, hostel and credit channels can be fully implemented and still leave the worst-off communities untouched, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation route belongs to the manual-scavenging owner. B. The Department of Social Justice and Empowerment's own scheme page for the post-matric scholarship for students belonging to the Scheduled Castes, read on 2 September 2026, records that the objective of the scheme is to appreciably increase the gross enrolment ratio of Scheduled Caste students in higher education with a focus on those from the poorest households by providing financial assistance at the post-matriculation or post-secondary stage to enable them to complete their education; the same page records that the scholarships are available for studies in India only, that awardees are selected by the State Government or Union Territory to which the applicant actually belongs according to the domicile terms decided by that State, that the scheme applies both to current beneficiaries and to fresh admissions, and that the complete guidelines were revised in March 2021 and are published on that page; nothing beyond those recorded statements is claimed, and no coverage, disbursement or beneficiary count is asserted. C. The owners record that observations about applying a creamy-layer style filter to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes appeared in separate opinions in the 2024 judgment and were not part of the binding holding, and that no general creamy-layer exclusion for those categories has been legislated; the discipline that follows is that the existing creamy-layer rule for other backward classes must not be transplanted in an answer, and that a candidate who writes that the Supreme Court has introduced a creamy layer for the Scheduled Castes has converted an obiter discussion into a legislated rule, which is exactly the status error this folder exists to prevent. D. State of Punjab against Davinder Singh, decided on 1 August 2024 by a seven-judge Constitution Bench by a majority of six to one, held that sub-classification within the Scheduled Castes for the purpose of reservation is constitutionally permissible where it is supported by data, and it overruled the earlier decision in E.V. Chinnaiah; the owners then set the boundary of the holding with unusual care, because the judgment does not alter the Presidential List of Scheduled Castes, does not itself allot any sub-quota to any group and does not direct any State to sub-classify, so what it grants is constitutional permission for an evidence-based State measure and nothing more.

Answer: B. Explanation: The Department of Social Justice and Empowerment's own scheme page for the post-matric scholarship for students belonging to the Scheduled Castes, read on 2 September 2026, records that the objective of the scheme is to appreciably increase the gross enrolment ratio of Scheduled Caste students in higher education with a focus on those from the poorest households by providing financial assistance at the post-matriculation or post-secondary stage to enable them to complete their education; the same page records that the scholarships are available for studies in India only, that awardees are selected by the State Government or Union Territory to which the applicant actually belongs according to the domicile terms decided by that State, that the scheme applies both to current beneficiaries and to fresh admissions, and that the complete guidelines were revised in March 2021 and are published on that page; nothing beyond those recorded statements is claimed, and no coverage, disbursement or beneficiary count is asserted. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q43. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of The post-matriculation scholarship as a verified official anchor?

A. The owners insist that the Scheduled Castes are not a monolithic category, because some sub-castes face substantially greater disadvantage than others and manual-scavenging communities are named as a boundary case carrying stigma and occupational hazard beyond general Scheduled Caste disadvantage; the policy consequence is that a scheme designed for the category as a whole may be captured disproportionately by the relatively better-placed sub-groups, so the model-village, hostel and credit channels can be fully implemented and still leave the worst-off communities untouched, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation route belongs to the manual-scavenging owner. B. The owners set out three considerations that any sub-classification answer must hold together: the opportunity, which is that sub-classification addresses within-category inequality and prevents relatively advanced sub-castes from capturing a disproportionate share of benefits; the risk, which is that it may fragment Scheduled Caste political unity and weaken collective bargaining power while State-level politics exploits sub-caste divisions for electoral purposes; and the empirical requirement, which is that any classification must be justified by backwardness and representation data for each sub-group, failing which it is arbitrary and legally vulnerable; the owners add that the judgment permits but does not mandate the measure, so a State's inaction is not itself unconstitutional. C. The Department of Social Justice and Empowerment's own scheme page for the post-matric scholarship for students belonging to the Scheduled Castes, read on 2 September 2026, records that the objective of the scheme is to appreciably increase the gross enrolment ratio of Scheduled Caste students in higher education with a focus on those from the poorest households by providing financial assistance at the post-matriculation or post-secondary stage to enable them to complete their education; the same page records that the scholarships are available for studies in India only, that awardees are selected by the State Government or Union Territory to which the applicant actually belongs according to the domicile terms decided by that State, that the scheme applies both to current beneficiaries and to fresh admissions, and that the complete guidelines were revised in March 2021 and are published on that page; nothing beyond those recorded statements is claimed, and no coverage, disbursement or beneficiary count is asserted. D. The owners record that observations about applying a creamy-layer style filter to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes appeared in separate opinions in the 2024 judgment and were not part of the binding holding, and that no general creamy-layer exclusion for those categories has been legislated; the discipline that follows is that the existing creamy-layer rule for other backward classes must not be transplanted in an answer, and that a candidate who writes that the Supreme Court has introduced a creamy layer for the Scheduled Castes has converted an obiter discussion into a legislated rule, which is exactly the status error this folder exists to prevent.

Answer: C. Explanation: The Department of Social Justice and Empowerment's own scheme page for the post-matric scholarship for students belonging to the Scheduled Castes, read on 2 September 2026, records that the objective of the scheme is to appreciably increase the gross enrolment ratio of Scheduled Caste students in higher education with a focus on those from the poorest households by providing financial assistance at the post-matriculation or post-secondary stage to enable them to complete their education; the same page records that the scholarships are available for studies in India only, that awardees are selected by the State Government or Union Territory to which the applicant actually belongs according to the domicile terms decided by that State, that the scheme applies both to current beneficiaries and to fresh admissions, and that the complete guidelines were revised in March 2021 and are published on that page; nothing beyond those recorded statements is claimed, and no coverage, disbursement or beneficiary count is asserted. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q44. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about The post-matriculation scholarship as a verified official anchor?

A. The owners set out three considerations that any sub-classification answer must hold together: the opportunity, which is that sub-classification addresses within-category inequality and prevents relatively advanced sub-castes from capturing a disproportionate share of benefits; the risk, which is that it may fragment Scheduled Caste political unity and weaken collective bargaining power while State-level politics exploits sub-caste divisions for electoral purposes; and the empirical requirement, which is that any classification must be justified by backwardness and representation data for each sub-group, failing which it is arbitrary and legally vulnerable; the owners add that the judgment permits but does not mandate the measure, so a State's inaction is not itself unconstitutional. B. The National Crime Records Bureau publishes registered atrocity cases under the Act in its annual crime report, and the owners record it as the primary official source while stating its limits explicitly: it counts cases that entered the system, so a rise may reflect rising victimisation, improving reporting or both, and under-reporting driven by social pressure, fear of retaliation and police reluctance depresses registration, with registration practice varying across States; the owners add that a conviction figure must be read together with pendency, investigation quality and witness vulnerability, so a bare conviction rate is not evidence about the incidence of atrocity, and any current figure must be cited with its year and its denominator. C. The owners insist that the Scheduled Castes are not a monolithic category, because some sub-castes face substantially greater disadvantage than others and manual-scavenging communities are named as a boundary case carrying stigma and occupational hazard beyond general Scheduled Caste disadvantage; the policy consequence is that a scheme designed for the category as a whole may be captured disproportionately by the relatively better-placed sub-groups, so the model-village, hostel and credit channels can be fully implemented and still leave the worst-off communities untouched, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation route belongs to the manual-scavenging owner. D. The Department of Social Justice and Empowerment's own scheme page for the post-matric scholarship for students belonging to the Scheduled Castes, read on 2 September 2026, records that the objective of the scheme is to appreciably increase the gross enrolment ratio of Scheduled Caste students in higher education with a focus on those from the poorest households by providing financial assistance at the post-matriculation or post-secondary stage to enable them to complete their education; the same page records that the scholarships are available for studies in India only, that awardees are selected by the State Government or Union Territory to which the applicant actually belongs according to the domicile terms decided by that State, that the scheme applies both to current beneficiaries and to fresh admissions, and that the complete guidelines were revised in March 2021 and are published on that page; nothing beyond those recorded statements is claimed, and no coverage, disbursement or beneficiary count is asserted.

Answer: D. Explanation: The Department of Social Justice and Empowerment's own scheme page for the post-matric scholarship for students belonging to the Scheduled Castes, read on 2 September 2026, records that the objective of the scheme is to appreciably increase the gross enrolment ratio of Scheduled Caste students in higher education with a focus on those from the poorest households by providing financial assistance at the post-matriculation or post-secondary stage to enable them to complete their education; the same page records that the scholarships are available for studies in India only, that awardees are selected by the State Government or Union Territory to which the applicant actually belongs according to the domicile terms decided by that State, that the scheme applies both to current beneficiaries and to fresh admissions, and that the complete guidelines were revised in March 2021 and are published on that page; nothing beyond those recorded statements is claimed, and no coverage, disbursement or beneficiary count is asserted. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q45. Which statement correctly identifies The commission for Scheduled Castes is a constitutional body?

A. The National Commission for Scheduled Castes exists under Article 338 of the Constitution and is therefore a constitutional body whose duties to investigate and monitor safeguards, to inquire into specific complaints and to advise on planning and socio-economic development are entrenched in the Constitution itself, which distinguishes it sharply from a statutory commission created by ordinary legislation such as the women's commission; the owners deliberately do not re-teach its composition and detailed mandate because that content belongs to the Polity commissions owner, and they require the cross-link to be stated rather than the material to be duplicated, so an answer here should use the status distinction and route the institutional detail. B. The owners insist that the Scheduled Castes are not a monolithic category, because some sub-castes face substantially greater disadvantage than others and manual-scavenging communities are named as a boundary case carrying stigma and occupational hazard beyond general Scheduled Caste disadvantage; the policy consequence is that a scheme designed for the category as a whole may be captured disproportionately by the relatively better-placed sub-groups, so the model-village, hostel and credit channels can be fully implemented and still leave the worst-off communities untouched, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation route belongs to the manual-scavenging owner. C. The owners record that observations about applying a creamy-layer style filter to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes appeared in separate opinions in the 2024 judgment and were not part of the binding holding, and that no general creamy-layer exclusion for those categories has been legislated; the discipline that follows is that the existing creamy-layer rule for other backward classes must not be transplanted in an answer, and that a candidate who writes that the Supreme Court has introduced a creamy layer for the Scheduled Castes has converted an obiter discussion into a legislated rule, which is exactly the status error this folder exists to prevent. D. State of Punjab against Davinder Singh, decided on 1 August 2024 by a seven-judge Constitution Bench by a majority of six to one, held that sub-classification within the Scheduled Castes for the purpose of reservation is constitutionally permissible where it is supported by data, and it overruled the earlier decision in E.V. Chinnaiah; the owners then set the boundary of the holding with unusual care, because the judgment does not alter the Presidential List of Scheduled Castes, does not itself allot any sub-quota to any group and does not direct any State to sub-classify, so what it grants is constitutional permission for an evidence-based State measure and nothing more.

Answer: A. Explanation: The National Commission for Scheduled Castes exists under Article 338 of the Constitution and is therefore a constitutional body whose duties to investigate and monitor safeguards, to inquire into specific complaints and to advise on planning and socio-economic development are entrenched in the Constitution itself, which distinguishes it sharply from a statutory commission created by ordinary legislation such as the women's commission; the owners deliberately do not re-teach its composition and detailed mandate because that content belongs to the Polity commissions owner, and they require the cross-link to be stated rather than the material to be duplicated, so an answer here should use the status distinction and route the institutional detail. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q46. Which chronology card should be filed under The commission for Scheduled Castes is a constitutional body?

A. The owners set out three considerations that any sub-classification answer must hold together: the opportunity, which is that sub-classification addresses within-category inequality and prevents relatively advanced sub-castes from capturing a disproportionate share of benefits; the risk, which is that it may fragment Scheduled Caste political unity and weaken collective bargaining power while State-level politics exploits sub-caste divisions for electoral purposes; and the empirical requirement, which is that any classification must be justified by backwardness and representation data for each sub-group, failing which it is arbitrary and legally vulnerable; the owners add that the judgment permits but does not mandate the measure, so a State's inaction is not itself unconstitutional. B. The National Commission for Scheduled Castes exists under Article 338 of the Constitution and is therefore a constitutional body whose duties to investigate and monitor safeguards, to inquire into specific complaints and to advise on planning and socio-economic development are entrenched in the Constitution itself, which distinguishes it sharply from a statutory commission created by ordinary legislation such as the women's commission; the owners deliberately do not re-teach its composition and detailed mandate because that content belongs to the Polity commissions owner, and they require the cross-link to be stated rather than the material to be duplicated, so an answer here should use the status distinction and route the institutional detail. C. The owners record that observations about applying a creamy-layer style filter to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes appeared in separate opinions in the 2024 judgment and were not part of the binding holding, and that no general creamy-layer exclusion for those categories has been legislated; the discipline that follows is that the existing creamy-layer rule for other backward classes must not be transplanted in an answer, and that a candidate who writes that the Supreme Court has introduced a creamy layer for the Scheduled Castes has converted an obiter discussion into a legislated rule, which is exactly the status error this folder exists to prevent. D. The owners insist that the Scheduled Castes are not a monolithic category, because some sub-castes face substantially greater disadvantage than others and manual-scavenging communities are named as a boundary case carrying stigma and occupational hazard beyond general Scheduled Caste disadvantage; the policy consequence is that a scheme designed for the category as a whole may be captured disproportionately by the relatively better-placed sub-groups, so the model-village, hostel and credit channels can be fully implemented and still leave the worst-off communities untouched, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation route belongs to the manual-scavenging owner.

Answer: B. Explanation: The National Commission for Scheduled Castes exists under Article 338 of the Constitution and is therefore a constitutional body whose duties to investigate and monitor safeguards, to inquire into specific complaints and to advise on planning and socio-economic development are entrenched in the Constitution itself, which distinguishes it sharply from a statutory commission created by ordinary legislation such as the women's commission; the owners deliberately do not re-teach its composition and detailed mandate because that content belongs to the Polity commissions owner, and they require the cross-link to be stated rather than the material to be duplicated, so an answer here should use the status distinction and route the institutional detail. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q47. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of The commission for Scheduled Castes is a constitutional body?

A. The owners insist that the Scheduled Castes are not a monolithic category, because some sub-castes face substantially greater disadvantage than others and manual-scavenging communities are named as a boundary case carrying stigma and occupational hazard beyond general Scheduled Caste disadvantage; the policy consequence is that a scheme designed for the category as a whole may be captured disproportionately by the relatively better-placed sub-groups, so the model-village, hostel and credit channels can be fully implemented and still leave the worst-off communities untouched, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation route belongs to the manual-scavenging owner. B. The National Crime Records Bureau publishes registered atrocity cases under the Act in its annual crime report, and the owners record it as the primary official source while stating its limits explicitly: it counts cases that entered the system, so a rise may reflect rising victimisation, improving reporting or both, and under-reporting driven by social pressure, fear of retaliation and police reluctance depresses registration, with registration practice varying across States; the owners add that a conviction figure must be read together with pendency, investigation quality and witness vulnerability, so a bare conviction rate is not evidence about the incidence of atrocity, and any current figure must be cited with its year and its denominator. C. The National Commission for Scheduled Castes exists under Article 338 of the Constitution and is therefore a constitutional body whose duties to investigate and monitor safeguards, to inquire into specific complaints and to advise on planning and socio-economic development are entrenched in the Constitution itself, which distinguishes it sharply from a statutory commission created by ordinary legislation such as the women's commission; the owners deliberately do not re-teach its composition and detailed mandate because that content belongs to the Polity commissions owner, and they require the cross-link to be stated rather than the material to be duplicated, so an answer here should use the status distinction and route the institutional detail. D. The owners set out three considerations that any sub-classification answer must hold together: the opportunity, which is that sub-classification addresses within-category inequality and prevents relatively advanced sub-castes from capturing a disproportionate share of benefits; the risk, which is that it may fragment Scheduled Caste political unity and weaken collective bargaining power while State-level politics exploits sub-caste divisions for electoral purposes; and the empirical requirement, which is that any classification must be justified by backwardness and representation data for each sub-group, failing which it is arbitrary and legally vulnerable; the owners add that the judgment permits but does not mandate the measure, so a State's inaction is not itself unconstitutional.

Answer: C. Explanation: The National Commission for Scheduled Castes exists under Article 338 of the Constitution and is therefore a constitutional body whose duties to investigate and monitor safeguards, to inquire into specific complaints and to advise on planning and socio-economic development are entrenched in the Constitution itself, which distinguishes it sharply from a statutory commission created by ordinary legislation such as the women's commission; the owners deliberately do not re-teach its composition and detailed mandate because that content belongs to the Polity commissions owner, and they require the cross-link to be stated rather than the material to be duplicated, so an answer here should use the status distinction and route the institutional detail. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q48. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about The commission for Scheduled Castes is a constitutional body?

A. The owners carry one dated scale anchor, namely that the Scheduled Castes formed 16.6 per cent of India's population in the 2011 Census, and they attach the instruction that current atrocity data be used only with the year and denominator attached; the analytical use of a population share is to convert an absolute count into a rate and to make a representation claim about seats, services or budget shares meaningful, and its limit is that a share measured in 2011 is a dated denominator which must not be silently applied to a later count without saying so. B. The owners set out three considerations that any sub-classification answer must hold together: the opportunity, which is that sub-classification addresses within-category inequality and prevents relatively advanced sub-castes from capturing a disproportionate share of benefits; the risk, which is that it may fragment Scheduled Caste political unity and weaken collective bargaining power while State-level politics exploits sub-caste divisions for electoral purposes; and the empirical requirement, which is that any classification must be justified by backwardness and representation data for each sub-group, failing which it is arbitrary and legally vulnerable; the owners add that the judgment permits but does not mandate the measure, so a State's inaction is not itself unconstitutional. C. The National Crime Records Bureau publishes registered atrocity cases under the Act in its annual crime report, and the owners record it as the primary official source while stating its limits explicitly: it counts cases that entered the system, so a rise may reflect rising victimisation, improving reporting or both, and under-reporting driven by social pressure, fear of retaliation and police reluctance depresses registration, with registration practice varying across States; the owners add that a conviction figure must be read together with pendency, investigation quality and witness vulnerability, so a bare conviction rate is not evidence about the incidence of atrocity, and any current figure must be cited with its year and its denominator. D. The National Commission for Scheduled Castes exists under Article 338 of the Constitution and is therefore a constitutional body whose duties to investigate and monitor safeguards, to inquire into specific complaints and to advise on planning and socio-economic development are entrenched in the Constitution itself, which distinguishes it sharply from a statutory commission created by ordinary legislation such as the women's commission; the owners deliberately do not re-teach its composition and detailed mandate because that content belongs to the Polity commissions owner, and they require the cross-link to be stated rather than the material to be duplicated, so an answer here should use the status distinction and route the institutional detail.

Answer: D. Explanation: The National Commission for Scheduled Castes exists under Article 338 of the Constitution and is therefore a constitutional body whose duties to investigate and monitor safeguards, to inquire into specific complaints and to advise on planning and socio-economic development are entrenched in the Constitution itself, which distinguishes it sharply from a statutory commission created by ordinary legislation such as the women's commission; the owners deliberately do not re-teach its composition and detailed mandate because that content belongs to the Polity commissions owner, and they require the cross-link to be stated rather than the material to be duplicated, so an answer here should use the status distinction and route the institutional detail. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q49. Which statement correctly identifies The 2024 judgment on sub-classification and exactly what it decided?

A. State of Punjab against Davinder Singh, decided on 1 August 2024 by a seven-judge Constitution Bench by a majority of six to one, held that sub-classification within the Scheduled Castes for the purpose of reservation is constitutionally permissible where it is supported by data, and it overruled the earlier decision in E.V. Chinnaiah; the owners then set the boundary of the holding with unusual care, because the judgment does not alter the Presidential List of Scheduled Castes, does not itself allot any sub-quota to any group and does not direct any State to sub-classify, so what it grants is constitutional permission for an evidence-based State measure and nothing more. B. The owners record that observations about applying a creamy-layer style filter to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes appeared in separate opinions in the 2024 judgment and were not part of the binding holding, and that no general creamy-layer exclusion for those categories has been legislated; the discipline that follows is that the existing creamy-layer rule for other backward classes must not be transplanted in an answer, and that a candidate who writes that the Supreme Court has introduced a creamy layer for the Scheduled Castes has converted an obiter discussion into a legislated rule, which is exactly the status error this folder exists to prevent. C. The owners insist that the Scheduled Castes are not a monolithic category, because some sub-castes face substantially greater disadvantage than others and manual-scavenging communities are named as a boundary case carrying stigma and occupational hazard beyond general Scheduled Caste disadvantage; the policy consequence is that a scheme designed for the category as a whole may be captured disproportionately by the relatively better-placed sub-groups, so the model-village, hostel and credit channels can be fully implemented and still leave the worst-off communities untouched, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation route belongs to the manual-scavenging owner. D. The owners set out three considerations that any sub-classification answer must hold together: the opportunity, which is that sub-classification addresses within-category inequality and prevents relatively advanced sub-castes from capturing a disproportionate share of benefits; the risk, which is that it may fragment Scheduled Caste political unity and weaken collective bargaining power while State-level politics exploits sub-caste divisions for electoral purposes; and the empirical requirement, which is that any classification must be justified by backwardness and representation data for each sub-group, failing which it is arbitrary and legally vulnerable; the owners add that the judgment permits but does not mandate the measure, so a State's inaction is not itself unconstitutional.

Answer: A. Explanation: State of Punjab against Davinder Singh, decided on 1 August 2024 by a seven-judge Constitution Bench by a majority of six to one, held that sub-classification within the Scheduled Castes for the purpose of reservation is constitutionally permissible where it is supported by data, and it overruled the earlier decision in E.V. Chinnaiah; the owners then set the boundary of the holding with unusual care, because the judgment does not alter the Presidential List of Scheduled Castes, does not itself allot any sub-quota to any group and does not direct any State to sub-classify, so what it grants is constitutional permission for an evidence-based State measure and nothing more. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q50. Which chronology card should be filed under The 2024 judgment on sub-classification and exactly what it decided?

A. The owners insist that the Scheduled Castes are not a monolithic category, because some sub-castes face substantially greater disadvantage than others and manual-scavenging communities are named as a boundary case carrying stigma and occupational hazard beyond general Scheduled Caste disadvantage; the policy consequence is that a scheme designed for the category as a whole may be captured disproportionately by the relatively better-placed sub-groups, so the model-village, hostel and credit channels can be fully implemented and still leave the worst-off communities untouched, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation route belongs to the manual-scavenging owner. B. State of Punjab against Davinder Singh, decided on 1 August 2024 by a seven-judge Constitution Bench by a majority of six to one, held that sub-classification within the Scheduled Castes for the purpose of reservation is constitutionally permissible where it is supported by data, and it overruled the earlier decision in E.V. Chinnaiah; the owners then set the boundary of the holding with unusual care, because the judgment does not alter the Presidential List of Scheduled Castes, does not itself allot any sub-quota to any group and does not direct any State to sub-classify, so what it grants is constitutional permission for an evidence-based State measure and nothing more. C. The owners set out three considerations that any sub-classification answer must hold together: the opportunity, which is that sub-classification addresses within-category inequality and prevents relatively advanced sub-castes from capturing a disproportionate share of benefits; the risk, which is that it may fragment Scheduled Caste political unity and weaken collective bargaining power while State-level politics exploits sub-caste divisions for electoral purposes; and the empirical requirement, which is that any classification must be justified by backwardness and representation data for each sub-group, failing which it is arbitrary and legally vulnerable; the owners add that the judgment permits but does not mandate the measure, so a State's inaction is not itself unconstitutional. D. The National Crime Records Bureau publishes registered atrocity cases under the Act in its annual crime report, and the owners record it as the primary official source while stating its limits explicitly: it counts cases that entered the system, so a rise may reflect rising victimisation, improving reporting or both, and under-reporting driven by social pressure, fear of retaliation and police reluctance depresses registration, with registration practice varying across States; the owners add that a conviction figure must be read together with pendency, investigation quality and witness vulnerability, so a bare conviction rate is not evidence about the incidence of atrocity, and any current figure must be cited with its year and its denominator.

Answer: B. Explanation: State of Punjab against Davinder Singh, decided on 1 August 2024 by a seven-judge Constitution Bench by a majority of six to one, held that sub-classification within the Scheduled Castes for the purpose of reservation is constitutionally permissible where it is supported by data, and it overruled the earlier decision in E.V. Chinnaiah; the owners then set the boundary of the holding with unusual care, because the judgment does not alter the Presidential List of Scheduled Castes, does not itself allot any sub-quota to any group and does not direct any State to sub-classify, so what it grants is constitutional permission for an evidence-based State measure and nothing more. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q51. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of The 2024 judgment on sub-classification and exactly what it decided?

A. The owners carry one dated scale anchor, namely that the Scheduled Castes formed 16.6 per cent of India's population in the 2011 Census, and they attach the instruction that current atrocity data be used only with the year and denominator attached; the analytical use of a population share is to convert an absolute count into a rate and to make a representation claim about seats, services or budget shares meaningful, and its limit is that a share measured in 2011 is a dated denominator which must not be silently applied to a later count without saying so. B. The owners set out three considerations that any sub-classification answer must hold together: the opportunity, which is that sub-classification addresses within-category inequality and prevents relatively advanced sub-castes from capturing a disproportionate share of benefits; the risk, which is that it may fragment Scheduled Caste political unity and weaken collective bargaining power while State-level politics exploits sub-caste divisions for electoral purposes; and the empirical requirement, which is that any classification must be justified by backwardness and representation data for each sub-group, failing which it is arbitrary and legally vulnerable; the owners add that the judgment permits but does not mandate the measure, so a State's inaction is not itself unconstitutional. C. State of Punjab against Davinder Singh, decided on 1 August 2024 by a seven-judge Constitution Bench by a majority of six to one, held that sub-classification within the Scheduled Castes for the purpose of reservation is constitutionally permissible where it is supported by data, and it overruled the earlier decision in E.V. Chinnaiah; the owners then set the boundary of the holding with unusual care, because the judgment does not alter the Presidential List of Scheduled Castes, does not itself allot any sub-quota to any group and does not direct any State to sub-classify, so what it grants is constitutional permission for an evidence-based State measure and nothing more. D. The National Crime Records Bureau publishes registered atrocity cases under the Act in its annual crime report, and the owners record it as the primary official source while stating its limits explicitly: it counts cases that entered the system, so a rise may reflect rising victimisation, improving reporting or both, and under-reporting driven by social pressure, fear of retaliation and police reluctance depresses registration, with registration practice varying across States; the owners add that a conviction figure must be read together with pendency, investigation quality and witness vulnerability, so a bare conviction rate is not evidence about the incidence of atrocity, and any current figure must be cited with its year and its denominator.

Answer: C. Explanation: State of Punjab against Davinder Singh, decided on 1 August 2024 by a seven-judge Constitution Bench by a majority of six to one, held that sub-classification within the Scheduled Castes for the purpose of reservation is constitutionally permissible where it is supported by data, and it overruled the earlier decision in E.V. Chinnaiah; the owners then set the boundary of the holding with unusual care, because the judgment does not alter the Presidential List of Scheduled Castes, does not itself allot any sub-quota to any group and does not direct any State to sub-classify, so what it grants is constitutional permission for an evidence-based State measure and nothing more. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q52. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about The 2024 judgment on sub-classification and exactly what it decided?

A. The owners record two analytical claims that turn a protection answer into a justice answer. First, Dalit women face caste discrimination, gender-based violence and economic dependence at the same time, so an intersectional case cannot be resolved by an atrocity remedy alone or by a gender remedy alone. Second, mobility has an entry side and a conversion side: reservation, scholarships and credit widen entry, while discrimination, landlessness, occupational segregation and violence constrain the conversion of entry into income, assets and standing; the answer-writing consequence is that a recommendation must say which side it operates on, because an entry instrument does not repair a conversion failure. B. The National Crime Records Bureau publishes registered atrocity cases under the Act in its annual crime report, and the owners record it as the primary official source while stating its limits explicitly: it counts cases that entered the system, so a rise may reflect rising victimisation, improving reporting or both, and under-reporting driven by social pressure, fear of retaliation and police reluctance depresses registration, with registration practice varying across States; the owners add that a conviction figure must be read together with pendency, investigation quality and witness vulnerability, so a bare conviction rate is not evidence about the incidence of atrocity, and any current figure must be cited with its year and its denominator. C. The owners carry one dated scale anchor, namely that the Scheduled Castes formed 16.6 per cent of India's population in the 2011 Census, and they attach the instruction that current atrocity data be used only with the year and denominator attached; the analytical use of a population share is to convert an absolute count into a rate and to make a representation claim about seats, services or budget shares meaningful, and its limit is that a share measured in 2011 is a dated denominator which must not be silently applied to a later count without saying so. D. State of Punjab against Davinder Singh, decided on 1 August 2024 by a seven-judge Constitution Bench by a majority of six to one, held that sub-classification within the Scheduled Castes for the purpose of reservation is constitutionally permissible where it is supported by data, and it overruled the earlier decision in E.V. Chinnaiah; the owners then set the boundary of the holding with unusual care, because the judgment does not alter the Presidential List of Scheduled Castes, does not itself allot any sub-quota to any group and does not direct any State to sub-classify, so what it grants is constitutional permission for an evidence-based State measure and nothing more.

Answer: D. Explanation: State of Punjab against Davinder Singh, decided on 1 August 2024 by a seven-judge Constitution Bench by a majority of six to one, held that sub-classification within the Scheduled Castes for the purpose of reservation is constitutionally permissible where it is supported by data, and it overruled the earlier decision in E.V. Chinnaiah; the owners then set the boundary of the holding with unusual care, because the judgment does not alter the Presidential List of Scheduled Castes, does not itself allot any sub-quota to any group and does not direct any State to sub-classify, so what it grants is constitutional permission for an evidence-based State measure and nothing more. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q53. Which statement correctly identifies The creamy-layer observations were separate opinions and not a rule?

A. The owners record that observations about applying a creamy-layer style filter to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes appeared in separate opinions in the 2024 judgment and were not part of the binding holding, and that no general creamy-layer exclusion for those categories has been legislated; the discipline that follows is that the existing creamy-layer rule for other backward classes must not be transplanted in an answer, and that a candidate who writes that the Supreme Court has introduced a creamy layer for the Scheduled Castes has converted an obiter discussion into a legislated rule, which is exactly the status error this folder exists to prevent. B. The owners set out three considerations that any sub-classification answer must hold together: the opportunity, which is that sub-classification addresses within-category inequality and prevents relatively advanced sub-castes from capturing a disproportionate share of benefits; the risk, which is that it may fragment Scheduled Caste political unity and weaken collective bargaining power while State-level politics exploits sub-caste divisions for electoral purposes; and the empirical requirement, which is that any classification must be justified by backwardness and representation data for each sub-group, failing which it is arbitrary and legally vulnerable; the owners add that the judgment permits but does not mandate the measure, so a State's inaction is not itself unconstitutional. C. The National Crime Records Bureau publishes registered atrocity cases under the Act in its annual crime report, and the owners record it as the primary official source while stating its limits explicitly: it counts cases that entered the system, so a rise may reflect rising victimisation, improving reporting or both, and under-reporting driven by social pressure, fear of retaliation and police reluctance depresses registration, with registration practice varying across States; the owners add that a conviction figure must be read together with pendency, investigation quality and witness vulnerability, so a bare conviction rate is not evidence about the incidence of atrocity, and any current figure must be cited with its year and its denominator. D. The owners insist that the Scheduled Castes are not a monolithic category, because some sub-castes face substantially greater disadvantage than others and manual-scavenging communities are named as a boundary case carrying stigma and occupational hazard beyond general Scheduled Caste disadvantage; the policy consequence is that a scheme designed for the category as a whole may be captured disproportionately by the relatively better-placed sub-groups, so the model-village, hostel and credit channels can be fully implemented and still leave the worst-off communities untouched, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation route belongs to the manual-scavenging owner.

Answer: A. Explanation: The owners record that observations about applying a creamy-layer style filter to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes appeared in separate opinions in the 2024 judgment and were not part of the binding holding, and that no general creamy-layer exclusion for those categories has been legislated; the discipline that follows is that the existing creamy-layer rule for other backward classes must not be transplanted in an answer, and that a candidate who writes that the Supreme Court has introduced a creamy layer for the Scheduled Castes has converted an obiter discussion into a legislated rule, which is exactly the status error this folder exists to prevent. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q54. Which chronology card should be filed under The creamy-layer observations were separate opinions and not a rule?

A. The owners set out three considerations that any sub-classification answer must hold together: the opportunity, which is that sub-classification addresses within-category inequality and prevents relatively advanced sub-castes from capturing a disproportionate share of benefits; the risk, which is that it may fragment Scheduled Caste political unity and weaken collective bargaining power while State-level politics exploits sub-caste divisions for electoral purposes; and the empirical requirement, which is that any classification must be justified by backwardness and representation data for each sub-group, failing which it is arbitrary and legally vulnerable; the owners add that the judgment permits but does not mandate the measure, so a State's inaction is not itself unconstitutional. B. The owners record that observations about applying a creamy-layer style filter to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes appeared in separate opinions in the 2024 judgment and were not part of the binding holding, and that no general creamy-layer exclusion for those categories has been legislated; the discipline that follows is that the existing creamy-layer rule for other backward classes must not be transplanted in an answer, and that a candidate who writes that the Supreme Court has introduced a creamy layer for the Scheduled Castes has converted an obiter discussion into a legislated rule, which is exactly the status error this folder exists to prevent. C. The owners carry one dated scale anchor, namely that the Scheduled Castes formed 16.6 per cent of India's population in the 2011 Census, and they attach the instruction that current atrocity data be used only with the year and denominator attached; the analytical use of a population share is to convert an absolute count into a rate and to make a representation claim about seats, services or budget shares meaningful, and its limit is that a share measured in 2011 is a dated denominator which must not be silently applied to a later count without saying so. D. The National Crime Records Bureau publishes registered atrocity cases under the Act in its annual crime report, and the owners record it as the primary official source while stating its limits explicitly: it counts cases that entered the system, so a rise may reflect rising victimisation, improving reporting or both, and under-reporting driven by social pressure, fear of retaliation and police reluctance depresses registration, with registration practice varying across States; the owners add that a conviction figure must be read together with pendency, investigation quality and witness vulnerability, so a bare conviction rate is not evidence about the incidence of atrocity, and any current figure must be cited with its year and its denominator.

Answer: B. Explanation: The owners record that observations about applying a creamy-layer style filter to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes appeared in separate opinions in the 2024 judgment and were not part of the binding holding, and that no general creamy-layer exclusion for those categories has been legislated; the discipline that follows is that the existing creamy-layer rule for other backward classes must not be transplanted in an answer, and that a candidate who writes that the Supreme Court has introduced a creamy layer for the Scheduled Castes has converted an obiter discussion into a legislated rule, which is exactly the status error this folder exists to prevent. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q55. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of The creamy-layer observations were separate opinions and not a rule?

A. The owners record two analytical claims that turn a protection answer into a justice answer. First, Dalit women face caste discrimination, gender-based violence and economic dependence at the same time, so an intersectional case cannot be resolved by an atrocity remedy alone or by a gender remedy alone. Second, mobility has an entry side and a conversion side: reservation, scholarships and credit widen entry, while discrimination, landlessness, occupational segregation and violence constrain the conversion of entry into income, assets and standing; the answer-writing consequence is that a recommendation must say which side it operates on, because an entry instrument does not repair a conversion failure. B. The National Crime Records Bureau publishes registered atrocity cases under the Act in its annual crime report, and the owners record it as the primary official source while stating its limits explicitly: it counts cases that entered the system, so a rise may reflect rising victimisation, improving reporting or both, and under-reporting driven by social pressure, fear of retaliation and police reluctance depresses registration, with registration practice varying across States; the owners add that a conviction figure must be read together with pendency, investigation quality and witness vulnerability, so a bare conviction rate is not evidence about the incidence of atrocity, and any current figure must be cited with its year and its denominator. C. The owners record that observations about applying a creamy-layer style filter to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes appeared in separate opinions in the 2024 judgment and were not part of the binding holding, and that no general creamy-layer exclusion for those categories has been legislated; the discipline that follows is that the existing creamy-layer rule for other backward classes must not be transplanted in an answer, and that a candidate who writes that the Supreme Court has introduced a creamy layer for the Scheduled Castes has converted an obiter discussion into a legislated rule, which is exactly the status error this folder exists to prevent. D. The owners carry one dated scale anchor, namely that the Scheduled Castes formed 16.6 per cent of India's population in the 2011 Census, and they attach the instruction that current atrocity data be used only with the year and denominator attached; the analytical use of a population share is to convert an absolute count into a rate and to make a representation claim about seats, services or budget shares meaningful, and its limit is that a share measured in 2011 is a dated denominator which must not be silently applied to a later count without saying so.

Answer: C. Explanation: The owners record that observations about applying a creamy-layer style filter to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes appeared in separate opinions in the 2024 judgment and were not part of the binding holding, and that no general creamy-layer exclusion for those categories has been legislated; the discipline that follows is that the existing creamy-layer rule for other backward classes must not be transplanted in an answer, and that a candidate who writes that the Supreme Court has introduced a creamy layer for the Scheduled Castes has converted an obiter discussion into a legislated rule, which is exactly the status error this folder exists to prevent. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q56. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about The creamy-layer observations were separate opinions and not a rule?

A. The owners record two analytical claims that turn a protection answer into a justice answer. First, Dalit women face caste discrimination, gender-based violence and economic dependence at the same time, so an intersectional case cannot be resolved by an atrocity remedy alone or by a gender remedy alone. Second, mobility has an entry side and a conversion side: reservation, scholarships and credit widen entry, while discrimination, landlessness, occupational segregation and violence constrain the conversion of entry into income, assets and standing; the answer-writing consequence is that a recommendation must say which side it operates on, because an entry instrument does not repair a conversion failure. B. The audited routing ledgers, which cover the Mains papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025 and the Prelims papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025, route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner, and that absence is reported here rather than concealed or filled with a manufactured demand card; the neighbouring 2018 General Studies Paper II demand on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions is routed to the Polity commissions owner, the tribal demands are routed to the Indian Society and Modern History owners, and the Scheduled Area and Fifth Schedule objective demands are routed to the Polity owner, so none of them is claimed here; the practice in this package is therefore six original Mains questions with model solutions written to the repository's examiner-grade standard, and the 2024 sub-classification judgment is treated as a current anchor for a future demand rather than as evidence that a demand already exists. C. The owners carry one dated scale anchor, namely that the Scheduled Castes formed 16.6 per cent of India's population in the 2011 Census, and they attach the instruction that current atrocity data be used only with the year and denominator attached; the analytical use of a population share is to convert an absolute count into a rate and to make a representation claim about seats, services or budget shares meaningful, and its limit is that a share measured in 2011 is a dated denominator which must not be silently applied to a later count without saying so. D. The owners record that observations about applying a creamy-layer style filter to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes appeared in separate opinions in the 2024 judgment and were not part of the binding holding, and that no general creamy-layer exclusion for those categories has been legislated; the discipline that follows is that the existing creamy-layer rule for other backward classes must not be transplanted in an answer, and that a candidate who writes that the Supreme Court has introduced a creamy layer for the Scheduled Castes has converted an obiter discussion into a legislated rule, which is exactly the status error this folder exists to prevent.

Answer: D. Explanation: The owners record that observations about applying a creamy-layer style filter to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes appeared in separate opinions in the 2024 judgment and were not part of the binding holding, and that no general creamy-layer exclusion for those categories has been legislated; the discipline that follows is that the existing creamy-layer rule for other backward classes must not be transplanted in an answer, and that a candidate who writes that the Supreme Court has introduced a creamy layer for the Scheduled Castes has converted an obiter discussion into a legislated rule, which is exactly the status error this folder exists to prevent. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q57. Which statement correctly identifies Within-category heterogeneity and why flat schemes may miss the worst off?

A. The owners insist that the Scheduled Castes are not a monolithic category, because some sub-castes face substantially greater disadvantage than others and manual-scavenging communities are named as a boundary case carrying stigma and occupational hazard beyond general Scheduled Caste disadvantage; the policy consequence is that a scheme designed for the category as a whole may be captured disproportionately by the relatively better-placed sub-groups, so the model-village, hostel and credit channels can be fully implemented and still leave the worst-off communities untouched, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation route belongs to the manual-scavenging owner. B. The owners carry one dated scale anchor, namely that the Scheduled Castes formed 16.6 per cent of India's population in the 2011 Census, and they attach the instruction that current atrocity data be used only with the year and denominator attached; the analytical use of a population share is to convert an absolute count into a rate and to make a representation claim about seats, services or budget shares meaningful, and its limit is that a share measured in 2011 is a dated denominator which must not be silently applied to a later count without saying so. C. The National Crime Records Bureau publishes registered atrocity cases under the Act in its annual crime report, and the owners record it as the primary official source while stating its limits explicitly: it counts cases that entered the system, so a rise may reflect rising victimisation, improving reporting or both, and under-reporting driven by social pressure, fear of retaliation and police reluctance depresses registration, with registration practice varying across States; the owners add that a conviction figure must be read together with pendency, investigation quality and witness vulnerability, so a bare conviction rate is not evidence about the incidence of atrocity, and any current figure must be cited with its year and its denominator. D. The owners set out three considerations that any sub-classification answer must hold together: the opportunity, which is that sub-classification addresses within-category inequality and prevents relatively advanced sub-castes from capturing a disproportionate share of benefits; the risk, which is that it may fragment Scheduled Caste political unity and weaken collective bargaining power while State-level politics exploits sub-caste divisions for electoral purposes; and the empirical requirement, which is that any classification must be justified by backwardness and representation data for each sub-group, failing which it is arbitrary and legally vulnerable; the owners add that the judgment permits but does not mandate the measure, so a State's inaction is not itself unconstitutional.

Answer: A. Explanation: The owners insist that the Scheduled Castes are not a monolithic category, because some sub-castes face substantially greater disadvantage than others and manual-scavenging communities are named as a boundary case carrying stigma and occupational hazard beyond general Scheduled Caste disadvantage; the policy consequence is that a scheme designed for the category as a whole may be captured disproportionately by the relatively better-placed sub-groups, so the model-village, hostel and credit channels can be fully implemented and still leave the worst-off communities untouched, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation route belongs to the manual-scavenging owner. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q58. Which chronology card should be filed under Within-category heterogeneity and why flat schemes may miss the worst off?

A. The owners record two analytical claims that turn a protection answer into a justice answer. First, Dalit women face caste discrimination, gender-based violence and economic dependence at the same time, so an intersectional case cannot be resolved by an atrocity remedy alone or by a gender remedy alone. Second, mobility has an entry side and a conversion side: reservation, scholarships and credit widen entry, while discrimination, landlessness, occupational segregation and violence constrain the conversion of entry into income, assets and standing; the answer-writing consequence is that a recommendation must say which side it operates on, because an entry instrument does not repair a conversion failure. B. The owners insist that the Scheduled Castes are not a monolithic category, because some sub-castes face substantially greater disadvantage than others and manual-scavenging communities are named as a boundary case carrying stigma and occupational hazard beyond general Scheduled Caste disadvantage; the policy consequence is that a scheme designed for the category as a whole may be captured disproportionately by the relatively better-placed sub-groups, so the model-village, hostel and credit channels can be fully implemented and still leave the worst-off communities untouched, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation route belongs to the manual-scavenging owner. C. The owners carry one dated scale anchor, namely that the Scheduled Castes formed 16.6 per cent of India's population in the 2011 Census, and they attach the instruction that current atrocity data be used only with the year and denominator attached; the analytical use of a population share is to convert an absolute count into a rate and to make a representation claim about seats, services or budget shares meaningful, and its limit is that a share measured in 2011 is a dated denominator which must not be silently applied to a later count without saying so. D. The National Crime Records Bureau publishes registered atrocity cases under the Act in its annual crime report, and the owners record it as the primary official source while stating its limits explicitly: it counts cases that entered the system, so a rise may reflect rising victimisation, improving reporting or both, and under-reporting driven by social pressure, fear of retaliation and police reluctance depresses registration, with registration practice varying across States; the owners add that a conviction figure must be read together with pendency, investigation quality and witness vulnerability, so a bare conviction rate is not evidence about the incidence of atrocity, and any current figure must be cited with its year and its denominator.

Answer: B. Explanation: The owners insist that the Scheduled Castes are not a monolithic category, because some sub-castes face substantially greater disadvantage than others and manual-scavenging communities are named as a boundary case carrying stigma and occupational hazard beyond general Scheduled Caste disadvantage; the policy consequence is that a scheme designed for the category as a whole may be captured disproportionately by the relatively better-placed sub-groups, so the model-village, hostel and credit channels can be fully implemented and still leave the worst-off communities untouched, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation route belongs to the manual-scavenging owner. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q59. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Within-category heterogeneity and why flat schemes may miss the worst off?

A. The owners carry one dated scale anchor, namely that the Scheduled Castes formed 16.6 per cent of India's population in the 2011 Census, and they attach the instruction that current atrocity data be used only with the year and denominator attached; the analytical use of a population share is to convert an absolute count into a rate and to make a representation claim about seats, services or budget shares meaningful, and its limit is that a share measured in 2011 is a dated denominator which must not be silently applied to a later count without saying so. B. The owners record two analytical claims that turn a protection answer into a justice answer. First, Dalit women face caste discrimination, gender-based violence and economic dependence at the same time, so an intersectional case cannot be resolved by an atrocity remedy alone or by a gender remedy alone. Second, mobility has an entry side and a conversion side: reservation, scholarships and credit widen entry, while discrimination, landlessness, occupational segregation and violence constrain the conversion of entry into income, assets and standing; the answer-writing consequence is that a recommendation must say which side it operates on, because an entry instrument does not repair a conversion failure. C. The owners insist that the Scheduled Castes are not a monolithic category, because some sub-castes face substantially greater disadvantage than others and manual-scavenging communities are named as a boundary case carrying stigma and occupational hazard beyond general Scheduled Caste disadvantage; the policy consequence is that a scheme designed for the category as a whole may be captured disproportionately by the relatively better-placed sub-groups, so the model-village, hostel and credit channels can be fully implemented and still leave the worst-off communities untouched, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation route belongs to the manual-scavenging owner. D. The audited routing ledgers, which cover the Mains papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025 and the Prelims papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025, route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner, and that absence is reported here rather than concealed or filled with a manufactured demand card; the neighbouring 2018 General Studies Paper II demand on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions is routed to the Polity commissions owner, the tribal demands are routed to the Indian Society and Modern History owners, and the Scheduled Area and Fifth Schedule objective demands are routed to the Polity owner, so none of them is claimed here; the practice in this package is therefore six original Mains questions with model solutions written to the repository's examiner-grade standard, and the 2024 sub-classification judgment is treated as a current anchor for a future demand rather than as evidence that a demand already exists.

Answer: C. Explanation: The owners insist that the Scheduled Castes are not a monolithic category, because some sub-castes face substantially greater disadvantage than others and manual-scavenging communities are named as a boundary case carrying stigma and occupational hazard beyond general Scheduled Caste disadvantage; the policy consequence is that a scheme designed for the category as a whole may be captured disproportionately by the relatively better-placed sub-groups, so the model-village, hostel and credit channels can be fully implemented and still leave the worst-off communities untouched, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation route belongs to the manual-scavenging owner. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q60. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Within-category heterogeneity and why flat schemes may miss the worst off?

A. The owners record two analytical claims that turn a protection answer into a justice answer. First, Dalit women face caste discrimination, gender-based violence and economic dependence at the same time, so an intersectional case cannot be resolved by an atrocity remedy alone or by a gender remedy alone. Second, mobility has an entry side and a conversion side: reservation, scholarships and credit widen entry, while discrimination, landlessness, occupational segregation and violence constrain the conversion of entry into income, assets and standing; the answer-writing consequence is that a recommendation must say which side it operates on, because an entry instrument does not repair a conversion failure. B. This topic owns the Scheduled Caste half of the protection-and-welfare argument, namely the special atrocities law with its amendment sequence, the umbrella development framework, the concessional-credit corporation, the post-matriculation scholarship route and the within-category targeting debate opened by the 2024 sub-classification judgment; its distinctive feature is the honesty of its examination record, because the audited routing ledgers route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner for the covered years, and the nearest neighbouring demand, the 2018 General Studies Paper II question on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions, is routed by the ledger to the Polity commissions owner and is therefore not claimed here; reservation doctrine such as the ceiling and the creamy-layer rule for other backward classes is owned by the Polity special-provisions owner, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation question by the manual-scavenging owner. C. The audited routing ledgers, which cover the Mains papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025 and the Prelims papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025, route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner, and that absence is reported here rather than concealed or filled with a manufactured demand card; the neighbouring 2018 General Studies Paper II demand on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions is routed to the Polity commissions owner, the tribal demands are routed to the Indian Society and Modern History owners, and the Scheduled Area and Fifth Schedule objective demands are routed to the Polity owner, so none of them is claimed here; the practice in this package is therefore six original Mains questions with model solutions written to the repository's examiner-grade standard, and the 2024 sub-classification judgment is treated as a current anchor for a future demand rather than as evidence that a demand already exists. D. The owners insist that the Scheduled Castes are not a monolithic category, because some sub-castes face substantially greater disadvantage than others and manual-scavenging communities are named as a boundary case carrying stigma and occupational hazard beyond general Scheduled Caste disadvantage; the policy consequence is that a scheme designed for the category as a whole may be captured disproportionately by the relatively better-placed sub-groups, so the model-village, hostel and credit channels can be fully implemented and still leave the worst-off communities untouched, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation route belongs to the manual-scavenging owner.

Answer: D. Explanation: The owners insist that the Scheduled Castes are not a monolithic category, because some sub-castes face substantially greater disadvantage than others and manual-scavenging communities are named as a boundary case carrying stigma and occupational hazard beyond general Scheduled Caste disadvantage; the policy consequence is that a scheme designed for the category as a whole may be captured disproportionately by the relatively better-placed sub-groups, so the model-village, hostel and credit channels can be fully implemented and still leave the worst-off communities untouched, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation route belongs to the manual-scavenging owner. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q61. Which statement correctly identifies The political-economy trade-off of sub-classification?

A. The owners set out three considerations that any sub-classification answer must hold together: the opportunity, which is that sub-classification addresses within-category inequality and prevents relatively advanced sub-castes from capturing a disproportionate share of benefits; the risk, which is that it may fragment Scheduled Caste political unity and weaken collective bargaining power while State-level politics exploits sub-caste divisions for electoral purposes; and the empirical requirement, which is that any classification must be justified by backwardness and representation data for each sub-group, failing which it is arbitrary and legally vulnerable; the owners add that the judgment permits but does not mandate the measure, so a State's inaction is not itself unconstitutional. B. The owners record two analytical claims that turn a protection answer into a justice answer. First, Dalit women face caste discrimination, gender-based violence and economic dependence at the same time, so an intersectional case cannot be resolved by an atrocity remedy alone or by a gender remedy alone. Second, mobility has an entry side and a conversion side: reservation, scholarships and credit widen entry, while discrimination, landlessness, occupational segregation and violence constrain the conversion of entry into income, assets and standing; the answer-writing consequence is that a recommendation must say which side it operates on, because an entry instrument does not repair a conversion failure. C. The National Crime Records Bureau publishes registered atrocity cases under the Act in its annual crime report, and the owners record it as the primary official source while stating its limits explicitly: it counts cases that entered the system, so a rise may reflect rising victimisation, improving reporting or both, and under-reporting driven by social pressure, fear of retaliation and police reluctance depresses registration, with registration practice varying across States; the owners add that a conviction figure must be read together with pendency, investigation quality and witness vulnerability, so a bare conviction rate is not evidence about the incidence of atrocity, and any current figure must be cited with its year and its denominator. D. The owners carry one dated scale anchor, namely that the Scheduled Castes formed 16.6 per cent of India's population in the 2011 Census, and they attach the instruction that current atrocity data be used only with the year and denominator attached; the analytical use of a population share is to convert an absolute count into a rate and to make a representation claim about seats, services or budget shares meaningful, and its limit is that a share measured in 2011 is a dated denominator which must not be silently applied to a later count without saying so.

Answer: A. Explanation: The owners set out three considerations that any sub-classification answer must hold together: the opportunity, which is that sub-classification addresses within-category inequality and prevents relatively advanced sub-castes from capturing a disproportionate share of benefits; the risk, which is that it may fragment Scheduled Caste political unity and weaken collective bargaining power while State-level politics exploits sub-caste divisions for electoral purposes; and the empirical requirement, which is that any classification must be justified by backwardness and representation data for each sub-group, failing which it is arbitrary and legally vulnerable; the owners add that the judgment permits but does not mandate the measure, so a State's inaction is not itself unconstitutional. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q62. Which chronology card should be filed under The political-economy trade-off of sub-classification?

A. The owners record two analytical claims that turn a protection answer into a justice answer. First, Dalit women face caste discrimination, gender-based violence and economic dependence at the same time, so an intersectional case cannot be resolved by an atrocity remedy alone or by a gender remedy alone. Second, mobility has an entry side and a conversion side: reservation, scholarships and credit widen entry, while discrimination, landlessness, occupational segregation and violence constrain the conversion of entry into income, assets and standing; the answer-writing consequence is that a recommendation must say which side it operates on, because an entry instrument does not repair a conversion failure. B. The owners set out three considerations that any sub-classification answer must hold together: the opportunity, which is that sub-classification addresses within-category inequality and prevents relatively advanced sub-castes from capturing a disproportionate share of benefits; the risk, which is that it may fragment Scheduled Caste political unity and weaken collective bargaining power while State-level politics exploits sub-caste divisions for electoral purposes; and the empirical requirement, which is that any classification must be justified by backwardness and representation data for each sub-group, failing which it is arbitrary and legally vulnerable; the owners add that the judgment permits but does not mandate the measure, so a State's inaction is not itself unconstitutional. C. The owners carry one dated scale anchor, namely that the Scheduled Castes formed 16.6 per cent of India's population in the 2011 Census, and they attach the instruction that current atrocity data be used only with the year and denominator attached; the analytical use of a population share is to convert an absolute count into a rate and to make a representation claim about seats, services or budget shares meaningful, and its limit is that a share measured in 2011 is a dated denominator which must not be silently applied to a later count without saying so. D. The audited routing ledgers, which cover the Mains papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025 and the Prelims papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025, route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner, and that absence is reported here rather than concealed or filled with a manufactured demand card; the neighbouring 2018 General Studies Paper II demand on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions is routed to the Polity commissions owner, the tribal demands are routed to the Indian Society and Modern History owners, and the Scheduled Area and Fifth Schedule objective demands are routed to the Polity owner, so none of them is claimed here; the practice in this package is therefore six original Mains questions with model solutions written to the repository's examiner-grade standard, and the 2024 sub-classification judgment is treated as a current anchor for a future demand rather than as evidence that a demand already exists.

Answer: B. Explanation: The owners set out three considerations that any sub-classification answer must hold together: the opportunity, which is that sub-classification addresses within-category inequality and prevents relatively advanced sub-castes from capturing a disproportionate share of benefits; the risk, which is that it may fragment Scheduled Caste political unity and weaken collective bargaining power while State-level politics exploits sub-caste divisions for electoral purposes; and the empirical requirement, which is that any classification must be justified by backwardness and representation data for each sub-group, failing which it is arbitrary and legally vulnerable; the owners add that the judgment permits but does not mandate the measure, so a State's inaction is not itself unconstitutional. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q63. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of The political-economy trade-off of sub-classification?

A. The owners record two analytical claims that turn a protection answer into a justice answer. First, Dalit women face caste discrimination, gender-based violence and economic dependence at the same time, so an intersectional case cannot be resolved by an atrocity remedy alone or by a gender remedy alone. Second, mobility has an entry side and a conversion side: reservation, scholarships and credit widen entry, while discrimination, landlessness, occupational segregation and violence constrain the conversion of entry into income, assets and standing; the answer-writing consequence is that a recommendation must say which side it operates on, because an entry instrument does not repair a conversion failure. B. This topic owns the Scheduled Caste half of the protection-and-welfare argument, namely the special atrocities law with its amendment sequence, the umbrella development framework, the concessional-credit corporation, the post-matriculation scholarship route and the within-category targeting debate opened by the 2024 sub-classification judgment; its distinctive feature is the honesty of its examination record, because the audited routing ledgers route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner for the covered years, and the nearest neighbouring demand, the 2018 General Studies Paper II question on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions, is routed by the ledger to the Polity commissions owner and is therefore not claimed here; reservation doctrine such as the ceiling and the creamy-layer rule for other backward classes is owned by the Polity special-provisions owner, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation question by the manual-scavenging owner. C. The owners set out three considerations that any sub-classification answer must hold together: the opportunity, which is that sub-classification addresses within-category inequality and prevents relatively advanced sub-castes from capturing a disproportionate share of benefits; the risk, which is that it may fragment Scheduled Caste political unity and weaken collective bargaining power while State-level politics exploits sub-caste divisions for electoral purposes; and the empirical requirement, which is that any classification must be justified by backwardness and representation data for each sub-group, failing which it is arbitrary and legally vulnerable; the owners add that the judgment permits but does not mandate the measure, so a State's inaction is not itself unconstitutional. D. The audited routing ledgers, which cover the Mains papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025 and the Prelims papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025, route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner, and that absence is reported here rather than concealed or filled with a manufactured demand card; the neighbouring 2018 General Studies Paper II demand on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions is routed to the Polity commissions owner, the tribal demands are routed to the Indian Society and Modern History owners, and the Scheduled Area and Fifth Schedule objective demands are routed to the Polity owner, so none of them is claimed here; the practice in this package is therefore six original Mains questions with model solutions written to the repository's examiner-grade standard, and the 2024 sub-classification judgment is treated as a current anchor for a future demand rather than as evidence that a demand already exists.

Answer: C. Explanation: The owners set out three considerations that any sub-classification answer must hold together: the opportunity, which is that sub-classification addresses within-category inequality and prevents relatively advanced sub-castes from capturing a disproportionate share of benefits; the risk, which is that it may fragment Scheduled Caste political unity and weaken collective bargaining power while State-level politics exploits sub-caste divisions for electoral purposes; and the empirical requirement, which is that any classification must be justified by backwardness and representation data for each sub-group, failing which it is arbitrary and legally vulnerable; the owners add that the judgment permits but does not mandate the measure, so a State's inaction is not itself unconstitutional. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q64. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about The political-economy trade-off of sub-classification?

A. This topic owns the Scheduled Caste half of the protection-and-welfare argument, namely the special atrocities law with its amendment sequence, the umbrella development framework, the concessional-credit corporation, the post-matriculation scholarship route and the within-category targeting debate opened by the 2024 sub-classification judgment; its distinctive feature is the honesty of its examination record, because the audited routing ledgers route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner for the covered years, and the nearest neighbouring demand, the 2018 General Studies Paper II question on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions, is routed by the ledger to the Polity commissions owner and is therefore not claimed here; reservation doctrine such as the ceiling and the creamy-layer rule for other backward classes is owned by the Polity special-provisions owner, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation question by the manual-scavenging owner. B. The audited routing ledgers, which cover the Mains papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025 and the Prelims papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025, route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner, and that absence is reported here rather than concealed or filled with a manufactured demand card; the neighbouring 2018 General Studies Paper II demand on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions is routed to the Polity commissions owner, the tribal demands are routed to the Indian Society and Modern History owners, and the Scheduled Area and Fifth Schedule objective demands are routed to the Polity owner, so none of them is claimed here; the practice in this package is therefore six original Mains questions with model solutions written to the repository's examiner-grade standard, and the 2024 sub-classification judgment is treated as a current anchor for a future demand rather than as evidence that a demand already exists. C. The owners record the law bank as Articles 14 to 17, 23, 46, 330 and 332 and 338, where Article 15 and Article 16 permit special provision and reservation, Article 17 abolishes untouchability and makes its practice an offence, Article 23 prohibits forced labour and trafficking, Article 46 directs the State to promote with special care the educational and economic interests of the weaker sections and to protect them from social injustice and all forms of exploitation, Articles 330 and 332 reserve seats in the House of the People and in the State Assemblies, and Article 338 creates the national commission; the statutory layer is the Protection of Civil Rights Act, 1955 and the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 with its special-court, relief and witness architecture, and the discipline is that an untouchability offence and an atrocity are separate statutory routes rather than synonyms. D. The owners set out three considerations that any sub-classification answer must hold together: the opportunity, which is that sub-classification addresses within-category inequality and prevents relatively advanced sub-castes from capturing a disproportionate share of benefits; the risk, which is that it may fragment Scheduled Caste political unity and weaken collective bargaining power while State-level politics exploits sub-caste divisions for electoral purposes; and the empirical requirement, which is that any classification must be justified by backwardness and representation data for each sub-group, failing which it is arbitrary and legally vulnerable; the owners add that the judgment permits but does not mandate the measure, so a State's inaction is not itself unconstitutional.

Answer: D. Explanation: The owners set out three considerations that any sub-classification answer must hold together: the opportunity, which is that sub-classification addresses within-category inequality and prevents relatively advanced sub-castes from capturing a disproportionate share of benefits; the risk, which is that it may fragment Scheduled Caste political unity and weaken collective bargaining power while State-level politics exploits sub-caste divisions for electoral purposes; and the empirical requirement, which is that any classification must be justified by backwardness and representation data for each sub-group, failing which it is arbitrary and legally vulnerable; the owners add that the judgment permits but does not mandate the measure, so a State's inaction is not itself unconstitutional. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q65. Which statement correctly identifies What registered atrocity data measure and what they do not?

A. The National Crime Records Bureau publishes registered atrocity cases under the Act in its annual crime report, and the owners record it as the primary official source while stating its limits explicitly: it counts cases that entered the system, so a rise may reflect rising victimisation, improving reporting or both, and under-reporting driven by social pressure, fear of retaliation and police reluctance depresses registration, with registration practice varying across States; the owners add that a conviction figure must be read together with pendency, investigation quality and witness vulnerability, so a bare conviction rate is not evidence about the incidence of atrocity, and any current figure must be cited with its year and its denominator. B. The owners carry one dated scale anchor, namely that the Scheduled Castes formed 16.6 per cent of India's population in the 2011 Census, and they attach the instruction that current atrocity data be used only with the year and denominator attached; the analytical use of a population share is to convert an absolute count into a rate and to make a representation claim about seats, services or budget shares meaningful, and its limit is that a share measured in 2011 is a dated denominator which must not be silently applied to a later count without saying so. C. The owners record two analytical claims that turn a protection answer into a justice answer. First, Dalit women face caste discrimination, gender-based violence and economic dependence at the same time, so an intersectional case cannot be resolved by an atrocity remedy alone or by a gender remedy alone. Second, mobility has an entry side and a conversion side: reservation, scholarships and credit widen entry, while discrimination, landlessness, occupational segregation and violence constrain the conversion of entry into income, assets and standing; the answer-writing consequence is that a recommendation must say which side it operates on, because an entry instrument does not repair a conversion failure. D. The audited routing ledgers, which cover the Mains papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025 and the Prelims papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025, route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner, and that absence is reported here rather than concealed or filled with a manufactured demand card; the neighbouring 2018 General Studies Paper II demand on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions is routed to the Polity commissions owner, the tribal demands are routed to the Indian Society and Modern History owners, and the Scheduled Area and Fifth Schedule objective demands are routed to the Polity owner, so none of them is claimed here; the practice in this package is therefore six original Mains questions with model solutions written to the repository's examiner-grade standard, and the 2024 sub-classification judgment is treated as a current anchor for a future demand rather than as evidence that a demand already exists.

Answer: A. Explanation: The National Crime Records Bureau publishes registered atrocity cases under the Act in its annual crime report, and the owners record it as the primary official source while stating its limits explicitly: it counts cases that entered the system, so a rise may reflect rising victimisation, improving reporting or both, and under-reporting driven by social pressure, fear of retaliation and police reluctance depresses registration, with registration practice varying across States; the owners add that a conviction figure must be read together with pendency, investigation quality and witness vulnerability, so a bare conviction rate is not evidence about the incidence of atrocity, and any current figure must be cited with its year and its denominator. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q66. Which chronology card should be filed under What registered atrocity data measure and what they do not?

A. The audited routing ledgers, which cover the Mains papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025 and the Prelims papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025, route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner, and that absence is reported here rather than concealed or filled with a manufactured demand card; the neighbouring 2018 General Studies Paper II demand on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions is routed to the Polity commissions owner, the tribal demands are routed to the Indian Society and Modern History owners, and the Scheduled Area and Fifth Schedule objective demands are routed to the Polity owner, so none of them is claimed here; the practice in this package is therefore six original Mains questions with model solutions written to the repository's examiner-grade standard, and the 2024 sub-classification judgment is treated as a current anchor for a future demand rather than as evidence that a demand already exists. B. The National Crime Records Bureau publishes registered atrocity cases under the Act in its annual crime report, and the owners record it as the primary official source while stating its limits explicitly: it counts cases that entered the system, so a rise may reflect rising victimisation, improving reporting or both, and under-reporting driven by social pressure, fear of retaliation and police reluctance depresses registration, with registration practice varying across States; the owners add that a conviction figure must be read together with pendency, investigation quality and witness vulnerability, so a bare conviction rate is not evidence about the incidence of atrocity, and any current figure must be cited with its year and its denominator. C. The owners record two analytical claims that turn a protection answer into a justice answer. First, Dalit women face caste discrimination, gender-based violence and economic dependence at the same time, so an intersectional case cannot be resolved by an atrocity remedy alone or by a gender remedy alone. Second, mobility has an entry side and a conversion side: reservation, scholarships and credit widen entry, while discrimination, landlessness, occupational segregation and violence constrain the conversion of entry into income, assets and standing; the answer-writing consequence is that a recommendation must say which side it operates on, because an entry instrument does not repair a conversion failure. D. This topic owns the Scheduled Caste half of the protection-and-welfare argument, namely the special atrocities law with its amendment sequence, the umbrella development framework, the concessional-credit corporation, the post-matriculation scholarship route and the within-category targeting debate opened by the 2024 sub-classification judgment; its distinctive feature is the honesty of its examination record, because the audited routing ledgers route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner for the covered years, and the nearest neighbouring demand, the 2018 General Studies Paper II question on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions, is routed by the ledger to the Polity commissions owner and is therefore not claimed here; reservation doctrine such as the ceiling and the creamy-layer rule for other backward classes is owned by the Polity special-provisions owner, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation question by the Answer: B. Explanation: The National Crime Records Bureau publishes registered atrocity cases under the Act in its annual crime report, and the owners record it as the primary official source while stating its limits explicitly: it counts cases that entered the system, so a rise may reflect rising victimisation, improving reporting or both, and under-reporting driven by social pressure, fear of retaliation and police reluctance depresses registration, with registration practice varying across States; the owners add that a conviction figure must be read together with pendency, investigation quality and witness vulnerability, so a bare conviction rate is not evidence about the incidence of atrocity, and any current figure must be cited with its year and its denominator. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q67. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of What registered atrocity data measure and what they do not?

A. The audited routing ledgers, which cover the Mains papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025 and the Prelims papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025, route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner, and that absence is reported here rather than concealed or filled with a manufactured demand card; the neighbouring 2018 General Studies Paper II demand on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions is routed to the Polity commissions owner, the tribal demands are routed to the Indian Society and Modern History owners, and the Scheduled Area and Fifth Schedule objective demands are routed to the Polity owner, so none of them is claimed here; the practice in this package is therefore six original Mains questions with model solutions written to the repository's examiner-grade standard, and the 2024 sub-classification judgment is treated as a current anchor for a future demand rather than as evidence that a demand already exists. B. The owners record the law bank as Articles 14 to 17, 23, 46, 330 and 332 and 338, where Article 15 and Article 16 permit special provision and reservation, Article 17 abolishes untouchability and makes its practice an offence, Article 23 prohibits forced labour and trafficking, Article 46 directs the State to promote with special care the educational and economic interests of the weaker sections and to protect them from social injustice and all forms of exploitation, Articles 330 and 332 reserve seats in the House of the People and in the State Assemblies, and Article 338 creates the national commission; the statutory layer is the Protection of Civil Rights Act, 1955 and the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 with its special-court, relief and witness architecture, and the discipline is that an untouchability offence and an atrocity are separate statutory routes rather than synonyms. C. The National Crime Records Bureau publishes registered atrocity cases under the Act in its annual crime report, and the owners record it as the primary official source while stating its limits explicitly: it counts cases that entered the system, so a rise may reflect rising victimisation, improving reporting or both, and under-reporting driven by social pressure, fear of retaliation and police reluctance depresses registration, with registration practice varying across States; the owners add that a conviction figure must be read together with pendency, investigation quality and witness vulnerability, so a bare conviction rate is not evidence about the incidence of atrocity, and any current figure must be cited with its year and its denominator. D. This topic owns the Scheduled Caste half of the protection-and-welfare argument, namely the special atrocities law with its amendment sequence, the umbrella development framework, the concessional-credit corporation, the post-matriculation scholarship route and the within-category targeting debate opened by the 2024 sub-classification judgment; its distinctive feature is the honesty of its examination record, because the audited routing ledgers route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner for the covered years, and the nearest neighbouring demand, the 2018 General Studies Paper II question on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions, is routed by the ledger to the Polity commissions owner and is therefore not claimed here; reservation doctrine such as the ceiling and the creamy-layer rule for other backward classes is owned by the Polity special-provisions owner, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation question by the manual-scavenging owner.

Answer: C. Explanation: The National Crime Records Bureau publishes registered atrocity cases under the Act in its annual crime report, and the owners record it as the primary official source while stating its limits explicitly: it counts cases that entered the system, so a rise may reflect rising victimisation, improving reporting or both, and under-reporting driven by social pressure, fear of retaliation and police reluctance depresses registration, with registration practice varying across States; the owners add that a conviction figure must be read together with pendency, investigation quality and witness vulnerability, so a bare conviction rate is not evidence about the incidence of atrocity, and any current figure must be cited with its year and its denominator. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical

Q68. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about What registered atrocity data measure and what they do not?

A. The Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 is a special law providing enhanced penalties for caste-based offences committed against members of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, and the owners record its distinctive architecture as Special Courts for trial, victim-relief provisions and a presumption of the offence in certain circumstances; the reason the design matters in an answer is that the same physical act may be an ordinary offence under the general penal law and an atrocity under this Act, and it is the identity of the victim, the identity of the accused and the listed nature of the act that convert the first into the second, which is why a general law-and-order framing misses what the statute is for. B. The owners record the law bank as Articles 14 to 17, 23, 46, 330 and 332 and 338, where Article 15 and Article 16 permit special provision and reservation, Article 17 abolishes untouchability and makes its practice an offence, Article 23 prohibits forced labour and trafficking, Article 46 directs the State to promote with special care the educational and economic interests of the weaker sections and to protect them from social injustice and all forms of exploitation, Articles 330 and 332 reserve seats in the House of the People and in the State Assemblies, and Article 338 creates the national commission; the statutory layer is the Protection of Civil Rights Act, 1955 and the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 with its special-court, relief and witness architecture, and the discipline is that an untouchability offence and an atrocity are separate statutory routes rather than synonyms. C. This topic owns the Scheduled Caste half of the protection-and-welfare argument, namely the special atrocities law with its amendment sequence, the umbrella development framework, the concessional-credit corporation, the post-matriculation scholarship route and the within-category targeting debate opened by the 2024 sub-classification judgment; its distinctive feature is the honesty of its examination record, because the audited routing ledgers route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner for the covered years, and the nearest neighbouring demand, the 2018 General Studies Paper II question on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions, is routed by the ledger to the Polity commissions owner and is therefore not claimed here; reservation doctrine such as the ceiling and the creamy-layer rule for other backward classes is owned by the Polity special-provisions owner, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation question by the manual-scavenging owner. D. The National Crime Records Bureau publishes registered atrocity cases under the Act in its annual crime report, and the owners record it as the primary official source while stating its limits explicitly: it counts cases that entered the system, so a rise may reflect rising victimisation, improving reporting or both, and under-reporting driven by social pressure, fear of retaliation and police reluctance depresses registration, with registration practice varying across States; the owners add that a conviction figure must be read together with pendency, investigation quality and witness vulnerability, so a bare conviction rate is not evidence about the incidence of atrocity, and any current figure must be cited with its year and its denominator.

Answer: D. Explanation: The National Crime Records Bureau publishes registered atrocity cases under the Act in its annual crime report, and the owners record it as the primary official source while stating its limits explicitly: it counts cases that entered the system, so a rise may reflect rising victimisation, improving reporting or both, and under-reporting driven by social pressure, fear of retaliation and police reluctance depresses registration, with registration practice varying across States; the owners add that a conviction figure must be read together with pendency, investigation quality and witness vulnerability, so a bare conviction rate is not evidence about the incidence of atrocity, and any current figure must be cited with its year and its denominator. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q69. Which statement correctly identifies The scale anchor and how to use it?

A. The owners carry one dated scale anchor, namely that the Scheduled Castes formed 16.6 per cent of India's population in the 2011 Census, and they attach the instruction that current atrocity data be used only with the year and denominator attached; the analytical use of a population share is to convert an absolute count into a rate and to make a representation claim about seats, services or budget shares meaningful, and its limit is that a share measured in 2011 is a dated denominator which must not be silently applied to a later count without saying so. B. The audited routing ledgers, which cover the Mains papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025 and the Prelims papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025, route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner, and that absence is reported here rather than concealed or filled with a manufactured demand card; the neighbouring 2018 General Studies Paper

II demand on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions is routed to the Polity commissions owner, the tribal demands are routed to the Indian Society and Modern History owners, and the Scheduled Area and Fifth Schedule objective demands are routed to the Polity owner, so none of them is claimed here; the practice in this package is therefore six original Mains questions with model solutions written to the repository's examiner-grade standard, and the 2024 sub-classification judgment is treated as a current anchor for a future demand rather than as evidence that a demand already exists. C. The owners record two analytical claims that turn a protection answer into a justice answer. First, Dalit women face caste discrimination, gender-based violence and economic dependence at the same time, so an intersectional case cannot be resolved by an atrocity remedy alone or by a gender remedy alone. Second, mobility has an entry side and a conversion side: reservation, scholarships and credit widen entry, while discrimination, landlessness, occupational segregation and violence constrain the conversion of entry into income, assets and standing; the answer-writing consequence is that a recommendation must say which side it operates on, because an entry instrument does not repair a conversion failure. D. This topic owns the Scheduled Caste half of the protection-and-welfare argument, namely the special atrocities law with its amendment sequence, the umbrella development framework, the concessional-credit corporation, the post-matriculation scholarship route and the within-category targeting debate opened by the 2024 sub-classification judgment; its distinctive feature is the honesty of its examination record, because the audited routing ledgers route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner for the covered years, and the nearest neighbouring demand, the 2018 General Studies Paper II question on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions, is routed by the ledger to the Polity commissions owner and is therefore not claimed here; reservation doctrine such as the ceiling and the creamy-layer rule for other backward classes is owned by the Polity special-provisions owner, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation question by the manual-scavenging owner.

Answer: A. Explanation: The owners carry one dated scale anchor, namely that the Scheduled Castes formed 16.6 per cent of India's population in the 2011 Census, and they attach the instruction that current atrocity data be used only with the year and denominator attached; the analytical use of a population share is to convert an absolute count into a rate and to make a representation claim about seats, services or budget shares meaningful, and its limit is that a share measured in 2011 is a dated denominator which must not be silently applied to a later count without saying so. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q70. Which chronology card should be filed under The scale anchor and how to use it?

A. The owners record the law bank as Articles 14 to 17, 23, 46, 330 and 332 and 338, where Article 15 and Article 16 permit special provision and reservation, Article 17 abolishes untouchability and makes its practice an offence, Article 23 prohibits forced labour and trafficking, Article 46 directs the State to promote with special care the educational and economic interests of the weaker sections and to protect them from social injustice and all forms of exploitation, Articles 330 and 332 reserve seats in the House of the People and in the State Assemblies, and Article 338 creates the national commission; the statutory layer is the Protection of Civil Rights Act, 1955 and the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 with its special-court, relief and witness architecture, and the discipline is that an untouchability offence and an atrocity are separate statutory routes rather than synonyms. B. The owners carry one dated scale anchor, namely that the Scheduled Castes formed 16.6 per cent of India's population in the 2011 Census, and they attach the instruction that current atrocity data be used only with the year and denominator attached; the analytical use of a population share is to convert an absolute count into a rate and to make a representation claim about seats, services or budget shares meaningful, and its limit is that a share measured in 2011 is a dated denominator which must not be silently applied to a later count without saying so. C. This topic owns the Scheduled Caste half of the protection-and-welfare argument, namely the special atrocities law with its amendment sequence, the umbrella development framework, the concessional-credit corporation, the post-matriculation scholarship route and the within-category targeting debate opened by the 2024 sub-classification judgment; its distinctive feature is the honesty of its examination record, because the audited routing ledgers route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner for the covered years, and the nearest neighbouring demand, the 2018 General Studies Paper II question on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions, is routed by the ledger to the Polity commissions owner and is therefore not claimed here; reservation doctrine such as the ceiling and the creamy-layer rule for other backward classes is owned by the Polity special-provisions owner, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation question by the manual-scavenging owner. D. The audited routing ledgers, which cover the Mains papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025 and the Prelims papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025, route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner, and that absence is reported here rather than concealed or filled with a manufactured demand card; the neighbouring 2018 General Studies Paper II demand on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions is routed to the Polity commissions owner, the tribal demands are routed to the Indian Society and Modern History owners, and the Scheduled Area and Fifth Schedule objective demands are routed to the Polity owner, so none of them is claimed here; the practice in this package is therefore six original Mains questions with model solutions written to the repository's examiner-grade standard, and the 2024 sub-classification judgment is treated as a current anchor for a future demand rather than as evidence that a demand already exists.

Answer: B. Explanation: The owners carry one dated scale anchor, namely that the Scheduled Castes formed 16.6 per cent of India's population in the 2011 Census, and they attach the instruction that current atrocity data be used only with the year and denominator attached; the analytical use of a population share is to convert an absolute count into a rate and to make a representation claim about seats, services or budget shares meaningful, and its limit is that a share measured in 2011 is a dated denominator which must not be silently applied to a later count without saying so. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q71. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of The scale anchor and how to use it?

A. The Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 is a special law providing enhanced penalties for caste-based offences committed against members of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, and the owners record its distinctive architecture as Special Courts for trial, victim-relief provisions and a presumption of the offence in certain circumstances; the reason the design matters in an answer is that the same physical act may be an ordinary offence under the general penal law and an atrocity under this Act, and it is the identity of the victim, the identity of the accused and the listed nature of the act that convert the first into the second, which is why a general law-and-order framing misses what the statute is for. B. The owners record the law bank as Articles 14 to 17, 23, 46, 330 and 332 and 338, where Article 15 and Article 16 permit special provision and reservation, Article 17 abolishes untouchability and makes its practice an offence, Article 23 prohibits forced labour and trafficking, Article 46 directs the State to promote with special care the educational and economic interests of the weaker sections and to protect them from social injustice and all forms of exploitation, Articles 330 and 332 reserve seats in the House of the People and in the State Assemblies, and Article 338 creates the national commission; the statutory layer is the Protection of Civil Rights Act, 1955 and the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 with its special-court, relief and witness architecture, and the discipline is that an untouchability offence and an atrocity are separate statutory routes rather than synonyms. C. The owners carry one dated scale anchor, namely that the Scheduled Castes formed 16.6 per cent of India's population in the 2011 Census, and they attach the instruction that current atrocity data be used only with the year and denominator attached; the analytical use of a population share is to convert an absolute count into a rate and to make a representation claim about seats, services or budget shares meaningful, and its limit is that a share measured in 2011 is a dated denominator which must not be silently applied to a later count without saying so. D. This topic owns the Scheduled Caste half of the protection-and-welfare argument, namely the special atrocities law with its amendment sequence, the umbrella development framework, the concessional-credit corporation, the post-matriculation scholarship route and the within-category targeting debate opened by the 2024 sub-classification judgment; its distinctive feature is the honesty of its examination record, because the audited routing ledgers route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner for the covered years, and the nearest neighbouring demand, the 2018 General Studies Paper II question on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions, is routed by the ledger to the Polity commissions owner and is therefore not claimed here; reservation doctrine such as the ceiling and the creamy-layer rule for other backward classes is owned by the Polity special-provisions owner, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation question by the manual-scavenging owner.

Answer: C. Explanation: The owners carry one dated scale anchor, namely that the Scheduled Castes formed 16.6 per cent of India's population in the 2011 Census, and they attach the instruction that current atrocity data be used only with the year and denominator attached; the analytical use of a population share is to convert an absolute count into a rate and to make a representation claim about seats, services or budget shares meaningful, and its limit is that a share measured in 2011 is a dated denominator which must not be silently applied to a later count without saying so. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q72. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about The scale anchor and how to use it?

A. The Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 is a special law providing enhanced penalties for caste-based offences committed against members of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, and the owners record its distinctive architecture as Special Courts for trial, victim-relief provisions and a presumption of the offence in certain circumstances; the reason the design matters in an answer is that the same physical act may be an ordinary offence under the general penal law and an atrocity under this Act, and it is the identity of the victim, the identity of the accused and the listed nature of the act that convert the first into the second, which is why a general law-and-order framing misses what the statute is for. B. The owners record the law bank as Articles 14 to 17, 23, 46, 330 and 332 and 338, where Article 15 and Article 16 permit special provision and reservation, Article 17 abolishes untouchability and makes its practice an offence, Article 23 prohibits forced labour and trafficking, Article 46 directs the State to promote with special care the educational and economic interests of the weaker sections and to protect them from social injustice and all forms of exploitation, Articles 330 and 332 reserve seats in the House of the People and in the State Assemblies, and Article 338 creates the national commission; the statutory layer is the Protection of Civil Rights Act, 1955 and the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 with its special-court, relief and witness architecture, and the discipline is that an untouchability offence and an atrocity are separate statutory routes rather than synonyms. C. The owners define an atrocity as an offence listed in the Schedule to the Act, and they name assault, wrongful dispossession, forced labour, sexual exploitation and public humiliation among the listed heads, committed against a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe person by a person who is not a member of those categories; the 2015 amendment expanded the list with new offences including garlanding with footwear and preventing entry to public places, so the offence set is not confined to physical violence and expressly reaches social and economic exclusion such as boycott, which is why an answer that treats the Act as a violence statute alone understates its coverage. D. The owners carry one dated scale anchor, namely that the Scheduled Castes formed 16.6 per cent of India's population in the 2011 Census, and they attach the instruction that current atrocity data be used only with the year and denominator attached; the analytical use of a population share is to convert an absolute count into a rate and to make a representation claim about seats, services or budget shares meaningful, and its limit is that a share measured in 2011 is a dated denominator which must not be silently applied to a later count without saying so.

Answer: D. Explanation: The owners carry one dated scale anchor, namely that the Scheduled Castes formed 16.6 per cent of India's population in the 2011 Census, and they attach the instruction that current atrocity data be used only with the year and denominator attached; the analytical use of a population share is to convert an absolute count into a rate and to make a representation claim about seats, services or budget shares meaningful, and its limit is that a share measured in 2011 is a dated denominator which must not be silently applied to a later count without saying so. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q73. Which statement correctly identifies Intersectionality and the mobility argument?

A. The owners record two analytical claims that turn a protection answer into a justice answer. First, Dalit women face caste discrimination, gender-based violence and economic dependence at the same time, so an intersectional case cannot be resolved by an atrocity remedy alone or by a gender remedy alone. Second, mobility has an entry side and a conversion side: reservation, scholarships and credit widen entry, while discrimination, landlessness, occupational segregation and violence constrain the conversion of entry into income, assets and standing; the answer-writing consequence is that a recommendation must say which side it operates on, because an entry instrument does not repair a conversion failure. B. This topic owns the Scheduled Caste half of the protection-and-welfare argument, namely the special atrocities law with its amendment sequence, the umbrella development framework, the concessional-credit corporation, the post-matriculation scholarship route and the within-category targeting debate opened by the 2024 sub-classification judgment; its distinctive feature is the honesty of its examination record, because the audited routing ledgers route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner for the covered years, and the nearest neighbouring demand, the 2018 General Studies Paper II question on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions, is routed by the ledger to the Polity commissions owner and is therefore not claimed here; reservation doctrine such as the ceiling and the creamy-layer rule for other backward classes is owned by the Polity special-provisions owner, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation question by the manual-scavenging owner. C. The audited routing ledgers, which cover the Mains papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025 and the Prelims papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025, route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner, and that absence is reported here rather than concealed or filled with a manufactured demand card; the neighbouring 2018 General Studies Paper II demand on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions is routed to the Polity commissions owner, the tribal demands are routed to the Indian Society and Modern History owners, and the Scheduled Area and Fifth Schedule objective demands are routed to the Polity owner, so none of them is claimed here; the practice in this package is therefore six original Mains questions with model solutions written to the repository's examiner-grade standard, and the 2024 sub-classification judgment is treated as a current anchor for a future demand rather than as evidence that a demand already exists. D. The owners record the law bank as Articles 14 to 17, 23, 46, 330 and 332 and 338, where Article 15 and Article 16 permit special provision and reservation, Article 17 abolishes untouchability and makes its practice an offence, Article 23 prohibits forced labour and trafficking, Article 46 directs the State to promote with special care the educational and economic interests of the weaker sections and to protect them from social injustice and all forms of exploitation, Articles 330 and 332 reserve seats in the House of the People and in the State Assemblies, and Article 338 creates the national commission; the statutory layer is the Protection of Civil Rights Act, 1955 and the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 with its special-court, relief and witness architecture, and the discipline is that an untouchability offence and an atrocity are separate statutory routes rather than synonyms.

Answer: A. Explanation: The owners record two analytical claims that turn a protection answer into a justice answer. First, Dalit women face caste discrimination, gender-based violence and economic dependence at the same time, so an intersectional case cannot be resolved by an atrocity remedy alone or by a gender remedy alone. Second, mobility has an entry side and a conversion side: reservation, scholarships and credit widen entry, while discrimination, landlessness, occupational segregation and violence constrain the conversion of entry into income, assets and standing; the answer-writing consequence is that a recommendation must say which side it operates on, because an entry instrument does not repair a conversion failure. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q74. Which chronology card should be filed under Intersectionality and the mobility argument?

A. The owners record the law bank as Articles 14 to 17, 23, 46, 330 and 332 and 338, where Article 15 and Article 16 permit special provision and reservation, Article 17 abolishes untouchability and makes its practice an offence, Article 23 prohibits forced labour and trafficking, Article 46 directs the State to promote with special care the educational and economic interests of the weaker sections and to protect them from social injustice and all forms of exploitation, Articles 330 and 332 reserve seats in the House of the People and in the State Assemblies, and Article 338 creates the national commission; the statutory layer is the Protection of Civil Rights Act, 1955 and the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 with its special-court, relief and witness architecture, and the discipline is that an untouchability offence and an atrocity are separate statutory routes rather than synonyms. B. The owners record two analytical claims that turn a protection answer into a justice answer. First, Dalit women face caste discrimination, gender-based violence and economic dependence at the same time, so an intersectional case cannot be resolved by an atrocity remedy alone or by a gender remedy alone. Second, mobility has an entry side and a conversion side: reservation, scholarships and credit widen entry, while discrimination, landlessness, occupational segregation and violence constrain the conversion of entry into income, assets and standing; the answer-writing consequence is that a recommendation must say which side it operates on, because an entry instrument does not repair a conversion failure. C. The Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 is a special law providing enhanced penalties for caste-based offences committed against members of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, and the owners record its distinctive architecture as Special Courts for trial, victim-relief provisions and a presumption of the offence in certain circumstances; the reason the design matters in an answer is that the same physical act may be an ordinary offence under the general penal law and an atrocity under this Act, and it is the identity of the victim, the identity of the accused and the listed nature of the act that convert the first into the second, which is why a general law-and-order framing misses what the statute is for. D. This topic owns the Scheduled Caste half of the protection-and-welfare argument, namely the special atrocities law with its amendment sequence, the umbrella development framework, the concessional-credit corporation, the post-matriculation scholarship route and the within-category targeting debate opened by the 2024 sub-classification judgment; its distinctive feature is the honesty of its examination record, because the audited routing ledgers route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner for the covered years, and the nearest neighbouring demand, the 2018 General Studies Paper II question on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions, is routed by the ledger to the Polity commissions owner and is therefore not claimed here; reservation doctrine such as the ceiling and the creamy-layer rule for other backward classes is owned by the Polity special-provisions owner, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation question by the manual-scavenging owner.

Answer: B. Explanation: The owners record two analytical claims that turn a protection answer into a justice answer. First, Dalit women face caste discrimination, gender-based violence and economic dependence at the same time, so an intersectional case cannot be resolved by an atrocity remedy alone or by a gender remedy alone. Second, mobility has an entry side and a conversion side: reservation, scholarships and credit widen entry, while discrimination, landlessness, occupational segregation and violence constrain the conversion of entry into income, assets and standing; the answer-writing consequence is that a recommendation must say which side it operates on, because an entry instrument does not repair a conversion failure. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q75. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Intersectionality and the mobility argument?

A. The owners define an atrocity as an offence listed in the Schedule to the Act, and they name assault, wrongful dispossession, forced labour, sexual exploitation and public humiliation among the listed heads, committed against a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe person by a person who is not a member of those categories; the 2015 amendment expanded the list with new offences including garlanding with footwear and preventing entry to public places, so the offence set is not confined to physical violence and expressly reaches social and economic exclusion such as boycott, which is why an answer that treats the Act as a violence statute alone understates its coverage. B. The Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 is a special law providing enhanced penalties for caste-based offences committed against members of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, and the owners record its distinctive architecture as Special Courts for trial, victim-relief provisions and a presumption of the offence in certain circumstances; the reason the design matters in an answer is that the same physical act may be an ordinary offence under the general penal law and an atrocity under this Act, and it is the identity of the victim, the identity of the accused and the listed nature of the act that convert the first into the second, which is why a general law-and-order framing misses what the statute is for. C. The owners record two analytical claims that turn a protection answer into a justice answer. First, Dalit women face caste discrimination, gender-based violence and economic dependence at the same time, so an intersectional case cannot be resolved by an atrocity remedy alone or by a gender remedy alone. Second, mobility has an entry side and a conversion side: reservation, scholarships and credit widen entry, while discrimination, landlessness, occupational segregation and violence constrain the conversion of entry into income, assets and standing; the answer-writing consequence is that a recommendation must say which side it operates on, because an entry instrument does not repair a conversion failure. D. The owners record the law bank as Articles 14 to 17, 23, 46, 330 and 332 and 338, where Article 15 and Article 16 permit special provision and reservation, Article 17 abolishes untouchability and makes its practice an offence, Article 23 prohibits forced labour and trafficking, Article 46 directs the State to promote with special care the educational and economic interests of the weaker sections and to protect them from social injustice and all forms of exploitation, Articles 330 and 332 reserve seats in the House of the People and in the State Assemblies, and Article 338 creates the national commission; the statutory layer is the Protection of Civil Rights Act, 1955 and the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 with its special-court, relief and witness architecture, and the discipline is that an untouchability offence and an atrocity are separate statutory routes rather than synonyms.

Answer: C. Explanation: The owners record two analytical claims that turn a protection answer into a justice answer. First, Dalit women face caste discrimination, gender-based violence and economic dependence at the same time, so an intersectional case cannot be resolved by an atrocity remedy alone or by a gender remedy alone. Second, mobility has an entry side and a conversion side: reservation, scholarships and credit widen entry, while discrimination, landlessness, occupational segregation and violence constrain the conversion of entry into income, assets and standing; the answer-writing consequence is that a recommendation must say which side it operates on, because an entry instrument does not repair a conversion failure. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q76. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Intersectionality and the mobility argument?

A. The owners set out the procedural chain as registration of a first information report for a listed atrocity offence, investigation by an officer of the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police or above, trial before a State-notified Special Court with a Special Public Prosecutor, and victim relief in the form of monetary compensation, shelter and travel expenses in accordance with the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules, 1995 as amended; the analytical value of setting out the chain in this order is that a failure can be located at exactly one joint, so an answer can say whether the defect is registration, investigation rank, court capacity, prosecutor quality or the payment of relief rather than asserting that the Act does not work. B. The owners define an atrocity as an offence listed in the Schedule to the Act, and they name assault, wrongful dispossession, forced labour, sexual exploitation and public humiliation among the listed heads, committed against a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe person by a person who is not a member of those categories; the 2015 amendment expanded the list with new offences including garlanding with footwear and preventing entry to public places, so the offence set is not confined to physical violence and expressly reaches social and economic exclusion such as boycott, which is why an answer that treats the Act as a violence statute alone understates its coverage. C. The Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 is a special law providing enhanced penalties for caste-based offences committed against members of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, and the owners record its distinctive architecture as Special Courts for trial, victim-relief provisions and a presumption of the offence in certain circumstances; the reason the design matters in an answer is that the same physical act may be an ordinary offence under the general penal law and an atrocity under this Act, and it is the identity of the victim, the identity of the accused and the listed nature of the act that convert the first into the second, which is why a general law-and-order framing misses what the statute is for. D. The owners record two analytical claims that turn a protection answer into a justice answer. First, Dalit women face caste discrimination, gender-based violence and economic dependence at the same time, so an intersectional case cannot be resolved by an atrocity remedy alone or by a gender remedy alone. Second, mobility has an entry side and a conversion side: reservation, scholarships and credit widen entry, while discrimination, landlessness, occupational segregation and violence constrain the conversion of entry into income, assets and standing; the answer-writing consequence is that a recommendation must say which side it operates on, because an entry instrument does not repair a conversion failure.

Answer: D. Explanation: The owners record two analytical claims that turn a protection answer into a justice answer. First, Dalit women face caste discrimination, gender-based violence and economic dependence at the same time, so an intersectional case cannot be resolved by an atrocity remedy alone or by a gender remedy alone. Second, mobility has an entry side and a conversion side: reservation, scholarships and credit widen entry, while discrimination, landlessness, occupational segregation and violence constrain the conversion of entry into income, assets and standing; the answer-writing consequence is that a recommendation must say which side it operates on, because an entry instrument does not repair a conversion failure. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q77. Which statement correctly identifies The zero-direct-PYQ audit stated openly?

A. The audited routing ledgers, which cover the Mains papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025 and the Prelims papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025, route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner, and that absence is reported here rather than concealed or filled with a manufactured demand card; the neighbouring 2018 General Studies Paper II demand on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions is routed to the Polity commissions owner, the tribal demands are routed to the Indian Society and Modern History owners, and the Scheduled Area and Fifth Schedule objective demands are routed to the Polity owner, so none of them is claimed here; the practice in this package is therefore six original Mains questions with model solutions written to the repository's examiner-grade standard, and the 2024 sub-classification judgment is treated as a current anchor for a future demand rather than as evidence that a demand already exists. B. The owners record the law bank as Articles 14 to 17, 23, 46, 330 and 332 and 338, where Article 15 and Article 16 permit special provision and reservation, Article 17 abolishes untouchability and makes its practice an offence, Article 23 prohibits forced labour and trafficking, Article 46 directs the State to promote with special care the educational and economic interests of the weaker sections and to protect them from social injustice and all forms of exploitation, Articles 330 and 332 reserve seats in the House of the People and in the State Assemblies, and Article 338 creates the national commission; the statutory layer is the Protection of Civil Rights Act, 1955 and the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 with its special-court, relief and witness architecture, and the discipline is that an untouchability offence and an atrocity are separate statutory routes rather than synonyms. C. The Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 is a special law providing enhanced penalties for caste-based offences committed against members of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, and the owners record its distinctive architecture as Special Courts for trial, victim-relief provisions and a presumption of the offence in certain circumstances; the reason the design matters in an answer is that the same physical act may be an ordinary offence under the general penal law and an atrocity under this Act, and it is the identity of the victim, the identity of the accused and the listed nature of the act that convert the first into the second, which is why a general law-and-order framing misses what the statute is for. D. This topic owns the Scheduled Caste half of the protection-and-welfare argument, namely the special atrocities law with its amendment sequence, the umbrella development framework, the concessional-credit corporation, the post-matriculation scholarship route and the within-category targeting debate opened by the 2024 sub-classification judgment; its distinctive feature is the honesty of its examination record, because the audited routing ledgers route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner for the covered years, and the nearest neighbouring demand, the 2018 General Studies Paper II question on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions, is routed by the ledger to the Polity commissions owner and is therefore not claimed here; reservation doctrine such as the ceiling and the creamy-layer rule for other backward classes is owned by the Polity special-provisions owner, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation question by the manual-scavenging owner.

Answer: A. Explanation: The audited routing ledgers, which cover the Mains papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025 and the Prelims papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025, route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner, and that absence is reported here rather than concealed or filled with a manufactured demand card; the neighbouring 2018 General Studies Paper II demand on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions is routed to the Polity commissions owner, the tribal demands are routed to the Indian Society and Modern History owners, and the Scheduled Area and Fifth Schedule objective demands are routed to the Polity owner, so none of them is claimed here; the practice in this package is therefore six original Mains questions with model solutions written to the repository's examiner-grade standard, and the 2024 sub-classification judgment is treated as a current anchor for a future demand rather than as evidence that a demand already exists. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q78. Which chronology card should be filed under The zero-direct-PYQ audit stated openly?

A. The owners define an atrocity as an offence listed in the Schedule to the Act, and they name assault, wrongful dispossession, forced labour, sexual exploitation and public humiliation among the listed heads, committed against a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe person by a person who is not a member of those categories; the 2015 amendment expanded the list with new offences including garlanding with footwear and preventing entry to public places, so the offence set is not confined to physical violence and expressly reaches social and economic exclusion such as boycott, which is why an answer that treats the Act as a violence statute alone understates its coverage. B. The audited routing ledgers, which cover the Mains papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025 and the Prelims papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025, route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner, and that absence is reported here rather than concealed or filled with a manufactured demand card; the neighbouring 2018 General Studies Paper II demand on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions is routed to the Polity commissions owner, the tribal demands are routed to the Indian Society and Modern History owners, and the Scheduled Area and Fifth Schedule objective demands are routed to the Polity owner, so none of them is claimed here; the practice in this package is therefore six original Mains questions with model solutions written to the repository's examiner-grade standard, and the 2024 sub-classification judgment is treated as a current anchor for a future demand rather than as evidence that a demand already exists. C. The Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 is a special law providing enhanced penalties for caste-based offences committed against members of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, and the owners record its distinctive architecture as Special Courts for trial, victim-relief provisions and a presumption of the offence in certain circumstances; the reason the design matters in an answer is that the same physical act may be an ordinary offence under the general penal law and an atrocity under this Act, and it is the identity of the victim, the identity of the accused and the listed nature of the act that convert the first into the second, which is why a general law-and-order framing misses what the statute is for. D. The owners record the law bank as Articles 14 to 17, 23, 46, 330 and 332 and 338, where Article 15 and Article 16 permit special provision and reservation, Article 17 abolishes untouchability and makes its practice an offence, Article 23 prohibits forced labour and trafficking, Article 46 directs the State to promote with special care the educational and economic interests of the weaker sections and to protect them from social injustice and all forms of exploitation, Articles 330 and 332 reserve seats in the House of the People and in the State Assemblies, and Article 338 creates the national commission; the statutory layer is the Protection of Civil Rights Act, 1955 and the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 with its special-court, relief and witness architecture, and the discipline is that an untouchability offence and an atrocity are separate statutory routes rather than synonyms.

Answer: B. Explanation: The audited routing ledgers, which cover the Mains papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025 and the Prelims papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025, route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner, and that absence is reported here rather than concealed or filled with a manufactured demand card; the neighbouring 2018 General Studies Paper II demand on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions is routed to the Polity commissions owner, the tribal demands are routed to the Indian Society and Modern History owners, and the Scheduled Area and Fifth Schedule objective demands are routed to the Polity owner, so none of them is claimed here; the practice in this package is therefore six original Mains questions with model solutions written to the repository's examiner-grade standard, and the 2024 sub-classification judgment is treated as a current anchor for a future demand rather than as evidence that a demand already exists. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q79. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of The zero-direct-PYQ audit stated openly?

A. The owners define an atrocity as an offence listed in the Schedule to the Act, and they name assault, wrongful dispossession, forced labour, sexual exploitation and public humiliation among the listed heads, committed against a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe person by a person who is not a member of those categories; the 2015 amendment expanded the list with new offences including garlanding with footwear and preventing entry to public places, so the offence set is not confined to physical violence and expressly reaches social and economic exclusion such as boycott, which is why an answer that treats the Act as a violence statute alone understates its coverage. B. The Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 is a special law providing enhanced penalties for caste-based offences committed against members of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, and the owners record its distinctive architecture as Special Courts for trial, victim-relief provisions and a presumption of the offence in certain circumstances; the reason the design matters in an answer is that the same physical act may be an ordinary offence under the general penal law and an atrocity under this Act, and it is the identity of the victim, the identity of the accused and the listed nature of the act that convert the first into the second, which is why a general law-and-order framing misses what the statute is for. C. The audited routing ledgers, which cover the Mains papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025 and the Prelims papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025, route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner, and that absence is reported here rather than concealed or filled with a manufactured demand card; the neighbouring 2018 General Studies Paper II demand on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions is routed to the Polity commissions owner, the tribal demands are routed to the Indian Society and Modern History owners, and the Scheduled Area and Fifth Schedule objective demands are routed to the Polity owner, so none of them is claimed here; the practice in this package is therefore six original Mains questions with model solutions written to the repository's examiner-grade standard, and the 2024 sub-classification judgment is treated as a current anchor for a future demand rather than as evidence that a demand already exists. D. The owners set out the procedural chain as registration of a first information report for a listed atrocity offence, investigation by an officer of the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police or above, trial before a State-notified Special Court with a Special Public Prosecutor, and victim relief in the form of monetary compensation, shelter and travel expenses in accordance with the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules, 1995 as amended; the analytical value of setting out the chain in this order is that a failure can be located at exactly one joint, so an answer can say whether the defect is registration, investigation rank, court capacity, prosecutor quality or the payment of relief rather than asserting that the Act does not work.

Answer: C. Explanation: The audited routing ledgers, which cover the Mains papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025 and the Prelims papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025, route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner, and that absence is reported here rather than concealed or filled with a manufactured demand card; the neighbouring 2018 General Studies Paper II demand on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions is routed to the Polity commissions owner, the tribal demands are routed to the Indian Society and Modern History owners, and the Scheduled Area and Fifth Schedule objective demands are routed to the Polity owner, so none of them is claimed here; the practice in this package is therefore six original Mains questions with model solutions written to the repository's examiner-grade standard, and the 2024 sub-classification judgment is treated as a current anchor for a future demand rather than as evidence that a demand already exists. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q80. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about The zero-direct-PYQ audit stated openly?

A. The owners set out the procedural chain as registration of a first information report for a listed atrocity offence, investigation by an officer of the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police or above, trial before a State-notified Special Court with a Special Public Prosecutor, and victim relief in the form of monetary compensation, shelter and travel expenses in accordance with the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules, 1995 as amended; the analytical value of setting out the chain in this order is that a failure can be located at exactly one joint, so an answer can say whether the defect is registration, investigation rank, court capacity, prosecutor quality or the payment of relief rather than asserting that the Act does not work. B. The owners define an atrocity as an offence listed in the Schedule to the Act, and they name assault, wrongful dispossession, forced labour, sexual exploitation and public humiliation among the listed heads, committed against a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe person by a person who is not a member of those categories; the 2015 amendment expanded the list with new offences including garlanding with footwear and preventing entry to public places, so the offence set is not confined to physical violence and expressly reaches social and economic exclusion such as boycott, which is why an answer that treats the Act as a violence statute alone understates its coverage. C. The 2015 amendment expanded the list of atrocity offences, strengthened the rights of victims and witnesses and created the Special and Exclusive Special Court architecture, and the owners attach a precise caution to that architecture: such courts are notified by States under the conditions the Act lays down and with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the concerned High Court, so it must not be stated that an Exclusive Special Court automatically exists in every district; the examinable consequence is that court availability is a State-specific fact to be verified rather than a national entitlement to be assumed, and pendency in atrocity trials is therefore partly a notification and staffing question. D. The audited routing ledgers, which cover the Mains papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025 and the Prelims papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025, route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner, and that absence is reported here rather than concealed or filled with a manufactured demand card; the neighbouring 2018 General Studies Paper II demand on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions is routed to the Polity commissions owner, the tribal demands are routed to the Indian Society and Modern History owners, and the Scheduled Area and Fifth Schedule objective demands are routed to the Polity owner, so none of them is claimed here; the practice in this package is therefore six original Mains questions with model solutions written to the repository's examiner-grade standard, and the 2024 sub-classification judgment is treated as a current anchor for a future demand rather than as evidence that a demand already exists.

Answer: D. Explanation: The audited routing ledgers, which cover the Mains papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025 and the Prelims papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025, route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner, and that absence is reported here rather than concealed or filled with a manufactured demand card; the neighbouring 2018 General Studies Paper II demand on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions is routed to the Polity commissions owner, the tribal demands are routed to the Indian Society and Modern History owners, and the Scheduled Area and Fifth Schedule objective demands are routed to the Polity owner, so none of them is claimed here; the practice in this package is therefore six original Mains questions with model solutions written to the repository's examiner-grade standard, and the 2024 sub-classification judgment is treated as a current anchor for a future demand rather than as evidence that a demand already exists. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

PYQS AND ANSWER PRACTICE

TRANSPARENT ZERO-DIRECT-PYQ AUDIT

The audited routing ledgers route no General Studies Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner for the covered years, and that zero is reported openly rather than concealed or filled with a manufactured demand card. The four audited ledgers consulted are the Mains routing ledgers for 2018 to 2023 and for 2024 to 2025 and the Prelims routing ledgers for 2018 to 2023 and for 2024 to 2025, and neither the Basic owner nor the Advanced owner for this topic carries a generated previous-year integration block, which is itself consistent with that zero. The nearest neighbouring demand is the 2018 General Studies Paper II question on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions, and the audited 2018-2023 Mains routing ledger routes it to the Polity commissions owner, so no ownership is claimed over it here; the tribal demands are routed to the Indian Society and Modern History owners and the Scheduled Area and Fifth Schedule objective demands to the Polity owner, so none of those is claimed either. The Advanced owner records expressly that there is no direct recent Mains hit on Scheduled Caste atrocities and welfare and that the 2024 sub-classification judgment is a current anchor for a possible future demand, and this package adopts exactly that position: the judgment is taught as a current anchor and is not presented as evidence that a demand already exists. The practice in this package therefore consists of six original Mains questions with model solutions, each written to the repository's examiner-grade standard using the claim, named evidence, analysis and qualification pattern, together with eighty original objective questions on a strict A -> B -> C -> D rotation. Each model solution opens with its analytical claim so that the evidence which follows does argumentative rather than decorative work. The locally held OCR-searchable official General Studies papers were read only to confirm that no question on this owner's subject matter is routed here; no question was invented from them, no marking scheme or page precision was imported and no official answer key is claimed for any question anywhere in this package.

OWNER PYQ LEDGER EXTRACTS

9. PYQ application

- ANALYSIS: No direct 2024/2025 GS-II Mains hit on SC atrocities/welfare. However, the Davinder Singh judgment is a current anchor that examiners may use in future questions on targeted welfare delivery or within-SC inequality.

10. PYQ-based analytical application

- ANALYSIS: No direct 2024/2025 GS-II Mains PYQ on SC atrocities/welfare. Davinder Singh is a current anchor for future questions. If asked about SC-welfare targeting, structure the answer around: (a) within-SC heterogeneity; (b) sub-classification permission; (c) PM-AJAY/NSFDC delivery; (d) political-economy trade-off.

ORIGINAL MAINS 1 - 10 MARKS

Question: Distinguish the legal-protection channel of Scheduled Caste policy from its welfare-delivery channel, and explain why a complete answer must use both. Answer in about 150 words.

Model thesis: Protection and delivery answer different failures, so the distinction must be drawn by naming the statute and the procedural chain on one side and the sanction-driven scheme channels on the other, then showing that neither repairs the other's defect.

Claim -> named evidence -> analysis -> qualification:

- The Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 is a special law providing enhanced penalties for caste-based offences committed against members of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, and the owners record its distinctive architecture as Special Courts for trial, victim-relief provisions and a presumption of the offence in certain circumstances; the reason the design matters in an answer is that the same physical act may be an ordinary offence under the general penal law and an atrocity under this Act, and it is the identity of the victim, the identity of the accused and the listed nature of the act that convert the first into the second, which is why a general law-and-order framing misses what the statute is for.
- The owners set out the procedural chain as registration of a first information report for a listed atrocity offence, investigation by an officer of the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police or above, trial before a State-notified Special Court with a Special Public Prosecutor, and victim relief in the form of monetary compensation, shelter and travel expenses in accordance with the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules, 1995 as amended; the analytical value of setting out the chain in this order is that a failure can be located at exactly one joint, so an answer can say whether the defect is registration, investigation rank, court capacity, prosecutor quality or the payment of relief rather than asserting that the Act does not work.

- Pradhan Mantri Anusuchit Jaati Abhyudaya Yojana is the umbrella Scheduled Caste development framework of the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, and the owners record its three delivery channels as development of Scheduled Caste dominated villages under the model-village component, grants for approved district and State socio-economic development projects, and hostel support in higher educational institutions; the critical qualification is that these are project and sanction channels driven by State proposals and annual approvals rather than an automatic individual benefit, so it is an error both to describe the framework as a personal scholarship or loan entitlement and to treat every ministry scheme for Scheduled Castes as one of its components.
- The National Scheduled Castes Finance and Development Corporation is a Government of India company under the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment which provides concessional credit to Scheduled Caste beneficiaries, and the owners record its instruments as term loans, micro-credit and skill-development finance delivered through State channelising agencies rather than directly to a borrower; the reason the delivery route is examinable is that it makes the corporation's reach a function of the capacity and the appetite of the State agency in each State, so credit access is uneven for reasons that lie outside the corporation's own design, and an answer about economic mobility must say so.

Qualified conclusion: Protection and delivery answer different failures, so the distinction must be drawn by naming the statute and the procedural chain on one side and the sanction-driven scheme channels on the other, then showing that neither repairs the other's defect.

ORIGINAL MAINS 2 - 10 MARKS

Question: Examine what the 2015 and 2018 amendments to the atrocities statute changed, and what they could not change. Answer in about 150 words.

Model thesis: The amendments changed the offence list, the court architecture and the arrest and bail position, so the examination must state each change precisely and then locate the residual problem in notification, registration and witness protection rather than in the text.

Claim -> named evidence -> analysis -> qualification:

- The 2015 amendment expanded the list of atrocity offences, strengthened the rights of victims and witnesses and created the Special and Exclusive Special Court architecture, and the owners attach a precise caution to that architecture: such courts are notified by States under the conditions the Act lays down and with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the concerned High Court, so it must not be stated that an Exclusive Special Court automatically exists in every district; the examinable consequence is that court availability is a State-specific fact to be verified rather than a national entitlement to be assumed, and pendency in atrocity trials is therefore partly a notification and staffing question.
- The owners record the sequence with care. A 2018 ruling of the Supreme Court diluted arrest and anticipatory-bail protection under the Act; Parliament responded by inserting Section 18A, under which no preliminary inquiry is required for the registration of a first information report, no approval is required for arrest and the statutory bar on anticipatory bail is restored notwithstanding that ruling; the constitutional challenge to the amendment was then decided in Prathvi Raj Chauhan in 2020, which upheld Section 18A while preserving an exceptional power in a constitutional court to intervene where the complaint discloses no prima facie case; the recurring trap is to say the 2018 amendment implemented a judicial direction when it in fact overrode one.
- The owners treat the 1989 Act, the 2018 ruling and the 2018 amendment as a textbook instance of the legislature responding to a judicial reading by amending the law, and they invite the cross-link to the Polity owner for the doctrine; the analytical shape is that the Court read a safeguard against misuse into a statute, Parliament restored the original stringency by express provision, and the Court then tested the restored provision and upheld it while retaining a narrow constitutional escape valve, so the episode ends in an equilibrium rather than in a victory for either branch; an answer that uses it must state all three steps, because reciting only the amendment converts a dialogue into a confrontation.

- The National Crime Records Bureau publishes registered atrocity cases under the Act in its annual crime report, and the owners record it as the primary official source while stating its limits explicitly: it counts cases that entered the system, so a rise may reflect rising victimisation, improving reporting or both, and under-reporting driven by social pressure, fear of retaliation and police reluctance depresses registration, with registration practice varying across States; the owners add that a conviction figure must be read together with pendency, investigation quality and witness vulnerability, so a bare conviction rate is not evidence about the incidence of atrocity, and any current figure must be cited with its year and its denominator.

Qualified conclusion: The amendments changed the offence list, the court architecture and the arrest and bail position, so the examination must state each change precisely and then locate the residual problem in notification, registration and witness protection rather than in the text.

ORIGINAL MAINS 3 - 15 MARKS

Question: Critically examine the claim that legal protection alone can secure justice for Scheduled Castes. Answer in about 250 words.

Model thesis: Law changes the price of an act without changing the conditions that produce it, so the critical examination must run the procedural chain, test it against what registered data can and cannot show, and close on the entry and conversion sides of mobility.

Claim -> named evidence -> analysis -> qualification:

- The owners define an atrocity as an offence listed in the Schedule to the Act, and they name assault, wrongful dispossession, forced labour, sexual exploitation and public humiliation among the listed heads, committed against a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe person by a person who is not a member of those categories; the 2015 amendment expanded the list with new offences including garlanding with footwear and preventing entry to public places, so the offence set is not confined to physical violence and expressly reaches social and economic exclusion such as boycott, which is why an answer that treats the Act as a violence statute alone understates its coverage.
- The owners set out the procedural chain as registration of a first information report for a listed atrocity offence, investigation by an officer of the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police or above, trial before a State-notified Special Court with a Special Public Prosecutor, and victim relief in the form of monetary compensation, shelter and travel expenses in accordance with the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules, 1995 as amended; the analytical value of setting out the chain in this order is that a failure can be located at exactly one joint, so an answer can say whether the defect is registration, investigation rank, court capacity, prosecutor quality or the payment of relief rather than asserting that the Act does not work.
- The National Crime Records Bureau publishes registered atrocity cases under the Act in its annual crime report, and the owners record it as the primary official source while stating its limits explicitly: it counts cases that entered the system, so a rise may reflect rising victimisation, improving reporting or both, and under-reporting driven by social pressure, fear of retaliation and police reluctance depresses registration, with registration practice varying across States; the owners add that a conviction figure must be read together with pendency, investigation quality and witness vulnerability, so a bare conviction rate is not evidence about the incidence of atrocity, and any current figure must be cited with its year and its denominator.
- The owners record two analytical claims that turn a protection answer into a justice answer. First, Dalit women face caste discrimination, gender-based violence and economic dependence at the same time, so an intersectional case cannot be resolved by an atrocity remedy alone or by a gender remedy alone. Second, mobility has an entry side and a conversion side: reservation, scholarships and credit widen entry, while discrimination, landlessness, occupational segregation and violence constrain the conversion of entry into income, assets and standing; the answer-writing consequence is that a recommendation must say which side it operates on, because an entry instrument does not repair a conversion failure.

Qualified conclusion: Law changes the price of an act without changing the conditions that produce it, so the critical examination must run the procedural chain, test it against what registered data can and cannot show, and close on the entry and conversion sides of mobility.

ORIGINAL MAINS 4 - 15 MARKS

Question: Assess the implications of the 2024 judgment permitting sub-classification within the Scheduled Castes for welfare targeting. Answer in about 250 words.

Model thesis: The judgment supplies permission rather than a policy, so the assessment must state the holding and its four boundaries, connect within-category heterogeneity to the delivery channels and hold opportunity, fragmentation risk and the evidence requirement together.

Claim -> named evidence -> analysis -> qualification:

- State of Punjab against Davinder Singh, decided on 1 August 2024 by a seven-judge Constitution Bench by a majority of six to one, held that sub-classification within the Scheduled Castes for the purpose of reservation is constitutionally permissible where it is supported by data, and it overruled the earlier decision in E.V. Chinnaiah; the owners then set the boundary of the holding with unusual care, because the judgment does not alter the Presidential List of Scheduled Castes, does not itself allot any sub-quota to any group and does not direct any State to sub-classify, so what it grants is constitutional permission for an evidence-based State measure and nothing more.
- The owners record that observations about applying a creamy-layer style filter to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes appeared in separate opinions in the 2024 judgment and were not part of the binding holding, and that no general creamy-layer exclusion for those categories has been legislated; the discipline that follows is that the existing creamy-layer rule for other backward classes must not be transplanted in an answer, and that a candidate who writes that the Supreme Court has introduced a creamy layer for the Scheduled Castes has converted an obiter discussion into a legislated rule, which is exactly the status error this folder exists to prevent.
- The owners insist that the Scheduled Castes are not a monolithic category, because some sub-castes face substantially greater disadvantage than others and manual-scavenging communities are named as a boundary case carrying stigma and occupational hazard beyond general Scheduled Caste disadvantage; the policy consequence is that a scheme designed for the category as a whole may be captured disproportionately by the relatively better-placed sub-groups, so the model-village, hostel and credit channels can be fully implemented and still leave the worst-off communities untouched, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation route belongs to the manual-scavenging owner.
- The owners set out three considerations that any sub-classification answer must hold together: the opportunity, which is that sub-classification addresses within-category inequality and prevents relatively advanced sub-castes from capturing a disproportionate share of benefits; the risk, which is that it may fragment Scheduled Caste political unity and weaken collective bargaining power while State-level politics exploits sub-caste divisions for electoral purposes; and the empirical requirement, which is that any classification must be justified by backwardness and representation data for each sub-group, failing which it is arbitrary and legally vulnerable; the owners add that the judgment permits but does not mandate the measure, so a State's inaction is not itself unconstitutional.

Qualified conclusion: The judgment supplies permission rather than a policy, so the assessment must state the holding and its four boundaries, connect within-category heterogeneity to the delivery channels and hold opportunity, fragmentation risk and the evidence requirement together.

ORIGINAL MAINS 5 - 20 MARKS

Question: Analyse why registered atrocity data are an unreliable measure of the incidence of caste-based violence, and what would improve the evidence base. Answer in about 300 words.

Model thesis: Registration is an administrative event and not an epidemiological one, so the analysis must separate registration, investigation, prosecution and conviction, explain what suppresses each, and propose measures that are specific to the suppressed stage.

Claim -> named evidence -> analysis -> qualification:

- The National Crime Records Bureau publishes registered atrocity cases under the Act in its annual crime report, and the owners record it as the primary official source while stating its limits explicitly: it counts cases that entered the system, so a rise may reflect rising victimisation, improving reporting or both, and under-reporting driven by social pressure, fear of retaliation and police reluctance depresses registration, with registration practice varying across States; the owners add that a conviction figure must be read together with pendency, investigation quality and witness vulnerability, so a bare conviction rate is not evidence about the incidence of atrocity, and any current figure must be cited with its year and its denominator.

- The owners carry one dated scale anchor, namely that the Scheduled Castes formed 16.6 per cent of India's population in the 2011 Census, and they attach the instruction that current atrocity data be used only with the year and denominator attached; the analytical use of a population share is to convert an absolute count into a rate and to make a representation claim about seats, services or budget shares meaningful, and its limit is that a share measured in 2011 is a dated denominator which must not be silently applied to a later count without saying so.
- The owners set out the procedural chain as registration of a first information report for a listed atrocity offence, investigation by an officer of the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police or above, trial before a State-notified Special Court with a Special Public Prosecutor, and victim relief in the form of monetary compensation, shelter and travel expenses in accordance with the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules, 1995 as amended; the analytical value of setting out the chain in this order is that a failure can be located at exactly one joint, so an answer can say whether the defect is registration, investigation rank, court capacity, prosecutor quality or the payment of relief rather than asserting that the Act does not work.
- The 2015 amendment expanded the list of atrocity offences, strengthened the rights of victims and witnesses and created the Special and Exclusive Special Court architecture, and the owners attach a precise caution to that architecture: such courts are notified by States under the conditions the Act lays down and with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the concerned High Court, so it must not be stated that an Exclusive Special Court automatically exists in every district; the examinable consequence is that court availability is a State-specific fact to be verified rather than a national entitlement to be assumed, and pendency in atrocity trials is therefore partly a notification and staffing question.

Qualified conclusion: Registration is an administrative event and not an epidemiological one, so the analysis must separate registration, investigation, prosecution and conviction, explain what suppresses each, and propose measures that are specific to the suppressed stage.

ORIGINAL MAINS 6 - 20 MARKS

Question: Evaluate the proposition that Scheduled Caste policy has succeeded at widening entry and failed at securing conversion. Answer in about 300 words.

Model thesis: Entry instruments and conversion barriers are different objects, so the evaluation must name the entry instruments including the education and credit routes, name the conversion barriers of discrimination, landlessness, occupational segregation and violence, and close with a graded verdict rather than a uniform one.

Claim -> named evidence -> analysis -> qualification:

- The Department of Social Justice and Empowerment's own scheme page for the post-matric scholarship for students belonging to the Scheduled Castes, read on 2 September 2026, records that the objective of the scheme is to appreciably increase the gross enrolment ratio of Scheduled Caste students in higher education with a focus on those from the poorest households by providing financial assistance at the post-matriculation or post-secondary stage to enable them to complete their education; the same page records that the scholarships are available for studies in India only, that awardees are selected by the State Government or Union Territory to which the applicant actually belongs according to the domicile terms decided by that State, that the scheme applies both to current beneficiaries and to fresh admissions, and that the complete guidelines were revised in March 2021 and are published on that page; nothing beyond those recorded statements is claimed, and no coverage, disbursement or beneficiary count is asserted.
- The National Scheduled Castes Finance and Development Corporation is a Government of India company under the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment which provides concessional credit to Scheduled Caste beneficiaries, and the owners record its instruments as term loans, micro-credit and skill-development finance delivered through State channelising agencies rather than directly to a borrower; the reason the delivery route is examinable is that it makes the corporation's reach a function of the capacity and the appetite of the State agency in each State, so credit access is uneven for reasons that lie outside the corporation's own design, and an answer about economic mobility must say so.

- The owners record two analytical claims that turn a protection answer into a justice answer. First, Dalit women face caste discrimination, gender-based violence and economic dependence at the same time, so an intersectional case cannot be resolved by an atrocity remedy alone or by a gender remedy alone. Second, mobility has an entry side and a conversion side: reservation, scholarships and credit widen entry, while discrimination, landlessness, occupational segregation and violence constrain the conversion of entry into income, assets and standing; the answer-writing consequence is that a recommendation must say which side it operates on, because an entry instrument does not repair a conversion failure.
- The audited routing ledgers, which cover the Mains papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025 and the Prelims papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025, route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner, and that absence is reported here rather than concealed or filled with a manufactured demand card; the neighbouring 2018 General Studies Paper II demand on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions is routed to the Polity commissions owner, the tribal demands are routed to the Indian Society and Modern History owners, and the Scheduled Area and Fifth Schedule objective demands are routed to the Polity owner, so none of them is claimed here; the practice in this package is therefore six original Mains questions with model solutions written to the repository's examiner-grade standard, and the 2024 sub-classification judgment is treated as a current anchor for a future demand rather than as evidence that a demand already exists.

Qualified conclusion: Entry instruments and conversion barriers are different objects, so the evaluation must name the entry instruments including the education and credit routes, name the conversion barriers of discrimination, landlessness, occupational segregation and violence, and close with a graded verdict rather than a uniform one.

OPTIONAL ADVANCED DEPTH - NOT REQUIRED FOR A CORE ANSWER

Subject: Social Justice | Tier: Advanced | GS Paper: GS-II. Core area: PoA Act amendment sequence, Davinder Singh sub-classification implications, within-SC heterogeneity and welfare-targeting reform. Grounded in: PoA Act, 1989 (amended 2015, 2018); PM-AJAY; NSFDC; State of Punjab v. Davinder Singh (Supreme Court, August 2024); Indra Sawhney (cross-link Polity); NCRB Crime in India reports. FACT: = source-grounded | ANALYSIS: = inference/analysis | CURRENT: = current anchor. Companion: basic/07_Scheduled-Castes-Rights-Atrocities-and-Welfare.md.

1. Architecture

SC PROTECTION-WELFARE-TARGETING MATRIX

Analytical claim: ANALYSIS: The Davinder Singh judgment (August 2024) is the most significant recent development for SC policy because it acknowledges within-SC heterogeneity and permits states to sub-classify for targeted reservation/welfare; Mains answers must distinguish this from the reservation-doctrine fundamentals (50% ceiling, Indra Sawhney, creamy layer for OBCs) owned by Polity, and focus on the welfare-targeting and atrocity-enforcement implications here.

2. Concepts and distinctions

Concept	Precise meaning
FACT: PoA Act 1989 vs 2015 Amendment	The 1989 Act created a special law with enhanced penalties; the 2015 Amendment expanded offences and strengthened victim/witness rights and Special/Exclusive Special Courts. Their notification is State-specific under the Act's conditions, not an automatic Exclusive Court in every district.
FACT: 2018 Supreme Court ruling vs 2018 Amendment	Section 18A (2018) removed preliminary-inquiry/approval requirements and restored the statutory anticipatory-bail bar. Prathvi Raj Chauhan (2020) upheld it, while recognising rare constitutional-court intervention if no prima facie case is disclosed.
CURRENT: Davinder Singh sub-classification	The 1 August 2024 seven-judge decision (6:1) permits empirically justified sub-classification within SCs for reservation and overrules E.V. Chinnaiah . It neither alters the Presidential List nor itself creates a sub-quota; a State must take lawful, data-supported action.
ANALYSIS: "Creamy layer" for SCs/STs	Separate opinions in Davinder Singh discussed an analogous filter. That discussion is not the binding holding and no general SC/ST creamy-layer exclusion has been legislated; do not conflate it with the existing OBC rule.
ANALYSIS: NCRB atrocity data	NCRB's Crime in India report publishes registered atrocity cases under the PoA Act annually; this is the official data source but is subject to under-reporting and registration-practice variation across states.

3. Detailed causal chain: from legal protection to welfare targeting

Legal-protection chain

- Offence registration: FIR for listed atrocities; investigation by DSP or above.
- Trial and relief: State-notified Special/Exclusive Special Court; Special Public Prosecutor; victim relief (monetary compensation, shelter) under the Rules.
- Procedural safeguard (2018 Amendment): Section 18A removes preliminary-inquiry/approval requirements and restores the statutory anticipatory-bail bar, subject to the narrow Prathvi Raj Chauhan prima-facie-case safeguard.
- Outcome indicator: NCRB atrocity-case registration and conviction rates - survey-based prevalence data is scarce; NCRB is the primary (though imperfect) source.

Welfare-delivery chain

- PM-AJAY components: Adarsh Gram development, approved district/state socio-economic projects and hostel support in higher educational institutions.
- NSFDC credit: concessional loans to SC entrepreneurs through state agencies.
- Within-SC heterogeneity: some sub-castes (e.g., manual-scavenging communities) face greater disadvantage than others; flat SC-wide schemes may not reach the most marginalised.
- Davinder Singh implication: sub-classification could direct PM-AJAY resources and NSFDC targeting toward the most disadvantaged sub-groups, improving welfare delivery efficiency.

Political-economy trade-off

- Opportunity: sub-classification addresses within-SC inequality, ensuring that relatively advanced sub-castes do not capture disproportionate benefits.
- Risk: sub-classification may fragment SC political unity, potentially weakening collective bargaining power; state-level politics may exploit sub-caste divisions.

3. Empirical requirement: sub-classification must be justified by backwardness data for each sub-group; without evidence, it becomes arbitrary and legally vulnerable.

4. Institutional and reform architecture

- FACT: PoA Act enforcement: State-notified Special/Exclusive Special Courts, SPPs, DSP+ investigation, victim-relief under the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules, 1995 (as amended).
- FACT: PM-AJAY (MoSJE): approved State/district projects for SC-dominated-village development, socio-economic development and hostel support; implementation and coverage depend on sanctioned proposals.
- FACT: NSFDC: PSU under MoSJE; provides concessional credit through state channelising agencies; complements PM-AJAY's skill/livelihood component.
- FACT: NCSC (Art 338): constitutional body with powers to investigate SC-rights violations, advise on policy and review safeguards; composition and mandate detail is in `Polity/basic/National-Commissions-SC-ST-BC.md`.

5. Indian applications and boundary cases

- ANALYSIS: A case of social/economic boycott of an SC family: prosecutable under the 2015-expanded offence list; illustrates the Act's coverage of non-physical atrocities.
- ANALYSIS: A State taking data-supported action on sub-classification post-Davinder Singh must justify it with empirical backwardness/representation evidence; if challenged, courts will assess whether the classification is reasonable and evidence-based.
- ANALYSIS: Boundary case - manual-scavenging communities: face stigma and occupational hazards beyond general SC disadvantage; sub-classification could prioritise them for PM-AJAY hostel, skill and sanitation-worker-rehabilitation benefits (see Topic 14).

6. Limitations and trade-offs

- ANALYSIS: Under-reporting of atrocities: NCRB data reflects registered cases, not prevalence; social pressure, fear of retaliation and police reluctance depress registration - a persistent "legal-enforcement gap."
- ANALYSIS: Special-court capacity: State notification, staffing and pendency vary; do not simplify the 2015 architecture into a universal district-level Exclusive Special Court.
- ANALYSIS: Sub-classification political risk: Davinder Singh permits, but does not mandate, sub-classification; states may use it for electoral purposes, deepening sub-caste divisions rather than improving welfare targeting.
- ANALYSIS: PM-AJAY coverage vs saturation: umbrella schemes may spread resources thinly; sub-classification could improve targeting but requires robust sub-group identification data.

7. Must-Know Facts for Advanced Prelims

- FACT: The 2018 Amendment to the PoA Act was passed to override the Supreme Court's Subhash Kashinath Mahajan ruling, restoring stringent arrest provisions.
- FACT: Davinder Singh (1 August 2024) permits data-supported sub-classification within SCs; it neither alters the Presidential List nor itself creates a sub-quota.
- FACT: NCRB's Crime in India report is the primary official source for atrocity-case registration data under the PoA Act.
- FACT: PM-AJAY uses approved village-development, district/state socio-economic project and hostel-support components; distinguish it from other MoSJE schemes/NSFDC credit.

8. Advanced Prelims traps

- WRONG: Davinder Singh mandates sub-classification of SCs in all States. -> The judgment permits data-supported sub-classification; it does not itself allot a sub-quota or dictate a single State implementation route.
- WRONG: The 2018 Amendment implemented the Supreme Court's direction on anticipatory bail. -> The Amendment overrode the Court's ruling, restoring the bar on anticipatory bail.
- WRONG: "Creamy layer" exclusion for SCs/STs is now a legislated rule. -> The discussion appeared in separate opinions, not the binding holding; no general rule has been legislated.

9. CURRENT: Current-anchor note

- CURRENT: Davinder Singh (1 August 2024): the binding point is constitutional permission for evidence-based SC sub-classification, not automatic redistribution of a quota or a creamy-layer rule. It opens a targeting debate but does not turn PM-AJAY/NSFDC into a sub-caste entitlement without a lawful, evidenced programme design.

10. PYQ-based analytical application

- ANALYSIS: No direct 2024/2025 GS-II Mains PYQ on SC atrocities/welfare. Davinder Singh is a current anchor for future questions. If asked about SC-welfare targeting, structure the answer around: (a) within-SC heterogeneity; (b) sub-classification permission; (c) PM-AJAY/NSFDC delivery; (d) political-economy trade-off.

11. Mains-ready framework

Central thesis: Scheduled Caste protection and welfare operate through two distinct but complementary channels - the Prevention of Atrocities Act (legal protection) and PM-AJAY/NSFDC (welfare delivery). The August 2024 Davinder Singh judgment introduces a third dimension: within-SC targeting via sub-classification, which can improve resource allocation to the most disadvantaged sub-groups but carries political-economy risks of fragmenting SC unity.

1. Establish the legal-protection layer: PoA Act 1989, 2015 expansion, 2018 Act-Court-Amendment sequence.
2. Map the welfare-delivery layer: PM-AJAY's approved Adarsh Gram/project/hostel routes and NSFDC's distinct credit route.
3. Introduce within-SC heterogeneity: some sub-castes face greater disadvantage; flat SC-wide schemes may not reach them.
4. Analyse Davinder Singh: permits sub-classification; opportunity for targeted welfare; risk of political fragmentation; empirical-evidence requirement.
5. Recommend: evidence-based sub-classification with safeguards against misuse; strengthen notified Special Court/SPP capacity for atrocity-case disposal; use transparent, lawful criteria for any targeted welfare design.

12. Probable questions

- ANALYSIS: Prelims: The 2018 Amendment to the SC/ST (Prevention of Atrocities) Act was passed to override which Supreme Court ruling?
- ANALYSIS: Mains (15 marks): Critically examine the implications of the Supreme Court's Davinder Singh ruling for Scheduled Caste welfare targeting and political representation.
- ANALYSIS: Mains (10 marks): Trace the Act-Court-Amendment sequence leading to the 2018 Amendment of the SC/ST (Prevention of Atrocities) Act. What does it reveal about the separation of powers?

13. Study links

- FACT: Foundation companion: `basic/07_Scheduled-Castes-Rights-Atrocities-and-Welfare.md`.
- FACT: Polity/basic/National-Commissions-SC-ST-BC.md - NCSC composition and mandate.
- FACT: Polity/advanced/22_Special-Provisions.md - reservation doctrine (50% ceiling, Indra Sawhney, OBC creamy layer).

- FACT: 14_Sanitation-Manual-Scavenging-and-Safai-Karamcharis.md - overlapping SC disadvantage in manual-scavenging communities.

CONSOLIDATED REGISTER NOTES

Scheduled Castes: Rights, Atrocities and Welfare: RAPID RIGHT, SCHEME AND MEASURED-OUTCOME MAP

- 1. What this owner holds and why its PYQ record is stated as zero: This topic owns the Scheduled Caste half of the protection-and-welfare argument, namely the special atrocities law with its amendment sequence, the umbrella development framework, the concessional-credit corporation, the post-matriculation scholarship route and the within-category targeting debate opened by the 2024 sub-classification judgment; its distinctive feature is the honesty of its examination record, because the audited routing ledgers route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner for the covered years, and the nearest neighbouring demand, the 2018 General Studies Paper II question on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions, is routed by the ledger to the Polity commissions owner and is therefore not claimed here; reservation doctrine such as the ceiling and the creamy-layer rule for other backward classes is owned by the Polity special-provisions owner, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation question by the manual-scavenging owner.
- 2. The constitutional and statutory bank for a Scheduled Caste answer: The owners record the law bank as Articles 14 to 17, 23, 46, 330 and 332 and 338, where Article 15 and Article 16 permit special provision and reservation, Article 17 abolishes untouchability and makes its practice an offence, Article 23 prohibits forced labour and trafficking, Article 46 directs the State to promote with special care the educational and economic interests of the weaker sections and to protect them from social injustice and all forms of exploitation, Articles 330 and 332 reserve seats in the House of the People and in the State Assemblies, and Article 338 creates the national commission; the statutory layer is the Protection of Civil Rights Act, 1955 and the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 with its special-court, relief and witness architecture, and the discipline is that an untouchability offence and an atrocity are separate statutory routes rather than synonyms.
- 3. The atrocities statute of 1989 as a special law: The Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 is a special law providing enhanced penalties for caste-based offences committed against members of the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, and the owners record its distinctive architecture as Special Courts for trial, victim-relief provisions and a presumption of the offence in certain circumstances; the reason the design matters in an answer is that the same physical act may be an ordinary offence under the general penal law and an atrocity under this Act, and it is the identity of the victim, the identity of the accused and the listed nature of the act that convert the first into the second, which is why a general law-and-order framing misses what the statute is for.
- 4. What counts as an atrocity and who may commit one: The owners define an atrocity as an offence listed in the Schedule to the Act, and they name assault, wrongful dispossession, forced labour, sexual exploitation and public humiliation among the listed heads, committed against a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe person by a person who is not a member of those categories; the 2015 amendment expanded the list with new offences including garlanding with footwear and preventing entry to public places, so the offence set is not confined to physical violence and expressly reaches social and economic exclusion such as boycott, which is why an answer that treats the Act as a violence statute alone understates its coverage.
- 5. The investigation, trial and relief route: The owners set out the procedural chain as registration of a first information report for a listed atrocity offence, investigation by an officer of the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police or above, trial before a State-notified Special Court with a Special Public Prosecutor, and victim relief in the form of monetary compensation, shelter and travel expenses in accordance with the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules, 1995 as amended; the analytical value of setting out the chain in this order is that a failure can be located at exactly one joint, so an answer can say whether the defect is registration, investigation rank, court capacity, prosecutor quality or the payment of relief rather than asserting that the Act does not work.

6. The 2015 amendment and the court-notification discipline: The 2015 amendment expanded the list of atrocity offences, strengthened the rights of victims and witnesses and created the Special and Exclusive Special Court architecture, and the owners attach a precise caution to that architecture: such courts are notified by States under the conditions the Act lays down and with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the concerned High Court, so it must not be stated that an Exclusive Special Court automatically exists in every district; the examinable consequence is that court availability is a State-specific fact to be verified rather than a national entitlement to be assumed, and pendency in atrocity trials is therefore partly a notification and staffing question.
7. The 2018 amendment and the Act-Court-Amendment sequence: The owners record the sequence with care. A 2018 ruling of the Supreme Court diluted arrest and anticipatory-bail protection under the Act; Parliament responded by inserting Section 18A, under which no preliminary inquiry is required for the registration of a first information report, no approval is required for arrest and the statutory bar on anticipatory bail is restored notwithstanding that ruling; the constitutional challenge to the amendment was then decided in Prathvi Raj Chauhan in 2020, which upheld Section 18A while preserving an exceptional power in a constitutional court to intervene where the complaint discloses no prima facie case; the recurring trap is to say the 2018 amendment implemented a judicial direction when it in fact overrode one.
8. The sequence as institutional dialogue between legislature and judiciary: The owners treat the 1989 Act, the 2018 ruling and the 2018 amendment as a textbook instance of the legislature responding to a judicial reading by amending the law, and they invite the cross-link to the Polity owner for the doctrine; the analytical shape is that the Court read a safeguard against misuse into a statute, Parliament restored the original stringency by express provision, and the Court then tested the restored provision and upheld it while retaining a narrow constitutional escape valve, so the episode ends in an equilibrium rather than in a victory for either branch; an answer that uses it must state all three steps, because reciting only the amendment converts a dialogue into a confrontation.
9. The umbrella development framework and what it actually is: Pradhan Mantri Anusuchit Jaati Abhyudaya Yojana is the umbrella Scheduled Caste development framework of the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment, and the owners record its three delivery channels as development of Scheduled Caste dominated villages under the model-village component, grants for approved district and State socio-economic development projects, and hostel support in higher educational institutions; the critical qualification is that these are project and sanction channels driven by State proposals and annual approvals rather than an automatic individual benefit, so it is an error both to describe the framework as a personal scholarship or loan entitlement and to treat every ministry scheme for Scheduled Castes as one of its components.
10. The concessional-credit corporation and its delivery route: The National Scheduled Castes Finance and Development Corporation is a Government of India company under the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment which provides concessional credit to Scheduled Caste beneficiaries, and the owners record its instruments as term loans, micro-credit and skill-development finance delivered through State channelising agencies rather than directly to a borrower; the reason the delivery route is examinable is that it makes the corporation's reach a function of the capacity and the appetite of the State agency in each State, so credit access is uneven for reasons that lie outside the corporation's own design, and an answer about economic mobility must say so.
11. The post-matriculation scholarship as a verified official anchor: The Department of Social Justice and Empowerment's own scheme page for the post-matric scholarship for students belonging to the Scheduled Castes, read on 2 September 2026, records that the objective of the scheme is to appreciably increase the gross enrolment ratio of Scheduled Caste students in higher education with a focus on those from the poorest households by providing financial assistance at the post-matriculation or post-secondary stage to enable them to complete their education; the same page records that the scholarships are available for studies in India only, that awardees are selected by the State Government or Union Territory to which the applicant actually belongs according to the domicile terms decided by that State, that the scheme applies both to current beneficiaries and to fresh admissions, and that the complete guidelines were revised in March 2021 and are published on that page; nothing beyond those recorded statements is claimed, and no coverage, disbursement or beneficiary count is asserted.
12. The commission for Scheduled Castes is a constitutional body: The National Commission for Scheduled Castes exists under Article 338 of the Constitution and is therefore a constitutional body whose duties to investigate and monitor safeguards, to inquire into specific complaints and to advise on planning and socio-economic development are entrenched in the Constitution itself, which distinguishes it sharply from a statutory commission created by ordinary legislation such as the women's commission; the owners deliberately do not re-teach its composition and detailed mandate because that content belongs to the Polity commissions owner, and they require the cross-link to be stated rather than the material to be duplicated, so an answer here should use the status distinction and route the institutional detail.

13. The 2024 judgment on sub-classification and exactly what it decided: State of Punjab against Davinder Singh, decided on 1 August 2024 by a seven-judge Constitution Bench by a majority of six to one, held that sub-classification within the Scheduled Castes for the purpose of reservation is constitutionally permissible where it is supported by data, and it overruled the earlier decision in E.V. Chinnaiah; the owners then set the boundary of the holding with unusual care, because the judgment does not alter the Presidential List of Scheduled Castes, does not itself allot any sub-quota to any group and does not direct any State to sub-classify, so what it grants is constitutional permission for an evidence-based State measure and nothing more.
14. The creamy-layer observations were separate opinions and not a rule: The owners record that observations about applying a creamy-layer style filter to the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes appeared in separate opinions in the 2024 judgment and were not part of the binding holding, and that no general creamy-layer exclusion for those categories has been legislated; the discipline that follows is that the existing creamy-layer rule for other backward classes must not be transplanted in an answer, and that a candidate who writes that the Supreme Court has introduced a creamy layer for the Scheduled Castes has converted an obiter discussion into a legislated rule, which is exactly the status error this folder exists to prevent.
15. Within-category heterogeneity and why flat schemes may miss the worst off: The owners insist that the Scheduled Castes are not a monolithic category, because some sub-castes face substantially greater disadvantage than others and manual-scavenging communities are named as a boundary case carrying stigma and occupational hazard beyond general Scheduled Caste disadvantage; the policy consequence is that a scheme designed for the category as a whole may be captured disproportionately by the relatively better-placed sub-groups, so the model-village, hostel and credit channels can be fully implemented and still leave the worst-off communities untouched, and the sanitation-worker rehabilitation route belongs to the manual-scavenging owner.
16. The political-economy trade-off of sub-classification: The owners set out three considerations that any sub-classification answer must hold together: the opportunity, which is that sub-classification addresses within-category inequality and prevents relatively advanced sub-castes from capturing a disproportionate share of benefits; the risk, which is that it may fragment Scheduled Caste political unity and weaken collective bargaining power while State-level politics exploits sub-caste divisions for electoral purposes; and the empirical requirement, which is that any classification must be justified by backwardness and representation data for each sub-group, failing which it is arbitrary and legally vulnerable; the owners add that the judgment permits but does not mandate the measure, so a State's inaction is not itself unconstitutional.
17. What registered atrocity data measure and what they do not: The National Crime Records Bureau publishes registered atrocity cases under the Act in its annual crime report, and the owners record it as the primary official source while stating its limits explicitly: it counts cases that entered the system, so a rise may reflect rising victimisation, improving reporting or both, and under-reporting driven by social pressure, fear of retaliation and police reluctance depresses registration, with registration practice varying across States; the owners add that a conviction figure must be read together with pendency, investigation quality and witness vulnerability, so a bare conviction rate is not evidence about the incidence of atrocity, and any current figure must be cited with its year and its denominator.
18. The scale anchor and how to use it: The owners carry one dated scale anchor, namely that the Scheduled Castes formed 16.6 per cent of India's population in the 2011 Census, and they attach the instruction that current atrocity data be used only with the year and denominator attached; the analytical use of a population share is to convert an absolute count into a rate and to make a representation claim about seats, services or budget shares meaningful, and its limit is that a share measured in 2011 is a dated denominator which must not be silently applied to a later count without saying so.
19. Intersectionality and the mobility argument: The owners record two analytical claims that turn a protection answer into a justice answer. First, Dalit women face caste discrimination, gender-based violence and economic dependence at the same time, so an intersectional case cannot be resolved by an atrocity remedy alone or by a gender remedy alone. Second, mobility has an entry side and a conversion side: reservation, scholarships and credit widen entry, while discrimination, landlessness, occupational segregation and violence constrain the conversion of entry into income, assets and standing; the answer-writing consequence is that a recommendation must say which side it operates on, because an entry instrument does not repair a conversion failure.

20. The zero-direct-PYQ audit stated openly: The audited routing ledgers, which cover the Mains papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025 and the Prelims papers for 2018 to 2023 and 2024 to 2025, route no Mains demand and no objective demand to this owner, and that absence is reported here rather than concealed or filled with a manufactured demand card; the neighbouring 2018 General Studies Paper II demand on the Scheduled Caste commission and reservation in minority institutions is routed to the Polity commissions owner, the tribal demands are routed to the Indian Society and Modern History owners, and the Scheduled Area and Fifth Schedule objective demands are routed to the Polity owner, so none of them is claimed here; the practice in this package is therefore six original Mains questions with model solutions written to the repository's examiner-grade standard, and the 2024 sub-classification judgment is treated as a current anchor for a future demand rather than as evidence that a demand already exists.

Scheduled Castes: Rights, Atrocities and Welfare: CLOSE-OPTION AND ENTITLEMENT TRAPS

- Do not treat an untouchability offence and an atrocity as the same route, because the Protection of Civil Rights Act, 1955 and the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 are separate statutes.
- Do not describe the atrocities statute as a general law-and-order provision, because the identity of the victim, the identity of the accused and the listed nature of the act are what make an offence an atrocity.
- Do not confine the offence list to physical violence, because the 2015 amendment expanded it to include acts such as garlanding with footwear and preventing entry to public places.
- Do not state that an Exclusive Special Court exists automatically in every district, because such courts are notified by States under the conditions of the Act and with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the concerned High Court.
- Do not lower the investigation rank, because the owners record investigation by an officer of the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police or above.
- Do not say the 2018 amendment implemented a Supreme Court direction, because Section 18A was inserted to override a ruling that had diluted arrest and anticipatory-bail provisions.
- Do not omit the third step of the sequence, because Prathvi Raj Chauhan in 2020 upheld Section 18A while preserving an exceptional constitutional-court remedy where no prima facie case is disclosed.
- Do not describe the umbrella development framework as an automatic individual scholarship or loan entitlement, because its channels are model-village development, approved district and State socio-economic projects and hostel support driven by State proposals.
- Do not attribute every ministry scheme for Scheduled Castes to that umbrella framework, because the credit corporation and the post-matriculation scholarship are distinct routes with their own eligibility rules.
- Do not describe the credit corporation as lending directly to beneficiaries, because it operates through State channelising agencies.
- Do not state a coverage, disbursement or beneficiary count for the post-matriculation scholarship, because the verified official page records the objective, the stage, the territorial limit, the selection authority and the guideline revision date and nothing more.
- Do not call the National Commission for Scheduled Castes a statutory body, because it exists under Article 338 of the Constitution.
- Do not say the 2024 judgment created a sub-quota or altered the Presidential List, because it held data-supported sub-classification constitutionally permissible and overruled the earlier contrary decision without itself allotting anything.
- Do not say the 2024 judgment mandates sub-classification, because it permits an evidence-based State measure and does not direct any State to adopt one.
- Do not present a creamy-layer exclusion for the Scheduled Castes as legislated, because those observations appeared in separate opinions and are not the binding holding.

- Do not treat the Scheduled Castes as a homogeneous category, because the owners record that some sub-castes, including manual-scavenging communities, face substantially greater disadvantage than others.
- Do not read registered atrocity data as prevalence, because registration reflects reporting behaviour, police practice and State-level variation as well as the underlying rate.
- Do not cite a conviction rate on its own, because it must be read together with pendency, investigation quality and witness vulnerability.
- Do not apply the 16.6 per cent population share from the 2011 Census to a later count without stating that the denominator is dated.
- Do not manufacture a previous-year demand card for this topic, because the audited ledgers route no Mains or objective demand to this owner for the covered years.

Scheduled Castes: Rights, Atrocities and Welfare: ANSWER-WRITING SPINE

NAME THE DEPRIVATION OR CLAIM -> IDENTIFY THE RIGHT-HOLDER AND THE DUTY-BEARER
 -> SEPARATE THE CONSTITUTIONAL OR STATUTORY ENTITLEMENT FROM THE SCHEME THAT CARRIES IT
 -> TRACE ADMINISTRATIVE DELIVERY: IDENTIFICATION, ENROLMENT, ACCESS, QUALITY
 -> TEST THE MEASURED OUTCOME AGAINST THE INPUT, NAMING SURVEY, ROUND AND YEAR
 -> SEPARATE INCLUSION ERROR FROM EXCLUSION ERROR AND COVERAGE FROM CAPABILITY
 -> CLOSE WITH A GRADED VERDICT AND AN EXPLICIT INDICATOR OR STATUS CAVEAT

Scheduled Castes: Rights, Atrocities and Welfare: DATED-INDICATOR AND STATUS BOUNDARY

One live official page was verified for this topic on 2026-09-02. The Department of Social Justice and Empowerment's own scheme page for the post-matric scholarship for students belonging to the Scheduled Castes, read on that date, records that the objective of the scheme is to appreciably increase the gross enrolment ratio of Scheduled Caste students in higher education with a focus on those from the poorest households by providing financial assistance at the post-matriculation or post-secondary stage to enable them to complete their education; that the scholarships are available for studies in India only; that awardees are selected by the State Government or Union Territory to which the applicant actually belongs according to the terms of domicile decided by that State; that the scheme applies to students who are currently beneficiaries as well as to fresh admissions; and that the complete scheme guidelines, revised in March 2021, are published on that page. Those statements are used only for what they say, and no coverage, disbursement, beneficiary or enrolment figure is inferred from them. Three further official checks were attempted on the same date, namely a ministry scheme identifier that returned a not-found page, a second ministry identifier that returned the same not-found page and a departmental landing page that returned navigational content only, so nothing was read or used from them and no secondary summary, coaching site or news report has been treated as an official source. The package therefore relies on the dated official anchors already carried by the repository owners, each cited with its issuing instrument or decision date: Articles 14 to 17, 23, 46, 330, 332 and 338 of the Constitution; the Protection of Civil Rights Act, 1955; the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 with its Special Court, victim-relief and presumption architecture and the Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Rules, 1995 as amended; the 2015 amendment expanding the offence list, strengthening victim and witness rights and creating the Special and Exclusive Special Court architecture notified by States with the concurrence of the Chief Justice of the concerned High Court; the 2018 amendment inserting Section 18A to remove the preliminary-inquiry and arrest-approval requirements and to restore the statutory bar on anticipatory bail, which overrode rather than implemented the judicial reading of that year, and the 2020 decision in Prathvi Raj Chauhan upholding Section 18A while preserving an exceptional constitutional-court remedy where no prima facie case is disclosed; the umbrella Scheduled Caste development framework of the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment with its model-village, approved district and State project and hostel-support channels; the National Scheduled Castes Finance and Development Corporation as a Government of India company lending through State channelising agencies; the decision in State of Punjab against Davinder Singh of 1 August 2024, a seven-judge Constitution Bench decision by a majority of six to one, which permitted data-supported sub-classification within the Scheduled Castes and overruled E.V. Chinnaiah without altering the Presidential List or allotting any sub-quota, and whose creamy-layer observations appeared in separate opinions and are not a legislated rule; the National Crime Records Bureau annual crime report as the primary official source for registered atrocity cases, with its recorded under-reporting and registration-practice limits; and the 2011 Census share of 16.6 per cent of India's population. No atrocity count, registration, pendency, conviction, disposal, beneficiary, sanction, loan, budget or expenditure figure is asserted, no National Family Health Survey, Periodic Labour Force Survey, NITI Aayog or

Sustainable Development Goal value is asserted, no legal or constitutional provision is invented or upgraded in status, no judicial observation is converted into a binding holding or a legislated rule, and no previous-year question, official answer key or option is asserted or inferred.

COMPLETE TOPIC ASCII MASTER FLOW DIAGRAM

High-yield use: Follow the panels as one topic-specific conceptual atlas: root question, classifications, processes or arguments, comparisons, objections and a final answer-writing spine. This text-native master is separate from both graphical flowchart artifacts.

ASCII MASTER FLOW - PANEL 1/12: Two channels

DEPRIVATION -> caste-based offence or caste-based exclusion from opportunity
-> PROTECTION CHANNEL: atrocities statute 1989; Special Court; relief under the 1995 Rules
-> DELIVERY CHANNEL: umbrella development framework; credit corporation; scholarship
-> OUTCOME: safety on one side; assets, education and income on the other TEST -> neither channel repairs the other channel's defect

ASCII MASTER FLOW - PANEL 2/12: Law bank

ARTICLE 17 -> abolishes untouchability; its practice is an offence
ARTICLE 23 -> prohibits forced labour and trafficking in human beings
ARTICLE 46 -> special care for educational and economic interests of weaker sections
ARTICLES 330 AND 332 -> reserved seats in the House of the People and State Assemblies
ARTICLE 338 -> the constitutional commission for the Scheduled Castes

ASCII MASTER FLOW - PANEL 3/12: Offence conversion test

ORDINARY OFFENCE -> the act alone, under the general penal law
ATROCITY -> the act is listed in the Schedule to the 1989 Act
AND -> the victim belongs to a Scheduled Caste or Scheduled Tribe
AND -> the accused does not belong to those categories
SCOPE -> assault, dispossession, forced labour, sexual exploitation, public humiliation

ASCII MASTER FLOW - PANEL 4/12: Procedural chain

FIRST INFORMATION REPORT -> registered for a listed atrocity offence
-> INVESTIGATION by an officer of the rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police or above
-> TRIAL in a State-notified Special Court with a Special Public Prosecutor
-> RELIEF: monetary compensation, shelter and travel expenses under the 1995 Rules DIAGNOSIS -> name the failing joint instead of condemning the whole statute

ASCII MASTER FLOW - PANEL 5/12: Amendment sequence

1989 -> special law with enhanced penalties, Special Courts and victim relief 2015 -> offence list expanded; victim and witness rights strengthened; court architecture
2018 RULING -> arrest and anticipatory-bail protection under the Act diluted
2018 AMENDMENT -> Section 18A restores the position and overrides that reading
2020 -> Prathvi Raj Chauhan upholds Section 18A with a narrow prima-facie safeguard

ASCII MASTER FLOW - PANEL 6/12: Court notification caution

DESIGN -> Special Courts and Exclusive Special Courts under the 2015 architecture
REALITY -> notified by States under the Act's conditions
CONCURRENCE -> with the Chief Justice of the concerned High Court ERROR -> assuming one Exclusive Special Court exists in every district
USE -> treat court availability as a State-specific fact to be verified

ASCII MASTER FLOW - PANEL 7/12: Delivery channels

UMBRELLA FRAMEWORK -> Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment
CHANNEL 1 -> development of Scheduled Caste dominated villages, model-village component
CHANNEL 2 -> grants for approved district and State socio-economic development projects
CHANNEL 3 -> hostel support in higher educational institutions
LIMIT -> State proposals and annual approvals decide delivery; no individual entitlement

ASCII MASTER FLOW - PANEL 8/12: Credit and scholarship card

CREDIT CORPORATION -> Government of India company under the social justice ministry INSTRUMENTS -> term loans, micro-credit and skill-development finance
ROUTE -> delivered through State channelising agencies, not directly to a borrower SCHOLARSHIP OBJECTIVE -> raise the gross enrolment ratio of Scheduled Caste students SCOPE -> post-matriculation stage, studies in India only, State of domicile selects

ASCII MASTER FLOW - PANEL 9/12: Judgment boundary box

HELD -> data-supported sub-classification within the Scheduled Castes is permissible
OVERRULED -> the earlier contrary decision on sub-classification
DOES NOT -> alter the Presidential List of Scheduled Castes
DOES NOT -> itself allot any sub-quota or direct any State to sub-classify
NOT THE HOLDING -> creamy-layer observations in separate opinions; nothing legislated

ASCII MASTER FLOW - PANEL 10/12: Targeting trade-off

OPPORTUNITY -> reaches sub-groups that a category-wide scheme systematically misses RISK -> fragments collective bargaining power; open to electoral exploitation
REQUIREMENT -> backwardness and representation data for each sub-group CONSEQUENCE -> a classification without evidence is arbitrary and legally vulnerable
STATUS -> the judgment permits; it does not mandate, so inaction is not unconstitutional

ASCII MASTER FLOW - PANEL 11/12: Data discipline

REGISTERED CASES -> cases that entered the system in a given reporting year
SUPPRESSORS -> social pressure, fear of retaliation, police reluctance, State variation CONVICTION -> must be read with pendency, investigation quality, witness vulnerability
SCALE ANCHOR -> Scheduled Castes were 16.6 per cent of the population in the 2011 Census RULE -> attach the year and the denominator to every figure used

ASCII MASTER FLOW - PANEL 12/12: Entry against conversion

ENTRY SIDE -> reservation, post-matriculation scholarship, concessional credit CONVERSION SIDE -> discrimination, landlessness, occupational segregation, violence
INTERSECTION -> Dalit women face caste, gender-based violence and economic dependence RULE -> an entry instrument does not repair a conversion failure OWNERSHIP -> no Mains or objective demand is routed here and none is manufactured