

SOLVED PRACTICE WORKBOOK

Cold War End and New World Order - Solved Practice Workbook

UPSC complete learning session | Foundation to advanced | Concepts, evidence, practice and answer writing

Original deterministic study visual; labels are explanatory, not textual quotations.

Source order: repository knowledge -> official current linkage -> clearly marked analysis. No fabricated PYQs or statistics.

CONTENTS / WORKBOOK INDEX

Major learning parts and meaningful subtopics are listed in document order. Page numbers are generated from the final PDF layout; PDF bookmarks mirror the same hierarchy.

Cold War End and New World Order - Solved Practice Workbook 5

BASIC MCQS / REMEDIATION 5

Q1. Which statement correctly identifies Gorbachev comes to power, 1985?	5
Q2. Which chronology card should be filed under Gorbachev comes to power, 1985?	5
Q3. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Gorbachev comes to power, 1985?	5
Q4. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Gorbachev comes to power, 1985?	5
Q5. Which statement correctly identifies Economic stagnation?	5
Q6. Which chronology card should be filed under Economic stagnation?	6
Q7. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Economic stagnation?	6
Q8. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Economic stagnation?	6
Q9. Which statement correctly identifies Glasnost and perestroika?	6
Q10. Which chronology card should be filed under Glasnost and perestroika?	6
Q11. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Glasnost and perestroika?	7
Q12. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Glasnost and perestroika?	7
Q13. Which statement correctly identifies Nationalist pressures?	7
Q14. Which chronology card should be filed under Nationalist pressures?	7
Q15. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Nationalist pressures?	7
Q16. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Nationalist pressures?	8
Q17. Which statement correctly identifies Yeltsin as rival centre?	8
Q18. Which chronology card should be filed under Yeltsin as rival centre?	8
Q19. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Yeltsin as rival centre?	8
Q20. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Yeltsin as rival centre?	8
Q21. Which statement correctly identifies Refusal to use force?	9
Q22. Which chronology card should be filed under Refusal to use force?	9
Q23. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Refusal to use force?	9
Q24. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Refusal to use force?	9
Q25. Which statement correctly identifies Solidarity, August 1988?	9
Q26. Which chronology card should be filed under Solidarity, August 1988?	10
Q27. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Solidarity, August 1988?	10

Q28. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Solidarity, August 1988?	10
Q29. Which statement correctly identifies Eastern European collapse, 1989?	10
Q30. Which chronology card should be filed under Eastern European collapse, 1989?	10
Q31. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Eastern European collapse, 1989?	11
Q32. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Eastern European collapse, 1989?	11
Q33. Which statement correctly identifies USSR breakup, 1991?	11
Q34. Which chronology card should be filed under USSR breakup, 1991?	11
Q35. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of USSR breakup, 1991?	11
Q36. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about USSR breakup, 1991?	12
Q37. Which statement correctly identifies Yugoslav institutional collapse?	12
Q38. Which chronology card should be filed under Yugoslav institutional collapse?	12
Q39. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Yugoslav institutional collapse?	12
Q40. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Yugoslav institutional collapse?	12
Q41. Which statement correctly identifies Bosnia and Dayton, 1995?	13
Q42. Which chronology card should be filed under Bosnia and Dayton, 1995?	13
Q43. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Bosnia and Dayton, 1995?	13
Q44. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Bosnia and Dayton, 1995?	13
Q45. Which statement correctly identifies Kosovo and NATO, 1999?	13
Q46. Which chronology card should be filed under Kosovo and NATO, 1999?	14
Q47. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Kosovo and NATO, 1999?	14
Q48. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Kosovo and NATO, 1999?	14
Q49. Which statement correctly identifies ECSC and Treaty of Rome?	14
Q50. Which chronology card should be filed under ECSC and Treaty of Rome?	14
Q51. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of ECSC and Treaty of Rome?	15
Q52. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about ECSC and Treaty of Rome?	15
Q53. Which statement correctly identifies Enlargement and Maastricht?	15
Q54. Which chronology card should be filed under Enlargement and Maastricht?	15
Q55. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Enlargement and Maastricht?	15
Q56. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Enlargement and Maastricht?	16
Q57. Which statement correctly identifies Eastern enlargement, 2004?	16
Q58. Which chronology card should be filed under Eastern enlargement, 2004?	16
Q59. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Eastern enlargement, 2004?	16

Q60. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Eastern enlargement, 2004?	16
Q61. Which statement correctly identifies US predominance after 1991?	17
Q62. Which chronology card should be filed under US predominance after 1991?	17
Q63. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of US predominance after 1991?	17
Q64. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about US predominance after 1991?	17
Q65. Which statement correctly identifies September 11 and Afghanistan?	17
Q66. Which chronology card should be filed under September 11 and Afghanistan?	18
Q67. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of September 11 and Afghanistan?	18
Q68. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about September 11 and Afghanistan?	18
Q69. Which statement correctly identifies Iraq, 2003?	18
Q70. Which chronology card should be filed under Iraq, 2003?	18
Q71. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Iraq, 2003?	19
Q72. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Iraq, 2003?	19
Q73. Which statement correctly identifies Transnational security?	19
Q74. Which chronology card should be filed under Transnational security?	19
Q75. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Transnational security?	19
Q76. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Transnational security?	20
Q77. Which statement correctly identifies Arab Spring divergence?	20
Q78. Which chronology card should be filed under Arab Spring divergence?	20
Q79. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Arab Spring divergence?	20
Q80. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Arab Spring divergence?	20
PYQS AND ANSWER PRACTICE	21
TRANSPARENT ZERO-DIRECT-PYQ AUDIT	21
ORIGINAL MAINS 1 - 10 MARKS	21
ORIGINAL MAINS 2 - 10 MARKS	22
ORIGINAL MAINS 3 - 15 MARKS	23
ORIGINAL MAINS 4 - 15 MARKS	24
ORIGINAL MAINS 5 - 20 MARKS	25
ORIGINAL MAINS 6 - 20 MARKS	26

Cold War End and New World Order - Solved Practice Workbook

BASIC MCQS / REMEDIATION

Q1. Which statement correctly identifies Gorbachev comes to power, 1985?

A. Gorbachev sought to reform and save the Soviet system rather than deliberately destroy it. B. The command economy's weak efficiency and consumer performance eroded the legitimacy that economic achievement had supplied. C. Political openness and restructuring legalised criticism faster than reform delivered stable economic or institutional improvement. D. Soviet republics moved from autonomy demands toward independence as ideological and central authority weakened.

Answer: A. Explanation: Gorbachev sought to reform and save the Soviet system rather than deliberately destroy it. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q2. Which chronology card should be filed under Gorbachev comes to power, 1985?

A. Soviet republics moved from autonomy demands toward independence as ideological and central authority weakened. B. Gorbachev sought to reform and save the Soviet system rather than deliberately destroy it. C. Boris Yeltsin emerged as a more radical alternative and created an elite power centre outside Gorbachev's cautious reform programme. D. Political openness and restructuring legalised criticism faster than reform delivered stable economic or institutional improvement.

Answer: B. Explanation: Gorbachev sought to reform and save the Soviet system rather than deliberately destroy it. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q3. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Gorbachev comes to power, 1985?

A. Boris Yeltsin emerged as a more radical alternative and created an elite power centre outside Gorbachev's cautious reform programme. B. Soviet republics moved from autonomy demands toward independence as ideological and central authority weakened. C. Gorbachev sought to reform and save the Soviet system rather than deliberately destroy it. D. Gorbachev's decision not to deploy old-style Soviet coercion removed the external guarantee sustaining eastern European communist governments.

Answer: C. Explanation: Gorbachev sought to reform and save the Soviet system rather than deliberately destroy it. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q4. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Gorbachev comes to power, 1985?

A. Gorbachev's decision not to deploy old-style Soviet coercion removed the external guarantee sustaining eastern European communist governments. B. Poland's Solidarity trade union organised mass strikes that forced negotiation, supplying organised social agency from below. C. Boris Yeltsin emerged as a more radical alternative and created an elite power centre outside Gorbachev's cautious reform programme. D. Gorbachev sought to reform and save the Soviet system rather than deliberately destroy it.

Answer: D. Explanation: Gorbachev sought to reform and save the Soviet system rather than deliberately destroy it. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q5. Which statement correctly identifies Economic stagnation?

A. The command economy's weak efficiency and consumer performance eroded the legitimacy that economic achievement had supplied. B. Political openness and restructuring legalised criticism faster than reform delivered stable economic or institutional improvement. C. Boris Yeltsin emerged as a more radical alternative and created an elite power centre outside Gorbachev's cautious reform programme. D. Soviet republics moved from autonomy demands toward independence as ideological and central authority weakened.

Answer: A. Explanation: The command economy's weak efficiency and consumer performance eroded the legitimacy that economic achievement had supplied. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q6. Which chronology card should be filed under Economic stagnation?

A. Gorbachev's decision not to deploy old-style Soviet coercion removed the external guarantee sustaining eastern European communist governments. B. The command economy's weak efficiency and consumer performance eroded the legitimacy that economic achievement had supplied. C. Soviet republics moved from autonomy demands toward independence as ideological and central authority weakened. D. Boris Yeltsin emerged as a more radical alternative and created an elite power centre outside Gorbachev's cautious reform programme.

Answer: B. Explanation: The command economy's weak efficiency and consumer performance eroded the legitimacy that economic achievement had supplied. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q7. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Economic stagnation?

A. Gorbachev's decision not to deploy old-style Soviet coercion removed the external guarantee sustaining eastern European communist governments. B. Poland's Solidarity trade union organised mass strikes that forced negotiation, supplying organised social agency from below. C. The command economy's weak efficiency and consumer performance eroded the legitimacy that economic achievement had supplied. D. Boris Yeltsin emerged as a more radical alternative and created an elite power centre outside Gorbachev's cautious reform programme.

Answer: C. Explanation: The command economy's weak efficiency and consumer performance eroded the legitimacy that economic achievement had supplied. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q8. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Economic stagnation?

A. Poland's Solidarity trade union organised mass strikes that forced negotiation, supplying organised social agency from below. B. Communist regimes collapsed rapidly when Soviet non-intervention and mobilised domestic opposition converged. C. Gorbachev's decision not to deploy old-style Soviet coercion removed the external guarantee sustaining eastern European communist governments. D. The command economy's weak efficiency and consumer performance eroded the legitimacy that economic achievement had supplied.

Answer: D. Explanation: The command economy's weak efficiency and consumer performance eroded the legitimacy that economic achievement had supplied. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q9. Which statement correctly identifies Glasnost and perestroika?

A. Political openness and restructuring legalised criticism faster than reform delivered stable economic or institutional improvement. B. Soviet republics moved from autonomy demands toward independence as ideological and central authority weakened. C. Gorbachev's decision not to deploy old-style Soviet coercion removed the external guarantee sustaining eastern European communist governments. D. Boris Yeltsin emerged as a more radical alternative and created an elite power centre outside Gorbachev's cautious reform programme.

Answer: A. Explanation: Political openness and restructuring legalised criticism faster than reform delivered stable economic or institutional improvement. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q10. Which chronology card should be filed under Glasnost and perestroika?

A. Gorbachev's decision not to deploy old-style Soviet coercion removed the external guarantee sustaining eastern European communist governments. B. Political openness and restructuring legalised criticism faster than reform delivered stable economic or institutional improvement. C. Boris Yeltsin emerged as a more radical alternative and created an elite power centre outside Gorbachev's cautious reform programme. D. Poland's Solidarity trade union organised mass strikes that forced negotiation, supplying organised social agency from below.

Answer: B. Explanation: Political openness and restructuring legalised criticism faster than reform delivered stable economic or institutional improvement. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q11. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Glasnost and perestroika?

A. Communist regimes collapsed rapidly when Soviet non-intervention and mobilised domestic opposition converged. B. Poland's Solidarity trade union organised mass strikes that forced negotiation, supplying organised social agency from below. C. Political openness and restructuring legalised criticism faster than reform delivered stable economic or institutional improvement. D. Gorbachev's decision not to deploy old-style Soviet coercion removed the external guarantee sustaining eastern European communist governments.

Answer: C. Explanation: Political openness and restructuring legalised criticism faster than reform delivered stable economic or institutional improvement. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q12. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Glasnost and perestroika?

A. Poland's Solidarity trade union organised mass strikes that forced negotiation, supplying organised social agency from below. B. Communist regimes collapsed rapidly when Soviet non-intervention and mobilised domestic opposition converged. C. The Soviet Union broke into separate states in 1991 and Gorbachev resigned. D. Political openness and restructuring legalised criticism faster than reform delivered stable economic or institutional improvement.

Answer: D. Explanation: Political openness and restructuring legalised criticism faster than reform delivered stable economic or institutional improvement. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q13. Which statement correctly identifies Nationalist pressures?

A. Soviet republics moved from autonomy demands toward independence as ideological and central authority weakened. B. Poland's Solidarity trade union organised mass strikes that forced negotiation, supplying organised social agency from below. C. Boris Yeltsin emerged as a more radical alternative and created an elite power centre outside Gorbachev's cautious reform programme. D. Gorbachev's decision not to deploy old-style Soviet coercion removed the external guarantee sustaining eastern European communist governments.

Answer: A. Explanation: Soviet republics moved from autonomy demands toward independence as ideological and central authority weakened. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q14. Which chronology card should be filed under Nationalist pressures?

A. Poland's Solidarity trade union organised mass strikes that forced negotiation, supplying organised social agency from below. B. Soviet republics moved from autonomy demands toward independence as ideological and central authority weakened. C. Communist regimes collapsed rapidly when Soviet non-intervention and mobilised domestic opposition converged. D. Gorbachev's decision not to deploy old-style Soviet coercion removed the external guarantee sustaining eastern European communist governments.

Answer: B. Explanation: Soviet republics moved from autonomy demands toward independence as ideological and central authority weakened. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q15. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Nationalist pressures?

A. Poland's Solidarity trade union organised mass strikes that forced negotiation, supplying organised social agency from below. B. The Soviet Union broke into separate states in 1991 and Gorbachev resigned. C. Soviet republics moved from autonomy demands toward independence as ideological and central authority weakened. D. Communist regimes collapsed rapidly when Soviet non-intervention and mobilised domestic opposition converged.

Answer: C. Explanation: Soviet republics moved from autonomy demands toward independence as ideological and central authority weakened. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q16. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Nationalist pressures?

A. The Soviet Union broke into separate states in 1991 and Gorbachev resigned. B. The end of communist federal authority combined with aggressive nationalism and political leadership choices rather than timeless hatred. C. Communist regimes collapsed rapidly when Soviet non-intervention and mobilised domestic opposition converged. D. Soviet republics moved from autonomy demands toward independence as ideological and central authority weakened.

Answer: D. Explanation: Soviet republics moved from autonomy demands toward independence as ideological and central authority weakened. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q17. Which statement correctly identifies Yeltsin as rival centre?

A. Boris Yeltsin emerged as a more radical alternative and created an elite power centre outside Gorbachev's cautious reform programme. B. Communist regimes collapsed rapidly when Soviet non-intervention and mobilised domestic opposition converged. C. Poland's Solidarity trade union organised mass strikes that forced negotiation, supplying organised social agency from below. D. Gorbachev's decision not to deploy old-style Soviet coercion removed the external guarantee sustaining eastern European communist governments.

Answer: A. Explanation: Boris Yeltsin emerged as a more radical alternative and created an elite power centre outside Gorbachev's cautious reform programme. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q18. Which chronology card should be filed under Yeltsin as rival centre?

A. Communist regimes collapsed rapidly when Soviet non-intervention and mobilised domestic opposition converged. B. Boris Yeltsin emerged as a more radical alternative and created an elite power centre outside Gorbachev's cautious reform programme. C. Poland's Solidarity trade union organised mass strikes that forced negotiation, supplying organised social agency from below. D. The Soviet Union broke into separate states in 1991 and Gorbachev resigned.

Answer: B. Explanation: Boris Yeltsin emerged as a more radical alternative and created an elite power centre outside Gorbachev's cautious reform programme. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q19. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Yeltsin as rival centre?

A. Communist regimes collapsed rapidly when Soviet non-intervention and mobilised domestic opposition converged. B. The Soviet Union broke into separate states in 1991 and Gorbachev resigned. C. Boris Yeltsin emerged as a more radical alternative and created an elite power centre outside Gorbachev's cautious reform programme. D. The end of communist federal authority combined with aggressive nationalism and political leadership choices rather than timeless hatred.

Answer: C. Explanation: Boris Yeltsin emerged as a more radical alternative and created an elite power centre outside Gorbachev's cautious reform programme. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q20. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Yeltsin as rival centre?

A. The Soviet Union broke into separate states in 1991 and Gorbachev resigned. B. Bosnia experienced ethnic cleansing, refugee flows and delayed intervention before the Dayton settlement of 1995. C. The end of communist federal authority combined with aggressive nationalism and political leadership choices rather than timeless hatred. D. Boris Yeltsin emerged as a more radical alternative and created an elite power centre outside Gorbachev's cautious reform programme.

Answer: D. Explanation: Boris Yeltsin emerged as a more radical alternative and created an elite power centre outside Gorbachev's cautious reform programme. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q21. Which statement correctly identifies Refusal to use force?

A. Gorbachev's decision not to deploy old-style Soviet coercion removed the external guarantee sustaining eastern European communist governments. B. The Soviet Union broke into separate states in 1991 and Gorbachev resigned. C. Communist regimes collapsed rapidly when Soviet non-intervention and mobilised domestic opposition converged. D. Poland's Solidarity trade union organised mass strikes that forced negotiation, supplying organised social agency from below.

Answer: A. Explanation: Gorbachev's decision not to deploy old-style Soviet coercion removed the external guarantee sustaining eastern European communist governments. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q22. Which chronology card should be filed under Refusal to use force?

A. The end of communist federal authority combined with aggressive nationalism and political leadership choices rather than timeless hatred. B. Gorbachev's decision not to deploy old-style Soviet coercion removed the external guarantee sustaining eastern European communist governments. C. The Soviet Union broke into separate states in 1991 and Gorbachev resigned. D. Communist regimes collapsed rapidly when Soviet non-intervention and mobilised domestic opposition converged.

Answer: B. Explanation: Gorbachev's decision not to deploy old-style Soviet coercion removed the external guarantee sustaining eastern European communist governments. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q23. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Refusal to use force?

A. The Soviet Union broke into separate states in 1991 and Gorbachev resigned. B. Bosnia experienced ethnic cleansing, refugee flows and delayed intervention before the Dayton settlement of 1995. C. Gorbachev's decision not to deploy old-style Soviet coercion removed the external guarantee sustaining eastern European communist governments. D. The end of communist federal authority combined with aggressive nationalism and political leadership choices rather than timeless hatred.

Answer: C. Explanation: Gorbachev's decision not to deploy old-style Soviet coercion removed the external guarantee sustaining eastern European communist governments. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q24. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Refusal to use force?

A. Bosnia experienced ethnic cleansing, refugee flows and delayed intervention before the Dayton settlement of 1995. B. The Kosovo crisis and NATO intervention in 1999 showed that Yugoslavia's boundary and legitimacy conflicts survived Dayton. C. The end of communist federal authority combined with aggressive nationalism and political leadership choices rather than timeless hatred. D. Gorbachev's decision not to deploy old-style Soviet coercion removed the external guarantee sustaining eastern European communist governments.

Answer: D. Explanation: Gorbachev's decision not to deploy old-style Soviet coercion removed the external guarantee sustaining eastern European communist governments. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q25. Which statement correctly identifies Solidarity, August 1988?

A. Poland's Solidarity trade union organised mass strikes that forced negotiation, supplying organised social agency from below. B. The Soviet Union broke into separate states in 1991 and Gorbachev resigned. C. The end of communist federal authority combined with aggressive nationalism and political leadership choices rather than timeless hatred. D. Communist regimes collapsed rapidly when Soviet non-intervention and mobilised domestic opposition converged.

Answer: A. Explanation: Poland's Solidarity trade union organised mass strikes that forced negotiation, supplying organised social agency from below. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q26. Which chronology card should be filed under Solidarity, August 1988?

A. The Soviet Union broke into separate states in 1991 and Gorbachev resigned. B. Poland's Solidarity trade union organised mass strikes that forced negotiation, supplying organised social agency from below. C. Bosnia experienced ethnic cleansing, refugee flows and delayed intervention before the Dayton settlement of 1995. D. The end of communist federal authority combined with aggressive nationalism and political leadership choices rather than timeless hatred.

Answer: B. Explanation: Poland's Solidarity trade union organised mass strikes that forced negotiation, supplying organised social agency from below. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q27. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Solidarity, August 1988?

A. The end of communist federal authority combined with aggressive nationalism and political leadership choices rather than timeless hatred. B. The Kosovo crisis and NATO intervention in 1999 showed that Yugoslavia's boundary and legitimacy conflicts survived Dayton. C. Poland's Solidarity trade union organised mass strikes that forced negotiation, supplying organised social agency from below. D. Bosnia experienced ethnic cleansing, refugee flows and delayed intervention before the Dayton settlement of 1995.

Answer: C. Explanation: Poland's Solidarity trade union organised mass strikes that forced negotiation, supplying organised social agency from below. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q28. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Solidarity, August 1988?

A. Bosnia experienced ethnic cleansing, refugee flows and delayed intervention before the Dayton settlement of 1995. B. The Kosovo crisis and NATO intervention in 1999 showed that Yugoslavia's boundary and legitimacy conflicts survived Dayton. C. The ECSC of 1951-52 pooled strategic industries, while the 1957 Treaty of Rome created the EEC as a peace and market project. D. Poland's Solidarity trade union organised mass strikes that forced negotiation, supplying organised social agency from below.

Answer: D. Explanation: Poland's Solidarity trade union organised mass strikes that forced negotiation, supplying organised social agency from below. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q29. Which statement correctly identifies Eastern European collapse, 1989?

A. Communist regimes collapsed rapidly when Soviet non-intervention and mobilised domestic opposition converged. B. The end of communist federal authority combined with aggressive nationalism and political leadership choices rather than timeless hatred. C. The Soviet Union broke into separate states in 1991 and Gorbachev resigned. D. Bosnia experienced ethnic cleansing, refugee flows and delayed intervention before the Dayton settlement of 1995.

Answer: A. Explanation: Communist regimes collapsed rapidly when Soviet non-intervention and mobilised domestic opposition converged. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q30. Which chronology card should be filed under Eastern European collapse, 1989?

A. Bosnia experienced ethnic cleansing, refugee flows and delayed intervention before the Dayton settlement of 1995. B. Communist regimes collapsed rapidly when Soviet non-intervention and mobilised domestic opposition converged. C. The Kosovo crisis and NATO intervention in 1999 showed that Yugoslavia's boundary and legitimacy conflicts survived Dayton. D. The end of communist federal authority combined with aggressive nationalism and political leadership choices rather than timeless hatred.

Answer: B. Explanation: Communist regimes collapsed rapidly when Soviet non-intervention and mobilised domestic opposition converged. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q31. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Eastern European collapse, 1989?

A. The ECSC of 1951-52 pooled strategic industries, while the 1957 Treaty of Rome created the EEC as a peace and market project. B. Bosnia experienced ethnic cleansing, refugee flows and delayed intervention before the Dayton settlement of 1995. C. Communist regimes collapsed rapidly when Soviet non-intervention and mobilised domestic opposition converged. D. The Kosovo crisis and NATO intervention in 1999 showed that Yugoslavia's boundary and legitimacy conflicts survived Dayton.

Answer: C. Explanation: Communist regimes collapsed rapidly when Soviet non-intervention and mobilised domestic opposition converged. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q32. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Eastern European collapse, 1989?

A. Britain, Ireland and Denmark joined in 1973; Maastricht was signed in 1992 and entered into force in 1993, deepening political and monetary integration. B. The Kosovo crisis and NATO intervention in 1999 showed that Yugoslavia's boundary and legitimacy conflicts survived Dayton. C. The ECSC of 1951-52 pooled strategic industries, while the 1957 Treaty of Rome created the EEC as a peace and market project. D. Communist regimes collapsed rapidly when Soviet non-intervention and mobilised domestic opposition converged.

Answer: D. Explanation: Communist regimes collapsed rapidly when Soviet non-intervention and mobilised domestic opposition converged. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q33. Which statement correctly identifies USSR breakup, 1991?

A. The Soviet Union broke into separate states in 1991 and Gorbachev resigned. B. The end of communist federal authority combined with aggressive nationalism and political leadership choices rather than timeless hatred. C. The Kosovo crisis and NATO intervention in 1999 showed that Yugoslavia's boundary and legitimacy conflicts survived Dayton. D. Bosnia experienced ethnic cleansing, refugee flows and delayed intervention before the Dayton settlement of 1995.

Answer: A. Explanation: The Soviet Union broke into separate states in 1991 and Gorbachev resigned. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q34. Which chronology card should be filed under USSR breakup, 1991?

A. Bosnia experienced ethnic cleansing, refugee flows and delayed intervention before the Dayton settlement of 1995. B. The Soviet Union broke into separate states in 1991 and Gorbachev resigned. C. The Kosovo crisis and NATO intervention in 1999 showed that Yugoslavia's boundary and legitimacy conflicts survived Dayton. D. The ECSC of 1951-52 pooled strategic industries, while the 1957 Treaty of Rome created the EEC as a peace and market project.

Answer: B. Explanation: The Soviet Union broke into separate states in 1991 and Gorbachev resigned. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q35. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of USSR breakup, 1991?

A. Britain, Ireland and Denmark joined in 1973; Maastricht was signed in 1992 and entered into force in 1993, deepening political and monetary integration. B. The Kosovo crisis and NATO intervention in 1999 showed that Yugoslavia's boundary and legitimacy conflicts survived Dayton. C. The Soviet Union broke into separate states in 1991 and Gorbachev resigned. D. The ECSC of 1951-52 pooled strategic industries, while the 1957 Treaty of Rome created the EEC as a peace and market project.

Answer: C. Explanation: The Soviet Union broke into separate states in 1991 and Gorbachev resigned. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q36. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about USSR breakup, 1991?

A. Britain, Ireland and Denmark joined in 1973; Maastricht was signed in 1992 and entered into force in 1993, deepening political and monetary integration. B. Former communist states entered the European Union in 2004, turning integration into part of the institutional settlement of the Cold War's end. C. The ECSC of 1951-52 pooled strategic industries, while the 1957 Treaty of Rome created the EEC as a peace and market project. D. The Soviet Union broke into separate states in 1991 and Gorbachev resigned.

Answer: D. Explanation: The Soviet Union broke into separate states in 1991 and Gorbachev resigned. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q37. Which statement correctly identifies Yugoslav institutional collapse?

A. The end of communist federal authority combined with aggressive nationalism and political leadership choices rather than timeless hatred. B. Bosnia experienced ethnic cleansing, refugee flows and delayed intervention before the Dayton settlement of 1995. C. The ECSC of 1951-52 pooled strategic industries, while the 1957 Treaty of Rome created the EEC as a peace and market project. D. The Kosovo crisis and NATO intervention in 1999 showed that Yugoslavia's boundary and legitimacy conflicts survived Dayton.

Answer: A. Explanation: The end of communist federal authority combined with aggressive nationalism and political leadership choices rather than timeless hatred. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q38. Which chronology card should be filed under Yugoslav institutional collapse?

A. Britain, Ireland and Denmark joined in 1973; Maastricht was signed in 1992 and entered into force in 1993, deepening political and monetary integration. B. The end of communist federal authority combined with aggressive nationalism and political leadership choices rather than timeless hatred. C. The ECSC of 1951-52 pooled strategic industries, while the 1957 Treaty of Rome created the EEC as a peace and market project. D. The Kosovo crisis and NATO intervention in 1999 showed that Yugoslavia's boundary and legitimacy conflicts survived Dayton.

Answer: B. Explanation: The end of communist federal authority combined with aggressive nationalism and political leadership choices rather than timeless hatred. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q39. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Yugoslav institutional collapse?

A. Former communist states entered the European Union in 2004, turning integration into part of the institutional settlement of the Cold War's end. B. The ECSC of 1951-52 pooled strategic industries, while the 1957 Treaty of Rome created the EEC as a peace and market project. C. The end of communist federal authority combined with aggressive nationalism and political leadership choices rather than timeless hatred. D. Britain, Ireland and Denmark joined in 1973; Maastricht was signed in 1992 and entered into force in 1993, deepening political and monetary integration.

Answer: C. Explanation: The end of communist federal authority combined with aggressive nationalism and political leadership choices rather than timeless hatred. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q40. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Yugoslav institutional collapse?

A. Britain, Ireland and Denmark joined in 1973; Maastricht was signed in 1992 and entered into force in 1993, deepening political and monetary integration. B. The United States appeared as the sole superpower, producing unipolar capability without automatic international legitimacy. C. Former communist states entered the European Union in 2004, turning integration into part of the institutional settlement of the Cold War's end. D. The end of communist federal authority combined with aggressive nationalism and political leadership choices rather than timeless hatred.

Answer: D. Explanation: The end of communist federal authority combined with aggressive nationalism and political leadership choices rather than timeless hatred. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q41. Which statement correctly identifies Bosnia and Dayton, 1995?

A. Bosnia experienced ethnic cleansing, refugee flows and delayed intervention before the Dayton settlement of 1995. B. The Kosovo crisis and NATO intervention in 1999 showed that Yugoslavia's boundary and legitimacy conflicts survived Dayton. C. Britain, Ireland and Denmark joined in 1973; Maastricht was signed in 1992 and entered into force in 1993, deepening political and monetary integration. D. The ECSC of 1951-52 pooled strategic industries, while the 1957 Treaty of Rome created the EEC as a peace and market project.

Answer: A. Explanation: Bosnia experienced ethnic cleansing, refugee flows and delayed intervention before the Dayton settlement of 1995. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q42. Which chronology card should be filed under Bosnia and Dayton, 1995?

A. The ECSC of 1951-52 pooled strategic industries, while the 1957 Treaty of Rome created the EEC as a peace and market project. B. Bosnia experienced ethnic cleansing, refugee flows and delayed intervention before the Dayton settlement of 1995. C. Former communist states entered the European Union in 2004, turning integration into part of the institutional settlement of the Cold War's end. D. Britain, Ireland and Denmark joined in 1973; Maastricht was signed in 1992 and entered into force in 1993, deepening political and monetary integration.

Answer: B. Explanation: Bosnia experienced ethnic cleansing, refugee flows and delayed intervention before the Dayton settlement of 1995. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q43. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Bosnia and Dayton, 1995?

A. The United States appeared as the sole superpower, producing unipolar capability without automatic international legitimacy. B. Britain, Ireland and Denmark joined in 1973; Maastricht was signed in 1992 and entered into force in 1993, deepening political and monetary integration. C. Bosnia experienced ethnic cleansing, refugee flows and delayed intervention before the Dayton settlement of 1995. D. Former communist states entered the European Union in 2004, turning integration into part of the institutional settlement of the Cold War's end.

Answer: C. Explanation: Bosnia experienced ethnic cleansing, refugee flows and delayed intervention before the Dayton settlement of 1995. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q44. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Bosnia and Dayton, 1995?

A. The 11 September 2001 attacks prompted a US-led war on terror and attack on the Taliban regime sheltering al-Qaeda. B. The United States appeared as the sole superpower, producing unipolar capability without automatic international legitimacy. C. Former communist states entered the European Union in 2004, turning integration into part of the institutional settlement of the Cold War's end. D. Bosnia experienced ethnic cleansing, refugee flows and delayed intervention before the Dayton settlement of 1995.

Answer: D. Explanation: Bosnia experienced ethnic cleansing, refugee flows and delayed intervention before the Dayton settlement of 1995. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q45. Which statement correctly identifies Kosovo and NATO, 1999?

A. The Kosovo crisis and NATO intervention in 1999 showed that Yugoslavia's boundary and legitimacy conflicts survived Dayton. B. The ECSC of 1951-52 pooled strategic industries, while the 1957 Treaty of Rome created the EEC as a peace and market project. C. Former communist states entered the European Union in 2004, turning integration into part of the institutional settlement of the Cold War's end. D. Britain, Ireland and Denmark joined in 1973; Maastricht was signed in 1992 and entered into force in 1993, deepening political and monetary integration.

Answer: A. Explanation: The Kosovo crisis and NATO intervention in 1999 showed that Yugoslavia's boundary and legitimacy conflicts survived Dayton. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q46. Which chronology card should be filed under Kosovo and NATO, 1999?

A. Britain, Ireland and Denmark joined in 1973; Maastricht was signed in 1992 and entered into force in 1993, deepening political and monetary integration. B. The Kosovo crisis and NATO intervention in 1999 showed that Yugoslavia's boundary and legitimacy conflicts survived Dayton. C. Former communist states entered the European Union in 2004, turning integration into part of the institutional settlement of the Cold War's end. D. The United States appeared as the sole superpower, producing unipolar capability without automatic international legitimacy.

Answer: B. Explanation: The Kosovo crisis and NATO intervention in 1999 showed that Yugoslavia's boundary and legitimacy conflicts survived Dayton. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q47. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Kosovo and NATO, 1999?

A. The United States appeared as the sole superpower, producing unipolar capability without automatic international legitimacy. B. The 11 September 2001 attacks prompted a US-led war on terror and attack on the Taliban regime sheltering al-Qaeda. C. The Kosovo crisis and NATO intervention in 1999 showed that Yugoslavia's boundary and legitimacy conflicts survived Dayton. D. Former communist states entered the European Union in 2004, turning integration into part of the institutional settlement of the Cold War's end.

Answer: C. Explanation: The Kosovo crisis and NATO intervention in 1999 showed that Yugoslavia's boundary and legitimacy conflicts survived Dayton. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q48. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Kosovo and NATO, 1999?

A. The US-UK invasion without clear Security Council authorisation became the most controversial intervention of the new era and exposed a legitimacy ceiling. B. The United States appeared as the sole superpower, producing unipolar capability without automatic international legitimacy. C. The 11 September 2001 attacks prompted a US-led war on terror and attack on the Taliban regime sheltering al-Qaeda. D. The Kosovo crisis and NATO intervention in 1999 showed that Yugoslavia's boundary and legitimacy conflicts survived Dayton.

Answer: D. Explanation: The Kosovo crisis and NATO intervention in 1999 showed that Yugoslavia's boundary and legitimacy conflicts survived Dayton. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q49. Which statement correctly identifies ECSC and Treaty of Rome?

A. The ECSC of 1951-52 pooled strategic industries, while the 1957 Treaty of Rome created the EEC as a peace and market project. B. Former communist states entered the European Union in 2004, turning integration into part of the institutional settlement of the Cold War's end. C. The United States appeared as the sole superpower, producing unipolar capability without automatic international legitimacy. D. Britain, Ireland and Denmark joined in 1973; Maastricht was signed in 1992 and entered into force in 1993, deepening political and monetary integration.

Answer: A. Explanation: The ECSC of 1951-52 pooled strategic industries, while the 1957 Treaty of Rome created the EEC as a peace and market project. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q50. Which chronology card should be filed under ECSC and Treaty of Rome?

A. The 11 September 2001 attacks prompted a US-led war on terror and attack on the Taliban regime sheltering al-Qaeda. B. The ECSC of 1951-52 pooled strategic industries, while the 1957 Treaty of Rome created the EEC as a peace and market project. C. Former communist states entered the European Union in 2004, turning integration into part of the institutional settlement of the Cold War's end. D. The United States appeared as the sole superpower, producing unipolar capability without automatic international legitimacy.

Answer: B. Explanation: The ECSC of 1951-52 pooled strategic industries, while the 1957 Treaty of Rome created the EEC as a peace and market project. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q51. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of ECSC and Treaty of Rome?

A. The United States appeared as the sole superpower, producing unipolar capability without automatic international legitimacy. B. The US-UK invasion without clear Security Council authorisation became the most controversial intervention of the new era and exposed a legitimacy ceiling. C. The ECSC of 1951-52 pooled strategic industries, while the 1957 Treaty of Rome created the EEC as a peace and market project. D. The 11 September 2001 attacks prompted a US-led war on terror and attack on the Taliban regime sheltering al-Qaeda.

Answer: C. Explanation: The ECSC of 1951-52 pooled strategic industries, while the 1957 Treaty of Rome created the EEC as a peace and market project. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q52. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about ECSC and Treaty of Rome?

A. The US-UK invasion without clear Security Council authorisation became the most controversial intervention of the new era and exposed a legitimacy ceiling. B. The 11 September 2001 attacks prompted a US-led war on terror and attack on the Taliban regime sheltering al-Qaeda. C. Terrorism and dispersed armed networks made post-Cold-War threats less exclusively state-centred. D. The ECSC of 1951-52 pooled strategic industries, while the 1957 Treaty of Rome created the EEC as a peace and market project.

Answer: D. Explanation: The ECSC of 1951-52 pooled strategic industries, while the 1957 Treaty of Rome created the EEC as a peace and market project. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q53. Which statement correctly identifies Enlargement and Maastricht?

A. Britain, Ireland and Denmark joined in 1973; Maastricht was signed in 1992 and entered into force in 1993, deepening political and monetary integration. B. The United States appeared as the sole superpower, producing unipolar capability without automatic international legitimacy. C. Former communist states entered the European Union in 2004, turning integration into part of the institutional settlement of the Cold War's end. D. The 11 September 2001 attacks prompted a US-led war on terror and attack on the Taliban regime sheltering al-Qaeda.

Answer: A. Explanation: Britain, Ireland and Denmark joined in 1973; Maastricht was signed in 1992 and entered into force in 1993, deepening political and monetary integration. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q54. Which chronology card should be filed under Enlargement and Maastricht?

A. The US-UK invasion without clear Security Council authorisation became the most controversial intervention of the new era and exposed a legitimacy ceiling. B. Britain, Ireland and Denmark joined in 1973; Maastricht was signed in 1992 and entered into force in 1993, deepening political and monetary integration. C. The 11 September 2001 attacks prompted a US-led war on terror and attack on the Taliban regime sheltering al-Qaeda. D. The United States appeared as the sole superpower, producing unipolar capability without automatic international legitimacy.

Answer: B. Explanation: Britain, Ireland and Denmark joined in 1973; Maastricht was signed in 1992 and entered into force in 1993, deepening political and monetary integration. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q55. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Enlargement and Maastricht?

A. The 11 September 2001 attacks prompted a US-led war on terror and attack on the Taliban regime sheltering al-Qaeda. B. Terrorism and dispersed armed networks made post-Cold-War threats less exclusively state-centred. C. Britain, Ireland and Denmark joined in 1973; Maastricht was signed in 1992 and entered into force in 1993, deepening political and monetary integration. D. The US-UK invasion without clear Security Council authorisation became the most controversial intervention of the new era and exposed a legitimacy ceiling.

Answer: C. Explanation: Britain, Ireland and Denmark joined in 1973; Maastricht was signed in 1992 and entered into force in 1993, deepening political and monetary integration. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q56. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Enlargement and Maastricht?

A. The US-UK invasion without clear Security Council authorisation became the most controversial intervention of the new era and exposed a legitimacy ceiling. B. Protests began in Tunisia in December 2010 and spread, but different state institutions, armies and external involvement produced sharply divergent outcomes. C. Terrorism and dispersed armed networks made post-Cold-War threats less exclusively state-centred. D. Britain, Ireland and Denmark joined in 1973; Maastricht was signed in 1992 and entered into force in 1993, deepening political and monetary integration.

Answer: D. Explanation: Britain, Ireland and Denmark joined in 1973; Maastricht was signed in 1992 and entered into force in 1993, deepening political and monetary integration. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q57. Which statement correctly identifies Eastern enlargement, 2004?

A. Former communist states entered the European Union in 2004, turning integration into part of the institutional settlement of the Cold War's end. B. The US-UK invasion without clear Security Council authorisation became the most controversial intervention of the new era and exposed a legitimacy ceiling. C. The United States appeared as the sole superpower, producing unipolar capability without automatic international legitimacy. D. The 11 September 2001 attacks prompted a US-led war on terror and attack on the Taliban regime sheltering al-Qaeda.

Answer: A. Explanation: Former communist states entered the European Union in 2004, turning integration into part of the institutional settlement of the Cold War's end. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q58. Which chronology card should be filed under Eastern enlargement, 2004?

A. Terrorism and dispersed armed networks made post-Cold-War threats less exclusively state-centred. B. Former communist states entered the European Union in 2004, turning integration into part of the institutional settlement of the Cold War's end. C. The 11 September 2001 attacks prompted a US-led war on terror and attack on the Taliban regime sheltering al-Qaeda. D. The US-UK invasion without clear Security Council authorisation became the most controversial intervention of the new era and exposed a legitimacy ceiling.

Answer: B. Explanation: Former communist states entered the European Union in 2004, turning integration into part of the institutional settlement of the Cold War's end. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q59. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Eastern enlargement, 2004?

A. Protests began in Tunisia in December 2010 and spread, but different state institutions, armies and external involvement produced sharply divergent outcomes. B. Terrorism and dispersed armed networks made post-Cold-War threats less exclusively state-centred. C. Former communist states entered the European Union in 2004, turning integration into part of the institutional settlement of the Cold War's end. D. The US-UK invasion without clear Security Council authorisation became the most controversial intervention of the new era and exposed a legitimacy ceiling.

Answer: C. Explanation: Former communist states entered the European Union in 2004, turning integration into part of the institutional settlement of the Cold War's end. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q60. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Eastern enlargement, 2004?

A. Protests began in Tunisia in December 2010 and spread, but different state institutions, armies and external involvement produced sharply divergent outcomes. B. Terrorism and dispersed armed networks made post-Cold-War threats less exclusively state-centred. C. Gorbachev sought to reform and save the Soviet system rather than deliberately destroy it. D. Former communist states entered the European Union in 2004, turning integration into part of the institutional settlement of the Cold War's end.

Answer: D. Explanation: Former communist states entered the European Union in 2004, turning integration into part of the institutional settlement of the Cold War's end. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q61. Which statement correctly identifies US predominance after 1991?

A. The United States appeared as the sole superpower, producing unipolar capability without automatic international legitimacy. B. The US-UK invasion without clear Security Council authorisation became the most controversial intervention of the new era and exposed a legitimacy ceiling. C. The 11 September 2001 attacks prompted a US-led war on terror and attack on the Taliban regime sheltering al-Qaeda. D. Terrorism and dispersed armed networks made post-Cold-War threats less exclusively state-centred.

Answer: A. Explanation: The United States appeared as the sole superpower, producing unipolar capability without automatic international legitimacy. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q62. Which chronology card should be filed under US predominance after 1991?

A. Terrorism and dispersed armed networks made post-Cold-War threats less exclusively state-centred. B. The United States appeared as the sole superpower, producing unipolar capability without automatic international legitimacy. C. Protests began in Tunisia in December 2010 and spread, but different state institutions, armies and external involvement produced sharply divergent outcomes. D. The US-UK invasion without clear Security Council authorisation became the most controversial intervention of the new era and exposed a legitimacy ceiling.

Answer: B. Explanation: The United States appeared as the sole superpower, producing unipolar capability without automatic international legitimacy. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q63. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of US predominance after 1991?

A. Gorbachev sought to reform and save the Soviet system rather than deliberately destroy it. B. Terrorism and dispersed armed networks made post-Cold-War threats less exclusively state-centred. C. The United States appeared as the sole superpower, producing unipolar capability without automatic international legitimacy. D. Protests began in Tunisia in December 2010 and spread, but different state institutions, armies and external involvement produced sharply divergent outcomes.

Answer: C. Explanation: The United States appeared as the sole superpower, producing unipolar capability without automatic international legitimacy. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q64. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about US predominance after 1991?

A. The command economy's weak efficiency and consumer performance eroded the legitimacy that economic achievement had supplied. B. Protests began in Tunisia in December 2010 and spread, but different state institutions, armies and external involvement produced sharply divergent outcomes. C. Gorbachev sought to reform and save the Soviet system rather than deliberately destroy it. D. The United States appeared as the sole superpower, producing unipolar capability without automatic international legitimacy.

Answer: D. Explanation: The United States appeared as the sole superpower, producing unipolar capability without automatic international legitimacy. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q65. Which statement correctly identifies September 11 and Afghanistan?

A. The 11 September 2001 attacks prompted a US-led war on terror and attack on the Taliban regime sheltering al-Qaeda. B. The US-UK invasion without clear Security Council authorisation became the most controversial intervention of the new era and exposed a legitimacy ceiling. C. Terrorism and dispersed armed networks made post-Cold-War threats less exclusively state-centred. D. Protests began in Tunisia in December 2010 and spread, but different state institutions, armies and external involvement produced sharply divergent outcomes.

Answer: A. Explanation: The 11 September 2001 attacks prompted a US-led war on terror and attack on the Taliban regime sheltering al-Qaeda. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q66. Which chronology card should be filed under September 11 and Afghanistan?

A. Gorbachev sought to reform and save the Soviet system rather than deliberately destroy it. B. The 11 September 2001 attacks prompted a US-led war on terror and attack on the Taliban regime sheltering al-Qaeda. C. Protests began in Tunisia in December 2010 and spread, but different state institutions, armies and external involvement produced sharply divergent outcomes. D. Terrorism and dispersed armed networks made post-Cold-War threats less exclusively state-centred.

Answer: B. Explanation: The 11 September 2001 attacks prompted a US-led war on terror and attack on the Taliban regime sheltering al-Qaeda. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q67. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of September 11 and Afghanistan?

A. The command economy's weak efficiency and consumer performance eroded the legitimacy that economic achievement had supplied. B. Gorbachev sought to reform and save the Soviet system rather than deliberately destroy it. C. The 11 September 2001 attacks prompted a US-led war on terror and attack on the Taliban regime sheltering al-Qaeda. D. Protests began in Tunisia in December 2010 and spread, but different state institutions, armies and external involvement produced sharply divergent outcomes.

Answer: C. Explanation: The 11 September 2001 attacks prompted a US-led war on terror and attack on the Taliban regime sheltering al-Qaeda. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q68. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about September 11 and Afghanistan?

A. Gorbachev sought to reform and save the Soviet system rather than deliberately destroy it. B. The command economy's weak efficiency and consumer performance eroded the legitimacy that economic achievement had supplied. C. Political openness and restructuring legalised criticism faster than reform delivered stable economic or institutional improvement. D. The 11 September 2001 attacks prompted a US-led war on terror and attack on the Taliban regime sheltering al-Qaeda.

Answer: D. Explanation: The 11 September 2001 attacks prompted a US-led war on terror and attack on the Taliban regime sheltering al-Qaeda. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q69. Which statement correctly identifies Iraq, 2003?

A. The US-UK invasion without clear Security Council authorisation became the most controversial intervention of the new era and exposed a legitimacy ceiling. B. Protests began in Tunisia in December 2010 and spread, but different state institutions, armies and external involvement produced sharply divergent outcomes. C. Gorbachev sought to reform and save the Soviet system rather than deliberately destroy it. D. Terrorism and dispersed armed networks made post-Cold-War threats less exclusively state-centred.

Answer: A. Explanation: The US-UK invasion without clear Security Council authorisation became the most controversial intervention of the new era and exposed a legitimacy ceiling. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q70. Which chronology card should be filed under Iraq, 2003?

A. Gorbachev sought to reform and save the Soviet system rather than deliberately destroy it. B. The US-UK invasion without clear Security Council authorisation became the most controversial intervention of the new era and exposed a legitimacy ceiling. C. Protests began in Tunisia in December 2010 and spread, but different state institutions, armies and external involvement produced sharply divergent outcomes. D. The command economy's weak efficiency and consumer performance eroded the legitimacy that economic achievement had supplied.

Answer: B. Explanation: The US-UK invasion without clear Security Council authorisation became the most controversial intervention of the new era and exposed a legitimacy ceiling. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q71. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Iraq, 2003?

A. Gorbachev sought to reform and save the Soviet system rather than deliberately destroy it. B. The command economy's weak efficiency and consumer performance eroded the legitimacy that economic achievement had supplied. C. The US-UK invasion without clear Security Council authorisation became the most controversial intervention of the new era and exposed a legitimacy ceiling. D. Political openness and restructuring legalised criticism faster than reform delivered stable economic or institutional improvement.

Answer: C. Explanation: The US-UK invasion without clear Security Council authorisation became the most controversial intervention of the new era and exposed a legitimacy ceiling. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q72. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Iraq, 2003?

A. The command economy's weak efficiency and consumer performance eroded the legitimacy that economic achievement had supplied. B. Soviet republics moved from autonomy demands toward independence as ideological and central authority weakened. C. Political openness and restructuring legalised criticism faster than reform delivered stable economic or institutional improvement. D. The US-UK invasion without clear Security Council authorisation became the most controversial intervention of the new era and exposed a legitimacy ceiling.

Answer: D. Explanation: The US-UK invasion without clear Security Council authorisation became the most controversial intervention of the new era and exposed a legitimacy ceiling. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q73. Which statement correctly identifies Transnational security?

A. Terrorism and dispersed armed networks made post-Cold-War threats less exclusively state-centred. B. The command economy's weak efficiency and consumer performance eroded the legitimacy that economic achievement had supplied. C. Protests began in Tunisia in December 2010 and spread, but different state institutions, armies and external involvement produced sharply divergent outcomes. D. Gorbachev sought to reform and save the Soviet system rather than deliberately destroy it.

Answer: A. Explanation: Terrorism and dispersed armed networks made post-Cold-War threats less exclusively state-centred. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q74. Which chronology card should be filed under Transnational security?

A. Political openness and restructuring legalised criticism faster than reform delivered stable economic or institutional improvement. B. Terrorism and dispersed armed networks made post-Cold-War threats less exclusively state-centred. C. Gorbachev sought to reform and save the Soviet system rather than deliberately destroy it. D. The command economy's weak efficiency and consumer performance eroded the legitimacy that economic achievement had supplied.

Answer: B. Explanation: Terrorism and dispersed armed networks made post-Cold-War threats less exclusively state-centred. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q75. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Transnational security?

A. Political openness and restructuring legalised criticism faster than reform delivered stable economic or institutional improvement. B. Soviet republics moved from autonomy demands toward independence as ideological and central authority weakened. C. Terrorism and dispersed armed networks made post-Cold-War threats less exclusively state-centred. D. The command economy's weak efficiency and consumer performance eroded the legitimacy that economic achievement had supplied.

Answer: C. Explanation: Terrorism and dispersed armed networks made post-Cold-War threats less exclusively state-centred. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q76. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Transnational security?

A. Boris Yeltsin emerged as a more radical alternative and created an elite power centre outside Gorbachev's cautious reform programme. B. Soviet republics moved from autonomy demands toward independence as ideological and central authority weakened. C. Political openness and restructuring legalised criticism faster than reform delivered stable economic or institutional improvement. D. Terrorism and dispersed armed networks made post-Cold-War threats less exclusively state-centred.

Answer: D. Explanation: Terrorism and dispersed armed networks made post-Cold-War threats less exclusively state-centred. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q77. Which statement correctly identifies Arab Spring divergence?

A. Protests began in Tunisia in December 2010 and spread, but different state institutions, armies and external involvement produced sharply divergent outcomes. B. Political openness and restructuring legalised criticism faster than reform delivered stable economic or institutional improvement. C. The command economy's weak efficiency and consumer performance eroded the legitimacy that economic achievement had supplied. D. Gorbachev sought to reform and save the Soviet system rather than deliberately destroy it.

Answer: A. Explanation: Protests began in Tunisia in December 2010 and spread, but different state institutions, armies and external involvement produced sharply divergent outcomes. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q78. Which chronology card should be filed under Arab Spring divergence?

A. Soviet republics moved from autonomy demands toward independence as ideological and central authority weakened. B. Protests began in Tunisia in December 2010 and spread, but different state institutions, armies and external involvement produced sharply divergent outcomes. C. Political openness and restructuring legalised criticism faster than reform delivered stable economic or institutional improvement. D. The command economy's weak efficiency and consumer performance eroded the legitimacy that economic achievement had supplied.

Answer: B. Explanation: Protests began in Tunisia in December 2010 and spread, but different state institutions, armies and external involvement produced sharply divergent outcomes. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q79. Which option preserves the source-bounded meaning of Arab Spring divergence?

A. Boris Yeltsin emerged as a more radical alternative and created an elite power centre outside Gorbachev's cautious reform programme. B. Soviet republics moved from autonomy demands toward independence as ideological and central authority weakened. C. Protests began in Tunisia in December 2010 and spread, but different state institutions, armies and external involvement produced sharply divergent outcomes. D. Political openness and restructuring legalised criticism faster than reform delivered stable economic or institutional improvement.

Answer: C. Explanation: Protests began in Tunisia in December 2010 and spread, but different state institutions, armies and external involvement produced sharply divergent outcomes. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

Q80. Which statement avoids a close-option trap about Arab Spring divergence?

A. Soviet republics moved from autonomy demands toward independence as ideological and central authority weakened. B. Boris Yeltsin emerged as a more radical alternative and created an elite power centre outside Gorbachev's cautious reform programme. C. Gorbachev's decision not to deploy old-style Soviet coercion removed the external guarantee sustaining eastern European communist governments. D. Protests began in Tunisia in December 2010 and spread, but different state institutions, armies and external involvement produced sharply divergent outcomes.

Answer: D. Explanation: Protests began in Tunisia in December 2010 and spread, but different state institutions, armies and external involvement produced sharply divergent outcomes. The remaining options belong to different chronology, actor or analytical categories.

PYQS AND ANSWER PRACTICE

TRANSPARENT ZERO-DIRECT-PYQ AUDIT

No direct UPSC PYQ is verified as owned solely by this topic in the local routing blocks. All six Mains demands are original practice.

ORIGINAL MAINS 1 - 10 MARKS

Question: Why was non-use of force decisive in eastern Europe's transformation? Answer in about 150 words.

Model thesis: It removed the Soviet guarantee behind local regimes, allowing organised social opposition such as Solidarity to turn reform opportunity into systemic change.

Claim -> named evidence -> analysis -> qualification:

- Gorbachev's decision not to deploy old-style Soviet coercion removed the external guarantee sustaining eastern European communist governments.
- Poland's Solidarity trade union organised mass strikes that forced negotiation, supplying organised social agency from below.
- Communist regimes collapsed rapidly when Soviet non-intervention and mobilised domestic opposition converged.

Qualified conclusion: It removed the Soviet guarantee behind local regimes, allowing organised social opposition such as Solidarity to turn reform opportunity into systemic change.

Demand decoding: The directive answer requires a direct position on "Why was non-use of force decisive in eastern Europe's transformation? Answer in about 150...", every clause and time boundary, chronological-causal organisation, named evidence, a counter-position and a qualified global verdict.

Detailed examiner-grade model status: The solved content above is the executable answer base. Preserve its thesis, named chronology, spatial evidence, causal mechanism, counter-position and qualification rather than replacing it with a generic narrative.

Executable exam-length answer / compression plan: For a 10-mark answer, open with a two-sentence thesis and a spatial-temporal frame; organise three named events, treaties, actors, regions, institutions or attributed interpretations as claim -> evidence -> analysis -> qualification; reserve the final lines for a graded conclusion.

Why this earns marks: The answer obeys the directive, distinguishes structure, trigger and outcome, connects evidence to mechanism, includes non-European agency and avoids teleology, presentism and monocausal explanation.

How to improve this answer: For "Why was non-use of force decisive in eastern Europe's transformation? Answer in about 150...", replace the weakest generalisation with one additional named treaty, regional case, primary record or attributed scholarly position and state what that evidence cannot prove.

Detailed examiner-grade model answer:

Introduction and thesis: It removed the Soviet guarantee behind local regimes, allowing organised social opposition such as Solidarity to turn reform opportunity into systemic change.

Analytical body:

1. Claim and named evidence: Gorbachev's decision not to deploy old-style Soviet coercion removed the external guarantee sustaining eastern European communist governments. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
2. Claim and named evidence: Poland's Solidarity trade union organised mass strikes that forced negotiation, supplying organised social agency from below. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
3. Claim and named evidence: Communist regimes collapsed rapidly when Soviet non-intervention and mobilised domestic opposition converged. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.

Counter-position / limit: No single actor, battle, treaty, ideology or economic pressure should be made sufficient where the evidence shows interaction among structures, triggers, agency and uneven regional outcomes.

Qualified conclusion: It removed the Soviet guarantee behind local regimes, allowing organised social opposition such as Solidarity to turn reform opportunity into systemic change.

ORIGINAL MAINS 2 - 10 MARKS

Question: How did European integration change after the Cold War? Answer in about 150 words.

Model thesis: A security-through-economics project rooted in the 1950s became a deeper political union and then an enlargement settlement absorbing former communist states.

Claim -> named evidence -> analysis -> qualification:

- The ECSC of 1951-52 pooled strategic industries, while the 1957 Treaty of Rome created the EEC as a peace and market project.
- Britain, Ireland and Denmark joined in 1973; Maastricht was signed in 1992 and entered into force in 1993, deepening political and monetary integration.
- Former communist states entered the European Union in 2004, turning integration into part of the institutional settlement of the Cold War's end.

Qualified conclusion: A security-through-economics project rooted in the 1950s became a deeper political union and then an enlargement settlement absorbing former communist states.

Demand decoding: The directive answer requires a direct position on “How did European integration change after the Cold War? Answer in about 150 words.”, every clause and time boundary, chronological-causal organisation, named evidence, a counter-position and a qualified global verdict.

Detailed examiner-grade model status: The solved content above is the executable answer base. Preserve its thesis, named chronology, spatial evidence, causal mechanism, counter-position and qualification rather than replacing it with a generic narrative.

Executable exam-length answer / compression plan: For a 10-mark answer, open with a two-sentence thesis and a spatial-temporal frame; organise three named events, treaties, actors, regions, institutions or attributed interpretations as claim -> evidence -> analysis -> qualification; reserve the final lines for a graded conclusion.

Why this earns marks: The answer obeys the directive, distinguishes structure, trigger and outcome, connects evidence to mechanism, includes non-European agency and avoids teleology, presentism and monocausal explanation.

How to improve this answer: For “How did European integration change after the Cold War? Answer in about 150 words.”, replace the weakest generalisation with one additional named treaty, regional case, primary record or attributed scholarly position and state what that evidence cannot prove.

Detailed examiner-grade model answer:

Introduction and thesis: A security-through-economics project rooted in the 1950s became a deeper political union and then an enlargement settlement absorbing former communist states.

Analytical body:

1. Claim and named evidence: The ECSC of 1951-52 pooled strategic industries, while the 1957 Treaty of Rome created the EEC as a peace and market project. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
2. Claim and named evidence: Britain, Ireland and Denmark joined in 1973; Maastricht was signed in 1992 and entered into force in 1993, deepening political and monetary integration. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
3. Claim and named evidence: Former communist states entered the European Union in 2004, turning integration into part of the institutional settlement of the Cold War's end. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.

Counter-position / limit: No single actor, battle, treaty, ideology or economic pressure should be made sufficient where the evidence shows interaction among structures, triggers, agency and uneven regional outcomes.

Qualified conclusion: A security-through-economics project rooted in the 1950s became a deeper political union and then an enlargement settlement absorbing former communist states.

ORIGINAL MAINS 3 - 15 MARKS

Question: Why did Soviet communism collapse? Answer in about 250 words.

Model thesis: Stagnation weakened legitimacy, reforms loosened control, nationalism and Yeltsin created alternatives, and non-coercion allowed opposition to prevail.

Claim -> named evidence -> analysis -> qualification:

- Gorbachev sought to reform and save the Soviet system rather than deliberately destroy it.
- The command economy's weak efficiency and consumer performance eroded the legitimacy that economic achievement had supplied.
- Political openness and restructuring legalised criticism faster than reform delivered stable economic or institutional improvement.
- Soviet republics moved from autonomy demands toward independence as ideological and central authority weakened.
- Boris Yeltsin emerged as a more radical alternative and created an elite power centre outside Gorbachev's cautious reform programme.
- Gorbachev's decision not to deploy old-style Soviet coercion removed the external guarantee sustaining eastern European communist governments.

Qualified conclusion: Stagnation weakened legitimacy, reforms loosened control, nationalism and Yeltsin created alternatives, and non-coercion allowed opposition to prevail.

Demand decoding: The directive answer requires a direct position on "Why did Soviet communism collapse? Answer in about 250 words.", every clause and time boundary, chronological-causal organisation, named evidence, a counter-position and a qualified global verdict.

Detailed examiner-grade model status: The solved content above is the executable answer base. Preserve its thesis, named chronology, spatial evidence, causal mechanism, counter-position and qualification rather than replacing it with a generic narrative.

Executable exam-length answer / compression plan: For a 15-mark answer, open with a two-sentence thesis and a spatial-temporal frame; organise five named events, treaties, actors, regions, institutions or attributed interpretations as claim -> evidence -> analysis -> qualification; reserve the final lines for a graded conclusion.

Why this earns marks: The answer obeys the directive, distinguishes structure, trigger and outcome, connects evidence to mechanism, includes non-European agency and avoids teleology, presentism and monocausal explanation.

How to improve this answer: For "Why did Soviet communism collapse? Answer in about 250 words.", replace the weakest generalisation with one additional named treaty, regional case, primary record or attributed scholarly position and state what that evidence cannot prove.

Detailed examiner-grade model answer:

Introduction and thesis: Stagnation weakened legitimacy, reforms loosened control, nationalism and Yeltsin created alternatives, and non-coercion allowed opposition to prevail.

Analytical body:

1. Claim and named evidence: Gorbachev sought to reform and save the Soviet system rather than deliberately destroy it. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.

2. Claim and named evidence: The command economy's weak efficiency and consumer performance eroded the legitimacy that economic achievement had supplied. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
3. Claim and named evidence: Political openness and restructuring legalised criticism faster than reform delivered stable economic or institutional improvement. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
4. Claim and named evidence: Soviet republics moved from autonomy demands toward independence as ideological and central authority weakened. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
5. Claim and named evidence: Boris Yeltsin emerged as a more radical alternative and created an elite power centre outside Gorbachev's cautious reform programme. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
6. Claim and named evidence: Gorbachev's decision not to deploy old-style Soviet coercion removed the external guarantee sustaining eastern European communist governments. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.

Counter-position / limit: No single actor, battle, treaty, ideology or economic pressure should be made sufficient where the evidence shows interaction among structures, triggers, agency and uneven regional outcomes.

Qualified conclusion: Stagnation weakened legitimacy, reforms loosened control, nationalism and Yeltsin created alternatives, and non-coercion allowed opposition to prevail.

ORIGINAL MAINS 4 - 15 MARKS

Question: Why did Yugoslavia break up violently? Answer in about 250 words.

Model thesis: Federal institutional collapse allowed leaders to mobilise ethnic nationalism, while mixed populations, delayed intervention and contested boundaries turned political rivalry into war.

Claim -> named evidence -> analysis -> qualification:

- The end of communist federal authority combined with aggressive nationalism and political leadership choices rather than timeless hatred.
- Bosnia experienced ethnic cleansing, refugee flows and delayed intervention before the Dayton settlement of 1995.
- The Kosovo crisis and NATO intervention in 1999 showed that Yugoslavia's boundary and legitimacy conflicts survived Dayton.

Qualified conclusion: Federal institutional collapse allowed leaders to mobilise ethnic nationalism, while mixed populations, delayed intervention and contested boundaries turned political rivalry into war.

Demand decoding: The directive answer requires a direct position on "Why did Yugoslavia break up violently? Answer in about 250 words.", every clause and time boundary, chronological-causal organisation, named evidence, a counter-position and a qualified global verdict.

Detailed examiner-grade model status: The solved content above is the executable answer base. Preserve its thesis, named chronology, spatial evidence, causal mechanism, counter-position and qualification rather than replacing it with a generic narrative.

Executable exam-length answer / compression plan: For a 15-mark answer, open with a two-sentence thesis and a spatial-temporal frame; organise five named events, treaties, actors, regions, institutions or attributed interpretations as claim -> evidence -> analysis -> qualification; reserve the final lines for a graded conclusion.

Why this earns marks: The answer obeys the directive, distinguishes structure, trigger and outcome, connects evidence to mechanism, includes non-European agency and avoids teleology, presentism and monocausal explanation.

How to improve this answer: For “Why did Yugoslavia break up violently? Answer in about 250 words.”, replace the weakest generalisation with one additional named treaty, regional case, primary record or attributed scholarly position and state what that evidence cannot prove.

Detailed examiner-grade model answer:

Introduction and thesis: Federal institutional collapse allowed leaders to mobilise ethnic nationalism, while mixed populations, delayed intervention and contested boundaries turned political rivalry into war.

Analytical body:

1. Claim and named evidence: The end of communist federal authority combined with aggressive nationalism and political leadership choices rather than timeless hatred. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
2. Claim and named evidence: Bosnia experienced ethnic cleansing, refugee flows and delayed intervention before the Dayton settlement of 1995. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
3. Claim and named evidence: The Kosovo crisis and NATO intervention in 1999 showed that Yugoslavia's boundary and legitimacy conflicts survived Dayton. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.

Counter-position / limit: No single actor, battle, treaty, ideology or economic pressure should be made sufficient where the evidence shows interaction among structures, triggers, agency and uneven regional outcomes.

Qualified conclusion: Federal institutional collapse allowed leaders to mobilise ethnic nationalism, while mixed populations, delayed intervention and contested boundaries turned political rivalry into war.

ORIGINAL MAINS 5 - 20 MARKS

Question: Was there a new world order after 1991? Answer in about 300 words.

Model thesis: US predominance created unipolar capability, but Iraq, terrorism and divided responses exposed the absence of shared legitimacy and stable institutional rules.

Claim -> named evidence -> analysis -> qualification:

- The United States appeared as the sole superpower, producing unipolar capability without automatic international legitimacy.
- The 11 September 2001 attacks prompted a US-led war on terror and attack on the Taliban regime sheltering al-Qaeda.
- The US-UK invasion without clear Security Council authorisation became the most controversial intervention of the new era and exposed a legitimacy ceiling.
- Terrorism and dispersed armed networks made post-Cold-War threats less exclusively state-centred.

Qualified conclusion: US predominance created unipolar capability, but Iraq, terrorism and divided responses exposed the absence of shared legitimacy and stable institutional rules.

Demand decoding: The directive answer requires a direct position on “Was there a new world order after 1991? Answer in about 300 words.”, every clause and time boundary, chronological-causal organisation, named evidence, a counter-position and a qualified global verdict.

Detailed examiner-grade model status: The solved content above is the executable answer base. Preserve its thesis, named chronology, spatial evidence, causal mechanism, counter-position and qualification rather than replacing it with a generic narrative.

Executable exam-length answer / compression plan: For a 20-mark answer, open with a two-sentence thesis and a spatial-temporal frame; organise six to eight named events, treaties, actors, regions, institutions or attributed interpretations as claim -> evidence -> analysis -> qualification; reserve the final lines for a graded conclusion.

Why this earns marks: The answer obeys the directive, distinguishes structure, trigger and outcome, connects evidence to mechanism, includes non-European agency and avoids teleology, presentism and monocausal explanation.

How to improve this answer: For “Was there a new world order after 1991? Answer in about 300 words.”, replace the weakest generalisation with one additional named treaty, regional case, primary record or attributed scholarly position and state what that evidence cannot prove.

Detailed examiner-grade model answer:

Introduction and thesis: US predominance created unipolar capability, but Iraq, terrorism and divided responses exposed the absence of shared legitimacy and stable institutional rules.

Analytical body:

1. Claim and named evidence: The United States appeared as the sole superpower, producing unipolar capability without automatic international legitimacy. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
2. Claim and named evidence: The 11 September 2001 attacks prompted a US-led war on terror and attack on the Taliban regime sheltering al-Qaeda. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
3. Claim and named evidence: The US-UK invasion without clear Security Council authorisation became the most controversial intervention of the new era and exposed a legitimacy ceiling. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
4. Claim and named evidence: Terrorism and dispersed armed networks made post-Cold-War threats less exclusively state-centred. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.

Counter-position / limit: No single actor, battle, treaty, ideology or economic pressure should be made sufficient where the evidence shows interaction among structures, triggers, agency and uneven regional outcomes.

Qualified conclusion: US predominance created unipolar capability, but Iraq, terrorism and divided responses exposed the absence of shared legitimacy and stable institutional rules.

ORIGINAL MAINS 6 - 20 MARKS

Question: Why should 1989-2011 not be read as a linear democratic transition? Answer in about 300 words.

Model thesis: Soviet and eastern European collapse, Yugoslav war, contested intervention and divergent Arab uprisings show outcomes depended on institutions, coercion and external involvement.

Claim -> named evidence -> analysis -> qualification:

- Communist regimes collapsed rapidly when Soviet non-intervention and mobilised domestic opposition converged.
- The Soviet Union broke into separate states in 1991 and Gorbachev resigned.
- The end of communist federal authority combined with aggressive nationalism and political leadership choices rather than timeless hatred.
- The US-UK invasion without clear Security Council authorisation became the most controversial intervention of the new era and exposed a legitimacy ceiling.
- Protests began in Tunisia in December 2010 and spread, but different state institutions, armies and external involvement produced sharply divergent outcomes.

Qualified conclusion: Soviet and eastern European collapse, Yugoslav war, contested intervention and divergent Arab uprisings show outcomes depended on institutions, coercion and external involvement.

Demand decoding: The directive answer requires a direct position on “Why should 1989-2011 not be read as a linear democratic transition? Answer in about 300 words.”, every clause and time boundary, chronological-causal organisation, named evidence, a counter-position and a qualified global verdict.

Detailed examiner-grade model status: The solved content above is the executable answer base. Preserve its thesis, named chronology, spatial evidence, causal mechanism, counter-position and qualification rather than replacing it with a generic narrative.

Executable exam-length answer / compression plan: For a 20-mark answer, open with a two-sentence thesis and a spatial-temporal frame; organise six to eight named events, treaties, actors, regions, institutions or attributed interpretations as claim -> evidence -> analysis -> qualification; reserve the final lines for a graded conclusion.

Why this earns marks: The answer obeys the directive, distinguishes structure, trigger and outcome, connects evidence to mechanism, includes non-European agency and avoids teleology, presentism and monocausal explanation.

How to improve this answer: For “Why should 1989-2011 not be read as a linear democratic transition? Answer in about 300 words.”, replace the weakest generalisation with one additional named treaty, regional case, primary record or attributed scholarly position and state what that evidence cannot prove.

Detailed examiner-grade model answer:

Introduction and thesis: Soviet and eastern European collapse, Yugoslav war, contested intervention and divergent Arab uprisings show outcomes depended on institutions, coercion and external involvement.

Analytical body:

1. Claim and named evidence: Communist regimes collapsed rapidly when Soviet non-intervention and mobilised domestic opposition converged. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
2. Claim and named evidence: The Soviet Union broke into separate states in 1991 and Gorbachev resigned. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
3. Claim and named evidence: The end of communist federal authority combined with aggressive nationalism and political leadership choices rather than timeless hatred. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
4. Claim and named evidence: The US-UK invasion without clear Security Council authorisation became the most controversial intervention of the new era and exposed a legitimacy ceiling. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.
5. Claim and named evidence: Protests began in Tunisia in December 2010 and spread, but different state institutions, armies and external involvement produced sharply divergent outcomes. Analysis: Use this evidence to establish the mechanism asked in the directive, not merely to narrate the event. Qualification: Keep its chronological, regional and interpretive boundary explicit.

Counter-position / limit: No single actor, battle, treaty, ideology or economic pressure should be made sufficient where the evidence shows interaction among structures, triggers, agency and uneven regional outcomes.

Qualified conclusion: Soviet and eastern European collapse, Yugoslav war, contested intervention and divergent Arab uprisings show outcomes depended on institutions, coercion and external involvement.