COMPARATIVE NUANCE

- It is materially subtle and sattva-dominant, so it can reflect consciousness while remaining insentient in itself.
- Bondage occurs when borrowed luminosity is mistaken for intrinsic selfhood.
- The reflection model protects an unchanging Conscious witness (puruṣa): every transformation occurs on the mind-field (citta) side.
- Yet it presupposes an intelligible relation between radically different orders.

OPTIONAL STATUS — This optional depth is unnecessary for a competent core answer; use it only for added nuance after the complete core has been written.
