LWE AS BOUNDARY CASES FOR THE COERCION/SETTLEMENT · NORTH-EAST AS THE CLEAREST "REGIONAL/ETHNIC ASPIRATION" CASE

OPTIONAL DOCTRINE / INSTITUTION DEPTH
- Doctrine-to-institution mapping: political element → political
- CAUTION: Sequencing precedent — Andhra Pradesh's Greyhounds model (LWE)
- Current anchor for institutional status: the MHA Annual Report
- CAUTION: J&K vs. LWE as boundary cases for the coercion/settlement split:

LAW, ATTRIBUTION OR STATUS LIMIT
- CAUTION: North-East as the clearest "regional/ethnic aspiration" case:
- CAUTION: Cyber security as the doctrine's newest, least-institutionalised
- CAUTION: The doctrine does not resolve the security-development sequencing
- CAUTION: Coercion risks legitimacy costs that can outlast the immediate

COMPARATIVE GOVERNANCE / RIGHTS NUANCE
- CAUTION: Centre-State coordination is a standing structural constraint, not
- CAUTION: Evidentiary-level discipline is itself an answer-quality
- NOT: The doctrine is not a substitute for area-specific diagnosis.
- Singh's doctrine names eight elements: political, socio-economic,

OPTIONAL STATUS — This optional depth is unnecessary for a competent core answer; use it only for added nuance after the complete core has been written.
