STATIC THEORY

- India deliberately chose responsibility over stability, so periodic instability is a designed cost of the model rather than proof of its failure — a trade-off the Constituent Assembly accepted knowingly.

- "Prime ministerial government" names a real migration of power within the executive, yet it still operates within, and is checked by, collective responsibility to the Lok Sabha rather than replacing it.

- India has parliamentary government but not parliamentary sovereignty; conflating the two misreads every Indian question about "parliamentary supremacy".

- Anti-defection discipline has stabilised governments at the price of hollowing out the individual legislator's scrutiny role, so the very instrument that cures instability deepens cabinet dominance.

STATIC THEORY

- Escalation to "prime ministerial government": □□ Crossman and Mackintosh argue power has migrated from the cabinet to the PM (once primus inter pares, "first among equals"), aided by control of appointments, the Secretariat and Art 78's PM-to-President channel.

- Executive tools that bypass debate: □ delegated/subordinate legislation, the ordinance power (Art 123), money-bill routing (Art 110) that curtails the Rajya Sabha, and the guillotine on demands for grants.

- Counter-argument (why supremacy survives): □□ collective responsibility (Art 75(3)) still lets the Lok Sabha remove the entire ministry; Departmentally-Related Standing Committees, the Public Accounts Committee fed by the CAG, question hour and judicial review of constitutional limits keep the executive accountable. Cabinet dominance is a fact about practice and scrutiny, not about the constitutional locus of supremacy.

Constitutional spine: Articles 74-75 create the Union aid-and-advice and responsible-ministry structure; Article 78 is the Prime Minister-President information bridge; Article 88 supplies participation rights. Articles 163-164 are the State counterparts, subject to constitutionally conferred gubernatorial discretion. Advice and office: the 42nd Amendment made Article 74 advice binding and the 44th permits one reconsideration, after which reconsidered advice binds. Article 75 separately controls appointment, presidential pleasure, collective responsibility, oath and the six-month non-member rule. Responsibility: the Council is collectively responsible only to the Lok Sabha under Article 75(3). Individual responsibility, collective responsibility and legal responsibility are distinct; no-confidence is a House mechanism and ministerial resignation conventions cannot be presented as express text. Ninety-first Amendment: Article 75(1A) caps Union ministers at fifteen per cent of Lok Sabha strength; Article 75(1B) bars a disqualified defector from ministership. Article 164(1A) applies the State cap with a minimum of twelve. Confidence and dissolution: government survives while it commands Lok Sabha confidence. Dissolution, caretaker practice, floor tests and alternative-government exploration operate through constitutional text plus conventions and judicial controls; the President does not acquire a personal political veto. Owned comparison: this topic alone owns the full parliamentary-presidential comparison: dual/single executive, flexible/fixed tenure, responsibility, legislative membership, dissolution and fusion/separation. India-UK distinctions are republican head, limited Parliament and the Indian PM's eligibility from either House. Practice critique: majority control, whip and the Tenth Schedule, government control of business, delegated legislation, ordinances and money-bill routing explain cabinet dominance; committees, questions, finance control, confidence and judicial review qualify the claim. Current control: the Constitution (129th Amendment) Bill, 2024 was introduced on 17 December 2024 and remains with the Joint Committee on the located official record. Proposed Article 82A is not constitutional law. Four-ledger hostile audit: exact Articles, amendments, conventions, cases, comparative axes, institutional practice and every routed 2018-2026 demand were checked without moving detailed PM/CoM or parliamentary procedure out of their adjacent owners. Verified PYQ ownership: direct 2024 GS-II Q3 and routed 2020/2021 objective demands are preserved; 2018 and 2023 comparative Mains demands remain disclosed cross-owner routes, and unavailable historical keys are not promoted.

INTRO & ORIGIN

□ India adopts a parliamentary form at both Centre (Art 74 & 75) and states (Art 163 & 164). Classification is by executive–legislature relations: in a parliamentary system the executive is responsible to the legislature; in a presidential system the executive is not responsible and has a fixed term, constitutionally independent.

Advanced learning layer: concepts → constitutional detail → UPSC application.

STATIC THEORY

- □ Also called cabinet government / responsible government / Westminster model (Britain, Japan, Canada, India). Presidential = non-responsible / fixed-executive (USA, Brazil). Russia and Sri Lanka are commonly classified as semi-presidential, not pure presidential systems. □ Ivor Jennings → "cabinet system" (cabinet = nucleus of power). □ PM once "primus inter pares" (first among equals); now analysts (Crossman, Mackintosh) call it "prime ministerial government" — true in India too.

KEY DATA

#	Feature	Detail
1	Nominal & real executives	President = nominal/de jure/titular; PM = real/de facto. Art 74 CoM aids & advises President — advice is binding.
2	Majority party rule	Majority party in Lok Sabha forms govt; leader = PM. Coalition if no single majority.
3	Collective responsibility	Bedrock principle (Art 75). CoM collectively responsible to Lok Sabha — a no-confidence motion removes the whole ministry.
4	Political homogeneity	Ministers usually same party/ideology (coalition → bound by consensus).
5	Double membership	Minister must be an MP; if not an MP for 6 consecutive months, ceases to be minister.
6	Leadership of the PM	PM leads the CoM and the government's parliamentary programme and normally leads the majority party/coalition; this is not a constitutional office of “leader of Parliament”.
7	Dissolution of Lower House	President can dissolve Lok Sabha on PM's advice → fresh elections.
8	Secrecy	Ministers take oath of secrecy (administered by President).
